Wouldn't Trade Dodger Players For Any Yankee

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP). — Charley Dressen, pepper-pot manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers said today he's not covetous — New York Yankees haven't a player he'd want to strengthen his club.

"That is, in a straight swap deal," he added. "I'll take the men we have at every position—and that includes shortstop.

"I have always regarded Phil Rizzuto as one of the finest shortstops in baseball. But the way Peewee Reese is going this year I'd have to take him over the Yankees' boy."

Dressen's comments were made after he was asked to compare his high-flying Dodgers, position by position, with the team that may oppose them in the 1951 world series.

"If the Yankees have an edge at all it's in reserve strength, especially in the pitching," Dressen said. "They have more men to throw at you and can do it without weakening themselves but man for man I think we've got a sounder club."

In case anybody might want to argue here are the lineups used mostly with batting averages and won-lost records in parenthesis:

First base — Mize, Yankees, (.281); Hodges, Dodgers, (274).

Second base—McDougald, Yankees, (.309); Robinson, Dodgers, (.345).

Third base—Brown, Yankees, (.282); Cox, Dodgers, (.262).

Right field—Collins, (.281); Furillo, Dodgers, (.316).

Catcher — Berra, Yankees, (.298); Campanella, Dodgers, (.328).

Pitching — Lopat, Yankees, (14-6); Roe, Dodgers, (15-2); Reynolds, Yankees, (12-6); Branca, Dodgers, (9-3); Raschi, Yankees, (16-6); Newcombe, Dodgers (15-5).

Royals, Wings Split Two

By The Canadian Press

Chris Van Guyk, towering lefthander with Montreal Royals, is the latest International League pitcher to miss no-hit fame by an eyelash.

Van Guyk pitched the Royals to a 7-0, one-hit victory over Rochester Red Wings Tuesday night in the second game of a two-night double-header. The one-hitter was the loop's 13th of the season.

Don Richmond, left-handed hitting third baseman, spoiled Van Guyk's bid with a fourth inning loop single to left field. It marked the second time this year he has spoiled a no-hitter. July 22 he singled with two out in the seventh and final inning to deprive Springfield's Bob Schultz of a no-hitter.

The Royals sewed up the nightcap with a five-run splurge in the eighth inning against pitcher Jack Faszholz. The Wings won the opener 9-8 in 12 innings. An error by Hec Rodriguez and singles by Lou Ortiz and Bud Hardin accounted for Rochester's winning run.

In the only other game, Springfield Cubs came from behind to beat Syracuse Chiefs 10-6. The Cubs overcame a 6-0 deficit with four-run rallies in the fifth and sixth innings.

Rain washed out a doubleheader between Ottawa and Baltimore and a single game between Buffalo and Toronto.

ESCAPE SHIP—The Polish minesweeper HG-11 is moored in the harbor at Ystad, Sweden. Twelve Polish seamen mutinied and sailed the ship into the port, where they were granted temporary asylum. The other 21 crewmen sailed back to Poland, while Poland's Communist government demanded the return of the 12 mutineers.

Relief Supplies Sent To Korea Often Found Quite Useless

By BILL BOSS

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 8 —(CP)— No one appears to know what the army wants in the way of relief supplies.

Were the need less immediate, some of the shipments—mountains of used clothing—would be laughable.

Here are some of the things the United Nations civilian assistance command, an army service, has been receiving from North America—and turning over to the Korean civilian government for distribution when it dared:

1. Cast-off corsets and brassieres. Not issued—there isn't a tubby woman in Korea. And concealment, let alone suspension, of the breast is of no concern to women whose garments are cut so that they may suckle their children conveniently anywhere, anytime.

2. Old spats. Not issued—Koreans wear low-cut rubber shoes requiring neither laces nor buttons.

3. Women's spike shoes. Not issued—they are hardly the wear for women who walk with 100 pound loads on their heads.

4. Old silk dresses. Ripped and used as towelling. They certainly are not clothing for a refugee, while for the Korean woman at home who leads a practical, hard-working life in the fields they would be incongruous.

5. Old shoes. Not issued—Of one 500-pair lot only 23 pairs were in any degree useful. Some even were without soles.

Used as Blankets

6. Winter coats. Used as blankets. Last winter they would have been useful. Present use because of blanket shortage precludes their usefulness next winter.

7. A whole gamut of other western clothes not suited to Korean habits and customs.

Packing and shipping them cost time and money. They took up valuable shipping space at sea. Truck and train space in Korea is at a premium.

Said one welfare officer, a woman's corset in his "out" basket:

"These used-clothing projects ought to be eliminated. Only the children's sizes in underwear and pyjamas were of any use.

"What we need are blankets; whole bolts of unbleached muslin by the thousand which the people can make themselves into their own type of clothing; medicines, surgical dressings and penicillin; vitamin tablets, canned baby foods and powdered milk; DDT and chlorine for treating well water."

He described a project in Seoul in which he turned 40,000 yards of cotton cloth over to a group of women volunteer workers. They redesigned the traditionally baggy Korean trousers, slashed the material yardage involved from 11 to five yards, and produced 8,000 pairs.

The scale on which such supplies should be available should not be hard to calculate.

Wholesale Shifting

Because of military necessity, the UN army has had to shift whole populations. Sometimes, it had seemed to observers that its actions have been high-handed—almost as though it had been infected by the altogether western theory that Orientals hold life cheap and treat individuals like cattle.

Planning military operations on that scale also could include adequate concern for the civilians affected.

But the crying need is for experienced disaster workers; field medical teams to care for the civilian sick and wounded; field surgeons to repair the mutilated; trained nurses to tend the wards; tents and bedding with which to set up hospitals; medicines and dressings to heal the sick and wounded, and more sera to prevent outbreaks.

Radioactivity Aids Research

WELLINGTON, NZ (CP)—The tell-tale click of a Geiger counter is being used by New Zealand historians to explore the past.

With the Geiger counter they hope to solve many of the country's time puzzles: when the first human inhabitants arrived in New Zealand; when the huge ostrich-like moa became extinct; the date of a great eruption which overwhelmed a large area in the centre of the north island.

This use of atomic age science was developed in the United States. It depends on the fact that materials containing carbon decrease in radio-activity at a known rate according to age.

A series of complicated chemical processes extracts carbon from the materials and their radio-activity is measured with an advanced type of Geiger counter. Tests can determine the age of substances containing carbon as far back as 20,000 years.

The technique will be used to find the date of early settlement by analyzing wooden paddles and tools and charcoal from fireplaces. Historians hope to discover the age of moa bones and timber buried under volcanic eruptions.

Scientists plan to use the technique in soil and agricultural studies. It can also be used in geology, volcanology, glaciology, botany, zoology and archaeology.

CPR Representative In Europe Retires

LONDON — (CP)—Charles W. Stokes, public relations officer in Europe for the Canadian Pacific Railway, has retired after 30 years service with the company. He has been succeeded by his former assistant, G. K. Nield.

Before taking leave of his office Mr. Stokes was honored at a luncheon attended by a large group of his British and Canadian newspaper colleagues in London. Among the guests were Walter S. Thompson, former director of public relations for the Canadian National Railways.

An "Au Revoir" presentation in behalf of the gathering was made by the chairman, G. W. Ward, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain.

Former Missionary Travelling Salesman

MILAN, Italy, Aug. 8 (Reuters) —Luciano Negrini, former Roman Catholic missionary who plans to marry 21-year-old Claire Young of Chicago, Tuesday night provisionally accepted two jobs.

He has been offered work as a travelling salesman for a Bologna tie firm and a Milan soap company. "I intend to take both of them," said 43-year-old Luciano.

The former priest said "we have decided not to ask the Pope to save us from being excommunicated because my action would serve no purpose.

"According to Catholic law we shall be excommunicated automatically the moment we marry. We should have liked to marry in church but it is impossible. So we shall have a civil wedding just as soon as Claire's papers are in order."

Jail Accordionist

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8 (AP)—Dick Contino, 21, accordionist, Tuesday was sentenced to six months in prison and was fined $10,000 on a draft evasion charge. Contino, who made as much as $4,000 a week in theatre and night club engagements, pleaded guilty July 24 to a draft dodging charge.

Cow Replaces Bull

READING, England (CP). — It wasn't a bull in a china shop that causes the damage in this Berkshire town. It was a cow in a furniture shop. The animal escaped from a cattle market and did heavy damage to furniture before it was shot.

GENEVA, Switzerland. Aug. 8 (C(P)—The United Nations will help develop the technical know-how of 64 countries with a total of 1,415 specialists by the end of this year. A report of the UN Technical Asssitance Board Tuesday said the program was "accelerating," but it was too early to judge its overall effectiveness.

Sea Cadet Units HonorSame Hero

LONDON (CP) — Lieut. Len Salmon, commanding officer of a corps of sea cadets in London, wants to get in touch with a Winnipeg unit which bears the same name.

Lieut. Salmon learned recently for the first time of the existence of the Winnipeg unit while leafing through an issue of the British magazine "Sea Cadet." Both the London and Winnipeg corps are known as the "John Travers Cornwell V.C. Sea Cadet Corps" in memory of an 18-year-old London boy who died from wounds suffered during the Battle of Jutland in the First World War.

Cornwell was born in London's East Ham district, headquarters of the corps which bears his name. He was post-humously awarded the Victoria Cross for bravery in remaining at his gun after all his gun-crew mates were killed aboard the cruiser Chester.

Lieut. Salmon said in an interview he would be glad to send a picture of Cornwell and other mementoes to the Winnipeg unit.

Paper 70 Years Old

LONDON (CP).—The Evening News, with a circulation of nearly 2,000,000 copies daily, has just celebrated its 70th birthday. The newspaper started in July, 1881, as a four-page issue and went two years before showing its first profit, amounting to £7.

Fairmount WMS Give Mission Band Picnic

FAIRMOUNT, Aug. 8—(ENS) —Fairmount WMS entertained their Mission Band group at a picnic meeting held at Mr. and Mrs. Fred McIndoo's Summer cottage at Tait's Beach.

Mrs. McIndoo called the meeting to order with the reading of a short poem.

After the minutes and roll call a special collection was taken to help defray expenses of the WMS delegate to summer school. The Mission Band were then asked to present the program. Miss Jean Hanbidge took the scripture reading and readings were given by Dorothy Hall, Joan Minnie, and Mrs. Roy Hooten. Jean Seymour gave a combined reading and solo, and Ruth Grice read a poem. The childern were then invited to the beach where the remainder of the afternoon was spent in sports in the water and ashore until a picnic supper was served.

Wet Weather Halts Fire Hazard

Small Fires Burn Over Six Acres; Cigaret Caused One

Damp weather for the last two days has temporarily eliminated the hazard of bush fires in Peterborough county. But Sunday two small fires burned a total of five and a half acres, Don Fawcett, Forest Protection Supervisor, Lindsay, reports.

A carelessly thrown cigarette butt started a two-acre fire along the side of the Bobcaygeon road, south of Nogies Creek. The only damage was to grass, bracken and ferns and it was put out by Ranger Archie Henderson, Nogie Creek, and two other fire-fighters.

The other outbreak was eight miles southeast of Apsley, on the road leading into Twin Lakes. Campers who didn't properly extinguish their camp fire are blamed for the fire that devoured about three and a half acres of roadside bush, small poplar and other young trees.

Four Helped

It was spotted and extinguished by Ranger James Scott, of Apsley. He was helped by four other fire-fighters.

Mr. Fawcett says that this had been a very good season. Only 15 bush fires had been reported in the Trent district and none of them a major one.

Fewer workmen are in the bush this year, he points out, and that reduces the fire hazard. Also there has been much damp weather.

16 Guest Units Being Built In Third Motel

Construction of a third motel in the Peterborough suburbs has been begun in North Monaghan by Denton C. Johnston, 305 Margaret Ave.

Its location is on the late Robert A. Dobbin farm, on the south side of the Peterborough-Port Hope highway, and west of the top level of the water-trough hill.

This motel will comprise 16 guest units and one suite of permanent living quarters for the accommodation of management. Type of construction is stucco and ashlar stone. Mr. Johnston said he expected the work would be completed in three months.

The two other motels already in use are in Smith and North Monaghan. One is on the east side of the Chemong road, and the other is on the north side of the extension of Lansdowne St., west of the south end of the city.

This latter motel, the Kawartha, is just across the city boundary, and has the advantage of city water service. It is equipped with radiant heat for year-round rental, rooms are sound and fire proof, each room has a television set, and the furnishings are according to that standard including tiled bathrooms.

The proprietors are Len Reilly of Hayward-Reilly Construction Co., and Stan Tuff who is also resident manager. Virtually five minutes from downtown Peterborough, it affords convenience for commercial travellers.

"We have now been operating about a month," Mr. Tuff told the Examiner, "and guests have been from all over the United States, from as far as California and Florida, and in Canada from British Columbia to Nova Scotia.

"A Florida guest this week was complimenting us on our design. He said it was the first evidence of Florida type construction he had seen since he left home."

Sidewalk Critic Of Today Is Posterity's Benefactor

"Look where they put the tower! Anybody with an ounce of common sense would have set it over the centre of the building." So says the sidewalk, ratepaying critic of the new city hall who inveterately believes there never was a council or any other municipal body equipped with half the wisdom he himself possesses.

Temporarily, in regard to the eccentric tower place, he is right, but for the long view of design the tower will some day come into its rightful position when the old library is torn down, and the old Dr. Burnham house at Water and McDonnel Streets, and the entire block is acquired to frame the city hall, and its north wing is extended to balance the south.

Benefactor of Future

To get any satisfaction out of this designing and financing, the taxpayer will have to regard himself in the role of benefactor of posterity, the man who helps fashion heritages and institutions, and then isn't around when the praise and approbation is sounding.

By that time he will have been a long time dead, and remembered only as that composite figure in the past who erected the city and paid for it, and on the whole did a pretty fair job.

The public must remember that these detail matters were all considered when the plans were being set down on paper. That same public agreed to the clearing of that central block of private properties, and official discussions visualized the day when opinion generally agreed to get rid of the old public library, and project the city hall toward McDonnel St., bringing its tower into the exact centre of its George St. frontage.

Just A Building

As for the library, its has nothing to recommend it except that it cost little and it provides a roof and enclosure for a lot of books.

It is not to be removed tomorrow or the next day, so there is not much to be gained in present discussion of its architectural flaws and its general inadequacy.

City Clerk Outram recalled to the Examiner today that the clock tower of the city hall is just about the centre of that whole block, further evidence of planning for the time when the library will be only a memory.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

169 JULY BIRTHS

Peterborough births in July totalled 169 as compared with 143 a year ago. There were 39 deaths as against 49 in July 1950.

BABY CLINICS

Total attendance at the July baby clinics conducted by the Department of Health during July was 375. There were 13 clinics held.

CHAMBER BOOTH

Weekend tourists stopping at the Junior Chamber of Commerce during the holiday weekend totalled 155. There were 114 inquiries answered.

BIG CATCH

E. K. Wood, 614 Reid St., hit it lucky Monday night when he pulled in a 20-pound muskie at Chemong lake. The fish was 43 inches long and was caught near Fife's Bay.

START CONTRACT TALKS

Local 527, United Electrical Workers, will start negotiations with Tilco plastics Thursday to get the union's first contract. Local 527 was certified recently and represents 27 production workers.

BICYCLE LICENSES

Bicycles without licenses are going to be swept up and taken into the police station until their owners buy a license, city police warned today. Only a comparatively small percentage of the bicycle owners have bought their licenses, police say, so there should be quite a collection.

CRASH AT STOP LIGHT

A car driven by Gerald Payne, 130 Hilliard St., was hit in the rear when the driver stopped his car on Water St. for the red light at Park Hill Rd. Driver of the second car was Victor J. Ward, Lakefield. About $100 damage was done to the rear of the Payne car and about $150 to the front of the Ward car. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

WOMEN DRIVERS CRASH

Two cars collided at Sherbrooke St. and Park Place intersection Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Alma Crossfield, 16 Hazel Ave., Toronto, driving north on Park Place said she stopped at Sherbrooke St. before starting across. Her car met in collision with a car being driven along Sherbrooke St. by Mrs. Viola Read, 533 King St. About $125 damage was done to the two cars. Constables C. Stephen and Louis Rodreque investigated.

GARAGE CONTRACT TALKS

Local 234 is trying to get a master contract that will set down rates and working conditions for all employees. The late Ernie Evans was heading negotiations when he died July 28, and another CCL organizer from Toronto is now advising the local.

Loses Fingers When Cap Explodes In Hand

Jack Herrington, a 16-year-old resident of Hastings village, on Tuesday afternoon had two fingers and a thumb almost completely blown off and the rest of his left hand badly mangled when a dynamite cap exploded.

Not knowing what the dynamite cap was, he picked at it with a live match.

He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital and his condition today is good.

Gathering Tools.

Herrington lives at the rectory with the Rev. J. J. Garvey, Hastings. With two other youths—Paul Herrington, 15, his brother, and Bob Fairman, 17—he was gathering some tools on the construction stite for the new separate school, Our Lady of Mount Carmel.

While gathering the tools he found the dynamite cap and not knowing what it was, began to pick at it with a lighted match. The resulting explostion nearly blew his left hand off. Nobody else was injured.

Ted Collis, 82 Victoria St., Peterborough, the superintendent of construction, took the injured youth to Dr. W. N. Campbell for first aid and then to the hospital.

On Indian List, Gets Month For Drinking

"Where did I see him before?" Magistrate R. B. Baxter asked Deputy Chief John Naples when Joseph Huard, 189 Lake St., was brought before him on a charge of drinking while on the interdicted list.

"Right here, your worship," said the deputy.

Huard pleaded guilty to the charge and admitted a previous conviction under the Liquor Control Act, June 21. He was sentenced to one month on the hill with no optional fine.

DOGS, GET YOUR TAGS

Dogs of the city are being warned today that they can no longer cruise around the streets without licenses. Some reported to the police station promptly this year for their licenses but the more irresponsible canines have so far ignored their obligations. They are likely to find themselves locked up for a week-end unless they attend to the matter immediately, police said.

'Nuisance', 21, Jailed 3 Months

"A nuisance for two or three years," Raymond Brown, 21, no fixed address, was sentenced on Tuesday in police court to three months in jail when he pleaded guilty to receiving a stolen sport coat.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw KC said Brown broke into his brother's home and stole the coat. He added that Brown had been warned away from the house repeatedly but insisted on going back.

"The accused won't work," the crown attorney said. He said that Brown's brother many times had tried to get him work and a boarding house, but the accused didn't hold the jobs and didn't come in until very late in the nights. He found himself locked out of his boarding houses and came to the police station for lodging.

"He's just been a nuisance for two or three years," the crown said.

"All I can get is farm work," Brown said.

"What's wrong with that?" Magistrate R. B. Baxter asked.

"Nothing your worship," Brown said.

Second Break-in Try Made At Grocer's

An attempt was made Tuesday night to break into the grocery store of E. S. Doxee on Chamberlain St., but the would-be thieves failed.

Exactly a week before a first try was made but it was no more successful. The first night, the thieves broke a pane of glass in a rear basement window, opened it after pulling the catches and climbed inside. They failed to force the door to the store itself.

Mr. Doxsee nailed two wooden bars across the window and replaced the pane of glass. Last night the thieves scraped out the still soft putty and removed the pane of glass. But they got no further.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson is investigating.

Nootka Sailor Back Home After 60,000 Mile Sea Tour

Don Breadman arrived home this week. He had just finished a trip of nearly 60,000 miles aboard the Canadian destroyer Nootka after a tour of duty in Korean waters in support of the United Nations land and air forces fighting Red Chinese and North Korean armies.

He landed home after a train journey from Esquimault, BC, where the Nootka docked to discharge part of her crew. Don was one of three Peterborough sailors on board the ship. Others are J. Armstrong, 389 Burnham St., and Thomas J. Cullen, 742 Cameron St.

The young sailor carried with him a large assortment of souvenirs for his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Breadman, 113 Hazlitt St.

Two Fly Rods

He brought home two fly fishing rods for his father who is a keen fisherman, a beautiful featherweight set of china for his mother, music box cigarette containers, two cameras, Japanese pyjama suits and many other articles. His souvenirs represent six months of shopping trips in which he looked and priced and finally bought.

The two cameras were for himself. Photography is his hobby. He has taken a complete series of photographs of his travels, his mates and work on board ship. Many of them were taken with his miniature camera.

Don is an able seaman radar plotter. His ship was on patrol duty with other ships of the American and British navies, serving in the protective screen for an aircraft carrier, but the fleet was not attacked at any time.

Once, however, they had a fight with shore batteries at Inchon in which the shore batteries came off second best.

Don and the other operators of the four main radar sets, by which the ship searches the air and ocean surface, work four hours on duty and have two four-hour shifts off.

Other Duties

They don't spend all their time watching the bright radar screen. They have other duties connected with the operations room which gives them some relief. The ship also has radar controlled guns for firing at invisible targets.

On the way over to Korea, one sailor was lost over the side. How it happened is still pretty much of a mystery, said Don. The weather wasn't rough at the time.

539 Visits Made By VON Staff

A total of 539 visits were made by VON nurses during the past month. In July, 1950, 602 visits were made.

Total visits to date for the year are 3,669 as compared to 4,113 for the same period in 1950.

New patients visited during the month totaled 72. These included 26 medical cases, three surgical, 18 pre-natal, seven mothers, 17 babies and one health instruction. In July 1951, 70 new patients were visited.

Two regular nurses and one substitute nurse were on duty during the month.

No Free Parking On Charlotte St. Lot

Board of works employees were making another parking lot within a stone's throw of the town clock this morning. They started yesterday grading and filling and eventually rolling the postal-customs property at Charlotte and Louis Streets.

It is altogether likely that the public will have to pay something for the parking service. After all, the council could not be expected to provide free accommodation in competition with the market square meters, which involved an item of cost.

Because the Louis St. lot is only for temporary use by the city, its grooming will not include paving and metering.

Duck Season To Open On October 6

Open seasons for migratory birds have been announced by the Department of Lands and Forests. For ducks, geese, coots, rails and gallinules, the season in the Peterborough district opens Oct. 6 and closes Dec. 1.

This district is one of many described by the department as being south of a line following the CNR track from Parry Sound through Scotia, Barry's Bay, Golden Lake, Renfrew and Arnprior to the north boundary of Carleton county and thence to the Quebec boundary in the Ottawa River.

North of that line, the season is open on ducks, etc., from Sept. 17 to Nov. 12.

Other open seasons are:

Brant, Oct. 2 to Nov. 1—north of the zone line; Oct. 16 to Nov. 15—south of the zone line.

Wilsons snipe: Oct. 1 to 31 — throughout Ontario.

Woodcock: Oct. 1 to Nov. 7 — throughout Ontario.

Bag limits are: geese—five a day, 10 in possession at any time, and not more than 25 for the season; ducks — seven a day and 14 in possession at any time, not more than one wood duck in a day or two in possession; woodcock and Wilsons snipe — eight a day and 16 in possession at any time; coots, gallinules, rails — 25 a day.

Peterboro, New Hampshire Lies In Between Two Ranges Of Mountains

Peterborough, New Hampshire, is a town of slightly more than 2,500 people, 60 miles from the Atlantic coast. It covers a rolling valley of about 1,000 feet, lying between two ranges of mountains of from 2,200 to 3,300 feet in altitude, and about ten miles apart. The town is built on hillsides sloping down to the confluence of the Contoocook and Nubanusit Rivers. Slightly more than 200 years ago, this valley was covered with heavy growth of primeval forest, mostly white pine, spruce, hemlock and mixed hardwoods, through which moose, deer, wolves, foxes and smaller animals wandered at will. They were frightened only by hunting parties of roving tribes of Penacook Indians who occasionally visited the region from settlements further north and east.

In 1739, the land was claimed by the provincial government of Massachusetts Bay Colony under charter from the Crown, the government selling large lots to speculators who in turn disposed of it gradually to prospective settlers. At least two groups began making clearings in the wilderness in that year.

Forced Evacuation

Although its principal scene of action was 4,000 miles away, the War of the Austrian Succession, or as it was known in New England, "King George's War", had a direct bearing on the settlement in New England. The French of Quebec used the war as an excuse to harass British subjects to the south and incited the Indian tribes to attack the settlers in undefended outposts. As a result of such incursions, the first settlements in Peterborough, like a number of others, were abandoned, and any permanent settlement was deferred until after the Treaty of Aix-la-Chappelle in 1784.

In 1949 and 1750, the first permanent occupation was undertaken by parties of Scots-Irish coming from their racial communities in Londonderry, NH, and Lunenberg, Mass. These pioneers were of Scottish descent, for their ancestors had emigrated from Scotland to the "Plantations" of Northern Ireland during the Stuart period, and they themselves, from 1718 to 1722 or thereabouts, had emigrated from Londonderry, Colraine, Moneymore, and other towns in Ulster to establish homes in the new world.

Gradually came an infiltration of English settlers working northward and westward from Massachusetts, but for nearly a hundred years the population of Peterborough was predominantly Scottish Presbyterian. These were hard-working, God-fearing people who supported themselves almost entirely from the product of their farms. Their food was obtained from their herds and their gardens, and their clothing from wool, flax, and leather which they produced themselves.

Cotton Mills

With the advent of the industrial revolution, the fine water powers on the Nubanusit and Contoocook rivers could not be overlooked, and between 1810 and 1830 cotton and woollen mills were established at five points on the two rivers within the township, principally close to their confluence. This was the begining of a gradual change in the character of the town. The farms continued productive, but newcomers, principally from the more settled portions of Massachusetts and from the south of Ireland, came, in attracted by the factories.

The fertile lands of the Mississippi valley far to the west were gradually opened for settlement during the second and third quarters of the last century, at a time when the hill farms were being worked out. This caused a gradual emigration and abandonment of the Peterborough hill farms, but the town, due to the manufacturing, became more prosperous than ever.

During the present century, with its cheap electric power, water power is a less important factor in locating industries. So some of the textile mills have gone elsewhere. But there are two prosperous mills and a number of other diversified industries. In addition, with the advent of the automobile, the town has become a more important distributing centre for miles around, and is also a well-known centre of educational, agricultural and cultural activities.

Peterborough is the headquarters of the American Guernsey Cattle Club, [illegible] Association, established as a memorial to the American composer Edward MacDowell, which provides opportunity for many kinds of artistic and creative work.

Peterborough attracts an increasing number of people who desire the quiet of country life combined with surroundings of rare natural beauty.

Bancroft Lumbermen All Busy In Bush

BANCROFT, Aug. 8—(ENS)—There must be full employment in the sawmill industry in both Bancroft and vicinity and southern Algoma district for a local man who is cutting white, jack and red pine in the burned-over area north of Thessalon was having a hard time to hire men at the weekend. Alfred Tentherey of L'Amble paid a flying visit from the Blind River vicinity to hire men for the mill that he recently transported from here to the site of the fires of 1949 and 1950 but was able to find only one man who would return with him. Current wages in the north-western section of the province start at $1 an hour for a nine-hour day, with board at $2 a day.

Coldsprings YPU Win Softball Tournament

COLDSPRINGS, Aug. 8 (ENS)—On Saturday Coldsprings YPU softball champions of Cobourg Presbytery tournament, held recently at Roseneath, motored to Camp Quin-Mo-Lac, on Moira Lake, near Madoc, to enter the Bay of Quinte Conference YPU tournament, and field day held there. In the field activities, Coldsprings were successful in getting the cup for winning the most points.

The different Presbyteries in attendance were: Peterborough, Cobourg, Renfrew, Belleville, Lindsay, and Oshawa.

In the ball tournament, Coldsprings were to play Kingston first, but as Kingston were not on hand they took this game, coming up against Peterborough in the second. Coldsprings won with a score of 8-7.

The final game with Belleville was a defeat for the Cobourg Presbytery champions, the Coldsprings team taking the lead until the last inning, when they were defeated 18-14.

After a picnic supper, the presentation of awards was made, Ken Symons of Harwood, presenting the cup to Coldsprings YPU, after which a sing-song and worship service were held on the banks of Moira lake.

3 Houses On Auction One Sold For $2,200

BANCROFT, Aug. 8—(ENS)—Pre-inflation prices for houses in the village when three houses belonging to the estate of the late Mrs. A. Davy were offered to the public at a well-advertised auction sale on Saturday afternoon. One small frame cottage on Cheumashgon St. found a buyer at $2,200, but two six-room frame houses, with good basements, on the same street, did not find any prospective buyers who would bid over the reserve figures of $3,500 each. Auctioneer Cecil Loney had a good crowd but bids to satisfy the executors of the estate did not materialize.

UK Restrictions On Buying Said Carried Too Far

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor

The extent of Britain's restrictions against buying in Canada is questioned in the current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

The review, in a study of "the revolution in Canada's trade," comments:

"The extreme caution which Britain has shown in relaxing even minor restrictions against dollar purchases, suggests that there are influences other than the dollar shortage at work: among which the strong vested interests of industries long sheltered from North American competition is no doubt an important one."

The review recognizes that strong controls were needed before the pound was devalued, but since then "it has been much more difficult to understand the reasons for the almost complete maintenance of the armory of import and exchange restrictions against dollar goods." It recognizes, too, that rearmament injects new complications.

Sad Story

"The story of Canadian exports to Britain and the sterling area," the review states, "has been a sorry one in the past few years. To Canadians who, after their experience with the United States Smoot-Hawley tariff, had come to regard the British market as stable and reliable, recent developments have been a great disappointment."

The review notes further:

In physical quantity Canadian exports in 1950 were about 50 per cent above 1937-39, with the increase entirely attributable to a sharp rise in exports to the United States. At the same time, exports to Britain were less than two-thirds the pre-war average, and shipments of other overseas countries were only slightly above the pre-war figure.

"Britain's purchases from Canada have been narrowed down to a limited list of more or less essential items. In 1950 three items —wheat, flour and aluminum— accounted for well over half of Canada's exports to Britain.

Too Effective

"In the rest of the Commonwealth and empire, import and exchange restrictions have also been all too effective. In 1950 the total quantity of exports to these countries was no more than half what it was in 1947 and a little lower than before the war.

"From a Canadian point of view the most disturbing development has been the restriction and in some cases the total loss of established markets of manufactured products ranging from automobiles to brushes. Were it not for the fact that Canada has been selling some capital equipment to India and South Africa, and a few basic commodities such as wheat in fair volume, exports to the dominions and colonies would be much below the pre-war rate."

Dummer Plans Extra Charge On Spray Bills

WARSAW, Aug. 8—Five per cent will be added to all accounts for warble fly spraying not paid before Aug. 30 in Dummer township.

This motion was passed at the August meeting of the township council. A motion was also passed that the collector's time to collect the balance of the 1950 taxes be extended to Sepember 1.

Accounts totaling $7,477.68 were ordered paid.

Dexter Begins Second Movie, Has Dual Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8 (CP)—Anthony Dexter embarked on his second movie this week but darned if he didn't look like Valentino. He plays a dual role in "The Brigand"—as a dashing young king of a mythical kingdom and as a rather ineffectual commoner.

The latter is far removed from his portrayal of Rudolph Valentino, his initial film role. But he still looks like the early film idol.

Knowing how actors hate being typed, I asked him if he thought he would be able to escape being tagged as a Valentino copy.

"I think there is about a 50-50 chance," he replied. "At least I am going to try."

Dexter is far removed from the flamboyant character that brought him fame. He is quiet, unassuming and self-effacing.

Got Break

"I said all along that if I could please 50 per cent of the people, I'd be lucky," he said. "And that's just about what I did. About half of the critics liked the picture and the other half were against it. Fortunately, it did business, and that's what counts.

Only one thing bothers Dexter about his success: His name. In his personal life he insists on being called Walter Craig, which was his stage name (his real name is Fleischman). He has long disputed the name change with his boss, Edward Small.

Whatever the name, Small predicts big things for his boy.

Hint Allocation Of Newsprint On World Scale

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—A six-country committee today forecast a continuing shortage of newsprint among western countries.

This report, submitted to a meeting of the 14-country international raw materials conference, appeared to lay the groundwork for an attempt at voluntary allocation of newsprint.

The amount of the expected shortage was not disclosed. The conferenc dealing with the problem met behind closed doors and declined to give any information afterward.

The meeting adjourned, apparently without a firm decision to draw up an allocation plan. Officials said a discussion of the committee report is not yet complete.

Earlier, conference officials set Aug. 15 as a target date for recommending an allocations scheme to member governments. Such a proposal would constitute a recommendation and not an order and woudl depend on voluntary co-operation by governments to carry it out.

After today's session, a conference official reiterated that allocation of newsprint seems certain. The problem, he said, is to determine the principles that will guide fixing of quotas for various countries.

Other sources disagreed that newsprint allocation is certain. Mounting newsprint production may eliminate the need for it, they said.

3 Canadian Ballet Dancers Tour With Sadler's Wells

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, Aug. 8. (CP)—Three young Canadian ballet dancers will return to Canada as visiting artists when the Sadler's Wells Company opens its tour in Quebec, Oct. 5.

Carlu Carter of Winnipeg, Toronto-born Don Gillies and Arnott Mader of Kitchener, Ont., are members of a group of 42 dancers who will sail in the Empress of France at the same time as Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. They will spend about six months touring Quebec, Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto.

Dark-haired Carlu, a petite 18-year-old, spent more than four years with the Winnipeg Ballet company, ending as one of their principal dancers before being auditioned by the Sadler's Wells company.

Don Gillies, 22, studied for four years under Boris Volkoff, appearing in several Volkoff Canadian ballets in both Winnipeg and Ottawa. In 1949 he came to London to appear in Charles B. Cochran's "Tough At The Top" and the American musical "High Button Shoes." Later, after a principal part in "Pastorale," he joined the Sadler's Wells.

Arnott Mader, tall, dark and 22, is the youngest of the three in stage technique. Newest member of the group's Corps de Ballet, he has already appeared in the London production of Robert Helpmann's "Golden City," and as a principal dancer in Ivor Novello's "Kings Rhapsody." He will join the Sadler's Wells group just before it sails.

The three say they have no immediate intentions of returning to work permanently in Canada. They hope, however, Canada will soon have her own National Ballet company.

Celia Franca now is in Canada to organize such a company and during the Canadian tour Carlu, Don and Arnott will take part in "Khadra," a ballet written by Miss Franca.

The 42 artists visiting Canada are members of the second Sadler's Wells group—a young set of promising artists.

Last year, a Canadian and American tour was made by the first company with such stars as Margot Fonteyn, Moira Shearer and Robert Helpmann.

New Guinea Could Produce Food For All Australia

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP)—Australia could be come self-sufficient in all tropical food, bagging and beverage crops by full-scale development of New Guinea, according to the big Pacific island's administrator, Col. J. K. Murray.

He said recently that he had great faith in New Guinea's ability to produce all Australia's needs in coffee, tea, jute, copra, rubber, and other tropical essentials.

He urged Australian primary industries to set up the growing and milling in New Guinea of jute or its substitute—kenaf—to make the nation independent of her annual £11,000,000—import of jute and bag imports.

New Guinea, with a population o fmore than 1,500,000 natives, and about 5,500 white people, neede développing on a far more ambitious scale, urged Col. Murray.

Needs

He said major factors in proper development of New Guinea were:

A guaranteed Australian market and equitable price for New Guinea products.

Development of New Guinea's hydro-electric possibilities.

More men, money and "know how" for the tremendous work ahead.

Col. Murray said about 10,000,000 natives could be carried comfortably, and with progressive modern health programs, the native population would double in 25 years.

New Guinea was so rich she could stand both Australian development and effective improvement for the native peoples under the terms of the United Nations trust agreement.

Wed 48 Years, Same Day Both Couples Still Living

HAVELOCK, Aug. 8 —(ENS)— The Rev. Francis Davidson, vicar of St. Mary's Church, Sholing, County of Southampton, England, officiated at a double wedding ceremony on August 8, 1903, when two sisters plighted their marriage vows. One of the couples, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Diaper of Havelock will quietly mark the 48th anniversary of that event at their home on Ontario Street today. Mrs. Diaper was formerly Ethel Mabel Williams.

The other couple Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Charles Sansome (nee Sarah Louise Williams) are still living at Sholing.

Mr. Diaper came to Canada in 1912 and took a job as wiper in the CPR shops here. He was joined by Mrs. Diaper in August 1914, who sailed from England a few days after war was declared. In January 1916, Mr. Diaper enlisted with the 93rd Peterborough Battalion, transferring to the 21st Battalion overseas. Mrs. Diaper returned to her home in England in 1916 to be near her husband and two brothers Bert and Edward Williams who were also members of the 93rd Battalion, while they were in their homeland. The Williams brothers came to Canada prior to Mr. Diaper, were residents of Havelock and both were killed overseas.

On returning to Canada Mr. Diaper re-entered the employ of the CPR as a fireman, being superannuated in 1942. At present he is convalescing after being a patient in the DVA section of the Hotel Dieu hospital at Kingston for nearly seven months as a result of being gassed during the war. He has been a member of IOOF Lodge No. 286 for 28 years and he and Mrs. Diaper have been members of the Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98 for 27 years.

MISS MARIE THERESE GALLivan, and the late Dr. James Gallivan, whose engagement to Mr. Richard J. Burke of Lyndhurst, NJ, has been announced. The wedding will take place in St. Peter's Cathedral on Wednesday morning, August 29th. Miss Gallivan is a graduate of Loretto Abbey, University of Toronto and her fiance is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Hospitals Get Extra Grants

TORONTO, Aug. 8 — (CP) — Additional capital grants totalling $31,500 were announced today by Health Minister Phillips of Ontario for hospitals in Windsor, Niagara-on-the-Lake and Meaford.

This additional financial support was forthcoming when changes in original building plans were announced by officials of the East Windsor Hospital, Niagara Cottage Hospital, and Meaford General Hospital.

Originally granted $186,500 for a building addition, the East Windsor Hospital through an increase in costs qualified for an additional grant of $29,500.

Niagara Cottage Hospital at Niagara-on-the-Lake already had been paid $30,666 for a new hospital building on the basis of plans for 27 beds and 11 nursery cubicles, but has been charged a further $1,000 for an additional bed in the children's section.

The new Meaford General Hospital originally had been granted $29,000 for 26 beds and nine cubicles.

The additional grant is for $1,000 for three extra cubicles.

Shirley Siddall Weds Norman Gibson

In St. George's Anglican Church Saturday afternoon, with a background of gladioli and ferns, Shirley Siddall became the bride of Mr. Norman E. Gibson, the Rev. H. J. Scuse officiating. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Siddall, 711 Park St. S. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gibson of Ottawa.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. A. Watkins and during the signing of the register Miss Elsie Wagstaff sang "My World."

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in pale blue nylon marquisette over taffeta and carried a bouquet of red roses and sweet peas. She was attended by her sister Miss Barbara Siddall who was similarly dressed in yellow and her bouquet was of pink carnations and white sweet peas.

The groomsman was Mr. R. McKenzie and ushers were W. Gibson of Ottawa and W. Stevens.

The reception took place at the bride's home. Her mother was dressed in navy and wore a navy and white hat and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore dusty pink lace with a white hat and corsage of white roses.

A cable was received from friends in Blackburn, England, and telegrams were from Toronto and Windsor.

The couple left afterward for Ottawa and Quebec, the bride wearing navy with green accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

On return they will live at 152 Montgomery St.

Healing Clay Can Cure Professor Finds

VANCOUVER (CP) — 400-acre plot of ground on British Columbia's north coast contains a deposit of rare clay for which enthusiasts claim remarkable cures for ailments ranging from simple cuts to arthritis and stomach ulcers.

Dr. Ernest A. Hauser, professor of colloid chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has devoted nearly a year to studying the clay on King Island, 265 miles north of Vancouver.

On a visit to Vancouver, he said the clay is outstanding because of its colloida quality. It is formed of particles as fine as the mist in a fog bank—and finer.

Analysis indicates the clay's principal components are silica 52 per cent; and alumina 19.40 per cent. It contains many other elements including oxides and lime.

Absorptive Action

Dr. Hauser said its healing powers are due to the powerful absorptive action caused by the tremendous surface area of the clay's colloidal particles.

Dr. A. M. York of Vancouver, told a group of chemists and veterinarians that he had used the clay successfully to treat scours in pigs and mastitis in cattle in the Fraser Valley.

He said he found it superior to other antibiotics normally used to treat these animal ailments.

His most interesting report concerned a dog. He said:

"A poodle dog suffering from enterotoxaemia which had already been treated with sulfa and penicillin, did not react at all and finally was left with me to be destroyed."

"I decided to test the clay on the case. Believe it or not, the dog was returned to its owner in perfect condition next day."

DOROTHY DIX

Simple Counsels Point Way To Happy Life For Couple

DEAR MISS DIX I am to have a church wedding in October, and would like to know if you have any rules or counsel to show me how to make my marriage a success. My fiance and I are well matched, congenial and we get along nicely with each other's families He has a good job, so everything points to happiness for us. However, I have seen so many couples begin with the same advantages and end up on the rocks a few years later That is the disaster I want to avoid. Can you help me?

Dorothy Dix

ELISE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My dear Elies, the very fact that you realize a happy marriage involves a certain amount of effort, presages a rosy future for you. Even excluding the youngsters who dash into matrimony with no previous consideration of mutual congeniality or financial stability, most couples marry in a aura of romance which they expect to carry them through life.

Vows Show The Way

Countless volumes have been written by psychologists, psyhiatrists and even less learned folk on marriage. These are available to you through any library, but at your own wedding you, yourself, will voice the most important rules ever laid down for happy marriage. These are your own marriage vows. If you and your husband consider well what you promise at the altar, you are equipped to face all the trials and tribulations that will come to you, and overcome them.

Add to this the two "bears" of wedlock — "bear" and "forebear." All other rules set down in learned tomer are merely amplification of these simple counsels.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young single man of 21, and have been living with my widowed mother since I left college. I have two older brothers and three sisters who all work, but they do not contribute a thing to my mother's support. Since I am the youngest, and single ,they all feel I should assume the full responsibility of her care. I am not physically qualified for any branch of military service, and my doctor has advised me to slow down, but I can't afford to. I love my mother more than anyone and she tried very hard to help me in every way, but is it fair for the others to leave me the entire burden?

FRANK.

ANSWER: Five working membrs of a family certainly should be able to scrape a little money together to ease your financial obligation. Nothing in life irks me so much as the east with which children cast off the care of parents. "Let George do it" is nowhere more applicable than in these cases.

You can't take their indifference out on your mother to the extent of leaving her, but someone should get to these older children and make them see that they owe something to the parent who reared them.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl 16 and have been going with a boy for two months. He is in the Navy and will be away four years. He wants to marry me when he is home on his first leave, but I refused because his parents try to tell us what to do. I think if we got married they would try and run our lives and I wouldn't like that.

F. V. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Sensible child! Of course you wouldn't like having your married life run for you. However, don't you think you could put off serious things like marriage for a while You're only 16 and have only known this boy two months. There's plenty of time to decide your future. You will be young just once; don't rush into adult responsibilities until you have to.

Canadians Send Aid To Children In Many Regions

TORONTO—(CP)—In Ortona, Italian babies can receive medical attention at a clinic built and equipped with Canadian money. In every village in Carinthia, Austria, children are wearing Canadian clothing, and in Lebanon and Syria, Canadian supplies are the main support of child welfare clinics.

All this is the work of the Canadian Save the Children Fund.

At a recent meeting the national executive of the fund approved a budget of $25,000 worth of food, clothing, shoes, blankets and baby powder for needy children in Italy, Greece, Austria, Syria and Lebanon. The shipment will include $3,000 worth of boys' trousers and $10,000 worth of shoes.

Work Changing

Mrs. R. S. Tanner, executive-secretary who has just returned from a visit to other Save the Children Funds in Europe and the Middle East, says that the character of overseas work is changing. Such funds are concentrating more on helping to raise the standard of child welfare and to give support to projects of lasting value in the countries being helped.

In Greece the government has asked the British Save the Children Fund to open and supervise a training college for nursery school teachers. In Italy the Save the Children Fund has been asked to take charge of a preventorium near Rome and in addition is hoping to build a child welfare clinic.

Mrs. Tanner says the aim of the funds is to help the people of needy countries to help themselves.

DIRECTIONS: In the musical comedy "Roberta" somebody says "The more you think about her (or it) the less you like her (or it)."

That thought keeps going through my mind when I try to bring myself to give you some recipes for cold fruit soups.

Jellied consomme is okay—only barely though—but cold fruit soup is not in my repertory. So if some of you class me as Enemy-Epicure, Ltd. I'll understand.

I was tempted to put fruit soup in this menu you see, but I won. It lost.

You will need two fillets for a delicate eater and three or four for a real fish lover—the pickerel fillets can be very small sometimes. Mix together 1 teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon pepper and rub it into both sides of the fillets. Lay fish on broiler pan or baking dish and sprinkle with lemon juice, and dot with butter, then sprinkle generously with paprika. Pour 1 cup hot rich milk around them, cover with lid or buttered parchment and bake about 20 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr.—or shorter time if fillets are thin. Do not overcook.

Put the fish in centre of hot platter; keep hot. When ready to serve surround with a border of

Spaghetti Milanaise

Peel and chop two small onions and add to them 2 large peeled and chopped tomatoes. Fry these in 2 tablespoons butter with salt and pepper, ¼ bay leaf and few whole cloves. Press these through sieve when they are soft and of catsup consistency. Melt 1 tablespoon butter, stir in 1 tablespoon flour, then the tomato puree, until thick. Have ready 6 ounces spaghetti (dry weight) cooked in plenty of boiling salted water until tender, then drained. Stir the tomato sauce into it. Arrange the red-coloured spaghetti around the fish, sprinkle with grated old cheese and garnish with lemon wedges and parsley sprigs.

✧ ✧ ✧

Lemon Parfait

(This is one of the best summer frozen desserts I know.)

Dissolve 1½ cups sugar in 1 cup water; add grated rind 1 lemon and boil to 238 deg. Fahr. (thread stage); beat whites of 3 eggs stiff and pour the hot syrup over them while beating, in a fine stream. When cool add ¼ cup lemon juice, folding it in. When cold fold in 1 pint heavy cream, whipped. Pour into trays of electrict refrigerator and freeze without stirring. Serve in tall parfait glasses, topped with rosette of whipped cream and cherry—preferably green.

My sister bought bottle green parfait glasses with clear glass bases in Detroit for 19 cents each. These have beautified many a frozen dessert for us this summer.

PIMPLES?

Try these three simple steps to remove pimples from your face:
1. Wash your face with hot water at bedtime.
2. Dry—then rub Dr. Chase's Ointment gently into the pores.
3. Leave on over night and wash off in the morning.

Continue this for only one week—if you are not more than delighted with your clear, smooth skin, we will pay you double the price. 58

FOR SALE
A Home on Homewood

So You'll Have No Traffic Worries.
This House appeals to anyone.
Compact enough for two, yet stretchy enough for a family, with its Four Bedrooms.
It's not new, but it's well built, and in good condition.
It's newly decorated, and it's clean.
There's a Modern Kitchen, and a nice little Den or Breakfast Room, with an electric fireplace.
Hot air oil furnace.
The House is insulated and has a new 4" cast-iron sewer, so you shouldn't run into trouble or expence.
The beautiful garden provides privacy and outdoor living.
Sounds like a lot of money — but $11,500 is just about half of what it would cost to replace it to-day
Sacrifice for Quick Sale.
We need $6,500 Cash — and quickly.

Pub Portrait Of Lloyd George Arouses Storm

LONDON (CP)—Plans to erect an inn sign bearing the portrait of the late Earl David Lloyd George, Britain's First World War prime minister, have aroused a storm of protest from temperance forces in the United Kingdom.

The opposition, mainly centred in the former Liberal leader's native Wales, followed announcement that his painting was to be hung as a commemorative sign outside the Pride of the Valley hotel, near the Lloyd George country residence in Churt, Surrey.

The inn sign, painted on wood by the noted artist, M. C. Farrar Bell, was authorized by the widow, Frances, Countess Lloyd George.

For many years the Welsh statesman lived at Churt and his old home, Bron-y-de, almost faces the hotel. He frequently accommodated his guests there when there was not sufficient room at his house.

"I discussed the proposal with quite a number of my friends and they all thought it would be very nice," said the widow. "One thing that weighed strongly with us was that it is traditional with country inns to have signs of famous men. Many of them, after all, are named after our kings and princes. I think it is really a tribute to L. G. and not at all undignified."

Brother Opposed

But the family was not in complete agreement.

Said Dr. William George, brother of the late Earl: "Personally I rather resent it. The Welsh people are very surprised and rather sorry. I think it is inconsistent with his life."

A son, Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, saw nothing wrong in it. "In fact," he said, "I think it is quite a nice idea. From what I hear it is a dignified painting."

But Gwilum's sister, Lady Megan, said she was disposed to agree with the Welsh opinion.

"I have nothing at all against the hotel, but I do not think it is a suitable place for a picture of my father to be hung outside."

Edward Evans, secretary of the South Wales Temperance Union, said members of the organization had been "shocked" when they heard of the plan and every effort would be made to stop it.

Lloyd George, he said, had supported every temperance bill brought before House of Commons during his time and while in his later days he had not been a total abstainer, the Liberal leader had always supported the work of the union.

Sponsors of the plan deplored the critical reaction. The idea behind the move, a spokesman explained, was to pay humble tribute to a great man who had spent his declining years in the village.

Extra Charge On Shippings Irks New Zealand

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, NZ—(CP)—Indignation is mounting at a freight surcharge of 50 per cent imposed on cargo to and from New Zealand ports by shipping companies as a result of the long waterfront strike. The impost will result in a substantial rise in living costs in the dominion and will also increase the cost of the country's exports to buyers abroad.

As a result of the strike, which is still retarding cargo handling at some ports even though many are now fully supplied with labor, ships have been kept idle in harbor for many weeks in some cases. The shipping companies announced that to recoup some of their losses the freight surcharge would be imposed temporarily but would be removed as soon as practicable. They said it would cover only part of the very heavy loss caused by the strike.

The government has protested and is negotiating with the companies to have it eased to removed. Strong protests have also been made in the press, by labor organizations, business men's associations and farmers.

No Justification

The basis of criticism is that the companies have not produced figures to justify the charge, that all other sections of the community have also had to bear heavy loss, and that the intraduction of the charge at this time is a blow to the new order on the waterfront established by the government in its long showdown with the former militant waterside workers' union.

This union in the past frequently blamed the shipping companies as the real "villians of the piece," claiming that they made huge profits and that faster work by longshoremen would only add to the companies' profits. The new independent longshoremen's unions have brought a new spirit to New Zealand ports. They have improved cargo handling rates by 50 per cent.

Case For Reduction

The faster turn-round of ships which has resulted has created a cast for a reduction in the heavy freight rates already existing because of slow waterfront work. To bring in a 50-per-cent surcharge at this stage seems to critics to be direct blow to the improved waterfront atmosphere.

Farmers are particularly incensed. They claim the increase means their produce cannot compete on such favorable terms on overseas markets. They have been urging the government to enter the shipping business by acquiring several ships and cutting down freight rates "to break the shipping ring." The government has replied that its whole policy is against state trading and toward greater use of private enterprise.

Nevertheless farmers are continuing to press for government action. Speaking at the annual conference of the Federated Farmers, L. A. Newell urged the government to charter ships.

"It would be a big step toward breaking the shipping ring," he declared. "Practically all the ships coming to New Zealand are the properties of a few companies, all of which are linked back to one organization whose business is tremendous, running into a terrific sum in millions. Strikes should be one of the normal risks of ship-owners. If we got government ships going we could get a line on shipping companies' profits and help to keep freight rates somewhere within reason.

Other delegates supported the contention and it was decided to make further investigations into the feasibility of state shipping.

Thieves Loot Vault Of Brantford Firm

BRANTFORD, Aug. 8 (CP)—Battering through about six layers of brick, thieves looted the vault during the night at the Coca-Cola Company plant here, getting away with the firm's holiday week-end receipts.

An unofficial estimate placed the amount stolen at more than $3,000.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to smash open an office safe recently.

Britain May Face Coal Crisis, Production Down

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON—(CP)—Britain, with her rich resources of unmined coal has been given a stern warning that unless production is stepped-up sharply the country will face another fuel emergency next winter.

The grim reminder of last year's dimout restrictions and power cuts, came from the industrial and domestic consumers' councils, set up by the government as liaison units between the public and the Ministry of Fuel and Power.

Their separate reports, covering the period to June 30, declared that for some years to come there will be barely enough coal mined to meet growing domestic demands and essential export commitments.

"Unless the improved trend in output resulting from Saturday or overtime working and from rising manpower continues, there is a great danger that the country will be faced with another fuel emergency next winter," says the industrial advisory council.

The report warns this would lead to curtailment of industrial productivity and possibly slacken the pace of the vital rearmaments program. It might also cause further postponment of a return to large-scale exports needed to increase purchases of food and raw materials.

Emergency Imports

Speedy decision is urged on the question of whether further emergency purchases of coal should be made from the United States and other sources.

"If coal is to be imported," said R. de Bourcier, secretary of the consumers' council, "A decision should be reached quickly so that supplies may be moved to points of consumption before winter sets in and transportation problems arise."

The current gap between production and consumption has widened sharply, he said, with the nation's stockpile standing at about 12,000,000 against a target of 18,000,000.

Meanwhile, cancellation of Saturday working and miners' holidays has cut down production while consumption has been booming through increased industrial activity and an annual addition of some 250,000 homes.

"If this trend continues we must take a very serious view of what is going to happen," Mr. de Bourcier said.

Colored Booklet Only Memento Of Cowboy Movie

CALGARY—(CP)—The handsome hero leaned over and kissed the heroine as she casually produced her trusty guitar and played a tune to the wire-supported moon over Lake Louise.

Then, as the [illegible] they rode [illegible] together to the Calgary Exhibition Grounds.

The scene was Calgary's first movie set. The date: 1927.

It was Calgary's lone entry into the motion picture business — a rootin'-tootin' epic called "His Destiny."

All that remains of it now is a brilliantly-colored booklet describing the "stupendous story of the foothills of Alberta" that was "sincere and convincing, abounding in thrilling surprises."

Neal Hart, the cowboy glamor man of the '20s, was the star. He was also the director and in the movie was called upon to stop a wild horse stampede.

In the booklet Hart is pictured wearing a wide-brimmed hat, pearl-buttoned shirt and fancy riding pants. He is also shown in a dark suit with a black tie wearing the worried look of a director.

Home Town Stars

The rest of the cast was home town talent. Joe Big Plume, Chief of the Sarcee Tribe, played an Indian chief.

Inspector James Spalding, of the RCMP, was a mounted police inspector. And somehow, Viscount Willingdon, then governor-General of Canada, appeared in publicity as the Governor-General of Canada.

Mary Cross, "Queen of the Saddle—a native of Calgary," was the heroine.

One of her accomplishments in the film was riding a democrat—the wagon, not the political adherent—down the streets of Calgary to a ranch.

The sun porch of the Pallister Hotel was one of the screen ranch houses. The city court house was another.

But as the booklet put it, "His Destiny was more than a picture; it was grim reality that arouses every human emotion and causes amazement at the startling situations that follow in rapid succession."

The only trouble was that it was too grimly real and amazing for the patrons.

Confidence Vote Won By De Gasperi

ROME, Aug. 8 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi today won a 151 to 101 vote of confidence from the Senate for his seventh government.

The vote followed a speech by the Christian Democrat premier in which he vowed that his government will continue to oppose Communism and the resurgence of Fascism in Italy.

The vote followed week-long debate in both Senate and Chamber of Deputies on the premier's new cabinet and its program.

The Chamber of Deputies, where Christian Democrats hold 303 of the 570 seats, will vote on the government Thursday.

CATCHING UP ON THE NEWS from the Kaesong cease-fire negotiations are these Yank infantrymen, members of a recoilless rifle team which has just helped UN troops storm and capture "million dollar mountain" in Central Korea. The hill, captured by the GI's in the face of heavy machine-gun fire, took its name from the "million dollars' worth" of UN ammunition spent on it before it fell.

149 At Reunion Of Kidd Family In Jackson Park

Jackson Park was the setting for the 11th reunion of the Kidd clan.

After the dinner hour, the president, Mrs. R. McNaughton, welcomed all present. Prizes were presented by Leatha Kidd to the following: The oldest person present, Mrs. John Kidd; the youngest person present, Master Grant Forsyth; the most recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orr; the person from the farthest distance, Mrs. Rogers; the person with the birthday nearest, Mrs. Ernest Fife; for a balloon blowing contest to Mrs. Campbell; for the singing contest to Annabelle and Robert Innes. Others who entered the singing contest were a trio by Ross McNaughton, Robert Orr, Orland Kidd; a solo by Thomas Travis, and a quartet by Annabell Innes, Mary Hawthorne, Robert Innes and Percy Kidd. A tie-tying contest was won by Annabelle Innes and Johnny Guest.

The names of three more people who attended the reunion for 10 years out of the 11 were added to the nine names who received award pins for perfect attendance last year. They were Mrs. O. B. Earle, Mrs. R. MacNaughton and Miss Jessie MacNaughton.

During the afternoon a solo was sung by Master David Earle of Toronto, who told the story of a day at the Kidd reunion to the tune of "The Teddy Bears' Picnic."

The officers for 1952 are as follows: President, Mrs. R. MacNaughton; vice - president, Mrs. Arnold Ferguson; secretary, Miss Lulu Darling; treasurer, Mrs. Gerald MacMillan; sports committee, Orland Kidd, Hilliard Ray, Russell Ferguson, Maitland Forsythe; tea - making committee, Mrs. R. Knox; publicity convener, Miss Leatha L. Kidd.

It was decided to hold next year's reunion at Nicholls Oval on Civic Holiday.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Gerald MacMillan.

After an afternoon of seeing many relatives from near and far, the occasion was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

The following persons were present at the reunion:

Mrs. N. E. Rogers, Winnipeg, Man.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Kidd, Jerry City, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geringer, Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. M. Fife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Forsyth, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Henry, Windsor; Mrs. J. E. DELTA OVER BRITAIN—First public demonstration of the Avro Delta 707B research plane, seen here in flight, was given recently at Dunsfold Airfield in Surrey, England. Many experts of aviation design say future military and commercial high-speed jets will take the delta-wing shape, dictated by need for carrying heavy loads at high altitudes.

Mosquito Invasion

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 8 (AP). — Florida cities and counties today battled what some authorities said was the worst mosquito invasion in years. On both coasts and in the interior, the fight waged from planes, trucks, boats and even motorcycles. All sections of the state reported an unusually-heavy invasion of the pests.

Railway Hotel Employees File Demand For Pay Increase

OTTAWA, Aug. 8 (CP) — A move for wage-hour consessions has been launched on behalf of employees of Canadian National Railways hotels, who got only a partial share of last year's rail strike settlement.

Officials of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL), Canada's biggest rail union, said Tuesday they have filed a formal demand for higher pay and a shorter work week in a new contract to replace one expiring Sept. 1.

For about 2,000 of its members employed in the CNR hotel chain, the union is asking an across-the-board increase of 20 cents an hour along with a five-day, 40-hour work week with no reduction in pay from the present 48 hours. The average pay now is about 80 cents an hour.

The CBRE contracts are in effect in all CNR hotels except those at Halifax, Edmonton and St. John's, Nfld., and also in the Vancouver Hotel, operated jointly by the CNR and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

It was understood the Hotel and Restaurant Workers' International Union (AFL-TLC) which has collective bargaining rights at St. John's, Halifax and Edmonton, is making the same demands as the CBRE for the CNR hotels in the latter two cities. The St. John's contract does not become open at this time.

The network of Canadian Pacific Railway hotels—except for the Vancouver—is not affected by the new move. These are under provincial labor laws—the others under federal— and engage in separate bargaining with no contracts coming up for renewal until around the end of the year.

Cut Production 45% At Hamilton Plant

HAMILTON, Aug. 8 (CP). — A 45 per cent reduction in production for the balance of 1951 was announced Tuesday by Studebaker Corporation of Canada.

D. C. Gaskin, vice-president and general manager, said the reduction will take place as soon as necessary arrangements are completed. He said it would help to relieve inventory pressure on the company's dealers.

He blamed "the present serious industry-wide slow-up in sales," resulting from government credit restrictions. Officials of Local 525 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said tonight they will confer with company heads this week to decide how many men will have to be laid off.

Economic Expansion Promised By Pleven

PARIS, Aug. 8 (AP) — Rene Pleven promised today that if he is premier he will give France a big economic expansion program.

Pleven, speaking before the National Assembly to ask for a vote of confirmation as premier, said:

"Our production is now 40 per cent greater than in 1938, but is acsrcely above what it was in 1929."

Pleven was expected to get the vote of confirmation, but then would face the problem of trying to get the various parties to go into his cabinet.

Pleven, 50, who was premier for seven months last year, is the eighth man to try to solve France's month-long cabinet crisis. He is leader of a small, right-of-centre party.

Pact With Russia Suggested In Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 8 (AP) — The pro-government newspaper Al Misri suggested today that Egypt sign a non-aggression pact with Russia as a counterplay against Britain.

Egypt yesterday warned Britain she intends to cancel the Anglo - Egyptian mutual defence treaty by the end of August. Under the treaty Britain maintains troops in the Suez Canal zone for protective reasons. Egypt wants these troops withdrawn.

Al Misri suggested that if Egypt signed a non-aggression pact with Russia and then took her case to the United Nations Security Council, the bottom would fall out of Britain's argument that her troops are in the canal zone to protect Egypt against possible Russian aggression.

Second Tunnel Niagara Plan

TORONTO, Aug. 8 (CP). — A second tunnel may be started on the Niagara river by the Ontario Hydro Commission within three months as part of its power development project.

It would generate 300,000 horsepower in addition to that expected from the Queenston project now under way, total capacity of both tunnel developments would be close to 1,000,000 horsepower.

Hydro chairman Robert Saunders said in an interview that the commission's plans call for the building of two tunnels.

"In fact, we are doing some of the preliminary work now, so that, if we decide to go ahead soon we will save three or four months. What we have to decide is the timing of the project. Such matters as the load, steel supplies and the St. Lawrence development are factors."

The tunnel now under construction will carry water from the falls to Queenston, farther downstream, where maximum potential energy can be gained from the falling water.

Jury Indicts US Publisher

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (AP)— A grand jury today indicted Al S. Waxman, publisher of several Los Angeles community newspapers, on seven counts of grand theft involving $55,000.

Waxman, 43, previously had been arraigned on similar charges alleging a newsprint paper purchase deal in which five newspaper publishers were victimized.

Those who testified to their losses were Harlan G. Palmer, publisher of The Hollywood Citizen-News; Doyle McDonald of The Rodgers-McDonald Publishing Co.; R. J. Brewer, Compton Herald-American; Charles Richardson, Pomona Progress-Bulletin, and Maurice W. Markham, Van Nuys News Publishing Co.

Waxman, at liberty on $10,000 bond, is accused of obtaining the money on promises to buy 475 tons of newsprint from a British Columbia pulp and paper mill at $234 a ton, delivered here. The official newsprint price rose recently from $110 a ton to $116.

Some of the witnesses explained their willingness to buy at inflated prices on the ground they had been squeezed by the newsprint quota, although their circulation has been rising steadily.

Former Cavan Resident Dies In Nova Scotia

A one-time resident of Cavan Township, Alfred Perkins, 39, died recently in Tatamagouche, Nova Scotia. For five years he farmed in Cavan, living with Mr. and Mrs. Melville Stewart there.

Mr. Perkins was born in Jarrow, England, the son of Mrs. Edith Perkins and the late Samuel Perkins. He came to Canada 22 years ago, and for the past five years farmed in Nova Scotia.

He is survived by his widow, the former Ethel Glenn, one son James, one daughter Edith Ann, a brother Walter, all of Tatamagouche; his mother, five sisters, Edith, Clara, Sally, Alice, Nancy and one brother Jim, all in England.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 8 (AP).—J. Edgar Hoover says Communis tparty membership in the United States has decreased from 52,000 last year to 37,000 at present, but the danger has not decreased. The director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said in an interview yesterday that the remaining communists in the US are more intensive and fanatical.

Few Baths In UK As Coke Ration Curbed

LONDON, Aug. 8 (AP) —Britain Tuesday slapped the tightest ration since the war on the use of coke. It means fewer baths and colder dishwater for British householders.

The idea is to save scarce coke for industry which now uses nearly 40 per cent more than it did before the war.

Domestic coke has been unrationed since Jan. 1, 1950. Many British households — probably more than half of them—rely on coke-fired boiler devices in the kitchen to supply hot water.

New Man Commands Army Centre In Detroit

DETROIT, Aug. 8 (AP).—Brig.-Gen. Carroll H. Deitrick took command of the army's Detroit rank-automotive centre Tuesday and promised to inform the public of what goes on at the centre, recent target of a congressional inquiry.

Deitrick succeeds Brig.-Gen. David J. Crawford who was removed following an inquiry of alleged misuse of government material and equipment.

Nootka Sailor

His friends thought the ship might have healed over and he lost his balance while walking close to the guard rail.

Don has been in the navy two and a half years. He likes it although, like everyone else in any of the services, there are times when he is ready to gripe at one or other of the service's peculiarities.

"The more I travel, the more I live it," was the reason he liked the navy. He was with the Nootka when it was commissioned last fall. The Nootka sailed for Japan Nov. 25, arriving there Jan. 14 and docked on the west coast July 31. The ship is now on its way to Halifax.

The sailors had frequent leaves in Japan of three or four days at a time. He wasn't much attracted by Japan. He described it a filthy country where the sewage system doesn't work and the "people live like animals."

However, he said, "They are the most polite and honest people I've ever met."

Brief Korea Visits

He landed on the Korean mainland twice for brief visits. But he saw little except a few South Koreans in their villages. He took pictures of the South Koreans and the coast of Korea as well as pictures of Japan, its idols and temples, streets and buildings.

He enjoyed shopping in the small "hole-in-the-wall" shops and in the open markets. He haggled over the prices until he cut the shopkeepers down to about half the price they first wanted.

Don is home for 44 days' leave and after that he reports back to the Nootka in Halifax. But where is he headed, "you never know."

Arthur S. Conlin

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated Saturday for Arthur Sylvester Conlin, Sherbrooke St., who died Thursday in his 60th year. Celebrants were the Rev. J. F. Coughlin, assisted by the Rev. R. Garvey and the Rev. F. Mihelic.

Funeral was held at the Anglesey funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral. Pallbearers were Roly Hull, Robert Starr, Fred Burns, Leo Pearson, Edward Williams, and Paul Conlin.

Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery, where graveside prayers were said by the Right Rev. P. P. Butler, who was in the sanctuary when mass was celebrated.

Tweed Village Observes 60th Birthday

TWEED, Aug. 8 — (Special to Examiner)—Starting with a giant carnival on Saturday afternoon staged on the main street this town marked over the weekend its diamond jubilee. It was a fun-packed, thrilling three-day reunion with the folk who have left this little town for other fields returning.

Radio broadcasts, sports, parades, band concerts and unveiling and dedication of the cenotaph marked the anniversary.

Following the opening of the carnival on Saturday the evening's highlight was the old time parade winding up with an old time dance which to many proved the highlight of the day.

Sunday opened at 9.30 with a CBC broadcast 'Salute to Tweed' to be followed by "Neighborly News" with Don Fairburn and Reid Forsee in the park pavilion. Special services were held in the churches. In the afternoon the RCAF Central Command Band, Ottawa, lead the veteran's parade. The band also led in the singing at the drumhead service and the unveiling and dedication of the cenotaph at which Rev. E. G. B. Foote, O.B.E., RCN, chaplain of the Canadian Fleet was the speaker. Band concerts wound up the day's activities in the evening.

On Monday the program opened with children's sports in the Memorial Park to be followed by other sports throughout the day.

Did Not Want Village

Birth of the village of Tweed drew the boast from Senator Billa Flint—neighboring Bridgewater's most powerful and influential citizen—that he would "make the grass grow in the streets" of the upstart community.

Today, the grass grows on the grave of Senator Flint but none on the streets of Tweed.

And Tweed citizens, 1,700 strong are chuckling to themselves this day recalling how Senator Flint's plan finally went awry.

The senator and wealthy friends undertook to build a private railway from Madoc to Kingston bypassing Tweed on the CPR. They got the line as far as Bridgewater (now Actinolite) and one train ran over it before the bold adventure collapsed from financial anemia.

A country road now marks the path of the old line while Tweed and the CPR are carrying right on.

Irish-French Mixture

The village was originally part of Hungerford Township. Its population was predominately of Irish and French origin when William Wray took over duties as first clerk.

His grandson, Garret Morton, who has been clerk since 1935 and treasurer since 1924, recalled that despite the Irish-French majority it was a Scotsman who bestowed the name on the village.

James Jamieson, leading manufacturer and sawmill owner, took Tweed from the title of his native village, Berwick - on-Tweed, in Scotland.

Coast Teacher Helping To Conquer Reading Faults

VANCOUVER—(CP) — "Word blindness," or the inability to read intelligently, is being conquered by a Vancouver high school teacher.

The strange affliction long has been a secret enemy of education, entirely distinct from the capacity to read and write. J. H. Sutherland's special course in English at the McGee high school has given hundreds of pupils, mostly about 15 years old, the ability to read effectively for the first time in their lives.

Intelligence quotients have been known to leap 30 points after the course. With their new ability to learn, formerly "stupid" students often become class leaders.

"Word blindness" is such an incredible disorder that Mr. Sutherland has difficulty convincing many parents that it actually exists. They ask why intelligent children who have gone to school 10 years cannot learn to read, and, if they can't read, how did they ever get into high school.

Mr. Sutherland explains that the term "word-blindness" is a misnomer. About 30 per cent of all children are "sound-learners". Their memory of the printed word is associated in their minds with the sound instead of the picture.

Memory Is Key

They cannot recognize words of any complicated structure and cannot learn the difference between words of similar structure. Thus the entire meaning of most sentences is lost to them.

Instruction is comparatively simple compared to the startling results. Mr. Sutherland usually enlists aid of advanced pupils who sit with new class members and help them concentrate on breaking down difficult words into syllables.

Words are repeated with increasing speed until they form a sound picture in the pupils' minds. They take dictation with every difficult word carefully sounded.

Later they gather in small groups and read to each other or write sentences on the blackboard, explaining the meaning of sentences.

Once they can read properly, Mr. Sutherland crams them with a tightly-knit grammar course to help them catch up with the other pupils. He said individual attention to the children's problem is essential.

Rate Of Wages Set 65c Per Hour

HAVELOCK, Aug. 8—(ENS)—The rate of wages for the road superintendent, Robert Marshall, was set by the Belmont and Methuen council at their meeting on Saturday at 65 cents per hour and nine cents per mile for actual miles travelled while on the township road work.

The main item on the list of authorized expendtures was voucher No. 7 covering an expenditure of $1,163.40 on the roads. A grant of $20 was made to the Norwood fair board and one for $10 to the Salvation Army. The Belmont Women's Institute was given $79.19 towards the renovations at the township hall. Other items for the month were relief accounts $105, E. W. Steenburg for sheep $75 and insurance $128.

A bylaw in relation to taking in two roads, one north and one south of McDonald's Bay on Koshabog lake.

A rebate of $1.89 on 1951 taxes will be given Charles Carter because of a double assessment on Mr. Carter and Mr. Lowry on part of lot 13, concession 5, Belmont.

A motion by councillors Newton and Gawley was passed which stated that the council is desirous of having part of lot 12, concession 3 Methuen, in the name of C. Ruttan sold subject to the future owners being notified that he or she will be asked to place buildings on this property suitable to the Department of Lands and Forests before the issue of letters patent and this condition be announced at the time of sale.

Sea Shells Needed For War

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP) — Boom prices offered for the trochus shell have brought a rich and colorful new industry to the shell fishermen of Mackay in Queensland.

Officials in the industry say the current high prices are caused by demand for the shell in manufacture of American war materials. For years this sort of shell has been used to make buttons and knife handles, while it has been ground for use as a face-powder base. But until recently prices were not enough to justify intensive production.

Now luggers are sailing frequently from Darwin, Cairns, Townsville and even Thursday Island to get their share from the rich trochus shell beds lying off Mackay, untapped since the Japanese left there on the outbreak of war.

While shell diving in former years was mainly the preserve of native divers, the white man is proving his worth in this type of work. Australians, Englishmen, Norwegians and other Europeans are taking it up and doing well.

One of the craft engaged in the industry, the 112-foot Northern Star, has 15 white divers of five different nationalities. But the greatest volume is still being brought up by colored divers.

Summerless Year Story Confirmed

The story of the summerless year of 1816, when snow began to fall about the middle of June and was a foot deep in August is more than a myth according to "A History of the County of Pictu," in Nova Scotia.

"The year of 1816 was known throughout the northern parts of this continent, and also in Europe, as 'the year without a summer.' In the northern states, frost, ice, and snow were common in June," wrote the Rev. George Patterson, D.D.

Mr. Patterson used many of the recollections of his grandfather in writing the history in 1877, so that his account is not first-hand observation.

An earlier account in The Examiner, Leo M. Petticrew related the story of the "summerless year." It is substantially the same as Mr. Patterson tells.

10 Inches of Snow

"Snow fell to the depth of 10 inches in Vermont, seven in Maine, and three in central New York. On the 5th of July ice was formed to the thickness of common window glass throughout New England, New York, and some parts of Pennsylvania. In August, ice was formed from half an inch thick. Indian corn was so frozen that the greater part was cut down for fodder. Indeed almost every green thing was destroyed . . .

"Here (Pictou county) the frost was hard in the woods in the month of June, provisions were high and from the destruction of crops the previous year by the mice, many were suffering, and nearly all the farmers were put to some inconvenience for want of food for their families."

Mr. Patterson's history was brought into The Examiner by a reader who was pleased to be able to show that the summerless year of 1816 "wasn't just a fairy story."

"The Bran for Health and Taste-Appeal"

"I make Post's Bran Flakes my regular breakfast cereal for two good reasons. They help me guard against irregularity often caused by lack of bulk foods in the daily diet. And they add keen enjoyment to my breakfasts. Here's 'keep-fit' bran good to eat: Post's Bran Flakes."

Supplies Natural Bulk

Post's Bran Flakes aid gentle, natural laxative action. Made with other parts of wheat, you also get wholesome wheat nourishment.

Tomorrow, try this Keep-Fit cereal. And try the easy recipe shown here. Insist on Post's —the better Bran Flakes.

A Muffin Miracle!
PRUNE BRAN MUFFINS
¾ cup milk
1 cup Post's Bran Flakes
½ cup finely cut prunes
1 cup sifted flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
3 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
Pour milk over bran and let stand 5 minutes. Add ½ cup finely cut prunes to bran mixture. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Add egg and butter to bran mixture and mix well. Add flour, beating only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 10 muffins.

Rose Released From Pen After Nearly 5 Years On Espionage Conviction

MONTREAL, Aug. 9. (CP)—Fred Rose was released today from St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary where he served a term for violation of the Official Secrets Act. The former Labor-Progressive member of Parliament was released from the bleak, grey stone block of buildings outside of Montreal at 10:45 a.m. He left by a back door and avoided most of the newspapermen assigned to be on the lookout for his departure from the pile of stone which has been his home since he was sentenced to six years in prison.

He spent most of his time in prison as a library worker and his sentence was cut short through application of the time-off-for-good-behavior rule.

Rose actually served four years and seven months.

The 43-year-old Polish born Rose was led out through a small, out-of-the-way door by Col George Lebel, the prison warden.

Lebel later told newspapermen that Rose had said he would meet reporters later at his Montreal home.

The release of Rose left in prison only two of 20 men and women accused in the sensational post-war spy inquiry after which nine were imprisoned, one fined and nine acquitted. The charge against one was dropped.

Still In Prison

Still in prison are Sam Carr and Gordon Lunan.

Some Progress In Oil Talks

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 9—(Reuters)—Richard Stokes, Britain's oil peace envoy, talked for nearly two hours today with Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran.

Informed sources said they had another general discussion on the oil question.

It was the third meeting between the two leading figures in the Anglo-Iranian nationalization dispute.

Both sides reported "some progress" after their meeting Wednesday night.

Civil Defence Workers Take Atomic Course

OTTAWA, Aug. 9 (CP).—Canada took practical steps today to train her citizens against the hazards of atomic radiation.

Thirty civil defence workers from Canada's 10 provinces and the United States gathered at Kingston's Royal Military College to begin a course dealing with the latest methods of detecting radiation hazards.

The Health Department, announcing the course, said it was the first of its kind to be operated anywhere specifically for civil defence.

Trainees will get three weeks of practical training in monitoring radiation detection instruments and then return home to train more radiation detectors and instructors.

The course, to be one of a series, will be conducted by officers of No. 1 Radiation Detection Unit, Canadian Engineers, a new army unit, pioneering in atomic warfare defence.

Say Spy Ring Data Shelved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Maj.-Gen. Charles A. Willoughby testified today that higher military authority overruled him when he sought in 1949 to "unmask" a far-flung Russian spy ring.

Willoughby, former military intelligence chief under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, gave his testimony before the Senate internal security subcommittee. It is looking into the question of whether there have been subversive influences on American foreign policy.

Willoughby said "the best legal American talent in Tokyo" had approved as proper evidence a report naming writer Guenther Stein and the late Agnes Smedley as members of a Soviet spy ring in Japan.

He said Mrs. Smedley conducted "a smear campaign" against the report, which he had made public, and that "the war department public relations officer, in my recollection, and the secretary of war's office, then under Mr. Royall" squelched the report as a result.

"No action ever was taken," Willoughby said.

Lake Como Flood Claims 19 Lives

COMO, Italy, Aug. 9 (AP) — At least 19 persons have been killed in a flood which continued its wild rampage in this area today after 36 hours of heavy rain. Several score are reported injured or missing. One village is completely isolated.

Seventeen of the deaths were caused by the breaking of the Domaso dike, which sent a great wall of water crashing into Gera Lario, a village of 700 persons.

The flood's worst damage was on the Italian side of Lake Como near the Swiss frontier, but towns in Switzerland also were hard hit.

Desert Festival For West 60 Young Reds Arrested

BERLIN, Aug. 9 —(AP)— The West Berlin newspaper Telegraf reported today that more than 60 young East German Communists had been arrested by Red police for deserting their World Youth Festival to visit West Berlin.

The newspaper added that "several" leading officials of the Communist youth movement had been fired and arrested because of a breakdown in supply and organization for the festival, which has massed 500,000 youngsters in East Berlin.

West Berlin press reports also claimed that the blue-shirted East German Communist youths had engaged in several fights with "People's Police" who tried to bar them from visiting West Berlin.

But as the festival went into its fifth day many Communist youths still were coming over, often employing ruses to elude their police guards.

The Communist Berliner Zeitung said that many of the youths were not getting their promised one daily hot meal because of insufficient personnel in the kitchen.

Thousands of the iron curtain youths have been catching warm meals free in West Berlin youth homes on their visits across the sector borders.

Western sources estimated that about 200,000 youngsters already had come visiting. Of these, nearly 200 were reported to have asked about political asylum; but only 36 have been accepted as bona fide refugees.

Chalk River Atom Work Aids Allies

Canadian Research Developing New War Potential

OTTAWA, Aug. 9. (CP) — Canada has been making important contributions to the atom-bomb programs of both the United States and the United Kingdom and some of her nuclear research is believed likely to be important in the drive for an H-bomb, too.

By a curious irony, the Chalk River atomic project which Canada has devoted to peaceful pursuits is considered by both the US and UK as one of Canada's major contributions to joint Western defence.

Some of the recent fundamental research at Chalk River has been of particular help to the US in its bomb program.

These facts were learned authoritatively today in the wake of the first official statement linking Chalk River with war work.

Turn To War Work

The statement came in the annual report of the National Research Council, the government's scientific body and the one which runs Chalk River. It said:

"With the growing uneasiness in the world situation . . . pressure on research for defence purposes has been rising . . . At the present time in addition to the atomic energy project, which has always had a dual character, the divisions of electrical engineering, mechanical engineering and to some extent others have turned almost exclusively to war work."

That second sentence was inserted personally by Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, head of NRC, it was learned today. He, however, is in the UK and is unavailable for comment.

But other government scientists elaborated this way:

Chalk River hasn't significantly changed its program. But the fundamental nuclear research Chalk River does for peaceful purposes is considered by both the US and UK—who get all the results—to be first-class help in their bomb programs, too.

Official Adviser

A second, more tangible change is one by which the defence department has made Chalk River its official adviser on atomic matters.

Because Chalk River has a heavy water reactor which can do tests other atomic projects can't do, "most of what it has

Publication Of Letter From Alexander Fans German Demands Kesselring Be Freed

BONN, Germany, Aug. 9 — (Reuters). — Publication of a letter by Field Marshal Viscount Alexander today fanned demands by various German ex-servicemen's groups for the release of their favorite General from his war crimes sentence.

Lord Alexander said his wartime opponent, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, was "an able and fine German General" who fought a "perfectly fair and straight-forward fight."

Kesselring is serving a 20-year term — reduced from a death sentence—for war crimes, chiefly the shooting of 335 Italian hostages in retaliation for underground attacks against German troops.

Ex-service groups here have long sought his release. Many Germans, including high government officials, dispute his guilt.

Official British sources would say nothing about the matter today. Nor would West German authorities.

The letter from Lord Alexander, now Governor-General of Canada, was printed in this week's issue of Der Stern (The Star), a picture weekly which has been campaigning on behalf of war-crimes prisoners.

Second Jockey Arrested In Hamilton Inquiry For Fixing Horse Races

HAMILTON, Aug. 9. (CP)—A second jockey was arrested today as the Ontario Racing Commission continued its investigation into the "fixing" of horse races and he and two others were ruled off Ontario tracks for life. The arrested jockey was George Thompson, Hamilton, charged with perjury No details of the charge were released immediately but the commission announced that he had been ruled off the tracks for accepting bribes at the Fort Erie meeting in July.

Jockey Bobby Merchant of Montreal was ruled off Ontario tracks for life for accepting bribes to "throw" a race at Fort Erie July 25.

Jockey Gordon Cox, Hamilton, was ruled off for offering a bribe to Merchant to "throw" a race June 15 at the Thorncliffe meeting in Toronto.

Asked To Offer Bribe

The commission said Cox told a hearing at the Hamilton Jockey Club that he met a man on a back street in Toronto prior to the June 15 Thorncliffe race and was asked to offer $300 to Merchant. He said he did so, Merchant refused the bribe and Cox "never saw the man again."

Merchant, taken to central police station by Inspectors Albert Ward and Charles Wood of the Ontario Provincial Police, was said to have accepted a bribe to "pull" Parade Call in the third race at Fort Erie July 25. Parade Call was an also ran in the race.

Robert Wankmuller of Newark, NJ, described as the payoff man among riders involved in fixed horse races on Ontario tracks, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of defrauding the public.

Fire Destroys Big Cathedral

SAN SALVADORE, El Salvador, Aug. 9 (AP)—Fire destroyed the Metropolitan Cathedral and National Theatre last night. Eighty persons were injured in fleeing the theatre. Damage to the two buildings was estimated at $200,000.

The fire started in late afternoon, presumably when a short-circuited wire threw sparks on a movie film.

Many dashed out of the crowds around the square and tried to rescue sacred objects from the main altar of the burning cathedral. It was the centre of ceremonies Tuesday honoring the saviour (Salvador), for whom both the country and its capital are named.

The clock in the cathedral tower struck four just before it tumbled down.

Firemen, handicapped by lack of water, confined the blaze to the theatre and cathedral square. They saved the National University and the post office in the line of flames and, also, the Bank of London branch building which at one time was surrounded by flames.

Curse Doesn't Work

NORTH BAY, Aug. 9. (CP) —The Curse of the Manitou, Indians say, brings violent death or disaster to any white man who spends a night on the Big Manitou—a large island just north of here in Lake Nipissing. Douglas Stuebing, a Toronto reporter, spent Wednesday night on the island. "Still around," he said today.

Trenton Plane Joins Search

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9 (CP) — Two RCAF Dakotas from Ontario bases have been called into the search for a light aircraft, missing with two Americans aboard.

The two craft—one from Trenton communications and rescue flight; the other from Centralia—today were scheduled to work out of the advance air base at The Pas, Man.

The missing Fairchild aircraft is seven days overdue on a 296-mile flight from Lac La Ronge to Stony Rapids in Northern Saskatchewan.

Aboard were the pilot, Dr. John Tasche of Sheboygan, Wis., and passenger, Miles Eikenburger of Plymouth, Wis., who left Sheboygan July 29 for a fishing trip in Saskatchewan.

They left Lac La Ronge, 112 miles north of Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 2 for Stony Rapids, and have not been seen or heard from since.

An RCAF Dakota left Winnipeg Wednesday for The Pas to start the search. A fleet-equipped Norseman also joined in.

In addition to full crews and spotters, the long-range aircraft from Winnipeg and Trenton each carries a two-man para-rescue team, supplies and medical aid.

Red China Wooing Nepalese Government

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 9 (AP)—Reliable sources said today Communist China has approached Nepal urging establishment of diplomatic relations. Nepal is closely linked with Tibet—now virtually a military territory of Red China.

Communist wooing of Nepal, an independent kingdom in the Himalayas, is being watched carefully here since Prime Minister Nehru has publicly constituted India as protector of the mountain state which guards the northern approaches to the Indian subcontinent.

The reported move is viewed here as Peiping's first step in taking over Tibet's foreign affairs.

Fail To Include Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP). —An attempt to attach the controversial St. Lawrence seaway proposal to the $8,500,000,000 foreign aid bill failed late Wednesday in the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee.

Chairman James P. Richards (Dem. SC) ruled that it was not within the intent of the foreign aid measure.

Reps. Clement Zablocki (Dem. Wis.) and Franklin D. Roosevelt (Dem. Lib. NY) offered the proposal as a rider during a closed committee session.

Richards declined to discuss the action afterward on the grounds that it was a closed session and his hands were tied. But it was learned from other sources that he ruled it out after a lengthy argument on the point.

Chinese Ask Resumption Of Parley

No Order Received By Delegation From Gen. Ridgway

TOKYO, Aug. 10. (Friday)—(AP)—A sharp message from the Communist command on Wednesday night told Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway there will be no new violations of the Korean conference site "unless you should deliberately fabricate incidents as an excuse to terminate armistice negotiations."

The armistice talks have been suspended since Saturday on Ridgway's complaint that armed Chinese Communist troops entered the supposedly-neutral conference zone of Kaesong. The Reds promised Sunday not to let it happen again, but the Supreme United Nations Commander demanded a firm guarantee before agreeing to resume the negotiations.

The Reds in turn have accused the Allies of violating the zone.

The latest Red reply, broadcast by Peiping radio late Thursday night, said Red guards again had been ordered to "adhere strictly" to the neutrality agreement around Kaesong.

Extend Invitation

It invited the Allied delegates to return to Kaesong.

However, it then raised the question of the Allies fabricating incidents.

It added, "On our part, we definitely will not terminate the negotiations rashly and irresponsibly without going through the procedural steps of protest, investigation, consultation and settlement should a similar failure on your part occur."

The Red reply, signed by Generals Kim Il sung and Peng Tehhuai, was first broadcast in Chinese. As translated into English by hearers in Tokyo, it omitted the "deliberately fabricated" angle and sounded generally much more poltie in tone than the official English version which was heard a little later.

The English version is regarded as the official one, however. The

Had To Squeal On Teammates

WEST POINT, NY, Aug. 9 (A(P)—Harold Loehlein, captain-elect of Army's 1951 football team, said today he was forced, with the threat of prison, to "squeal" on his teammates in the exam-cribbing scandal at the United States Military Academy.

"They kept hammering at me," he related. "Even if I knew my rights, which I now know, I would have told my part in the cheating. But I wouldn't have told about the others. I didn't want to squeal on my teammates."

He said he was asked to tell all about the cribbing with this threat: "If you lie, that is a prison offence."

Decide Water Babies Won't Swim Channel

LONDON, Aug. 9 — (AP) — Miami's Aquatots, Bubba and Kathy Tongy, won't be swimming the English Channel this year.

Their father, Russell Tongay, told reporters today he had abandoned any hope of making the attempt, but might try in 1952.

Bubba, 9, and Kathy, 4, came to Europe from Florida June 22 with their parents to make a try at swimming the Channel. Both Britain and France denied them permission to take off from either shore for such a swim.

Sure Jap Treaty Signed Despite Russ Opposition

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—United States officials expresed confidence today that a Japanese peace treaty will be signed at San Francisco next month despite expected strong Russian opposition.

State Secretary Dean Acheson told a press conference Wednesday he was sure the Kremlin would wage a propaganda campaign aimed at disrupting the treaty conference scheduled to open Sept. 4.

However, other officials were unable to foresee any action the Soviets might reasonably be expected to take which could succeed in disrupting the session.

Acheson's prediction grew out of a discussion of Soviet President Nikolai Shvernik's letter to President Truman earlier this week. Responding to a letter President Truman had written him, Shvernik advocated a five-power "peace-pact" which would include Red China.

Acheson challenged the Soviets to back up their avowed interest in peace objectives with deeds. He suggested they might start by working for peace in the United Nations.

Acheson said that he did not know whether the Soviets would send a delegation to San Francisco.

The treaty, which would restore Japan's independence and end the occupation, is the principal pact of three international arrangements worked out by Washington in consultation with other Pacific powers.

The other two agreements are a security treaty among the United States, Australia and New Zealand, and a separate agreement with Japan which will permit American armed forces to remain on Japanese territory.

The State Department announced last night that the treaty with Australia and New Zealand will be signed at San Francisco Sept. 1—three days in advance of the scheduled opening of the Japanese conference.

Will Be In Ottawa October 3-4; Plan Trenton Visit

OTTAWA, Aug. 9. (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will open their Royal tour of Canada at Quebec City Oct. 2 and will end it at St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 5, it was announced today. The Government, releasing the long-awaited itinerary, said formalities and ceremonials will form only a small part of the program.

The Royal couple will visit industrial and defence production plants and certain navy, army and air force centres.

From Quebec City they will go to Ottawa, spend two days in the capital—Oct. 3-4—and then visit a number of Ontario centres.

They open the western leg of their tour Oct. 9, arriving at Winnipeg, and then going on to Regina, Moose Jaw and Calgary.

They plan to reach the west coast Oct. 13, arriving at Vancouver, and are scheduled to spend three days—Oct. 16-17-18—on a holiday at an undisclosed locality.

To Visit Island

While on the west coast they also will visit Victoria and Nanaimo, BC. They go to Edmonton Oct. 20 and then to Saskatoon and Porth Arthur and Fort William on their way back east.

On Oct. 22 and 23 they will visit Montreal. The Royal couple will fly next day to Washington to visit President Truman.

They spend Oct. 25 in Washington and fly back to Montreal the following day to open another two-day holiday, again at an undisclosed spot.

Maritime Tour

Their Maritime tour opens Oct. 30 with their arrival at Fredericton. They will visit Saint John, NB, Halifax, Charlottetown, Sydney, NS, and St. John's, Nfld., before sailing for home from St. John's aboard the liner Empress of Canada.

The Canadian tour will involve rail, ship and plane transportation. The C-5 luxury plane will be supplied by the RCAF. Ships will be supplied by the Royal Canadian Navy.

Two railway cars normally used by the Governor-General have been placed at the disposal the Princess and her husband and will serve as rail transport and living quarters for much of the tour.

Want No Formalities

The announcement said that in preparing programs for consideration, local authorities no doubt wish to keep in mind their Royal Highnesses' expressed hope that the arrangements will be as simple as possible.

Allied Troops Enter Pyonggang

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 9 (AP) —Tank-led United Nations forces lumbered through the mud into Pyonggang Wednesday and found that Red troops have abandoned their former "iron triangle" stronghold for the second time.

The Allied force was in the city for an hour and then withdrew. It was the first time in three weeks that UN forces had penetrated the town on the central front, 28 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Communists put up determined resistance against Allied patrols elsewhere on the central and western fronts. There were sharp, brief fights, southwest, south and southeast of Kumsong as Allied patrols probed toward that new Red stronghold to the east of Pyonggang.

Along the western front Red troops mounted two small probing attacks west of Chorwon.

Home Building Lags In Western Ontario

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 9—(CP) —Home building in Western Ontario under the Veterans Land Act continues to lag far behind last year's figures due to the heavy increase in material costs.

Hugh Lamb, district construction supervisor, said the program currently was 25 per cent. below last year. He believed the decrease was due to the high cost of housing which could not be covered by the $6,000 mortgage given under VLA. Veterans could not meet secondary loan payments.

This time last year in this district 213 contracts were added to those already in force, as compared to 160 this year.

Reds Charge UN Troops Fire On Truck

Allies Think Enemy Using Markings For Non-Truce Work

TOKYO, Aug. 9. (AP)—The United Nations command headquarters said tonight the Reds formally had charged that Allied planes machine-gunned a Communist truce delegation truck Tuesday.

The incident was said to have happened between Kaesong, site of cease-fire talks, and Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital.

Allied commanders immediately raised the question of whether Reds might be using the white flag carried by truce team trucks for purposes "other than" intended.

There were no armistice negotiations Tuesday. But Red radios have said the Communist delegation went to Kaesong anyway, expecting the United Nations negotiators to arrive.

No Notification

UN headquarters said the Reds failed properly to notify the Allies on the route the truck would travel and the time of its journey. Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate, has so informed the Reds.

Under the safe-conduct guarantees for armistice delegations, opposing commanders must be notified of the routes and times of travel.

The Red protest, received today, said the truck was marked with a white cloth over its hood.

In his reply, the UN command said, Joy told the Reds:

"I note that the location of the attacks you allege is considerably east of the main road between Pyongyang and Kaesong.

"This fact raises the question in my mind whether your forces are abusing the use of white markings for purposes other than serving your delegation."

MORE ABOUT—

Will Be In Ottawa

For this reason and because the time spent in each place will be "so short," it added, it is expected that formalities and ceremonial will form only a small part of the program.

It therefore had been necessary to omit ceremonies such as receiving honorary degrees from universities, the laying of corner stones and the opening of institutions.

It will, the official announcement indicated, be largely a "people's" tour.

"Their Royal Highnesses," the announcement went on, "hope their tour will enable them to see as many people as possible and to be greeted by school children."

Will See Regiments

The Princess is looking forward to meeting personnel of the three Canadian regiments of which she is colonel-in-chief. They are Le Regiment de la Chaudiere, St. Marie de Beauce, Que.; 48th Highlanders of Canada, Toronto; and the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders of Canada (Princess Louise's), Hamilton.

For their visit to Washington, Hume Wrong, Canadian ambassador to the United States, will co-ordinate the arrangements with the United States Department of State.

Officials said the visit to the United States would be confined to Washington It had been thought previously the royal couple might visit New York, as did the King and Queen in the Royal Tour of 1939.

Today's release was largely the bare outline of the route the couple will follow.

The program for their stay at each individual stopping-point is still to be arranged by consultation between local authorities and federal government officials handling the tour.

Station Stops

When the itinerary indicates the Princess and the Duke will go from one point to another "via" a third centre it is expected the in-between point will be a station stop—conditions permitting—so they can meet the mayor and local authorities.

The itinerary makes it clear the Princess will not address parliament, as had been suggested unofficially. She and the Duke will be in Ottawa Oct. 3 and 4 and parliament is not scheduled to open its fall session until Oct. 9.

Present plans call for the Princess to hold one press conference. This will be while she is in Ottawa but the precise details have not been arranged.

Priest In Rouyn Admits Burning Baptist Mail

ROUYN, Que., Aug. 9. (CP)—A postal inspector Wednesday said the Rev. Alfred Roy, a Roman Catholic priest, has admitted burning religious pamphlets mailed to Baptists. The statement was made by Postal Inspector W. L. Gagne, sent to this northwestern Quebec community to investigate charges made by Baptist pastor L. G. Barnhart of nearby Noranda.

Mr. Barnhart had charged that religious pamphlets addressed to Baptists in Ste. Germaine Boule, 43 miles northwest of here, failed to reach their destination.

Inspector Gagne said he had interview Wilfred Begin, postmaster, and he said he had held up the mail on orders from Rev. Alfred Roy. Begin said that the priest had burned the mail.

The inspector said that Father Roy had admitted burning the mail because the letters, consisting of mimeographed sermons by pastor Barnhart, "would give people wrong ideas."

Relieved Of Office

Postmaster Begin has been relieved of his office and a full report will be made to the Postmaster General at Ottawa. The federal investigator said he had told Begin he was wrong in taking orders from the priest. The post office was concerned only with the postmaster and his acts and the part played by the priest was out of their hands.

"But Father Roy had no business touching the mail," said Inspector Gagne. "It has put the post office department in a bad fix."

Pastor Barnhart expressed pleasure at the turn of events. He said he knew as long as a year ago that the post office at Ste. Germain was holding back mail sent to local Baptist followers. It was the only town from which return mail was not received.

"We did not know what to do because it was against Baptist policy to hire lawyers or press court cases," he said. "So we decided to pray. We decided to ask the Lord about it because it was the Lord's work we were doing."

The pastor said Inspector Gagne had told him it was unusual in such cases to obtain proof of wrongdoing.

"It was almost incredible that the postmaster's daughters should have come forward so openly and told us that they had had orders from the priest to withhold Baptist mail," he continued. "It shows that the Lord honors His servants."

Pleven New Premier Of French Government

PARIS, Aug. 9 (AP). — The French National Assembly Wednesday confirmed Rene Pleven as Premier, a job he held for seven months last year. The vote was 391 to 102.

Pleven's investiture opens the way for an end to the political crisis which has gripped France since Premier Henri Queuille resigned July 10. Queuille's resignation was an automatic consequence of the national parliamentary elections, June 17.

Only the Communists voted against Pleven. Members of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Rassemblement du Peuple Francais abstained. His support came from the wide range of middle-of-the-road parties that have controlled the French government for the last four years. One of these is his own small Democratic and Socialist Union of Resistance.

Pleven succeeded Wednesday where two previous candidates lost out. Rene Mayer, outgoing justice minister, and Maurice Petsche, outgoing finance minister, failed to get the required absolute majority of 314 votes when they asked for investiture.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Aug. 9 — (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 5⅛ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/16 from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.05⅛ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.94 5/16, down 3/16 from Wednesday.

Stock Prices Slip Lower On Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 9 — (CP) — Stock Market prices slipped moderately lower today in early afternoon dealings.

Heavy trading in a scattered list of Western Oil, Base Metal and a few secondary gold issues highlighted generally quiet trading. Volume for the first three hours was 1,021,000 shares.

Textiles and manufacturing companies were the only industrial groups to show more gains than losses.

Base Metals held about even. Head of Lakes, Base Metal Mining Corporation, Quemont and United Asbestos edged higher. Ascot, East Sullivan, Mackeno, Quebec Manitou, Sherritt-Gordon, Yukeno and Eureka eased.

Western Oils were mixed.

In the mixed senior golds, Hollinger and McIntyre edged ahead while Giant Yellowknife and Kerr Addison settled slightly lower. Secondary golds showed a majority of losses.

and thinning hair, was regarded as the king-pin of an ideologically-bound network of Communist espionage couriers who relayed defence information to Russia.

After Col. Lebel told reporters Rose had been released they raced away and some reached the Rose home before he did.

He put on a pair of brown slippers—"I haven't worn them for nearly 5 years," then settled back on a chesterfield. He was photographed with his family.

"I will be frank with you," he said. "I have no statement to make. All I will say is that I am happy to be re-united with my family. I won't say anything else because I don't want to start any arguments. I'll tell you again it's a glorious feeling to come out, and it's swell to be sitting here."

What are his plans for the future? "I have nothing to say."

Has he changed his political leanings? "I am not going to discuss politics."

Does he intend to go back into politics? "I'll give you the same answer."

Hoover Recalls Churchill Blocked Plan

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (AP). — Herbert Hoover says Winston Churchill opposed Belgian relief in the First World War and that both Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt blocked it in the Second World War.

As head of the commission for relief in Belgium, Hoover sought the co-operation of the British Government in 1915.

He said he received it only after the cabinet overruled Churchill, then first lord of the Admiralty, and Lord Kitchener, then minister of war.

Kitchener, and "especially" Churchill, Hoover said, were "violently opposed." Writing his memoirs of his public life in Collier's Magazine, Hoover added:

Same Situation

"Twenty-five years later, when Belgium was again ground between a savage German occupation and an allied blockade, the Belgian Government was to ask me to organize another relief. But Churchill, this time together with Roosevelt, refused us."

As Belgian relief administrator, Hoover negotiated with Germany in 1915 as well as with Britain. He found the Germans had only a military reaction.

"The military mind," he wrote, "is without sentiment. But at least it has common sense and usually says what it means. It took less time and argument to put points over (with the Germans) and get decisions than with the British.

"The mental operations of the whole group contrasted sharply with the groping and oftimes timid and uncertain attitudes of the allied official mind. There was less red tape, more direct and effective action.

"On the other hand, there was something indescribably automatic and inhuman about the German actions and thinking. Nowhere did I encounter any relieving sense of human interest or humor."

done has been of great value to the US and UK," on scientist said.

"It would be perfectly true to describe Chalk River as an important defence project," he said, "and it would be equally true to say its program is almost entirely aimed at peaceful pursuits. . . . that's the irony of the situation."

In addition to aiding the A-bomb, quite a bit of Chalk River's work likely will contribute to the search for a hydrogen bomb.

First Indication

It was the first official statement that the muiti-million atomic plant at Chalk River, 125 miles northwest of Ottawa, might be engaged in anything but peaceful pursuits. Previous statements have said most of its work was in the field of furthering medical research.

No Specific Information

The president's carefully-worded report made no mention of any specific defence projects at Chalk River, which already has one atomic reactor and where another $30,000,000 atomic pile is to be constructed soon.

The section of the report given to work at Chalk River said that research chemists there have made a number of new isotopes—used mainly in medical research — by successive capture of neutrons. One of them was the isotope of phosphorus of mass 33.

In other phases of its work, the council reported continued co-operation with the cold research group of the Banting Institute in the development of electronic equipment for re-warming patients from a state of abnormally low body temperature.

Electronic techniques of artificial stimulation and control of the heart action were investigated and "continuous control of the heart, and even restoration of normal action of a heart that had ceased beating, were successfully accomplished."

Other scientific strides during the year included a new marine radar with a range down to 10 yards, along with a chart-matching unit in which the image of the radar display is superimposed on the chart, enabling the operator to determine a ship's position immediately.

Edinburgh Says Science Has Reached Danger Point

EDINBURGH, Aug. 9 (Reuters) —The Duke of Edinburgh warned scientists Wednesday their knowledge had reached a danger point, where they could either obliterate the world or set it free from drudgery and fear.

"It is clearly our duty as citizens to see that science is used for the benefit of mankind," he told the 113th annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Of what use is science if man does not survive?" he asked.

The duke spoke as president of the association.

In a detailed survey of Britain's scientific and technological progress from 1851 to 1951 he told 4,000 scientists from Britain and foreign and Commonwealth visitors there were dangers of considerable misuse in the fruits of their work.

Four Suggestions

He gave four suggestions to overcome the world's present critical shortage of raw materials: Improve design to secure economic production and minimum use of scarce materials; development of substitutes; use of scrap and low-grade ores, and development of "renewable" raw materials, such as timber, to satisfy demand for cellulose.

The duke added:

"We have evolved a civilization based on the material benefits which science and technology can provide. The present shortages are a timely reminder of the slender material foundation on which our civilization rests and our dependence upon science and technology."

McLaughlin Gives Million To Aid Doctors

OSHAWA, Aug. 9 (CP)—R. S. McLaughlin, of Oshawa, Canadian industrialist long connected with the automotive industry, has donated more than $1,000,000 for a foundation to promote the health and welfare of Canadians, it was announced today.

Known as the R. Samuel McLaughlin Foundation, it will provide financial assistance to graduates of Canadian medical schools who intend to devote their lives, wholly or in part, to medical teaching

Graduates selected for staff appointment to a Canadian medical school will be eligible for assistance in the forms of grants to enable them to visit medical centres anywhere that important new work is being done

The announcement said Mr. McLaughlin hopes the foundation will help stop the exodus of brilliant young Canadian doctors to the United States.

Any promising clinical and medical research in Canada also will be given financial support.

2 Bushmen Silent About Knife Wounds

TIMMINS, Aug. 9 — (CP) — Police today are investigating the mystery surrounding the knifing of two reticent bushmen at an alleged bootlegging establishment Wednesday night.

The men—Gerard Benson, 22, and John Christie, 23, gave their addresses as a local timber company.

A doctor notified police when the men came to the hospital for medical attention. The pair refused to talk about the incident to police.

Christie received a long gash down the neck, two stab wounds in the left arm and two stab wounds in the back above the waistline.

Introduce 2 Identical Bills To Develop Niagara Power

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Identical bills to permit New York State to re-develop the hydro-electric potential of the Niagara River were introduced today by Senator Irving Ives (Rep. NY) and Representative Sterling Cole (Rep. NY).

The re-development, which federal power commission engineers estimate would triple the existing Niagara output, would make cheap power available for New York and adjoining states, the two New Yorkers said in a joint statement.

The project, if approved under the Ives-Cole bill, would be constructed at no cost to the federal government.

The sponsors said that New York, through its power authority, is prepared to finance, construct, own and operate the project which would use additional quantities of Niagara River water authorized last year by a US-Canadian treaty.

Have Final Say

But the Senate, in approving the treaty, stipulated that Congress be given the final say as to who should use the additional amounts of water.

In this connection Congress already has proposals that the federal government undertake the development, and that it be done by private interests.

The first of the previous bills was introduced by Senator Herbert Lehman (Dem-Lib NY) and Rep. Franklin Roosevelt (Dem-Lib NY). The other—that advocating private development—was introduced by Representative William Miller (Rep NY).

"That time is long overdue," Cole and Ives said in their joint statement, "for the people of the northeast to get this cheap electricity we have been so long discussing.

"Our bill embodies the New York plan for the public attainment of this cheap electricity,... with full protection for the interests of the adjoining states, without attack on the private industry of the area, and without subjecting our northeastern region to the kind of supervision so steadily proposed by socialistic planners in our federal bureaus."

The Ives-Cole bill would provide that the project be constructed in accordance with plans made by the federal power commission. It would be built under licence from the power commission.

F.P.C. engineers estimated in 1949 that the project's cost would range from $300,000,000 to $350,000,000—depending upon the type of construction to be used.

The project would jump the existing annual power yield from 3,700,000,000 kilowatt hours to 11,600,000,000 kilowatt hours.

This would be execlusive of the yield to be generated on the Canadian side of the river. The province of Ontario already has begun construction of new works on its side of the river to make use of the additional water permitted under the 1950 treaty.

THIS IS REALLY "BIG STEEL" — This giant steel girder, largest single shipment ever to be handled by the New York Central Railway, occupied three flat cars for its trip from New Market, N.J., to New York City. The girder weighs 107 tons, is 153 feet, seven inches long, and 11 feet, five inches high. It is the first of three main girders to be used to build a parkway bridge over New York Central tracks.

Chinese Communists Denounce RC Organization

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Aug. 9 —(AP)—The Chinese Communists have officially denounced the Roman Catholic Church's "Legion of Mary" and called for suppression of the organization.

The Peiping People's Daily, official party organ, announced the suppression movement already has started in Tientsin, North China.

It is the first time the Reds, by order, have actually outlawed any part of the church.

Catholics say it is a short step from outlawing a church subsidiary to outlawing the church itself. However, they do not think the Reds are quite ready for the latter step.

The People's Daily blasted the Legion as "a secret, reactionary and terroristic organization in the Catholic Church."

Actually, the Legion of Mary is an organization among the laity which seeks converts to Catholicism.

Must Be Suppressed

The People's Daily said the Legion must be suppressed for the "protection of the pure and law-abiding Catholics" — meaning Catholics who have swung away from the Roman Church and have linked themselves with a state-controlled Peiping Church.

The Roman Catholics have flatly refused to instruct their flocks to join the Peiping Church.

Communist accusations levelled at the Catholics include charges of "murder" for operating orphanages where abandoned children were received, frequently in dying condition.

Bishops, priests and and nuns have gone to jail by the score. Perhaps hundreds are in jail now. At least seven Canadian nuns have been arrested. The whereabouts of several others is unknown.

Most Protestant faiths have ordered their foreign missionaries out of China after some had been arrested and jailed.

Minimum Price Cut $6 For Pears

HAMILTON, Aug. 9 — (CP)—Minimum prices of barlett pears have been set $6 and $5 below last year's prices for No. 1 and No. 2 goods respectively, the Canned Foods Association was informed to-day.

Prices this year for No. 1's, two inches and over in size, are $109 a ton; and for No. 2's, 1¾ to two inches in size, $60 a ton. Sizes below 1¾ inches also are $60 a ton.

The decision was reached by arbitration board headed by Judge A. B. Currey. Henry W. Moore of St. Catharines, represented the growers. Processors sent no representative to the board.

Want Dam Action

SASKATOON — (CP)—About 600 farmers from Outlook have demanded that the federal government start immediate construction of the South Saskatchewan river dam. The project would irrigate up to 500,000 acres of land and develop 150,000 horsepower of electricity.

House Speaker Waits Hopefully For Opening To Show Off New French To Commons' Pals

OTTAWA, Aug. 9 — (CP) — From now on, Hon. Ross Macdonald's designation as Mr. Speaker is going to have a shade more meaning.

He'll be a Speaker in both English and French—he hopes.

As presiding officer of the Commons, the Brantford lawyer's valiant bouts with the French language have delighted his House colleague for the last couple of years.

But no more of that, he reported Wednesday, as he got back from an intensive six-week course at Laval University, Quebec City.

While no making any rash promises, Mr. Macdonald said he thinks the Commons can look forward this fall to a fuller exercise of the principle of the bilingual chairman.

2 Ball Games Feature Harwood Field Day

HARWOOD, Aug. 9 —(ENS)—The annual field day of St. John's church was a decided success. The prize for the best decorated bicycle was awarded to Pauline Drope. Margo Hornby won the prize for the best decorated pet. Jacelyn Patch and Nelson White won the prizes for the best decorated wagon. Walter Johnston was in charge of the gate, and the Rev. A. W. Smith and Mr. Jack Findlay were in charge of the races. The outside booth was well patronized and was in charge of Whitney Regan, Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Stevenson. Mr. Bates, Mrs. G. Isaac, and Mrs. Elliott.

At the tea table were Mrs. Walter Johnston, Mrs. Harry Young, Mrs. Harold Zufelt, Mrs. Edward Young, and Mrs. Lee.

Mr. Burgess, a summer tourist, won the gate prize of $2.50 Mr. Albert Thorold was the winner of the quilt, drawing the lucky number at 6 p.m.

Mrs. E. T. Shearer, Mrs. A. W. Smith, and Mrs. Collins were in charge of the fancy work table. Home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. Wallace Young, Miss Lottie E. Dope, Mrs. Meadows, and was sold out.

Plainville Girl's and Harwood Girls' softball team played a seven-inning game. Harwood won 7-4. Plainville Boys' versus Harwood Boys played a nine- inning game. Plainville boys seemed to be taking the game easily until near the end the Harwood Boys took the edge on Plainville to win with a score of 16-17 for Harwood.

Hearse Driver Killed In Truck Collision

KEMPTVILLE, Aug. 9 (CP)—Horace Keegan, 72-year-old motor hearse driver, was fatally injured and buried beneath a load of sand Wednesday and when his vehicle collided with a dump truck.

In the crash, the truck overturned and spilled its load of sand into the hearse cab.

Clarence Dickinson, funeral director who was in the hearse cab with Keegan, suffered a fractured left arm, concussion and severe shock. The crash followed a funeral here.

Clayton Bird of nearby Heckston, Ont., the truck driver, was not injured.

Butter In Bulk

The Canadian Government is becoming a buyer of butter. It has authorized the importing of butter from New Zealand, but will not let commercial firms, who are well fitted to know where and when and at what cost to buy, import for themselves. This seems to be a blow against private enterprise, a step towards State dealing in mercantile transactions. It is, but dairy people have themselves forced the Government to become the only bulk buyer.

* * *

That Governments are not ordinarily fitted for such dealings cannot be gainsaid. Commercial firms already have the techniques, the buyers, and, in the very nature of business, the experience in taking profit and loss risks. However, dairymen asked for and got Government floors put under butter prices. They wanted that protection, as consumers have wanted and got price ceilings. Is the government, now pledged to buy butter when it falls below a fixed price, going to permit businessmen to buy New Zealand butter at prices which may be well below the ceiling, bring it to Canada, stock up and require the Government to buy it at the fixed price? It would be a very pretty way for dairymen to make a handsome profit at Government and the people's expense.

* * *

So long as a floor is under the price of butter, the Government is forced to prohibit commercial firms from importing New Zealand butter directly. The Government must become the bulk buyer. Why import New Zealand butter at all? The reason is a scarcity of butter in Canada. Production has fallen off; it is not enough to meet the needs of Canada's greatly increased population. True, margarine is now a permissible substitute in most provinces, but the manufacturers of margarine themselves know how to take advantage of high prices and a scarcity of butter. The price of margarine has gone up astoundingly since that substance was first permitted. Actually, its percentage of price increase has been higher than the increase in butter prices during the same period.

* * *

An advantage of Government bulk buying of butter may offset some of the disadvantages of a government department dabbling in a matter which is ordinarily the concern of business. Numerous Canadian buyers will not be competing in the New Zealand market; a competition which has a tendency to force prices up. The Government will buy for all, in bulk, and be able to dicker with New Zealand butter-producers as a big, and the only, Canadian buyer.

Senator Eaten By His Constituents

From Paris comes a report that a French senator may have been eaten by his constituents. This is a drastic finish even to a senator, and although people might think him more useful as food than as a brain and public mouthpiece in the Second Chamber of Parliament. French senators are, be it understood, more precariously situated than Canadian senators; they are subject to the vagaries of public opinion. Canadian senators are not; they take the precaution of having no constituents to flail or eat them, for they are not elected, they are appointed.

The disappearance of the French senator, probably into the stomachs of his constituents, is surrounded by circumstance not usual to Canadian senators or even ordinary French senators resident in the motherland. The French senator Victor Blakaboda was a member representing the Ivory Coast, and himself a black man. He lived among tribesmen where cannibalism is not unknown. Perhaps what put Senator Blakaboda into the pot and paunches of the tribe instead of into the purple of the Upper Chamber, was his Communism. The native constituents may have decided that the only good Communist is a dead one. And in these days of high meat prices and shortages, who would scorn a cheap, handy meal on a Communist? The virus of Communism is not infectious when the flesh is cooked and well-chewed, it seems. A bit tough, perhaps, if Senator Blakaboda was as old as most of Canada's senators.

Could some one of the top brass in the Kremlin be persuaded to fill the Ivory Coast vacancy in the French senate caused by the disappearance of Senator Blakaboda?

Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some just grate upon your nerves.

The Real Importance Of Iran's Oil

The real importance of Iran's oil lies not so much in the number of barrels produced daily or in the percentage of world production this constitutes, as in the fact that it represents both a surplus of production over consumption, and also a world reserve. This is true of all Middle Eastern production and reserves, and this area and South America are the only two surplus production areas in the world. The two areas, with their combined production of four and a half million barrels a day, consume only one-quarter of that production; the balance is available for export.

The United States is by far the greatest producing area, with 6,168,000 barrels daily, but its daily consumption is 7,100,000 barrels. Canada produces 165,000 barrels daily, and consumes 400,000. Europe with the exception of the Russian satellite states, produces 42,000 barrels daily, with consumption of 1,600,000; Russia and its satellites are reported to have balanced production and consumption at 850,000 barrels daily. Africa's figures are 48,000 production against 250,000 consumption, while corresponding figures for the Far East are 267,000 and 600,000 barrels daily.

In the matter of proved and potential reserves the Middle East is equally important. Under the Persian Gulf and Caspian fields lie more than fifty per cent of the proved oil reserves in the world and nearly sixty per cent of the potential reserves. The world's greatest producing area, the North American fields, has been more heavily exploited than the Middle East, yet its production still falls short of consumption, while the Middle East, with its huge reserves, will probably continue to produce a surplus for many years to come.

These figures emphasize the importance of Middle Eastern production to world supply, and especially to the oil-importing nations of the West. They indicate the reason for the efforts made by Western Powers recently to retrieve what they may from the troubled situation in Iran.

Disappearing Gondoliers?

A fortnight ago 600 gondoliers in Venice held a strike and blocked the Grand Canal for hours in a demonstration against motor launches. They say that motor boats are putting them out of business. Newspaper editorialists have rushed into nostalgic print about the disappearance of the romantic gondolas and their singing gondoliers. Moonlight and Byron have been brought into these newspaper requiems. It would be most touching, if in fact motor launches were putting gondolas out of business. We doubt that they are.

Citizens and tourists in Venice must use boats to get around the floating town throned on her hundred isles. There is a civic 'bus' service—motor ferries which carry a hundred people at a time from one 'bus' stop to another on the Grand Canal. Venetians use them daily, and some tourists also, because they are cheaper than gondolas, the taxi-cabs of Venice. In addition there is a 'rapid' service by motor launch on the Grand Canal, smaller and faster boats than the ferries, which make quick trips between the railway station and St. Mark's Square, with only one or two stops instead of the thirteen which the ferries make. Motor launches can also be had for private hire, the way gondolas are hired and tourists in a hurry and wanting to stay out of rain use these launches.

Gondolas have not been superseded by motor boats, however. A fleet of them still stands in front of every major hotel, and at the station pier, as taxis in Canada wait at hotel doors and station platforms. Tourists still like the romantic thrill of riding in a gondola, and indeed would feel that they were not "doing" Venice properly if they did not use gondolas and take a moonlight trip through back canals. (Though often as not these canals stink and the gondoliers have raucous voices. As a matter of fact one can spend a fortnight on the canals in Venice and never hear a gondolier sing.) Gondolas are used by Venetians, too, for passage and transport. Groceries are delivered by gondola, so are corpses to the cemetery.

The reason that Venice's gondoliers are unhappy and find business slack is that there are too many of them. Motor boats are not putting them out of business; they are putting themselves out. Too many are competing for the passenger trade, particularly for the tourist trade. A tourist can be a soft touch. A gondolier may make an Italian workman's full day's pay out of three tourist trips; thus the business has attracted too many gondoliers and not all of them can fasten every day on half a dozen tourists. The remedy for the situation is not to ban motor boats but to restrict the number of gondoliers. The law of supply and demand will operate on the Grand Canal as well as in the taxi business in Ontario. The adjustments which it forces are now being felt painfully by the over-numerous throngs of gondoliers. They will be cut down to size and gondolas will continue to flourish in Venice.

The real trouble in Venice now, as in all Italy, is that there are too many people and too few jobs. Italy has vast unemployment, and Venice is feeling it too.

Australia Looks At Asia

By
NICHOLAS MANSERGH
(Research Professor of British Commonwealth Relations at the Royal Institute of International Affairs)

THE Pacific Security Agreement between the United States and the Pacific Dominions, in the initiation of which Australia played the leading part, has been prompted not by fear of Russia but by fear of a revived Japan. It is true that the agreement reinsures Australia and New Zealand against aggression from any quarter, but its primary purpose is to safeguard them against the re-emergence of a militarist Asian State. Whether that State is Communist or nationalist is from this point of view of quite secondary importance. What is of first importance is to ensure so far as possible that never again will Australia be confronted with the situation that existed in early 1942.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT first sight this may seem an over-simplification. No Commonwealth statesman is more conscious than Mr. Menzies of the world-wide character of Communist ambitions. The language he used to the House of Representatives on his return recently from Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference in London suggested that he had come to the conclusion that a war provoked by Communist aggression was not so much a possibility as a probability. Three years "and not a day longer," he warned the Australian people, was the period in which they had to prepare.

✧ ✧ ✧

HIS warning did not pass unheeded—though to many Australians three years seemed a long time—but it did little to modify an instinctive conviction that the Communist danger, however real, was not in the long run a danger to which Australia was most vulnerable. That is still seen as coming from Asia.

AGAINST this background the importance Australia has attached to the reinsurance afforded her by the Pacific agreement is understandable. Yet, as many Australians also recognize, this solution to their security problem is deceptively easy. For behind it, and largely conditioning it, lies the much more difficult political problem of Australia's relations with the Asian countries and peoples.

The Pacific Security Pact is often likened to the Atlantic Pact. The analogy is misleading. The Atlantic Pact is a superstructure, built upon the foundations of the Dunkirk and Brussels Treaties and the general economic and political consolidation of Western Europe. The Pacific Pact is at best a foundation. No State on the Asian mainland has subscribed to it. It contributes nothing directly to the defensive strength of Australia's Asian neighbours, and it brings Australia no closer to them. On the contrary, there is risk that it may draw her further away by suggesting that her future lies not in association with Asia but in detachment from it.

THE risk is not one to be discounted. In assessing it, we have to remember that in recent years the trend has been all the other way — Australia's contacts with Asia have multiplied, her interest in Asian affairs has become more pronounced. She was represented in New Delhi at the Asian Conferences on Indonesia a few years ago, and her Government has played a notable part in the conception and the working out of the Colombo Plan. At the present time there is probably as much consultation between New Delhi and Canberra (where India is happily represented by K. S. Duleepsinhji) as between any two Dominion capitals. In the academic world, a growing sense of community is reflected in the presence of a considerable number of Asian students at the Australian universities, where they play a full and active part in student life.

✧ ✧ ✧

IF Australian immigration policy remains unquestionably a source of suspicion and friction, that is perhaps as much on grounds of principle as of practice. The inter-Asian Conference in 1947, while condemning in the strongest terms exclusion based on racial prejudice, recognized that immigration policy must be decided by individual Governments in the interest of their own people. The acceptance by Australia even of a nominal immigration quota from Asia, or its equivalent, would therefore be likely to help to dispel mistrust by making it clear that the aim of her immigration policy is to maintain the very high living standards which all classes in Australia now enjoy, and which would be undermined by any considerable influx of Asian settlers.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET the Australian dilemma remains. The Pacific Agreement has unquestionable advantages even outside the field of security. It will give Australia a direct line to Washington; it will, by freeing her from pressing defence anxieties at home, make it possible for her to contemplate a more active role overseas; and by multiplying the ties between the British Commonwealth and the United States it will serve to strengthen them. Yet in Asia the agreement is a less assured asset. Partnership with the United States will not easily be reconciled with increasingly intimate relations with Asian peoples.

IT may be that in time the link with the new national Governments of India and Pakistan and Ceylon will make the task less difficult, and certainly none of the older members of the Commonwealth has a greater long-term interest in the success of the Commonwealth experiment in Asia than Australia. Mr. Menzie's concern to contribute in any way open to him to a Kashmir settlement is evidence of his awareness of this. But even in South Asia the Pacific Security Agreement may suggest that henceforward Australia, in her Asian policies, should be regarded more as a spokesman of the United States than as a Commonwealth country. Already Australia has followed not United Kingdom but United States policy in China, and such is the sense of Asian solidarity that non-recognition of the People's Government in Peking tends to be interpreted as evidence of a general lack of sympathy and understanding for Asian nationalism.

All this is recognized by thoughtful Australians. It is a dilemma that springs essentially from the Australian heritage: Australia is "of Europe but not in it; in Asia but not of it." It is also a challenge to Australian statesmanship. The nature of the response and the extent to which it succeeds in gaining the good will of the Asian peoples, may have no small bearing on the future of the British Commonwealth in the East.

Alberta Hail - The Farmers' Headache

(CALGARY HERALD)

ALBERTA has been suffering from the vagaries of a peculiar stationary weather system for more than two months. This stagnation of a low pressure area in the upper air over the prairies and a high pressure area off the B.C. coast has brought Albertans an unending succession of snowstorms, rainstorms, thunder and lightning storms, and severe hailstorms and has given the inhabitants of B.C. the longest continuous rainless summer in its history.

All of this has been particularly hard on the farmer; the BC farmer because he is receiving little or no moisture and the Alberta farmer because he is receiving too much, especially in the form of hail. The inhabitants of the coast province, normally swathed in mists and rain, find this a trying period. But those who live on the eastern side of the Rockies, while bemoaning the instability of the weather, should long ago have become accustomed to this sort of thing.

For Alberta is recognized as the place—not mentioned in the "Sunny Alberta" pamphlets —which has more hail than any other area of equal size in the world. This summer, to date, more than 500,000 acres have been hit by hail, or more than four per cent. of the total crop seeded. Officials of the Alberta Hail Insurance Board do not consider such damage disastrous until at least ten per cent. is hailed out. At present rate of hailstorms, that percentage might be reached this year. But it will not be up to the record set in 1930 when 17 per cent. of the total acreage was damaged.

While weather officials may speak of this stationary weather system as being about the longest on record in these parts and about the 1951 hailstorms as the most severe (in intensity and size of stones) for many years, it might be asked just what is "normal" weather like in Alberta. Old timers will tell of the hail and rain in the 1900's or the 1920's and the Indians of old could probably have told better tales.

It is all part of the continuous battle between man and nature and in that struggle the farmers of Alberta are continually in the forefront. While man, with his irrigation projects, may have won a sizeable victory in the drought salient, he is still helpless against the legions of rain and hail.

The farmer, particularly if he is farming in Alberta, must still work with one eye upon the sky and pray that the unpredictable currents which guide the paths of hailstorms will not set course across his fields. If they do, he can do nothing but collect his hail insurance, if he was wise enough to buy some, and begin the battle again next spring. In this never-ending conflict with Alberta's normally abnormal weather, the farmer of this province has shown himself to be a tough and resilient combatant. We wish him well in the future battles of this rugged season.

Letter To The Editor

NO V.L.A. DIFFERENTIATION

Sir: It was with interest that I read Mr. McNabb's remarks concerning the success of the V.L.A. veterans in this district.

It brought to mind a point which has bothered me for some time, and which no one seems to mention publicly in regard to V.L.A. settlements.

Everyone agrees that with veterans' rehabilitation the benefits should vary in direct ratio to the length of service, which is fair to all. Yet under V.L.A., the reverse is true.

For instance, a man with five years' service borrows $6,000, which includes his re-establishment credit of approximately $850, and $600 which he is required to pay in—10 per cent. of the loan. He repays $4,000 plus interest.

A man with one year's service borrows $6,000, which includes his re-establishment credit of maybe $150, and the required $600—and pays back the same $4,000 plus interest.

I think V.L.A. is a very good thing, but it seems to me there should be some way to offset this discrepancy. If by chance there is already, I should be glad to hear of it.

A VETERAN'S WIFE.

(Ed. Note: An ex-serviceman qualifies for V.L.A. grants if he has had a minimum of 365 days paid service, or, if less, if he is a pensioner. Beyond these limits there is no difference in grants depending on length of service.)

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Manasseh was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and five years in Jerusalem: but did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, like unto the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel . . . . And he caused his children to pass through the fire in the valley of the son of Hinnom: also he observed times, and used enchantments, and used witchcraft, and dealt with a familiar spirit, and with wizards . . .

And the Lord spake to Manasseh, and to his people: but they would not hearken. (II Chron. 33:1,2,6,10.)

Associate yourselves, O ye people, and ye shall be broken in pieces; and give ear, all ye of far countries . . . For the Lord spake thus to me with a strong hand, and instructed me that I should not walk in the way of this people, saying, Say ye not, A confederacy, to all them to whom this people shall say, A confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid. Sanctify the Lord of hosts himself; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread . . .

And when they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God? for the living to the dead? To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them. (Isa. 8:9,11-13,19,20.)

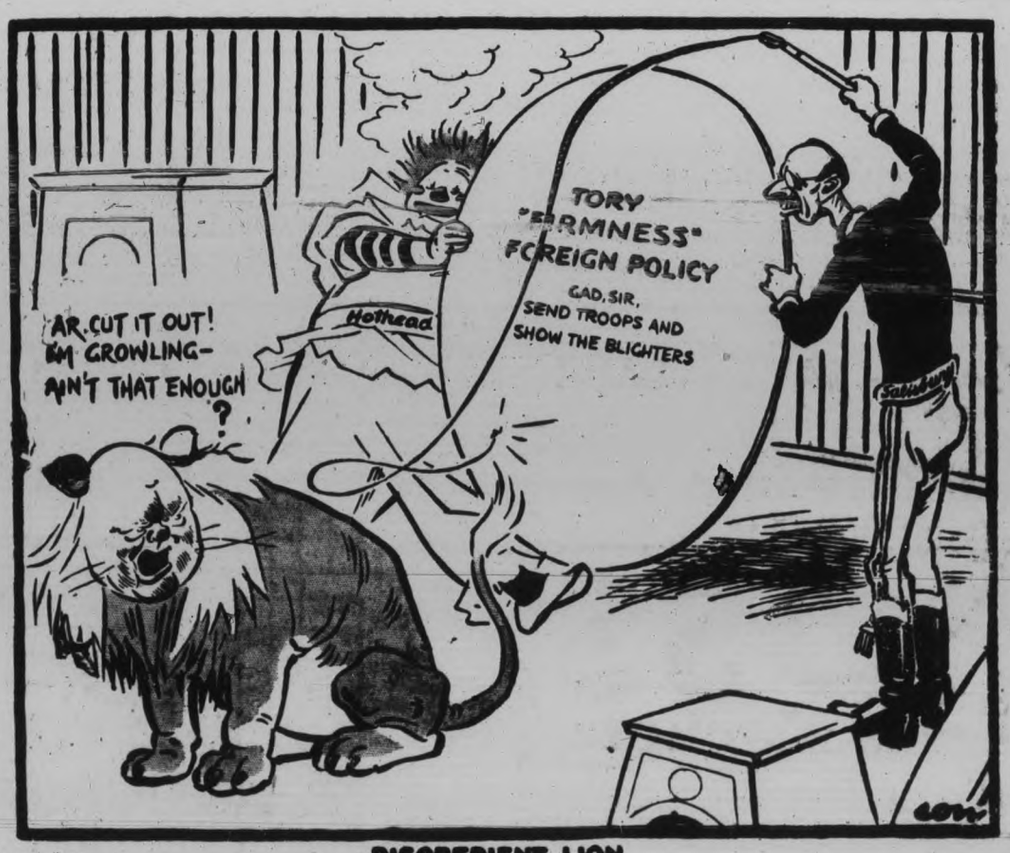
The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, they body also is full of darkness. Take heed therefore that the light which is in thee be not darkness. (Luke 11:34,35.)

Flood Problem

(Brantford Expositor)

The disastrous floods in parts of Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri have been costly in terms other than those of money. The latter runs to a huge sum—approximately $875,000,000 according to one recent estimate, but as The Christian Science Monitor of Boston observes, there is also an incalculable loss of morale to be surmounted when families go back into mud-soaked houses, buildings and field to make a new start.

The latest tragedy in the United States gives impetus to demands that the Federal Government take a more extensive part in flood-prevention work. That demand can be echoed in Canada. A flood of the magnitude of the Red River overflow or even of one of the more violent rampages of the Grand River hereabouts is, by any reasoning, a matter for other than strictly local responsibility and attention. This, indeed, has been amply recognized in principle by federal and provincial contributions on a large scale to such undertakings as the Grand River Conservation Scheme and certain other river valley authorities.



DISOBEDIENT LION

NAVAL LOGISTICS—Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent lies in Halifax Harbor as workmen load supplies for a 2½-month cruise to the Mediterranean. Items included 100,000 pounds of meat, 80,000 gallons of aviation gasoline for her aircraft, paper cups and spare propellers.

Show Literature Tends Change Disease Fashion

By W. G. ROGERS.

NEW YORK, (AP).—People in books just now are most liable to catch asthma, if they are going to have any disease.

Among novelists and dramatists there are fashions in diseases just as in clothes, speech and plots. The writer knows what the public is most noticeably suffering from or is afraid of, and if his characters must fall ill they are stricken with the currently most-talked about illness.

A hundred years ago it was tuberculosis. Fifty years ago it was venereal disease. Today characters wheeze, sniffle and gasp for breath, take their special inhalations or sprays, and reach for the ephedrine.

There is, of course, no general standard ailment for which hero and heroine must be extra watchful. They can die of as many different things as the non-bookish mortal. Tessa, of Margaret Kennedy's "The Constant Nymph," died of heart attack. Henry James' "Daisy Miller" succumbed to malaria.

Cripple Popular

The cripple has figured in a lot of stories: Tiny Tim, in Dickens, "A Christmas Carol," Heyward's "Porgy" whom you probably met in the opera, "Porgy and Bess," Laura in Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie," and the wife of Edith Wharton's "Ethan Frome."

Heroines, like Esther in Dickens "Bleak House," used to have good reason to fear leprosy, the affliction suffered by the mother and sister of Lew Wallace's "Ben-Hur" and cured by a miracle. Dostoeksky's "The Idiot" was epileptic, Ajax went mad. So did Walter Scott's Lucy, "The Bride of Lammermoor," who goes mad operatically in fanciful coloratura passages.

Now It's Asthma

Novelists began to inflict asthma on their people when they began to read about allergies in the newspapers. But even before the word got around, Marcel Proust, an asthmatic himself, became the ailing hero of his great novel, "In Remembrance of Things Past."

Other asthmatics in more recent fiction have been Carey Arundel's stepfather, who took so many pills to cure his wheezes that he killed himself, in James Hilton's "Morning Journey;" Catfish Edwards, who dosed himself liberally with a corn liquor cure, in Fred Ross' "Jackson Mahaffey;" the aged aunt of Eric Rumbold's mistress, in John Lodwick's "Brother Death;" the suffering heroine of Anne Crone's "Bridie Steen," who has vicious attacks; and Mrs. Antolini, in J. D. Salinger's new "The Catcher in the Rye."

A century ago, heroines coughed themselves to death. Margherita Gauthier was the stricken heroine in "Camille" (1852), by Dumas Fils. Just a year before Murger wrote "La Vie de Boheme," and countless Mimis have died lingering deaths on operatic stages since then. That was not exclusively mid-19th century, either; it was the disease which Joseph Conrad gave to his "Nigger of the Narcissus."

Centreville WMS Holds August Meeting

CENTREVILLE, Aug. 9 (ENS) Mrs. Clifford Hall was hostess to the WMS of Centreville Presbyterian Church for their August meeting.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Jas. Gainer and Mrs. Eagleson. Scripture was read by Mrs. Martin, study book by Mrs. Cann and Mrs. Gainer. Others taking part were Mrs. Muspratt, Mrs. Ralph Greer, Miss Bury, Mrs. R. Brackenridge, and Mrs. Bonner.

President Mrs. Howard Brackenridge announced that at the next meeting in the Sunday school hall, Aug. 27, the mission band would be guests of the WMS and would be in charge of the program.

4,000-Volt Shock Kills Kitchener Man

KITCHENER, Aug. 9—(CP)—Edmund Thornton, an employee of Kitchener Water Commission, died Wednesday night after being knocked unconscious shortly before 3 p.m. by a 4,000 volt shock.

Thornton and Russell Toman, foreman of a work crew, were hurt when the boom of a power shovel touched a power line. Toman suffered burns about his legs and abdomen but his condition is not serious.

Firemen worked over Thornton for almost four hours attempting to revive him.

2 Young Mothers Appear In Court

TORONTO, Aug. 9 (CP)—Two women, both married but separated and with children to support, Wednesday admitted 169 instances of obtaining goods under false pretences.

Norma Mainelly, 20, was charged with five counts but admitted 138 others. Jacqueline McKendry, 20, pleaded guilty to three charges but admitted 23 others.

Both women were remanded to Aug. 15.

Some Sport Views

By DON GRANT

Every night on the city's playgrounds the clear ring of the horseshoes hitting the peg in the sandpits can be heard. This simple competitive game where the expression, "close only counts in horseshoes", originated, is still one of the neighborhood's favorite pastimes.

One or twice in Peterborough's history horseshoe pitching tournaments have been held but in recent years, the players prefer to throw a few ends only in the backyard pits in friendly but often hot evening tussles.

✦ ✦ ✦

American tourists to the Kawartha lodges often bring sets of horseshoes, to spend time when the fish aren't biting. In the United States the game's popularity it greater than in Canada, every year large championship tournaments are held, even ringer contests.

✦ ✦ ✦

In early times of the Greek and Roman empires the sport of horseshoes began. After the large army camps moved on to other sites the people gathered the old horseshoes and imitated the famous discus throwers of the times. Gradually the sport was divided into "the twin sports", horseshoe pitching (still considered by some as a boys' game) and quoits, generally played by men.

✦ ✦ ✦

A man by the name of George W. May of Akron, Ohio, revolutionzed the sport in 1920 by deciding to become a ringer specialist. He discovered a grip along the blades of the horseshoe which regulated the revolutions in the air. His rate of ringers increased at a startling rate.

Considered an unknown, he won the United States National tournament in 1920 in 25 straight games, tossing 430 ringers, an average of better than one in every two pitches. Since then anyone desiring to become a champion has practiced throwing ringers to near perfection.

In 1946 Ted Allen of Colorado won the championship with an average in ringers of .839 or better than eight ringers in every ten tosses in 22 games.

The world's singles record is held by Guy Zimmerman, Iowa, who in 1934 pitched 28 consecutive double ringers, meaning 56 ringers with 56 pitches.

✦ ✦ ✦

For a professional horseshoe player the sport is not considered too much a pastime for in 30 games on a regulation pit he walks nearly nine miles and throws three tons of metal.

✦ ✦ ✦

Softball began Wednesday night along the annual playdown path as the girls opened the city league in the bowl. The Westclox and the Outboard Marines are in a series for the senior cup and the right to enter the provincial playdowns. Ashbys and Cobourg are in the intermediate semi-finals, the winners meeting the loser in the first in the finals.

The provincial playdowns will commence for the Marines or Westclox at hte bowl on August 15 with the Lakeshore winners, followed by the return game on August 18. The junior Dominion Woollens entertain Kingston in the opener of that series on August 29, returning to Kingston on September 1.

Cobourg lasses will entertain the north, either Sault Ste. Marie or Timmins in the Intermediate AA finals in Cobourg on September 1 and in the north on September 18.

Best of luck to these teams.

✦ ✦ ✦

North America's finest fastball pitchers, Charles Justice and Perce McCracken of Levys in Toronto will perform at Riverside Park, not the bowl, on Saturday night. All the proceeds will be for Peterborough and district social work by the B'nai B'rith.

Huntley Second In Batting With A .427 Average

Peterborough has three good reasons for its baseball team leading the Viaduct League; seven players are batting over .300, one leading in the stolen bases and a pitcher tops in the win column.

Bill Huntley is second in batting with an average for 22 games of .427. Others over the 300-mark are George Brabin, Joe Stewart, Bill Dadson, Dick Golden, Fred Garvey and Andy Milne. Rog Wood, of the Oshawa Merchants, leads with an average of .462.

Joe Lowery is the stolen bases king with 31 while Dadson leads the pitching with a record of 7-0. Kingsway's Wallace is currently leading in home runs with six and in runs batted in with 33.

Oshawa Merchants, who won four games over the past weekend are again within striking distance of the Petes. Friday night's game in Riverside Park with the Merchants would place the teams practically even if the Merchants won.

Batting leaders are:

UE With 3-0 Win Over Batawa Still Undefeated

After a long layoff the Peterborough UE soccer team continued their winning ways 3-0 Wednesday night in Batawa on the Shoemen's field. The UE has yet to be defeated in the Eastern Ontario league.

The first half saw the UE take some time to settle down and the clever goal-tending by Art Jones saved the team.

However, after they did settle down the forwards went to work and on a cross by Holroyd, the Peterborough leftwinger, G. Smith, went in fast to put the ball into the net with a header.

Play then went back and forth until the halfway mark, the score remaining 1-0 for UE.

In the second half, now settled down, the UE team played a better brand of football, to control most of the play. Near the 20-minute mark from another centre by Holroyd the ball was headed down by S. Smith to Strong who hooked the ball into the net.

The UE dominated the play more after the goal and came close on several occasions. Finally G. Smith assured the UE a victory when he hit a low drive into the rigging from 20 yards out.

Art Jones played a sound game throughout in the UE goal as he racked up his sixth shutout.

On Saturday the UE play in the Dominion Cup quarter finals at 3 p.m. in Morrow Park.

Juniors In First

Lou Vitarelli's juniors will have the chance to clinch first place in the OLA junior race in the next three nights. Three wins will assure them of the first spot, to make Peterborough sporting history for the second time this week.

Tonight the boys are in Toronto to meet the Maitlands who as yet are winless; they return to Miller Bowl on Saturday night.

Friday night's junior tussle with Mimico juniors will likely be a preview to the Ontario junior "A" championship series which will likely begin after August 17.

RECORD-WRECKER—Winning the $50,000 Nassau Two-Mile pace at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, NY, for the second straight summer, Scottish Pence set a new world record for the distance on a half-mile track, 4:13.2. Wayne (Curly) Smart drove on both occasions.

Timbermen Sink Torontos With 29-13 Win At Weston

It was a foregone conclusion that the Timber Structures would capture the senior OLA title but prior to Wednesday night's game at Weston against the West Yorks there was a mathematical possibility that Mimico could force a tie. Now there isn't the slightest chance.

The Timbermen officially clinched their first senior title by walloping the Torontos 29-13.

West Yorks who have lately reverted to the Owen Sound Crescents' style of walk and wait were only able to provide stiff opposition for brief flashes throughout the contest. As the result Peterborough, lead by the prolific goal-scoring by Harry Wipper, Curly Mason and Bobby Thorpe were never in serious trouble.

Harry Wipper kept in the thick of the fight for the league's goal scoring honors by blinking the red light no less than six times and assisted on one occasion. Curly Mason equalled that splurge by Wipper while little Ike Hildebrand scored three times and was credited with five assists.

West Yorks outstanding players were Leo Teatero with four goals and Jim McNulty, both former Peterborough players, with three goals.

The Timbermen held a respectable 4-2 lead at the end of the first quarter but increased it in the second stanza to 13-3. They continued to pile up points by whipping in another five tallies in the third quarter.

George Johnson, Toronto's clever netminder was injured in the final minutes of the third quarter as a flying ball struck him on the jaw and he had to be relieved by Chard who finished out the game.

The Timbermen have now only two games remaining, the first on Friday night against Mimico Mountaineers in Mimico and the second at Miller Bowl next Wednesday against Brampton Excelsiors.

Lineups:

Peterborough: Wootton, Fitzgerald, O'Hearn, Ashbee, Thorpe, Dugan, Vitarelli, Wipper, Powless, Mason, Slater, Hildebrand, Magee, Creighton.

Toronto: Johnson, Hewitt, Wright, Facto, Howes, J. Kapasky, S. Kapasky, Banks, D. Chard, Harris, McNulty, Convery, F. Chard.

Referees—Morton, Celeverley.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The rather soft par 73 at Islington Golf Club appears to be in for a shellacking at the 24th annual Millar Trophy professional match play championship which starts today.

Most of the entrants were out for practice rounds Wednesday. In one foursome, composed of three former winners of the title, all bettered par.

Stan Horne of Montreal Islesmere had a 69, Bill Kerr of Montreal Beaconsfield and Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga were a stroke or two behind, and Murray Tucker of London Sunningdale had a hot seven-under-par 66.

Johnny Turner of Montreal Hampstead Wednesday successfully defended his Quebec junior golf championship with a five and four victory over Jerry Spazuk of Montreal Summerlea.

The 18-hole medal final was played in the rain over Turner's home course. His win gives him automatic entry into the Canadian amateur championships at Ottawa Aug. 25.

At Goshen, NY, the trotting horses museum was dedicated on Wednesday in a colorful ceremony attended by more than 200 racing drivers attired in brightly-colored silks.

R. Roland Harriman, president of the Hambletonian Society which sponsors the annual trotting classic, presided. The museum had numerous exhibits of the sport, including old sulkies and other equipment.

At Kincardine, Blue Again advanced another notch on the comeback trail, taking all three heats in the free-for-all at Kinsmen races Wednesday, and winning the Kinsmen Trophy and major portion of the $500 prize money in the class.

The Leatherdale didn't set a record, but was extended by Billy Direct Heir in all heats.

More than 1,500 fans watched the horses on a fast track.

An exhibition football game at Buffalo Sunday may determine whether Buffalo will have an entry in the Canadian Big Four Footbal' League, next year.

Bud Hartnett, one of the promoters of Sunday's scheduled game between Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, says he may make application for a Buffalo franchise in the league if enough interest is shown by fans at Sunday's game.

The International Boxing Club said Wednesday one of the several heavyweight projects it is considering is a return bout between Joe Louis and Ezzard Charles, both former champions, in the Orange Bowl in Miami in February.

Baybrook notched a seven-length victory in the $17,750 George Woolf Memorial at Washington Park, Chicago, Wednesday after the two overnight favorites, Calumet Farm's Hill Gail and James H. Dunn's Oh Leo, were scratched because of the soft racing strip. The victory was worth $12,325.

The race was named in honor of Georgie Woolf, veteran Canadian jockey from Cardston, Alta., who was killed in 1946 in a California racing spill.

Saucers, a horse that was the winner of a race involved in one of the betting coups at the recent Fort Erie meet, won the seventh race at Hamilton Wednesday with a driving finish.

Saucers was drifting out in the stretch and just managed to beat Calix who came fast in the last sixteenth of a mile.

ALF HILL, Peterborough Golf and Country club professional, is competing for the Miller golf trophy at Islington. He is in a threesome with Robert Burns of Cherry Hill and Dick Borthwick of Hamilton, a former winner.

Levys, All-Stars Next Saturday, Justice Pitching

Levy's who have been monopolizing all the departments, batting, fielding, winning, pitching, in the Beaches Major Fastball league will be playing in Riverside Park Saturday against the Peterborough All-Stars.

On the mound for Levys will be Perce McCracken, considered Charles Justice's equal. McCracken has a record of 12 wins and three losses in Beaches play, four wins against the rival B. and A. Motors, Justice's team. Besides he has seven exhibition game victories.

George Phillips is leading the league with a massive .402 batting average. He won the championship last year with a .398 average.

Realizing Peterborough pitchers won't last too long against the bats of Bill Polosky, the catcher, Babe Gresko, at first, the All-Stars decided to employ Charles Justice for mound duty. As usual he will bring his catcher.

The All-Stars will include: infielders, Herb Castle, J. Conlin, Bob Crowe, Bob Wyatt, Howie Dalton, B. Taylor, J. Pagett and Red Sullivan: the outfield, J. White, Jake Wade, Jack Mackness, Harold Legros, N. Robson, T. Walton, B. Thompson.

Incidentally Levy's, Canada's contribution to the world's championship in Texas this year, have a record of 17 wins and three losses.

Revoys-Orphans In Bowl Tonight

Men's senior softball semi-finals begin tonight at the Bowl when the Revoy Motors engage the Orphans in a best-of-five series, the winner to meet the UEW for the league championship.

Revoys hold an advantage in pitching strength but the Orphans boast a hard-hitting lineup. Tonight's doubleheader should be productive of two fast, snappy games.

The batting records of the league-leading UEW team are:

	AB	H	Avg.
Hinton	15	7	.533
Dalton	41	19	.463
White	67	28	.417

Westclox Edge Marines 4-2 As Ashbys Win Easily 18-4

Sniping three runs in the first inning Westclox edged the Marines 4-2 Wednesday night in the first game of the girls' city league senior finals. In the semi-final intermediate series Ashby's trounced a slow Cobourg team 18-4 with five and six-run innings in the first and fourth. The teams resume play Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

The difference between the teams in the first game was the hitting. The Westclox nine kept up their season pace by hitting in the clutch spots while the Marines were not.

Shortstop B. Morrow opened the first inning for Westclox with a single followed by hits by J. McIntyre and M. Hawthorne. J. Snape's single helped score the third run.

In the fifth the second sacker, J. Snape again connected this time for a triple and later scored on a single by M. Owen. That ended the Westclox scoring.

The Marines were held off the score sheet by the six-hit pitching of M. Hodgson until the seventh when E. Whittaker and M. Gillen, the catcher, opened with singles. They scored on a fly ball and a single by E. Mantle.

Hodson pitched hitless ball for the first four innings and then gave one each in the fifth and sixth. She was backed by good support especially from J. McIntyre. Shortstop M. Behan and M. Gillen, the catcher, were stars for the Marines.

The 18-4 tells the story for the Ashby-Cobourg game, the Peterborough nine whacking the ball at every chance for extra bases.

D. Thompson opened Ashby's five-run rally in the first inning and was quickly followed by a home run by Marg. Freeman. An error and then two triples by P. Williams and Joan Dunk shot the other three runs across. They added two more in the second when B. Callan tripled and was followed by a single by D. Thompson and a double by J. Reynolds.

An error, five singles, a fly ball and two walks all helped to send six Ashby runs across in the fourth as Cobourg played listless ball. Ashbys then followed up with two in the sixth, one in the seventh and two in the eighth.

An error started Cobourg's largest rally for two runs in the second. Two walks immediately followed and a single scored both runs.

B. Fisher connected for a circuit hit in the third and the final run came in the seventh, thanks to two errors and a single by H. Cane.

Galloping Ghosts Get Two New Players

COBOURG, Aug. 9.—Two new football players will join the Galloping Ghosts here tonight for the second drill of the season, manager Fred Dufton, announced here. They are Ralph Larue, a Hamilton Wildcat in 1949 and Al Black, who played for Western Tech, Toronto, last season. Both boys are backfielders.

The manager disclosed his news while 30 hopefuls duckwalked, charged an imaginary line and ran around Kiwanis Park outfield in the first workout of the year.

The Ghosts open in Toronto on Sept. 3 playing at East York.

Indians Down Browns To Lead League, Feller Scores 18th Win

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Feller is the big man in Cleveland's surge to the top of the American League. With 18 victories in the book, Feller is a sure shot for 20 of more. If he maintains his pace, he could equal his high of 27 victories in 1940. So far he's lost only four. Feller pitched Cleveland into the league lead for the first time since May 2 when he beat St. Louis 2-1 for his 18th Wednesday. Washington's Bob Porterfield opened the door by knocking his former New York Yankee team mates out of the lead with a 4-1 triumph.

Boston was rained out of its game with Philadelphia and Chicago, the other first-division club, lost ground in bowing to Detroit 6-5 in 11 innings. The White Sox now trail Cleveland by seven games.

Brooklyn opened up an 11½-game lead in the National—high mark for the year—by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from runner-up New York 7-2 and 7-6 in 10 innings. Philadelphia sneaked closer to the Giants by shading Boston 3-2.

Pittsburgh bombed St. Louis 10-7 for Murry Dickson's 15th victory and Cincinnati took a pair from Chicago 7-5 and 4-3.

Top Winner

Feller's victory made him top winner in the majors and extended the Indians' streak to seven straight. The Tribe has won 31 of 40 in a drive since June 30.

Larry Doby drove home both runs with a pop double in the fourth inning off Tommy Byrne who gave only five hits but walked nine.

Porterfield had solid hitting support from Mickey Vernon who blasted New York's Vic Raschi for two homers, each with a man on, to account for all the Washington runs.

George Kell singled home Steve Souchock with the winning run in the 11th to beat Chicago's Saul Rogovin. Souchock had doubled to tie the score a moment earlier.

32nd Homer

Gil Hodges hit his 32nd homer, Duke Snider No. 23 and Carl Furillo No. 12 in the Dodgers' day victory over the Giants' Jim Hearn. Carl Erskine, who replaced Preacher Roe after two innings when his arm failed to loosen up, won his 12th.

Billy Cox singled with the bases full in the 10th fo. the night verdict over reliefer Dave Koslo. Snider and Furillo also homered in this game and Bobby Thomson hit his 22nd off Don Newcombe.

Eddie Waitkus tripled off Willard Marshall's glove with two on and two out in the eighth for the Phils' margin over Boston.

Pittsburgh collected 14 hits including Gus Bell's homer, to nail down Dickson's 15th victory. Stan Musial hit homer No. 25 for the Cards.

Cincinnati blasted Chicago pitching for 14 hits to give Ewell Blackwell his 11th triumph in the first game.

Herm Wehmeier went all the way with a five-hitter in the second game won by Cincy with a four-run blast off Frank Hiller in the fourth inning.

Syracuse Edges Springfield 4-3

By The Associated Press.

It didn't take Gene Markland long to make himself at home in Syracuse. He joined the club on Tuesday from Kansas City. Wednesday night he hit a 360-foot home run over the left-field fence to give Syracuse a 4-3 victory over Springfield.

Markland's first homer as a Chief came in the last meeting of Syracuse and Springfield this season. It gave Syracuse a 13-9 edge over the cellar club.

Chuck Eisenmann, pitching the ninth in relief, was the winner over Alan Ihde.

Buffalo held second place, 15 games behind idle Montreal, by splitting two at Toronto. Coaker Triplett's pinch-hit triple won the opener for Buffalo 5-1. Andy Anderson drove in four Toronto runs in their second-game 4-1 victory.

After Lou Possehl of Baltimore shut out Ottawa 2-0 with six hits the Giants came back to get an even break by winning the second game 8-3. Hugh Poland sparked a four-run rally in the seventh to give Gerry Fahr his fourth straight win.

Montreal and Rochester were not scheduled.

Aerial Dressing Increases New Zealand Farm Output

AUCKLAND, NZ — (CP) — The fastest-growing branch of farming in New Zealand is aerial top-dressing—the spreading of chemical fertilizer from aircraft. It is rapidly becoming one of the main factors in expanding the dominion's productivity.

The intensive farming practised in New Zealand with a high concentration of animals to the acre requires regular application of large quantities of fertilizer to keep pastures in good condition. On level country machine spreading offers no difficulties, but a large proportion of New Zealand pasture land is hilly, often broken by steep ravines and ridges.

Various high pressure mechanical blowers have been used in this country, but hitherto large areas could be fertilized only by hand, if at all, owing to the steepness of the land and difficulties of access.

Have Sparse Flocks

The result has been that vast areas of hill country pastures have been topdressed only occasionally so that they carry sparse flocks and herds, although the land is good and capable of supporting a greatly increased number of animals if topdressed regularly.

Aerial topdressing began in a small way after the war. The air force and government scientists co-operated with representatives of soil conservation organizations, fertilizer companies and farming interests in the initial experiments. In these tests techniques and equipment peculiar to New Zealand were developed to suit local needs. Various types of air force trainer planes were used, fitted with specially designed hoppers to hold the fertilizer and release it at an even rate.

Becomes Big Business

Later a few private operators began topdressing on a commercial basis. They were mostly groups of wartime pilots who had put their savings together to buy one or two Tiger Moths. In the 1949-50 season eight firms were engaged in the work and they dropped 5,000 tons of fertilizer.

Farmers had by then become thoroughly convinced of the value of the new method for increasing production, and in the 1950-51 season the number of aerial topdressing firms jumped to 26 and fertilizer dropped rose to 44,822 tons.

This is still only a beginning, however, compared with developments expected in the future. There are indications that a very much larger amount of fertilizer will be dropped this season than last. Larger planes are being imported, capable of handling far greater quantities. One firm has recently been experimenting with a specially fitted De Havilland Beaver imported from Canada, while others have been using larger planes from Britain.

The work has reached such a scale that the Aerial Work Operators' Association has proposed a series of safety regulations to ensure that farmers are not involved in claims through accidents with inexperienced firms. There has been a fairly high rate of accidents in the work and the association has proposed a set of safety standards and measures to maintain an accurate competence among pilots.

Don't Need Pact But Guarantees

SHETLAND, Ont., Aug. 9 (CP) — "Assurances and guarantees that peace pacts already signed will be lived up to" are what the world needs today, not new peace pacts, Federal Health Minister Martin said here Wednesday.

He was commenting on a recent USSR five-power peace proposal before more than 3,000 persons at the annual Shetland picnic.

"There's nothing new in Russia's latest peace proposals," he said. "We have peace pacts now—the United Nations itself is a peace pact, and bears the signature of the USSR and most of the world."

Enquiries Reach Peak At Cobourg Booth

COBOURG, Aug. 9—(ENS)—Tourist enquiries reached an all time high at the tourist office of the Chamber of Commerce during last month, it was revealed yesterday by the manager, Olley Taylor. Total enquiries in July were 3,706 and 554 people were placed in Cobourg tourist establishments. For the same month last year, only 575 enquiries were dealt with and only 186 people were sent to tourist establishment. Incidentally the past Civic Holiday weekend was the busiest in the history of the chamber of commerce office.

Race Spectators Thrilled As Boat Upsets

Blain Elliott, Bowmanville, provided the thrill of the afternoon when his boat, "Christy D" upset during the Chemong Lake Power Club outboard regatta Monday.

Elliott was racing his 16 horsepower boat in the B2 utility class when it upset. Friends from Bowmanvile went out and helped him bring the boat in.

Approximately 500 people attended the regatta which was held for the second time, this year. The club plans to make it an annual event.

H. Palmer, Bowmanville was winner in two races. He came first in both the open race and the class C events.

Other race winners were :A utility—Gordon McArthur, Peterborough; B utility—Doug Laird, Peterborough; B1 utility—Justin O'Brien Jr., Peterborough; B2 utility—B. C. Traviss, Peterborough; C utility—V. Criss, Guelph.

A total of 35 contestants entered the races from Toronto, Bowmanville, Guelph and Bobcaygeon as well as Peterborough.

RUGGED DESIGNING—A. E. Russell, right, director and chief designer of the Bristol Aeroplane Co. Designed for economic operation under difficult conditions the Freighter has a fixed landing gear, and will carry a payload of 15,312 pounds. Mr. Haggett is sales manager of the Bristol Co. of Canada, with headquarters in Montreal.

Built Log Castle To Escape Partner's Curse

FORT FRANCIS, Ont—(CP)—The story of a prospector who spent 17 years building a four-storey log "castle" in northwestern Ontario's wilderness after an angered partner had put a "curse" on him is told by E. E. Jacobs of Verndale, Minn.

Jacobs, a 62-year-old poultryman, gave his version of why the late James McQuaig built the "castle" on the shore of White Otter Lake, about 80 miles northesat of Fort Frances.

Jacobs, who said he met McQuaig in 1912 and again in 1913, recalled that when McQuaig and a partner quarrelled while prospecting in northwestern Ontario the partner left with a taunt that McQuaig would die in an old shack.

"McQuaig accepted his partner's challenge as a curse," Jacobs went on, "and that is the reason he built his castle. He wanted to prove he would not die in a shack."

McQuaig, who raised 24-foot logs three storeys high without help, worked on the castle for five years. It burned down and he started again.

His only tools, Jacobs said, were a wooden block plane, a handsaw and some wood chisels made from flat files. Despite this he built a four-storey tower, a three-storey main section and a three-storey wing. The roof interior and all the eaves were lined with birch-bark and everything caulked with clay.

Falling To Ruins

The building was "discovered" about 1919 and it received much publicity in 1925 when the first picture of it was published.

Now the "castle" is in a rather dilapidated condition.

Jacobs said McQuaig didn't die in either an "old shack" or the "castle". He was found drowned in his own fish nets by Canadian aviators who made a special trip into the area to look at the "castle" which they had spotted from the air.

Say Newsprint Likely Stay At $116 Ton

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (CP)—United States newsprint manufacturers Wednesday renewed their recommendation for a flat dollars-and-cents increase in newsprint prices but indicated ceilings probably would be maintained at not more than $116 a ton.

The industry advisory committee disclosed to Office of Price Stabilization officials that "a number of manufacturers" have established the $116 ceiling.

The $116 figure would mean increases of about $6 to $11 a ton over prices existing last June.

Need Poultry Board

SASKATOON, Aug. 9 (CP)—A special committee of the Saskatchewan Poultry Association Wednesday called for a national poultry marketing board. The association executive agreed that the marketing plan would make the fullest use of existing market organizations. Any surplus in one province could be disposed of through a national board, if one were formed.

Largest Enterprise

ST. GREGOIRE DE MONTMORENCY, Que., Aug. 1 (CP) — Postmaster-General Rinfret said Wednesday the postal service has become Canada's largest public utilities enterprise with gross receipts of $105,533,994 last year. Costs were rising too, he said, and a deficit last year of $1,326,788 was the first in 11 years.

Leaves Hospital

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, last winter's "frozen woman," left Michael Reese Hospital Wednesday for the Chicago Welfare Department convalescent home. The 23-year-old Negro woman will be furnished with artificial legs at the home and counselled in rehabilitation and vocational training. Both her legs were amputated below the knee and the fingers of her right hand and several fingers on her left hand were removed. Mrs. Stevens was found lying frozen stiff in a south side areaway Feb. 8.

Savings In Bank

OTAWA, Aug. 9 — (CP) — Savings on deposits in Canada's chartered banks at June 30 last amounted to $4,558,618,000, against $4,588,766,000 at May 31 and $4,538,193,000 at June 30, 1950, the chartered bank statement for June showed Wednesday. Call loans in Canada amounted to $82,211,000 at June 30, as against $92,371,000 at May 31 and $144,781,000 at June 30, 1950.

Surveys Landslides

ST. ODILE, Que., Aug. 9 (CP) —Premier Duplessis Wednesday flew over this village to survey damage of landslides that blocked the Rimouski river last weekend. Flood waters receded Wednesday with completion of an emergency channel to detour the river's course. A half-mile section of the northern bank collapsed, choking the river and smashing a power line.

154,353,000 In US

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—The United States Census Bureau Wednesday estimated the population July 1 as 154,353,000 persons, including members of the armed forces overseas. This compares with 151,132,000 when the last census was taken in April, 1950, and with an estimate of 153,085,000 for Jan. 1, 1951.

Quake In Rome

ROME, Aug. 9 (AP)—A mild earthquake shook tourist-crowded Rome for four seconds Wednesday night. Earth shocks were registered in several towns northeast of Rome. At Terni they lasted 10 seconds. Shocks were felt at Spoleto and Rieti. No damage nor injuries were reported.

$360 Payments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—Tax payments to federal, state and local governments averaged $360 last year for every man, woman and child in the United States, the Census Bureau reported Wednesday. This payment showed the per-person tax burden as more than doubled in a period of eight years.

Plan One Commission

UNITED NATIONS, NY, (AP) —The United States delegation made public Wednesday a plan to lump all prospects for arms control, including atomic weapons, under one UN commission. The proposed new commission would be called "The Commission for the Control of Armaments and Armed Forces." It would be responsible to the Security Council.

Newsprint Casualty

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands—(CP)—The Guernsey Star, a daily newspaper established in 1813 which carried reports of the Battle of Waterloo, has ceased publication. The reason: rising cost of newsprint.

Recruit Charged With Robbery

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 9—(CP)—Elmer A. R. Johnson, 19, of Medicine Hat, Alta., now being held in jail on a charge of assault with intent to rob, faced a new charge Wednesday. He will appear in court Friday on a charge of robbery with violence.

Police said Johnson, an RCAF recruit, has been charged in connection with an attack July 14 on Sherman Ryckman, night clerk at the Empire Hotel. At the time $52 was stolen from the hotel safe.

The first charge arose out of an attack Saturday on George Bardawill, elderly jeweller from Aylmer, Ont. The latter is still unconscious in hospital. His condition is said to be slightly improved.

Transmission Tests Start In Montreal

MONTREAL, Aug. 9 (CP) — Transmission tests at prospective sites for radio-relay stations in the new Buffalo-Toronto-Montreal microwave system have been started at the Montreal end of the route, the Bell Telephone Company announced Wednesday.

The company disclosed recently that the modern system, the first in Canada, will be constructed to relay television programs and to provide additional long distancce telephone circuits.

The program will be delivered to television broadcasting stations being built by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in Toronto and Montreal.

Co-Op Housing Uses Own Labor

PRINCE RUPERT, BC (CP)—Thiry-six workers at a new cellulose plant here believe they have licked the house shortage by forming their own housing co-operative.

The group plans to have 20 homes ready for occupancy by Christmas, with a hotel and school to be built later.

"We wanted homes to bring our families to," says Len Louks, an electrical superintendent, "But we saw we couldn't have homes unless we built them ourselves."

So the 36 members undertook to buy enough shares in the co-op to finance the program. With members and their families supplying most of the labor, they expect to build good homes for about $5,000 apiece.

The site for the housing development is near the new plant on Watson Island, six miles south of here.

They contemplate a progressive financing method rather than trying to finance the entire undertaking at once. Enough money has already been subscribed to build the first home, and that one will be mortgaged to finance the second, and so no until the 20 homes are completed.

Two Cars In Collision 1 Dead, 4 Injured

PORT BURWELL, Aug. 9 (CP) —One person was killed and four others injured Wednesday night in a two-automobile collision near here.

Dead is Charles Sharp, of Houghton Centre. Injured were Laverne Baskey, 22, Allen Winters, 28, William Gooding, 19, and Russell Butcher, 15, all of Vienna, Ont.

Police said Baskey was driving east when his automobile collided with Sharp, driving west. Butcher, Winters and Gooding were passengers in the Sharp vehicle.

Steelworkers Plan Hold Mass Meeting

TIMMINS, Aug. 9—(CP)—A mass meeting of steelworkers will be held at the same time as officials of the Canadian Congress of Labor gather next Wednesday to discuss the strike at Hollinger Gold Mine here, it was announced Wednesday.

Leo A. Behie, international representative of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), said final arrangements of the meeting, Aug. 15, still are to be made.

80,000 Gals. Of Gas Ignited By Spark

BUFFALO, NY, Aug. 9 (AP)—Eighty thousand gallons of gasoline, believed to have been ignited by a spark from a motor, went up in flames Wednesday when four storage tanks burned. Damage was estimated at $75,000. No one was injured in the one-hour blaze.

The tanks were owned by the Richfield Oil Company of New York and were located near Frontier Oil Refining property north of here near Grand Island.

Captain For A Day

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 9 (CP) — Able Seaman Reginald Garland, 19, has returned to his home here after a tour of the Korean war theatre aboard HMCS Nootka. Following a navy tradition, Seaman Garland, as the youngest member of the crew, was captain of the ship on Christmas Day, off Hawaii. Seaman Garland had charge of the ship and even changed uniforms with Commanding Officer A. B. Fraser-Harris of Halifax, he said.

Big Road Program

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 9 (CP)—Road construction contracts totalling more than $7,000,000 are being carried out in this area, Premier Frost said Wednesday. The program was said to be the largest for a single area in the province's history. Premier Frost, accompanied by Highways Minister Doucet, is visiting several Northern Ontario points.

Says US Lobbyists Delayed Seaway Plan

IRONSIDES, Que., Aug 9 (CP) Lobbyists in the United States have caused a setback to US and Canadian interests by bringing about delay in starting the St. Lawrence seaway, M. J. Coldwell, national CCF leader, said Wednesday.

Mr. Coldwell made the statement in an address prepared for delivery before the international student service at St. Alexandre College.

"Certain interests," he said, "did such an efficient job of lobbying the public works committee . . . that the national interests of both the United States and Canada have received a setback."

Woman Cashier Foils 2 Chicago Robbers

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP) — A currency exchange cashier Wednesday foiled two robbers who threatened to kill her 12-year-old son if she didn't hand over $6,000.

Mrs. Rose Stremmel, 39, was alone when two men entered the south side exchange. Then her son, Robert, entered. The man pushed a gun against the boy's back and called, "open up or we'll kill him."

Mrs. Stremmel opened the steel doors of the cage, grabbed her son, slammed the doors and pulled the boy to the floor beside her before the robber could interfere.

The startled men fled.

20 Officers From UK Make Canadian Tour

QUEBEC, Aug. 9—(CP)—Some 20 commonwealth officers from the Imperial Defence College will arrive Friday for a weekend tour of military installations.

They will visit the Citadel, Valcartier camp and a newsprint camp.

Priest Drowns

SMITHS FALLS, Ont., Aug. 3 —(CP)—The Rev. Bernard Cleary, 41 year old Roman Catholic priest from Rexville, N.Y., was drowned Wednesday while fishing at Seeley's Bay, 35 miles south of here on the Rideau river. He is believed to have fallen from his boat and struck his head on a submerged rock. An autopsy will be held at Kingston.

Airport Manager Killed In Crash

CHATHAM, Aug. 9—(CP)—Charles Couse, 26, manager of the St. Thomas municipal airport, was killed in the crash of a light plane a mile east of here Wednesday. The plane burned.

Couse died about three hours after his sister's wedding. He was called to Chatham shortly before noon on a crop dusting job, and missed the wedding.

Colleagues said Couse took off from a cleared area at one end of a large field. The plane clipped a stump and the landing gear was damaged, an eyewitness said.

LEMON FROZEN CREAM

2 eggs, beaten until lemon-coloured
1/2 c. sugar
Add sugar gradually to egg until mixture becomes a thick custard-like consistency. Combine with:
1/2 c. light corn syrup
2 c. top milk (or 1 c. milk and 1 c. coffee cream)
1/4 c. Sunkist lemon juice
1 tsp. grated Sunkist lemon peel.

Freeze in refrigerator tray at lowest temperature until stiff. When frozen, remove to a bowl and whip until light and creamy. Return quickly to freezing tray. Finish freezing. This one stirring is all that is needed. Hold at middle control for serving.

Toronto Milk May Rise Cent

TORONTO, Aug. 9 (CP)—The price of home-delivered milk in Toronto may rise one cent above the Ontario Milk Board's 21-cent-a-quart designation, Mayor McCallum told board of control Wednesday.

He said the 35-cent-a-hundredweight increase in the wholesale price granted Tuesday by the board might force distributors to raise the price.

The board's order gives farmers a boost to $4.55. Cash and carry price, according to the board, will remain at 20 cents a quart and delivered price at 21 cents.

The mayor, consumer representative on the board, refused to sign the order granting an increase in the price paid to the producer.

Two Britons Reach Nova Scotia In Yawl

SHELBURNE, NS, Aug. 9 — (CP)—Stanley Smith and Charles Violet of the Isle of Wight, England, put in here Tuesday night in their 20-foot yawl Nova Espero, 87 days out of London.

The bearded, weather-beaten Britons were in good health and stopped here to make minor repairs. A marine growth, called "sea geese" by fishermen, collected on the bottom of their craft and slowed their progress. They expect to continue to New York Thursday.

Smith and Violet ate mostly dehydrated soups and vegetables and canned food during the voyage.

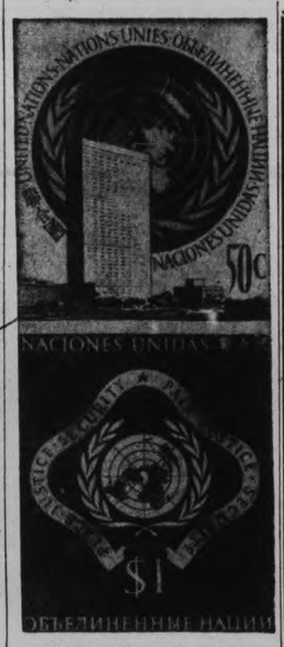
Mr. David Richardson, Dartford, was a guest Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Orval George.

Good Old Days

MONTREAL — (CP)—An expense sheet for one James O'Brien, who worked on the Lachine Canal in 1822, was an eye-opener at the McGill summer historical exhibition. He received $1 a day but he paid only 15 cents for a pound of butter, and 10 cents for an ounce of tea and loaf of bread.



FIRST FROM UN—Just released by the secretary-general of the United Nations in New York are these photographs of two of eight designs selected for the first UN postage stamps to be issued this Fall. The UN buiding design, top, made by Mexican Artist Leon Helguera, will be used for the 1½-cent and 50-cent denominations. The "Peace, Justice, Security" stamp, below, designed by Netherlands artist J. F. Doeve, wil be two-cent and one—dollar stamps.

Plan To Rotate Troops In Korea

OTTAWA, Aug. 9 (CP)—The government's plan to rotate home-defence paratroopers with long-term soldiers in Korea is expected to be announced within the next few days. Defence Minister Claxton is putting the finishing touches on the announcement.

First to come home will be the men of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry which reached Korea last December. They are likely to start moving homeward fairly soon and the aim is believed to be to have all the long-term Patricias home by Christmas.

Men of the other units, including the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Canadian and Royal 22nd Regiments, will come home later after serving six months or so in combat areas. They went into combat areas in late May.

Paratroopers of the Home-Defence 23rd Airborne Brigade already have started moving to Wainwright, Alta., the reinforcement base for the 25th Brigade in Korea, to be ready to go to Korea on a rotation basis.

Won't Give Guess On New Primate

TORONTO, Aug. 9 (CP)—Anglican church officials here would hazard no guess Wednesday as to who will be elected next primate of the church in Canada in Victoria next September.

They said it was possible that one of the four metropolitans of the church might be chosen for the post but that any one of the church's 36 bishops is eligible.

Metropolitans are: The Most Rev. John Lyons, Archbishop of Kingston the Most Rev. Philip Carrington, Archbishop of Quebec; the Most Rev. L. R. Sherman, Archbishop of Winnipeg, and the Most Rev. W. R. Adams, Arshbishop of the Yukon.

Charge 8 Officials Misappropriate Funds

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 9 (AP)—Eight former Cuban government officials were indicted Wednesday on charges of misappropriating about $36,000,000. No trial date has been set.

The indictments came in the "Causa 82" (Case No. 82) in which former president Ramon Grau San Martin and 10 others of his administration already have been indicted. The court is investigating charges that Grau and his officials in 1944-48 stole or misappropriated $174,000,000.

One Charged In Theft Of 21 Guns

Port Hope Chief Says Youth Confessed; Accomplice Sought

Calvan Morton Holland, 18, of Port Hope, was arrested here Wednesday night and charged with theft of 19 antique guns from the Jacobs' Gun Shop in Port Hope.

The guns, valued at $1,000, were stolen Tuesday night after thieves broke into the store.

A companion of Holland's is being sought and is expected to be picked up any time.

"Holland confessed to the whole thing," said Port Hope's Chief Charles W. Graham.

Received Tip

Wednesday night Chief Graham received a tip that the thieves were staying at a house on Western Ave. in Peterborough.

He phoned police here and Constables Douglas Farthing, John Conlin and Grant Gillespie arrested the youth. His companion had left.

Port Hope police were out looking for the guns this morning. Holland told police he and his companion had been drinking and he had only a hazy idea of the neighbourhood in which they had hidden the guns.

Other Charges

Chief Graham said Holland will also be charged with stealing a truck, which he reported Holland confessed taking for the break-in. The truck was abandoned near Young's Point when it ran out of gas.

The truck was found in a farm lane just 25 yards off Highway 28 about four miles north of Peterborough. Holland was taken by police in a search of the district around Peterborough this morning and finally he pointed out the guns sitting in a black bag at the base of a tree in Smith township about three miles north of the city and about a mile east of Highway 7.

Two modern guns were missing from the loot and it is believed Holland's companion has them with him.

Holland and his companion may also be charged with attempting to break into Doxsee's grocery store on Chamberlain St. and breaking, entry and theft at Johnson's Cleaners, also on Chamberlain St.

The guns that were taken from the gun shop in Port Hope were almost all rare collector's items which Walter Jacobs, proprietor of the shop, said he would not have sold under any consideration. Two of the guns belonged to Jacobs' customers.

TWO FINGERS AND A THUMB were so badly injured they had to be amputated Tuesday when a dynamite cap exploded in the left hand of Jack Herrington, 16, of Hastings. Jack is shown holding the injured hand in front of him as he recovers in St. Joseph's Hospital. With him is Nurse Mary Moore-Gough. Jack was working on the construction site of the new Separate School in Hastings when he found the dynamite cap. Not knowing what it was he picked at it with a live match and the cap exploded.—Reid Photo.

Stargazers Craning Necks For View Of Tiny Meteors

Little grains of sand from space are putting on the universe's best show of celestial fireworks these nights. The Perseids, most regular of all meteor showers, are back again, putting cricks in the necks of amateur and professional stargazers. There's no need to worry about being hit on the head by one—the meteors are no larger than grains of sand, and they quickly burn themselves out when they hit the earth's outer layer of atmosphere at about 40 miles a second.

Wednesday night was the first of the five-night performance the Perseids give annually. Given clear nights, the amateur neck-craners and professional astronomers will have themselves a time.

Best Before Dawn

Before midnight, there are only a few of the tiny meteors whizzing across the sky. But just before dawn, they hit their stride and flash through the sky at the rate of one a minute. They are roughly 70 miles up.

Most of the meteors will come from the northeast; from the constellation of Perseus, whence they get their name.

Scientists believe the Perseids come from debris scattered by a comet some eons ago, but not too much is known about them.

What astronomers do know is that the Perseids describe an elliptical orbit about the sun, much as the earth does. However, their orbit is longer and flatter.

Adjourn McKay Trial Until August 16

HAMILTON, Aug. 9 (CP). — Trial of John Edward McKay, 24, of Toronto, charged with escaping custody, was adjourned today to Aug. 16.

McKay was sentenced Tuesday in Toronto to five years in Kingston penitentiary for carrying a gun and pointing it at a Toronto police officer.

The gun-pointing occurred when the officer arrested McKay on a Toronto street two weeks ago. McKay escaped from central police station here a month ago by tearing bricks from the wall of his cell.

Finishes Course In 'Copter Work

FO MORRISON

Flying Officer Doug Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, 480 Donegal St. recently completed a helicopter conversion course.

This three month's course was held in Rivers, Manitoba. FO Morrison was one of two who took the course. The training is used in air-sea rescue work. FO Morrison explained that helicopters are equipped with hydraulic hoists to make rescues at sea.

The flying officer has been spending 10 days leave with his parents in Peterborough and will leave for his station at Greenwood, Nova Scotia, Thursday night.

He was born and educated in Peterborough and joined the RCAF in 1949. He received his initial training at Centralia, Ontario, and has also been stationed at Trenton as well well as Greenwood, Nova Scotia. He was commissioned in June 1950.

Cut Delivery Of Milk To 5 Days?

Call Cobourg Meeting To Discuss Reducing Work Week To 44 Hrs.

The idea of taking Wednesday out of the milk delivery week to reduce its hours of work to approximately 44, will be discussed at a meeting of district dairy interests at Cobourg Friday night.

The industry is concerned about this new proposal primarily because it is selling a valuable food in milk, apart from its kindred products. And as the link between producer and consumer dairy management feels that it serves the welfare of the public, and that it is in an exceptional position when changes effecting supply and consumption are put forth.

What would the housewives have to say, and especially the mothers of small children?

Dairy management from seven or eight counties is expected to be broadly represented at Cobourg. They include, Hastings, Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough, Victoria, Haliburton.

Some employees are dubious about cancelling Wednesday, a topic that comes within the consideration of the Milk Board's restricted delivery idea, as it mentioned at times. They used to deliver on Sundays. Taking that day out of the milk delivery week piles up a great deal of extra work on Saturdays.

W. G. Ovens of Campbell's Dairy said today the meeting was being called to discuss the one subject. The industry was naturally interested in public reaction, and it was understood from Mr. Ovens that expressions of opinion would be helpful.

HEPC Approves Costly Extension

LINDSAY, Aug. 9 — Lindsay's plans for a $200,000 extension of existing hydro services has been officially approved by the Hydro Electric Power Commission.

Some time ago, the Lindsay council assured the HEPC that the town would issue the necessary $200,000 in debentures. The money will go for rehabilitation of a distributing station, constructing a section of 44,000 volt line, and extending hydro services through 1951-52.

Recently the town received a letter from E. B. Easson, HEPC secretary, informing them of the commission's assent.

Passenger Hurt

COBOURG, Aug. 9 — (ENS) — Passenger in a car driven by her husband, Robert Simon of Scotia, N. Y., Mrs. Simon was shaken up and received minor cuts when the car went into the ditch near Colborne, Wednesday morning. She was taken to Cobourg hospital and later released.

Double, Double . . .

OPP Constable W. E. Warner of Lindsay has a faculty for finding accidents in pairs. Tuesday afternoon he set out to check on a Toronto car, driven by Sam Kent, that skidded on the wet pavement of Highway 36, east of the Snug Harbor turn, and landed in the south ditch. Kent and his wife were uninjured. Then, at the same location, Clifford Lytle, Lindsay, received slight concussion and a cut over the left eye when his truck made a half roll after skidding on the highway. A load of logs was strewn along the ditch and a telephone pole was snapped by the out-of-control truck. Lytle was taken to Lindsay hospital. Constable Warner was right on the spot for details. A similar coincidence happened a few days ago. Constable Warner was just completing the investigation of one accident by Miller's Service Station, south of Lindsay, when another motorist got in a tangle. It saved him an extra trip.

Joyride On Sturgeon Lake Proves Costly; Boat Damaged, Youths Promise Restitution

Seven Peterborough youths are having to dig into their pockets to pay for a prank shortly after midnight Monday on Sturgeon Lake, near Greenhurst.

They piled into an $1,800 motorboat, owned by Clive Lupton, Toronto, and went for a joyride on the darkened lake. A dangling rope is believed to have fouled the propeller and the result was a damaged propeller and drive shaft.

The seven drifted around on the lake, about a quarter of a mile from shore, until provincial police from Lindsay arrived to investigate.

No arrests were made and the youths agreed to make restitution. They had been out at Greenhurst for the midnight dance and were said to have been drinking.

Cottagers Buck Changes In Game Preserve

Surveyors working in the Crown Game Preserve in Burleigh, Methune, and Belmont townships herald a shift in the southern boundary of the preserve that has raised considerable opposition among cottage owners of the Kasshabog lake area.

The Kasshabog Lake Conservation Association representing some 100 cottage owners headed by William Dennison MPP, wrote a letter of protest to Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario this week.

It is no secret in the district that the department proposes to shift the southern boundary of the preserve several miles north.

How far north, no one, not even head officials of the department know yet.

No Reports Yet

Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, chief of the Fish and Wildlife division, who is in charge of game preserves, said today that field men are still working in the district and have yet to send in their report and recommendations after examining the land.

The Conservation Association passed a resolution at a recent meeting to send its secretary Allan T. Brown, 154 Benson Ave., and Arnold Olmsted, Benson Ave., to speak to the minister and present their opposition to him.

"I want to express my own personal opposition," wrote Mr. Dennison, "to reducing the size of this game preserve in Peterborough county. I know the people who have built cottages in that area, mainly because it was a government park and was protected against hunting or trapping, are going to be bitterly disappointed if any of that territory is taken out of the park."

"A Shocking Thing"

"For some years it has been possible to see deer on almost every trip. These deer have become rather tame, and to open that section up, for hunting now would be a shocking thing to do, in view of that fact."

Mr. Dennison said he was certain 90 per cent of the members of the association were opposed to any reduction in the size of the game preserve.

The crown game preserve is a large tract of land set aside for the protection of game. It lies mostly east of Highway 28 north of Burleigh Falls and extends north to Apsley. At one point it crosses Highway 28 as it follows the Eel's Creek boundary and comes close to Cedar lake recreation park.

Mr. Brown said that one of the cottagers on Kasshabog Lake is concerned for the safety of his cottage if hunters move into the area in the November deer hunting season.

Mr. Brown added that he has often seen deer carcasses hanging in the bush in August, evidence of poachers at work.

Truck Fails To Stop, Hits Second Vehicle

Two trucks collided Wednesday afternoon at Gillespie St. and Monaghan Rd. when, police said, a truck driven by John Legrow, 571 King George St. failed to stop for a stop sign before entering Monaghan Rd.

Driver of the second truck was Lawrence J. Blanchard, RR 4, Peterborough.

Police reported Legrow said his foot slipped off his brake pedal and hit the accelerator as he was approaching Monaghan Rd. going east on Gillespie St.

Both trucks were damaged. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Complete Land Sales For Ordnance Depot

COBOURG, Aug. 9—(ENS)—Owners of land on which options had been taken by the government for the $13 milion ordnance depot here have been advised that sale of land is now being completed by the legal department.

Owners of two pieces of land on which negotiations have not been completed have been notified, Mayor Jack Burnet said yesterday, that the alternative to selling the land is expropriation proceedings.

The fire at the Ottawa ordnance depot resulted in the decision to expand greatly the original plans for the Cobourg one, and the change in plans has necessitated new architect's drawings with the consequence calling of the tenders will be delayed. Colonel W. G. Denney, commanding officer No. 26 Ord. depot, Ottawa, was in Cobourg yesterday looking over the 240-acre site here.

Six Polio Cases Confirmed Here

During the last two weeks six Peterborough and district residents have been hospitalized with poliomyelitis and there is now a further suspect.

Three of those who caught the disease were transferred to Riverdale Isolation Hospital, Toronto. Alvin Snowden, 25-year-old optical worker who died on the way to Toronto, was one of the trio.

Two of the cases were confirmed Wednesday. A breakdown shows that five of the polio victims are Peterborough residents and the other is from Cavan Twp. Department of Health figures list only one case of polio in 1950.

Obituary

MRS. WILLIAM PUFFER

NORWOOD, Aug. 9 —(ENS)— For 30 years a resident of Norwood, Mrs. William John Puffer, 71, died Wednesday at her cottage on Round Lake in Belmont township. She had been in ill health for some time.

The former Agnes Trout, she was born in Wiarton, daughter of the late Henry George Trout and Mary Anne Spragg. For 12 years she was a schoolteacher in Hespeler and later in Norwood. Before coming to Norwood, she lived in the Georgian Bay district.

A member of Norwood United Church, and of that church's choir, she was an active worker in the Women's Missionary Society and the Norwood IODE.

Surviving are her husband, one daughter and four sons, Mrs. Frances May Elliott, and Bernard of Toronto, Harold and Gordon, Fort Smith, Arkansas, and Charles of Norwood. There are four brothers and one sister, Mrs. Jessie Bowman, James and Harold of Toronto, Herbert of St. Mary's and Claude of Hamilton.

Funeral will be Friday at 2 p.m. in Norwood United Church, the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood Presbyterian Church officiating. The body is resting at the McConnell-Warner funeral home.

Burial will be in Norwood cemetery, and pallbearers will be H. P. Kemp, Cecil and Ralph Cuthbertson, Rod Webb, Armar Weir and Daniel Rooney.

Accept Tender

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 9 (CP)— The tender of J. B. Hughson of Brockville for $63,180 was accepted Wednesday night for the construction of a new three-room school in the township of Elizabethtown. There were four other tenders. The school will be constructed two miles north of Brockville and will accommodate approximately 100 pupils from grades six, seven and eight.

Special One-Day Session Called To Discuss $800,000 In School Bonds

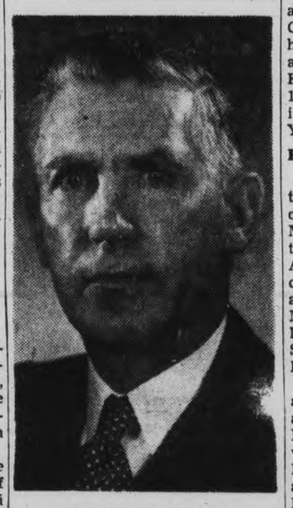
Two High Schools To Cost $400,000 Each, Villages Ask County Council To Borrow On Greater Credit Resources

A special one-day session of the Peterborough county council has been called to discuss the issuing of debentures for high school districts. Council will meet August 16 at 10 a.m. Both Norwood and Lakefield villages have asked the council to consider issuing debentures covering the cost of building two high schools, now under consideration. Both schools will cost about $400,000. Their argument runs something like this: Let the county with its greater credit resources issue debentures for the two schools. This is said to be permissible because of a recent amendment to the High Schools Act.

Formerly the municipality in which the school was built had to issue the debentures and this could impair its ability to borrow money for local services.

No doubt the other municipalities in the high school district would eventually pay their fair share of the cost, say Norwood and Lakefield officials, but in the meantime the villages would have just about used up their borrowing power.

The subject was brought up at the June session of council. At that time it was put in the hands of the education committee who were to consult the county solicitor on possible legal snags.



CLAUDE ELLIOTT

Body Unclaimed

BRANTFORD, Aug. 9 (CP).— When Richard Glover, 52, died in Fort William Aug. 3 after a fall down stairs, his body was unclaimed. Papers found on the body, however, indicated he had relatives in Brantford, where he once lived.

Claude V. Elliott To Manage Toronto Wool Co.

Claude V. Elliott sales manager of G. Whittaker and Sons is leaving Peterborough this week to become managing director of Henry Cullingworth and Sons (Canada) Ltd. of Toronto, wool and wool top merchants.

Mr. Elliott was born in England and came to Canada September 1, 1923 to join the firm of G. Whitaker and Co. as salesman. He has travelled extensively since coming to Peterborough 28 years ago and several times every year crossed Canada from coast to coast.

Previous to coming to Canada in 1913 Mr. Elliott was employed at the mill of Francis Willey and Co., South Barre, Mass., where he learned the art of wool sorting and wool combing. During the First World War he served 1916-1919 with the Imperial Army, being a member of the Kings Own Yorkshire Light Infantry.

Past Master

Mr. Elliott in Peterborough took a prominent part in fraternal circles and was a member of the Masonic order. He is a past master of Peterborough Lodge A.F & A.M., at present he is First Principal of Corinthian Chapter, Royal Arch Masons; a preceptor of Moore Preceptory, Knights Templar, a member and officer of the Scottish Rite and a member of Rameses Shrine.

On his leaving the G. Whitaker and Co. he was presented with a travelling bag by the staff. Mr. Elliott left for New York today where he will sail on the Queen Elizabeth to spend seven weeks at the company's head office in Bradford, England. On his return he will take over the management of the Canadian branch in Toronto.

The new firm which Mr. Elliott is joining, Henry Cullingworth and Sons, has been established in England more than 100 years and in Canada for more than 30 years.

Say Westclox Organized

IUE Awaits Date Of Labor Board Hearing

The International Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL) are expecting to hear from the Ontario Labor Relations Board any day now, setting the date for a hearing on the union's application to represent Westclox production workers.

"Westclox is only one of the many plants in this district we are concentrating on," said John G. Morton, Canadian director of IUE. "Our eventual aim is to have al the workers in the radio, electrical and machine industry organized into the IUE."

An aplication for certification was made three weeks ago by the IUE on behalf of about 600 production workers in the plant. It will be known as Local 570, IUE, having already been chartered by the international union.

Successful Attempt

A number of previous attempts have been made before to organize the workers in the clock and watch manufacturing plant, but without success.

IUE officials say they have well over 55 per cent of the eligible workers signed and paid up and they anticipate automatic certification. At the moment they are waiting for the OLRB to set a date for the hearing.

"It is our job to organize the unorganized," said Mr. Morton. "Certification of the IUE at Westclox will bring benefits to the workers themselves and the community."

He said the Westclox workers will have a "legitimate" trade union to bargain for them—a union that has the support of the Canadian Congres of Labor.

At present there are two other IUE locals in Peterborough. Local 599 is the bargaining unit for the office workers at CGE, and Local 524 was recently defeated by the rival UE in a vote for the allegiance of the CGE production workers.

Vegetable Crops Often Hit By Late Blight

COBOURG, Aug. 9 —(ENS)— Annual picnic of the Northumberland Vegetable Growers' Association held at Cobourg was a very successful event and was attended by a very good crowd. The speaker was the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow who emphasized the desirability of the growers keeping those charged with government responsibility, well informed. Dr. Fred Robertson, federal member for Northumberland County spoke of the need of co-operation between grower and processor.

A. N. L. Butler, Dept. of Agriculure spray expert, said that the late blight hazard was one which demanded attention. One grower with an estimated $8,000 crop last year realized only $500 owing to the spread of fungus. Five sprays which cost $25 an acre meant plenty of work but was good insurance.

Following the picnic lunch a group of amusing contests were conducted by Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative for Northumberland. Oldest grower present was Jacob Ross of Brighton; youngest with a contract was Gilbert Simpson of Colborne; largest family present, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Simpson of Brighton. The competition for the biggest feet was won by Howard Foster, supervising inspector for this area. Provincial chairman W. I. Walker won the contest for the best bald head. Those present got a great deal of fun out of the contest.

Get Their Share

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 — (AP) —Defence Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann said Wednesday that enough scarce materials will be provided for "adequate though reduced" production of civilian "hard goods." These include new automobiles and household appliances such as refrigerators, washing machines and electrical equipment.

Farmers Ask Skilled DP Immigrants

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que., Aug. 9—(CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture, at the windup of its semi-annual meeting Wednesday, called for action to secure "more dependable" immigrant labor for Canadian farmers.

Delegates from all provinces attending the meeting voiced complaints that immigrants now going to Canadian farms lack any agricultural skill, lack a knowledge of English and soon develop an urge to leave the land for other jobs.

The CFA recommended that the immigration department extend its efforts to secure "dependable farm labor with more complete screening before embarking."

The Federation also recommended that the federal government pay the first month's wages of such immigrant farm workers with the farm providing board, lodging and training.

The Federation also recommended establishment of a national marketing agency for poultry and hog producers as a coordinating agency for provincial marketing schemes.

It endorsed the newly-announced federal policy by which the government will act as the sole importer of butter.

Lumber Union Opens Talks

TORONTO, Aug. 9—(CP)—A team of union negotiators from logging camps operated by 18 pulp and paper companies in Northern and Northwestern Ontario arrived here Wednesday to begin contract discussions for some 9,000 bush workers.

Talks between the companies and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union (AFL) are scheduled to open today despite strike threats of a rival left-wing union.

The Canadian Union of Woodworkers, headed by Bruce Magnuson, is fighting the AFL group for the right to represent the bush workers.

Although the AFL union is the certified bargaining agent for the camps, the woodworkers claim to represent the majority of the employees and have stated that strikes are likely to occur if the companies negotiate with the rival Lumber and Sawmill Workers.

Call Off Search

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Aug. 9 — (AP)— The Air Force has called off the search for a Pasadena automobile salesman and his young woman companion, missing for three weeks in the tractless Arizona desert. Air rescue teams searched for eight days for Klaus Martens, 28, and Marijane Walker, 22, who left Los Angeles July 15 in a rented plane for Blythe, Calif. The plane was found undamaged last week in the desert about 50 miles from Yuma, Ariz.

Must Label Furs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 — (AP) — President Truman Wednesday signed legislation requiring exact labelling of furs. Persons who mislabel or deceptively advertise furs would be subject to up to a year's imprisonment and $5,000 fine. The labels must show the common name of the animal. The country of its origin, whether it is bleached or dyed, whether the fur contains paws, tails and bellies, and whether it includes any used fur.

MISSOURI, that's where the tall corn grows, as Phyllis and Dolores Macy of Gallatin, Mo., demonstrate. The two girls are dwarfed by the tall corn stalks on their father's farm, which has been chosen as the site of the Missouri mechanical corn picking contest.

Ask Bus Drivers To Adhere To School Route

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 9 (ENS).—The East Northumberland District High School Board met in Brighton High School this week with all members present. Chairman N. N. Haggerty presided. Principals of schools present at the meeting included Messrs. Turchin, Darling, Fulton and Ewing.

The principals reported on requests pertaining to their respective schools. W. O. Graham, chairman of the transportation committee, reported on the meeting of that committee on August 2, at which time tenders for certain bus routes were considered. The tender of R. K. Britnell to operate a school bus on route B-3 at $175 per month was accepted.

A move was made to have all bus drivers adhere to the contracted routes, and that the last year's route to Rutherford's School be incorporated in the regular route from Castleton to Colborne.

A representative of Remington-Rand typewriters demonstrated their machines. It was moved by D. H. Meyers and seconded by George Nicholls, that the board authorize the purchase of 10 Underwood and 10 Remington-Rand typewriters at a price of $149.50 each. It was also decided to purchase 25 desks and chairs as requested by the principal of the Campbellford High School.

Accounts totalling $536.83 were approved for payment, on motion by D. H. Meyers, seconded by Wes. Down.

Permission was granted to Campbellford branch of the IODE to use the High School auditorium on the evening of Oct. 24, provided that all the usual provisions were complied with.

Individual members of the special committee appointed to consider the building of a new school reported on their findings. A motion by A. A. Kemp, seconded by Wes. Down, that the board undertake a building program which will, by the erection of a new high school in the southern portion of the district and the addition to the present High School in Campbellford, provide equal and adequate education for all pupils in the high school district, was considered by the board and details of this will be announced later.

The next meeting will be in the Colborne High School on September 7, or at the call of the chairman.

Report Case Of Polio In Cavan Township

COBOURG, Aug. 9 (ENS). — One case of polio was listed in the report for the week ending August 4 by the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. There were only five new cases of communicable disease, but two of them were of a serious type. The polio case was in Cavan Township. Brighton Township had one case of undulant fever and the rest of the list was made up by two cases of chickenpox in Bowmanville and one mumps in Port Hope.

Nine-Pound Tooth

WEST PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 9— (AP)—A nine-pound tooth, identified as that of a mammoth, prehistoric ancestor of the elephant, was found Wednesday about 30 feet below the surface of the earth in a gravel pit. The tooth was 10½ inches long, six inches wide and four inches thick.

Farm Bloc Helped Defeat Control Plan

MONTREAL, Aug. 9—(CP)—The American Federation of Labor executive council Wednesday said the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange joined big business on vital economic issues such as the defeat of effective anti-inflation controls.

The council, in a statement released during a meeting here, said the two farm groups sometimes showed little major difference from the stand of the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The statement said the farm bloc teamed up with big business to defeat effective anti-inflation controls on the United States Congress.

JUNEAU, Alaska (CP)—Up here on the roof of North America wind and sun on the glacial icefields pay strange tricks with a man's vision.

So it's not surprising that rumors of the "abominable snowman" have started to circulate half-a-world away from his usual haunts.

The legendary snowman, a weird man-like creature, has been reported by explorers in remote regions of Tibet ever since Europeans first penetrated the Himalayas a century ago.

Now the abominable snowman has been reported making tracks on lonely icefields along the Alaskan-Canadian border. But scientists, up here on a five-year research project, refuse to believe in him.

Maynard Miller, of the Juneau research project, dismisses the whole business with: "There are no sub-human monsters in the icefields."

According to those who believe in him, the snowman is descended from simian ancestors, and looks like a giant white gorilla.

Gargantuean footprints appearing on the desolate white barrens have given new life here to the century-old legend.

"Footprints? Just a trick of the wind," said scientist Miller.

But he admits they are shocking things to find. He claims the wind — the whoopin, wailing, whimsical wind that makes a white hell of the icefield—creates the markings.

"I've watched the wind scoop them out," he said. "Admittedly they look like footprints that would be made by a giant 12 feet tall. They run for a distance and then disappear. But it's the wind that does it."

And yet, as Robert Service pointed out, strange things happen under the midnight sun.

Beaver Skins, Ancient And Lawful Tribute For Princess

WINNIPEG (CP)—The ancient and lawful tribute paid to reigning monarchs and heirs to the British throne by the Hudson's Bay company will likely be claimed by Princess Elizabeth when she passes through Winnipeg on her Canadian tour.

Under the terms of the Hudson's Bay charter, granted by King Charles II in 1670, it was ordained that the company pay as tribute to his heirs and successore two black beaver skins and two elk heads.

The tribute was to be rendered, according to the charter, "Whensoever the reigning sovereign should enter into his territory of Rupert's Land of which . . . (the) company was created true and absolute lords and proprietors, subject to the paramount seignory of his majesty."

King George

Winnipeggers recall the performance of this historic rite in 1939, when Sir Patrick Ashley Cooper, as governor of the company, knelt before King George VI and, in the role of tenant, offered him the tokens.

The ceremony was held at the site of the old Fort Garry, close by the confluence of the Red and Assiniboine rivers. The historic gate served as a backdrop.

The Duke of Windsor, as Prince of Wales, received the same homage here in 1927.

With the itinerary of the Princess, being drawn up by government officials, not yet complete, it is not known for certain if the ceremony will be held.

Carrier Girls Shine In West

MOOSE JAW, Sask.—(CP)—Boys in Moose Jaw are putting their sisters to work. The Moose Jaw Times-Herald now has several girls on its delivery routes.

Most of the girls are substituting for their brothers, who have either taken jobs paying better money for the summer or have gone on holidays.

Circulation manager Harold Woodall won't go so far as to say girls are better than boys in the paper delivery business. But he claims there are fewer complaints on routes serviced by girls.

Too Early Walking Bad For Infant

NEW YORK — (CP) — It may warm grandma's heart to see the baby taking his first steps, but it may damage junior's legs and feet if he really isn't ready.

The average child will show signs of wanting to walk just as soon as he is ready—usually about the age of 13 or 14 months. But if he's still on all-fours at that stage it is no cause for worry. Heavy children, particularly, frequently start walking too late, and they can suffer injury if forced into walking too soon.

The Leather Industry Bureau here, which is interested in selling the right shoes for baby, says that teaching the infant to walk correctly is more important than getting him to walk prematurely. He should be taught to walk correctly in a straight line without "toeing-out." Otherwise there is a danger of developing weak and flat feet.

For first walking shoes pliable leather soles and uppers are recommended by this organization. It says good baby shoes should have roughened surfaces on the leather soles, to prevent slipping. Inner linings should be smooth, and there should be a half-inch or three-quarters of an inch of space between the longest toe and the tip of the shoe.

Crisp Foods For Wilting Weather Try Cereal Shells

Crisp as a sea breeze. There is something refreshing about the very words. In fact, crispness in anything—be it a sea breeze or the food we eat—has a quality that's enthusiastically received by all. Crisp delicious cookies, crisp bacon strips, crisp crunchy salads, crisp golden brown "French fries", crisp ready-to-eat cereals, —the list is practically endless.

How do we obtain this delicious crispness in cooking? Here are some tricks for crispness which you should know.

Put your oven to work for the job of re-crisping crackers, ready-to-eat cereals and potato chips that have lost some of their original crispness due to moisture in the air. Just a few minutes in a moderate oven will do the trick.

Your refrigerator plays a very important part in this phase of cookery, too. Salad greens and vegetables should be washed and thoroughly chilled in the hydrator tray before preparing salad or trays of vegetable "sticks." Don't remove them from the refrigerator until just before serving, because the cold air is necessary to keep this delightful crispness. If a salad dressing is to be used, don't add it until the very last minute, as the oil will make the crispness "wilt" in nothing flat.

And so it goes—crispness in many types of food adds to their appeal. Here is a recipe for crisp cereal shells for ice cream to help maintain that crisp feeling on a wilting summer day.

Dessert Patty Shells

4 cups corn flakes
¼ cup sugar
½ cup light corn syrup
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon vanilla.

Measure corn flakes into greased mixing bowl. Cook sugar, syrup salt and butter over direct heat to temperature of 236 degrees F. (soft ball in cold water.) Remove from heat; add vanilla. Pour hot syrup mixture over corn flakes, stirring so that each flake is coated. Line greased muffin pans with flakes mixture, pressing firmly into patty shapes. Serve patty shells filled with fruit, pudding or ice cream.

Yield: 7 patty shells (2¼ inches in diameter).

India's Elections To Begin January 1

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 9 — (Reuters)—Polling in India's first general election under her new constitution will begin on or about Jan. 1 next year and end by Jan. 24, Law Minister B. R. Ambedkar announced today in the parliament.

The minister said minor adjustments of dates might be necessary "to meet exceptional difficulties" in certain areas. High-altitude regions, polling might have to be finished by next Oct. 31 as later these areas would get snowbound.

DOROTHY DIX

Woman Divorced Twice Anxious To Marry Shy Man

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 28, the mother of two children, and have been married for 12 years. I loved by husband very much, but it was soon apparent that he was a heavy drinker and his cruelty drove us apart. We were divorced in 1949. He came back, said he was through drinking and promised things would be different so we were re-married. In three weeks the old regime began all over, and I had to leave him again. The children and I are now living with my family.

Dorothy Dix*

Now I have met another man. He is 28, too, is single and in the service. He knows of my previous marital experience. We have never dated, but I write to him. He knows I like him, but not that I love him—which I do. He is going overseas and has asked me to wait for him. He is the bashful type, and I usually have to make the first move. Should I tell him I love him, or let things stand as they are until he comes home? I am planning to get my second divorce this summer.

C. M.

ANSWER: To avoid making a bad situation worse, postpone the new romance until the old one is at least cleared off the books. You have jumped into two bad marriages. Better be careful lest you make a habit of it.

You've Learned Something

You have at least discovered that few things are as futile as a drunkard's promises of reformation. By no means is it impossible, as witness the marvelous work of Alcoholics Anonymous, but even they can only succeed with a man of character who honestly wants to amend his ways. Most habitual drinkers are thoroughly content with their way of life, and though they make rash promises to win a point, the backsliding is almost inevitable.

Write to your new Romeo, if you wish, but keep the letters friendly rather than romantic until he returns. Let him make the delaration of love. That's a male prerogative, and though it is occasionally pre-empted by women, I think you're in too much of a hurry to be on with the new love before you're finished with the old.

DEAR MISS DIX: How can a girl know when a boy is feeding her a line? I'm 17 years old and have been keeping rather steady company since January. Recently I met another boy who asked if he might call me. I said he could, but haven't heard from him. I met him on the street the other day and he claimed he had tried to call me but received no answer. I don't know whether he means it or not. How can I tell?

BERNICE.

ANSWER: The gift of divining a man's sincerity should have been given women as a seventh sense. Since it wasn't native common sense plus years of experience is the only way you can discern between a "line" and truth.

Since you have given this boy encouragement while you are allegedly going steady, don't you think he could construe your attitude as a "line," too? There are two sides to every story, and both sides of this tale are open to question.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How can a person let his upstairs neighbor know how annoying unnecessary noises such as door slamming, heavy walking and furniture moving can be in the early morning and late at night

AMELIA.

ANSWER: Your only solution is direct communication. Tell your neighbor as politely and tactfully as possible that you are kept awake by these sounds and you'll probably get results.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Chicken Good Buy Today Same Price Range As Beef

Max is our cousin by marriage and one of those grand people that a whole family connection is proud of. He loves fried chicken.

About once a year I entice them to come to our city by proclaiming by mail "Southern Fried Chicken and Corn Fritters will by served on August 9, 1951—enough for all". That is all I have to do to get a prompt accepting telephone call.

It is quite obvious to us who are not accustomed to "Chicken Every Sunday" that value for value, we might as well be eating chicken as beef. (Of course I realize some of us don't afford beef roasts either, but if you do chicken has moved into the same price range.)

The three recipes I am giving you today are beauties. They should be clipped and put in a file where you will not forget them.

The first one is Max's favorite.

Southern Fried Chicken

Clean, singe, wash and disjoint a 5-lb. chicken. Sprinkle pieces with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Fry in small amout of fat or oil or butter until golden brown on all sides—turning constantly. Add ½ cup boiling water, cover tightly and cook slowly on top of stove or in oven of 325 deg. Fahr. until chicken is tender, turning once or twice. To the liquid left in pan add 2 tablespoons flour and stir until browned. Add water, a little at a time and stir until smooth. Add milk if desired and cook to desired consistency. Arrange fried chicken on hot platter and pour milk gravy over.

One cup canned or cut-from-the-cob corn, ¾ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder and pepper together. Add beaten yolk. Fold in stiffly beaten white. Drop by tablespoonfuls into hot deep fat at 375 deg. Fahr. and fry to delicate brown. Arrange around chicken on hot platter and serve at once.

Club Chicken Casserole

(This is repeated at the request of some of our readers.)

Four tablespoons butter, 5 tablespoons flour, 1 cup chicken stock, 1½ cups evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 cups cooked rice, 1 7-lb. boiling fowl, ¼ lb. sauteed sliced mushrooms or 1 3-oz. can mushrooms drained, and sauteed, ¼ cup chopped pimiento, 1/3 cup sliced green pepper, ½ cup slivered blanched almonds. Make a sauce by melting butter, stirring in flour, then chicken stock and milk, until thick. Arrange all other ingredients in layers—the top two being rice, then almonds. Pour over sauce. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until it bubbles and is golden on top. These amounts will serve from 10 to 12 people. Wonderful with hot rolls and green salad.

One 5 or 6-lb. fowl, 2 cups cooked potato balls, 6 medium sized carrots cut in thick rings and cooked, 4 cups chicken stock, 6 medium-sized cooked onions, biscuit dough. Clean, singe, wash and disjoint chicken. Put in kettle, cover with boiling water, season with salt and pepper, cover and simmer until tender. Cool. Remove chicken from bones keeping pieces of meat large. Put in large cassserole, add vegetables and pour stock over. If desired thicken and season the stock. Roll up rolled out biscuit dough like jelly roll, cut in slices, bake on chicken at 400 deg. Fahr. 20 min.

Fears All Asia Will Go Red

LONDON, Aug. 9 (AP).—The only white men who have a good chance to wield influence in Asia are the Russians, in the opinion of Earl Russell, better known as philosopher Bertrand Russell and author of many books covering mathematics, Philosophy, marriage and sex.

Lord Russell expressed himself as guest speaker at a luncheon of the American Association of Correspondents today.

"The people of Asia hate white imperialism," he said. "They don't recognize the Kremlin as imperialistic because they have not experienced its reign, but they have been under the domination of western white men and dislike the experience.

"I don't think we have a chance in Asia," the 79-year-old thinker said.

He said he believed there is a possibility India may "remain in harmony with the western world" but added he believed it was highly unlikely that the whole Arab world, including Egypt and Pakistan, would go communist.

he only likelihood he sees of preventing such a development is the vigorous expansion of western help to these eastern countries.

Breakin Nets Thieves Cash, Cigarettes, Gum

Thieves broke into the Skyway refreshment booth in the dark hours of early Wednesday morning and escaped with a small quantity of change, cigarettes and gum, valued in all at $16. The theft was not discovered until late Wednesday afternoon.

The booth is located close to Highway 7 just east of the Chemong Road.

Entry was made by smashing the glass of a front window and undoing a latch. The thieves searched around inside, but found only about 50 cents in small change, some gum and 38 packages of cigarettes.

None of the other stock was touched and there was no vandalism.

Bob Orde, an employee, discovered the break-in when he brought some supplies to the booth about 4 p.m. It had been left locked up by Mrs. Rena Andrews, who manages the booth for Central Smith Creamery, 11 p.m., Tuesday night.

OPP Constable Wallace Mohns is investigating.

PRIMITIVE TRANSPORT

Of 60 miles of mule tracks on the British Virgin Islands in the West Indies, only five miles can be travelled by automobiles.

Four Canadians Left In Golf Tourney Final

By W. R. WHEATLEY.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 9 (CP).—Two young golfers from the same Ontario club formed half of Canada's surviving entrants today in the quarter-finals of the Canadian ladies' open golf championship.

In a startling upset in Wednesday's second round, Anne Sharp from the Lookout Point Club near Niagara Falls polished off Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., one up. It was the one big upset the tournament has produced so far.

Marlene Stewart, the bouncing little 17-year-old from the same club, marched confidently on her way with a 5-and-4 win over Mrs. Joseph Dagenais of the home Laval Club.

Miss Stewart today was drawn against Marjorie Row, an American girl from the Beach Grove Club in Tecumseh, Ont.

Miss Sharp, 22, took on Mrs. Peter Patch of Montreal Whitlock.

The other international match sent a Canadian dark horse against the most consistently low-scoring golfer the United States entry of six has produced so far.

Mrs. J. H. Todd, a striking blonde from Victoria, came from behind to defeat Quebec champion Daintry Chisholm of Royal Montreal 2 and 1. Today, she met Mae Murray, a quiet little business-golfer from Rutland, Vt.

Par-wrecking medallist in the qualifying round, the Rutland girl Wednesday breezed through to a 7-and-6 win in rain and semi-fog over Mrs. J. B. Seawright of Toronto Scarboro.

Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn., back in Canada again seeking the title she won in 1947 and 1948, defeated Mrs. J. C. Whitelaw of Laval 5 and 4 and was drawn today against Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn.

Miss O'Sullivan Wednesday knocked out Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, O., on the 19th hole.

In Wednesday's all-Canadian star match, Mrs. Todd ripped off four holes in a row on the back nine to erase a three-hole lead set by Miss Chisholm. Mrs. Todd practically cinched the match at the 15th when she got down a 10-foot putt for an eagle three.

Jockey Believed Payoff Man Arrested In Race Scandal Case

HAMILTON, Aug. 9 (CP). — Jockey Robert Wankmueller of Newark, NJ, described as the payoff man among riders involved in fixed horse races on Ontario tracks, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of defrauding the public.

His arrest by Ontario Provincial police came moments after the Ontario Racing Commission ruled him off Ontario tracks for life.

It was the first action by police against a jockey as a result of the Racing Commission probe of suspected race-fixing in the province.

The Commission's ruling said: "Jockey Wankmueller is suspended for life for offering bribes to other jockeys to induce them to interfere with the true running of horses entered in races on race tracks in the Province of Ontario, effective immediately, and the subject matter of the commission shall be forwarded to the Attorney-General of Ontario for such further action as he may deem fit."

Jockeys Appear

Seven jockeys had appeared before the commission Wednesday. All testified that they had been approached by Wankmueller to accept money for holding their horses back in various races. Wankmueller denied the charges.

Before he learned of the commission's ruling he remarked on the paddock lawn at the Hamilton Jockey Club that if he was ruled off he would take with him all persons involved.

Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the commission, said the sums of money offered to jockeys as bribes ranged from $150 to $300.

There were intimations that Wankmueller would not be the only jockey to face legal action. The commission hearing continues today and more riders are to be questioned.

Barred For Life

Wankmueller's lifetime suspension brought to seven the number of jockeys set down thus far in the investigation which began formally during the recent race meet at Fort Erie.

Jockeys Phil Marchese of Pawtucket, RI, and Bobby Keane of Toronto were suspended for life for actions prejudicial to racing.

Apprentice jockey John Bromby, of Toronto; jockeys George Thompson of Hamilton, Charles Bright of Muncie, Ind., and Robert Merchant of Toronto were suspended indefinitely for undisclosed reasons.

Three men have been arrested on charges of defrauding the public. They were picked up at Fort Erie track while attempting to cash tickets for large sums of money on races believed to have been pre-arranged.

Jockey Marchese appeared before the commission Wednesday and said he knew the names of the men behind the major betting coups. He said the commissioners asked him not to disclose the names because police wanted a chance to pick them up.

"I wouldn't tell you anyway because I want to live," Marchese told a reporter. "My life wouldn't be worth a dime if I told you his ("Mr. Fix-it's") name. He is a Canadian who hangs around the tracks all the time and has operated a lot in the United States."

Cobourg Legionnaires Defeat Colborne 2-1

COBOURG, Aug. 9.—Youthful lefthander Bryan Hart hurled Cobourg Legionnaires to a 2-1 win over Colborne Dodgers here on Wednesday night in a Lakeshore League intermediate baseball game.

Hart went the route on even terms with Carl Higgentothem, colored US pitching import.

Both teams had four hits, Hart striking out six and walking two, the losing pitcher fanning five and walking one.

Cobourg won the game in the fifth when two hits, coupled with two errors, one each by first baseman Irvine and third baseman Lawless, gave them the extra run.

Thomas Jay Hogan, the Cobourg shortstop, starred afield, making three great stops.

Clarke Harnden of the winners led both teams at bat with two for three, one a double.

Will Stand Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9 (CP) —Despite his mother's plea that "he's still a little boy," 17-year-old Kenneth Skinner Wednesday was ordered to stand trial for murder because of the July 22 apartment house fire that took eight lives. The youth first insisted to police that he accidentally set the blaze while delivering newspapers. Later he admitted he set it deliberately, officers reported.

Macken, Main Starters In Cup Singles

MONTREAL, Aug. 9 (CP) — Canada's top tennis aces, Brendan Macken of Montreal and Lorne Main of Vancouver, today received starting assignments in Friday's opening singles matches of the North American final Davis Cup tie against the United States.

The draw for opponents is to be held at 11 a.m. EDT, today at the Mount Royal Club where the three-day international competition will be staged.

Captain Gordon MacNeil of Canada announced his singles selections early today. However, American captain Frank Shields preferred to wait until the zero hour before making his choices known. Davis Cup team captains are required to announce their first singles selections at least 24 hours before the matches.

The railbirds have speculated since the arrival of the American squad Monday that Art Larsen, US national singles champ, and Dick Savitt would be the probable singles starters.

Canada is a 7 to 5 underdog to drop the best-of-five series without a match victory.

Macken and Main are the No. 1 and No. 2 men of the Canadian team. Macken, a 28-year-old veteran of six Davis Cup squads, is the only member of the three-man team given any chance of upsetting the powerful Americans. In 1949 he came through with a surprising victory over Australia's Billy Sidwell.

Main, a 21-year-old ambidextrous player, will be shooting for his second straight win in cup play. Last Saturday he scored a straight set victory over Cuba's Jose (Pepe) Aguero.

5 Football Players Recruited Yearly

WEST POINT, NY, Aug. 9 — (AP).—Army football coach Earl Balik conceded Wednesday that West Point recruited five of 11 high school football players a year. He defended the practice as "perfectly proper."

He defined the recruiting as inviting the athletes to the academy for a "cram course" to help them pass entrance examinations — with their expenses during the course paid by "interested civilian alumni." No government or athletic association funds were used, he added.

"If we did not do that, we would be unable to have any athletes in West Point able to play a normal schedule," Blaik said.

Fifteen of the 45 players on last year's football squad entered the academy with this help, he said.

Suspend Nationals

SASKATOON, Aug. 9—(CP)—Suspension of Regina Nationals from the Dominion Footbal Association Challenge Cup series for "serious misconduct" was announced Wednesday by James Ritchie, secretary of the Saskatchewan Football Association. Ritchie said Saskatoon Legion have been declared the province's representative in the soccer challenge series on the basis of their 2-1 win over the Nationals in the first game of a two-game, total-goal series.

Change Total

QUEBEC, Aug. 9 — (CP) — Quebec Crown authorities said Wednesday a total of $375,000, not $66,000 as reported previously, is the full amount involved in charges of theft and fraud laid last week against Armand Rochette, 46-year-old Montreal business man. Rochette, president of the Quebec-Levis Ferry Company until last week, was arrested July 31 on charges of stealing $291,000 from the company and defrauding its shareholders of $375,000.

Mounties Edge St. Kitts 15-12 Hold Off Drive

By The Canadian Press.

Mimico Mounties held off a last-quarter drive to defeat St. Catharines Athletics 15-12 in a Senior Ontario Lacrosse tilt on Wednesday. They are in position to cop the final second-place standing although they now share that position with Hamilton Tigers who defeated Fergus Thistles 12-7 at Hamilton Wednesday night.

Mounties and Tigers have both won 16 games but the Mimico crew have two more to play than the Hamilton team.

At Mimico the Mounties built up a 15-5 lead by the three-quarter mark but were almost knocked off their perch by a roaring St. Catharines drive in the final period. The Athletics scored seven goals while holding the Mounties at a standstill but couldn't complete the rally to tie the score.

Four of the Athletics' last-period goals were netted by rearguard Bill Nelson. Ken Lytle, Mimico juvenile, was top scorer for the Mounties with three in the net.

Hamilton's Elmer Lee was the high-scorer against Fergus, sinking three, but he was also their weak spot. Benched in the third quarter for fighting, he watched J. J. Hill whip through Hamilton defences to score three goals.

Flight Sergeant Best Rifle Shot

LONG BRANCH, Ont., Aug. 9 (CP).—A sharpshooting Air Force Flight Sergeant from Ottawa Uplands RCAF station won the silver medal Wednesday in the City of Toronto match of the Ontario Rifle Association meet.

Flt. Sgt. J. A. Calder won the match when he scored a perfect 25 in a shoot-off with three other men. He managed to outscore CSM N. L. Beckett of Hamilton, Sgt. F. H. Johnson of Toronto and Maj. D. T. Burke of Toronto. All four had finished the regular shooting with perfect scores of 110, but only Calder was able to maintain perfection in the shoot-off.

The team prize for the City of Toronto match went to the Queen's Own Rifles. Lieut. R. Storrar of Weston, CSM E. Stock, CSM N. J. McLeod and Cpl. W. Durrance, all of Toronto, produced a total of 429 of a possible 440. A team from the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry was one point behind at 428.

The second stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's match is to be held today. Three men with perfect scores of 75 headed the list of 40 competitors who survived yesterday's first round. The first stage at 300 yards eliminated 154 entrants.

Marylebone Wins Cricket Match

TORONTO, Aug. 9 (CP). — The touring Marylebone Cricket Club won by scores of 280 runs for seven wickets, declared, to 142 in an exhibition match with the Toronto Cricket Club at Armour Heights Wednesday.

Cricket weather prevailed and a good mid-week crowd was present.

Captain Robins on the toss and elected to bat, taking M. M. Walford in with him to open the innings. McLean opened the bowling for TCC from the pavillion end.

Runs came easily although bowling and fielding was good before lunch. The 100 went up in 70 minutes, by which time three Marylebone wickets had fallen. At lunch time the score stood at 157 for five wickets.

After lunch the visiting batsmen became much more aggressive and the bowling became unsteady while the fielders lost much of their pep. The innings was declared closed with the score at 280 runs for seven wickets.

Toronto's innings opened disastrously, three wickets falling for 16 runs. Darby Loney was holding one end down confidently, but could get no one to stay until the arrival of Cayley. Together this pair added 59 runs for the seventh wicket and brought the total up to a respectable 129.

Previously to this stand, Gerrard batted well for his 16. After the fall of Cayley and Loney the last three Toronto wickets fell in the last over.

Canada's Toughest '50 Baby Was 25th Infantry Brigade

The biggest, roughest, toughest "baby" born in Canada in 1950 was the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group which this week in Korea celebrated its first birthday.

A compact, hard-hitting fighting force commanded by Brig. John M. Rockingham, CBE, DSO, of Victoria, BC, the formation already has bloodied itself in the fighting in Korea, proving beyond doubt that it is one infant with a full set of teeth.

In the 12 brief months since it was raised, the "25th' has had several of its members decorated for gallantry in action; has taken its toll in enemy dead, wounded and prisoners; and has borne its own losses. It has never had a man surrender to the enemy. One of its units, the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricias Canadian Light Infantry, won considerable recognition from other United Nations' commanders in the first few weeks it was in action and, for its heroic stand near Kapyong on April 24-25, was awarded the US Presidential Citation.

2,200 in 36 Hours

Canada's decision to raise a brigade group for service with the United Nations forces was announced last August 7 in Ottawa by Defence Minister Brooke Claxton. Recruiting began the next morning and in the first 36 hours more than 2,200 volunteers crowded recruiting offices. At week's end more than 11,600 applicants had been interviewed and of this number a total of 3,027 was accepted and despatched immediately to training centres across the country.

In mid-September it was announced that 9,000 new men had been enlisted into the Special Force and another 1,000 officers and men were being posted from the Active Force to the brigade to occupy key positions.

The appointment of 38-year-old Brig. Rockingham as commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade was announced August 9.

Commanders Named

A week later, names of the men who would command senior regiments in the Special Force were announced. They included Lt.-Col. R. A. Keane, DSO, 36, of Fort William and Ottawa as commanding officer of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricias; and Lt.-Col. J. A. Dextraze, DSO, 31, of Montreal, as commanding officer of the 2nd Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment.

The move to Korea divorced the 2nd Battalion PPCLI from the 25th Brigade, and placed it temporarily under command of, first, the 27th and later the 28th British Commonwealth Brigades. The battalion first saw action in Korea with the 27th British Commonwealth Brigade.

The Patricias arrived at Yokohama, Japan, December 13, aboard the US troopship Pvt. Joe P. Martinez, after a rough 19-day crossing from Seattle. They left the next day for Pusan, South Korea.

Other units of the 25th Brigade sailed for the Far East in April from Seattle. Major units who sailed with the brigade, following in the wake of the Princess Patricias, were the second battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal 22nd Regiment and the 2nd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

Fighting As Unit

It was the end of May before the 25th Brigade went into action as a unit. Brig. Rockingham welcomed the Patricias back May 29 after three months of operating and fighting alongside other United Nations troops as the only Canadian unit in the field. Since leaving the rest of the brigade at Fort Lewis last December, the Patricias had been operating under United Nations command.

As of August 3, figures compiled at Army Headquarters showed a total of 227 men killed, wounded or injured in the fighting there. Of this number, 52 were listed as killed in action, six died of wounds, 152 were wounded, and another 17 injured in action. One officer and 13 other ranks, or a total of 14 have died of ordinary causes since the brigade landed in Korea. The enemy has yet to capture its first Canadian prisoner of war.

The other side of the picture shows three Canadians decorated for bravery and devotion to duty in the fighting in Korea, all of them members of the 2nd Battalion PPCLI.

They are Capt. J. G. W. Mills, 31, of Winnipeg, awarded the Military Cross for valorous conduct in the fighting around Chunchon last April 24-25; L/Cpl. Smiley Douglas, 23, Delburne, Alta., for his part in the same battle; and Pte. Leonard Barton, 21, formerly of Paddington, Eng., who came to Canada last summer to enlist in the Canadian Army following the outbreak of the Korean conflict. He won his award for heroism in a battle fought by the Patricias near Yangdogwon last March 7.

As they begin their second year as a fighting formation of the Canadian Army, personnel of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade can look back with pride on 12 months of accomplishment. On the eve of their birthday, they wait with their allies for the results of the Kaesong truce talks.

ANCIENT RUINS

The ruins of Ephesus, famous ancient city founded about 1100 BC, still exist near Smyrna.

KOREAN "HOSPITAL"—Foul-smelling, rickety warehouses such as this are used as hospitals for Koreans evacuated from battle areas. Military commanders evacuated at least 120,000 North Koreans and another 230,000 South Koreans from front-line areas. The United Nations Civil Assistance Command was unprepared for the influx. Hospital facilities, medicines, clothing and food were in extremely scarce supply and emergency shelter such as this has given many Koreans a poor opinion of the UN. About 300 of them are crowded into this leaky barn, with rice-straw sacks beds and an occasional army blanket or cotton-batting for bedding.

Hospitals For Korean Civilians Dirty Holes

By BILL BOSS

SUWON, Korea, Aug. 9 (CP)—Kan Ki-sok sprang from the stinking fibre sacking that was his "bed" on the "hospital" floor.

He interrupted the conservation going on with the patient in the next "bed"—33-year-old Chang Yong-sik. Chang had been telling how he came to occupy his corner of the foul, open-ended warehouse that had been turned into a hospital.

He had been choosing his words carefully.

Infuriated by the near-double-talk, his neighbor exploded:

"What he is trying to tell you is that we hate the United Nations."

"When we were turned out of our homes and hiding places the United Nations promised us food, and clothing, and medicine, and said accommodation was ready for us. Now we are treated like this. Koreans look after their animals better."

Emergency Conditions

The angry Kang, once a restaurateur with his own business, and feeble Chang were among the more than 300 North Koreans in the hospital—improvised in emergency conditions by a Canadain Red Cross worker, Jack Purves of Cranbrook, BC.

In a kidnap operation on a gigantic scale, the UN military command here has evacuated at least 120,000 North Koreans from their homes north of the 38th parallel, most from the Chorwon-Kum Hwa-Unchon "iron triangle".

A further 230,000 persons were evacuated from the front-line areas south of the parallel.

Military Necessity

Military necessity was given as the reason.

The sick were sheltered in places like this barn. An estimated 90 per cent of the evacuees were malnutrition cases of one degree or another.

The move was not organized. The United Nations Civil Assistance Command was given no information on which to plan.

Rice for Seoul province's normal requirements has been running short at the rate of 5½ metric tons monthly since March. Now a war-tortured population of 3,500,000 in the province has almost 1,500,000 refugees and evacuees. Medicines are portioned among the provinces at 100,000 units each. Some have static populations and settled refugees. Seoul province with its phenomenal influx is grossly under-equipped to heal its sick.

Only four regular civilian hospitals are available to UNCAC the rest are improvised in hovel like this. Yet Seoul city's 1,200-bed City College Hospital, one of the largest and best equipped in Asia, is unavailable. It was requisitioned by the military command for other purposes.

Driven To This State

Says Purves:

"We've been driven to improvise emergency set-ups in old buildings, disused stables, bombed-out warehouses—anywhere we can get them out of sun and rain."

The job boils down to finding these people food, clothing and shelter wherever possible.

On squares of sodden fibre-sacking on the puddle-ridden concrete floor more than 300 dirty, dishevelled Koreans like Kang and Chang, in varying stages of sickness and starvation-recovery, sprawled around under blankets, squares of cotton padding or cast-off overcoats shipped from North America by volunteer relief agencies.

Nauseating Spot

Although the place had one end open the stink of pus and foul breath brought nauseating gags to visitors.

Starvation and the human body . . . breasts wizened down to wrinkled leather pouches . . . . barrel-bellies hard as rock . . . hands, legs, ankles, feet swollen .

The prescription: rest and protein diet. They get the rest— in a filthy, squalid sort of way.

The protein? Three hops of rices a day and water. A hop when cooked expands to the size of a fist. There is no allocation of vegetables or kimchi, the pickled-salad side-dish traditional in the Korean diet and source of their vitamin and protein nourishment.

Purves has arranged a supplementary ration of powdered milk and vitamin tablets, boils it with the rice into a gruel and his patients get a cast-off beer-canful three times a day.

Purves in this one warehouse has put 22 moribund malnutrition cases back on their feet again. But 27 died.

Most of the North Koreans, though hungry in their homes and dug-outs—in which they were hiding alike from the Chinese Communists and United Nations air strikes and artillery—would rather have stayed where they were. They complied without demur on promise of good treatment.

Glenn Ford Penetrates Iron Curtain

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9—(AP)—It seems that every hour on the hour some film player returns from some far-off place. But here is one whose travelogue is out of the ordinary.

He is Glenn Ford, whose European travels included a visit behind the iron curtain. While making "The Green Glove," Ford, a native of Portneuf, Que., travelled throughout France, Spain and Italy, plus visits to Budapest and Vienna.

The trip to Budapest was brief. He arrived just as American diplomatic people were pulling out. He took the hint and left, too. But he spent a week in Vienna and he discovered first-hand the tactics of the Russians.

"It started when I was crossing the frontier from the US-controlled zone to the Russian zone," he said. "The train stopped at Innes, where the American soldiers looked at passports and visitor cards. I had made the mistake of having two names on my card—my real name, Gwyllyn Peter Ford, and Glenn Ford.

"The American officer said the two names would cause suspicion with the Russians, so I had to get another card. I got off the train and had to wait for the next one, which was a cattle train. When I went through, the Russians passed all right. I learned later it was because I was travelling with the cows in third class. If I had been first class, I might still be there."

Ford was accosted many times by Russian soldiers who demanded his credentials. "It was obvious they did it just for annoyance," he said, "Because the same soldiers would ask me for my papers within a few hours. They would give you the silent treatment, never saying a word, but delaying you until some officer approved the credentials."

The actor found his own way of combatting the Russians. Foreigners are not supposed to walk on the sidewalk in front of the two big Russian hotels, but Ford did it one day. A jeep drove up beside him, bearing a Russian Navy officer, an army officer and two privates. They trailed his steps until he wheeled around and demanded: "What do you guys want?"

The Russians were flustered and sped away.

May Settle Board Issue

TORONTO, Aug. 9 (CP) — A controversy over who should be chosen to fill the vacancy on Toronto's board of control may be settled next week.

Mayor Hiram McCallum said Wednesday a special city council might be held then to pick a successor to Controller John Innes who died several weeks ago.

An argument has been raging in city hall about whether the successor should be selected from among members of the city council or whether Ford Brand, runner-up in last year's board of control elections should get the job on the four-man board.

Alderman Nathan Phillips, veteran of 28 years in city politics, said Wednesday that he would be pleased to be given the job.

STRATEGIC SPOT

Metz, famous town and fortress in France, was known to the ancient Romans by the name Divodurum.

2 Nabbed When Car Halted For Light Check

COBOURG, Aug. 9—(ENS)—Picked up by provincial police in an alleged stolen car, Jack D. Breen and Gerald Johns of Toronto were returned to that city yesterday.

Provincial Constable W. Baluk of Cobourg stopped the car to tell the driver to fix the front headlight and suspicious of them he asked for the ownership license of the car.

When neither could supply him with it, he raided his detachment headquarters and learned that the car the pair were in, had been stolen five days before from a used car lot in Toronto.

Hot Weather Chaos

VERDUN, Que. (CP)—Perhaps it was the heat. An alderman opposed to a controversial measure before city council voted for it by mistake. Another opponent of the motion missed the session when it was tied up by a traffic jam. The measure was passed.

COMRADE'S SALUTE—A new Communist salute, an "over the head double handclasp," emerged from a three-day, Red-sponsored "Peace Crusade" at Tehran, Iran. Here, a member of the "peace crusaders" shows a crowd of demonstrators how the handclasp works. One Iranian suggested that the salute was "copied from an American boxing movie."

Don't Suffer With Stomach Indigestion, Gas, Backache

Benefit by the Experience of Other Well-Known Men and Women and Use Syntona for Prompt Relief. READ This Man's EXPERIENCE.

MR. RICHARD WEIR

If you are a sufferer of stomach gas, pains, sour acid risings and distress after meals; if sluggish bowel action causes dizziness, spots before the eyes, sick headache; if sluggish kidney action is causing backache, night rising, and if you feel tired out, nervous, rundown, follow the advice of thousands of other well-known men and women and take a short treatment of Syntona. Many people report help and relief even after the first few days and continued use often brings astonishing results.

"Syntona is the finest tonic I ever used." says Mr. Richard Weir, 27 Carleton Avenue, London, Ontario. "I was suffering from so many things I can hardly describe them all. My stomach was sour and gassy after meals, I'd get dizzy spells, bad headaches, and couldn't sleep well. Rheumatic pains set in my arms, limbs and joints and I had a terrible backache all the time.

"A friend advised me to take Syntona and the results I got in only a short time are quite remarkable. The sour, gassy condition of my stomach as well as the headaches and dizzy feelings are relieved and the rheumatic pains and aches are now so much better that I am enjoying more sound sleep and get up mornings feeling more rested and refreshed."

Why not give this pure Herbal Compound a chance to help you, too? Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt).

Troop Train, Flyer In Collision

Smash-Up Occurs In Desolate Louisiana Swamp

SIMMESPORT, La., Aug. 10. (AP)—A head-on crash of a Kansas City southern streamliner and a troop train carrying 300 Marines today killed at least 12 persons and injured 60 or more, state police reported.

None of the dead was identified immediately, state police said.

The wreck occurred in a desolate swamp area 60 miles northwest of Baton Rouge, La.

State police sent 100 officers to the scene where communications were crippled by the wreck. Telephone lines parallelling the railroad were knocked down and only death messages could be telephoned out of the area.

Casualty reports varied widely but a Kansas City Southern employee at the scene verified the state police report that the known death toll was 12.

Several of the cars and both diesel engines caught fire after the smash. A passenger on the Southern Belle said Marines told him three or four officers were trapped in a burning car.

Injured Scattered

Reports from the scene said all injured have been removed to hospitals or clinics in surrounding towns, making an accurate count more difficult.

The passenger train was southbound en route to New Orleans. The troop train was north-bound en route to San Diego, Cal.

The Kansas City Southern office at Alexandria, La., 50 miles northwest of the scene, said at midmorning that some of the cars were still burning from the fire started by the wrecked diesel engines.

L. W. Graves, a passenger on the Southern Belle, said the first car back of the troop train engine burned completely and Marines said three or four of their officers were never rescued.

Hard to Get Help

Graves said the accident occurred shortly after 7 a.m. but help could not be reached until one of the passengers or trainmen walked several miles through the desolate swamp to a telephone.

Dozens of ambulances were summoned and the injured lay alongside the wreckage awaiting evacuation to hospitals.

Graves, uninjured, said two or three cars of the troop train were derailed and several passenger cars.

Both diesel engines caught fire after the impact, he said.

State police had reports that bodies were spilled over the area.

WHILE FIGHTING for her life in an iron lung, Mrs. William Miller, 25, of 207 Stewart St., a polio patient, Thursday night made Canadian medical history by giving birth to a six-pound baby girl. Although she appeared normal at birth the baby died a few hours later, and Mrs. Miller's condition at press time today was "poor".

Peterborough Woman In Iron Lung Has Baby Girl 6 Pounds

Mother In Critical Condition In Toronto After Making Medical History, Child Dies Few Hours After Birth

A Peterborough woman made Canadian medical history Thursday night. While stricken with polio and fighting for her life in an iron lung in Toronto Isolation Hospital, she gave birth to a six-pound girl. The baby, which appeared normal, lived only a few hours and died at 3 a.m. The mother, Mrs. William Miller, 25, of 207 Stewart St., is still in the iron lung with paralyzed breathing muscles and paralyzed legs, and her condition at noon today was "poor."

For the actual delivery of the baby, Mrs. Miller was taken out of the iron lung for only 30 seconds. And during that space of time her breathing stopped. When she was placed back in the lung again her breathing improved.

Mrs. Miller was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Thursday morning and then transferred to the isolation hospital, Toronto, shortly before 5 pm. The ambulance trip took an hour and 50 minutes, with the last leg, from Oshawa to the hospital, completed at speeds of 60-65 miles an hour through rush-hour traffic.

Two Critical Brushes

Mrs. Miller had two critical brushes with death as she made medical history.

During the stretch of the ambulance ride from Oshawa to Toronto oxygen was administered by a Peterborough nurse. When Mrs. Miller was taken from the ambulance to enter the hospital she began to turn blue and breathed with difficulty.

Driver Bob Crone of Kaye's ambulance, and a hospital orderly rushed back to the ambulance and manhandled the 150-pound oxygen tank down the steps into the admitting room. Oxygen was fed to her up until the moment she was placed in the iron lung.

Barely Made It

"Hospital authorities told us that the patient would have been dead in another two or three minutes if we hadn't reached hospital when we did," said Mr. Crone. "As soon as we disconnected the oxygen at the hospital she began to turn blue."

Accompanying Mrs. Miller was a registered nurse, Mrs. Irene McNeeley, who was finishing her day's work at St. Joseph's Hospital when the emergency arose. Mrs. McNeeley volunteered to go to Toronto.

Driver Crone said he did not think the case was critical when he left the city, but a four-hour supply of oxygen was brought along just in case. The ambulance went at normal driving speed until near Oshawa and then Mrs.

Everyone Mum For 2 Hours At Truce Parley

UN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 10 (AP). — Deadlocked United Nations and Communist truce negotiating delegations sat for two hours and 11 minutes in dead silence today, each waiting for the other to change his position.

The unprecedented silence was precipitated, the United Nations command said, when the Communists refused to talk about anything except a buffer zone located where they want it.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate, proposed several alternatives to break the deadlock. Then he waited for North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red delegation to reply.

Nam said nothing.

For 131 minutes, nobody spoke.

Full of Electricity

"The air was full of electricity" said Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN command spokesman.

He said General Nam fidgeted in nervous embarrassment, smoked cigarettes incessantly and glanced repeatedly at his wrist watch.

Occasionally he received notes from staff officers behind him. But he said nothing.

The other four Communist generals held occasional whispered conference. Most of the time, Nuckols said, they remained impassive.

Admiral Joy sat calmly, Nuckols said, "writing notes in a detached sort of fashion."

Joy appeared patient; sometimes bored, Nuckols said.

Joy finally broke the silence.

When negotiations resumed after a five-day break, UN delegates offered a series of alternatives intended to break the disagreement over where to end the shooting war.

Reject All Proposals

The Communists turned down all UN proposals.

The five Red generals refused to consider anything except a buffer zone back along the 38th parallel.

The Red spokesman even resorted to more than two hours of silence in an effort to gain his point, a UN communique said.

The armistice talks appeared to be at their most critical point since they began a month ago today. The UN communique indicated the tension-ridden conference might be nearing a breaking point.

Canada Clears UN Official Of Red Stigma

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (CP) — A high Canadian diplomat, whose name was associated with a 1939 Communist student group by a witness at the Senate security hearings Thursday, has been thoroughly investigated by the Canadian Government and given a "clean bill of health."

The Department of External Affairs in Ottawa issued a formal statement supporting the loyalty of E. H. Norman, acting chief of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations.

It cleared Norman of alleged past association with the Communist party shortly after the Senate Internal Security Sub-Committee disclosed testimony by a witness that the Canadian expert on Far East affairs belonged to a "Communist party student group at Cape Cod (Mass.), in 1939."

The committee's chief counsel, Robert Morris, said the witness was Dr. Carl August Wittfogel, a university professor who broke with the Communist party in Germany in 1939. Wittfogel told the committee "it was obvious" that Norman was a Communist at that time.

Never At Cape Cod

While the department's statement did not mention Wittfogel's allegation specifically, an official of the department said it had been ascertained that Norman never was at Cape Cod in his life.

Wittfogel has been described by the committee as director of a Chinese history project co-sponsored by the University of Wash-

Take 1st Step Break Deadlock

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 10 (AP)—Britain and Iran have reached their first specific step toward breaking the deadlock which has shut off the flow of oil from the world's biggest refinery at Abadan.

British and Iranian negotiators Thursday appointed a committee to work out a system of receipts to be signed by tanker captains for oil they carry away from the rich Persian Gulf oil fields.

Education Minister Harim Sanjazi of the Iranian delegation disclosed the move, which was taken after Britain's nationalization specialist, Sir Donald Ferguson, explained how his own Labor government had applied the principles of nationalization.

Ferguson was appointed on the receipts board, along with Ali Shayegan of Iran and a representative of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company—the $1,400,000,000 firm whose holdings Iran has nationalized.

The question of receipts caused the British-owned company to order its tanker captains to stay away from Abadan. When the storage tanks ashore were filled, the refinery was forced to shut down for lack of further storage space.

Tighten Iron Curtain Around Red Poland

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) —State Department officials said today Russia undoubtedly is tightening the iron curtain around Communist Poland.

This opinion underscored a department announcement Thursday night that the Polish government had ordered an end to all American cultural activities in Poland, and that "there was no alternative but to comply with this request."

In retaliation, after receiving word of Warsaw's action, the American government ordered the Polish Research and Information Service at New York closed today.

In announcing these developments, State Department press officer Michael J. McDermott specifically linked them to: (a) a recent visit to the Polish capital by Soviet Deputy Premier Vyacheslav Molotov, and (b) a message earlier this week to President Truman from the Soviet President Nikolai Shvernik.

3,000 Miles For Five Minutes Shooting Of Royal Pictures

By LOUIS JAQUES,

LONDON. — With two British and one other Canadian photographer, I was afforded my first glimpse of the expected Royal visitors to Canada, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, and their two children, in the garden of Clarence House, London. Despite the extreme brevity of the occasion—we were only given five minutes—I managed to get nine black-and-white photos and seven other black-and-white photos on Leica film.

This is characteristic of press relations in Britain, due to the insatiable interest of the British public in the Royal Family. If such affairs were not strictly controlled, they would turn into a carnival of photographers and reporters pushing and elbowing one another.

We were admitted to the Garden of Clarence House before the Princess and the Duke arrived. Walter Thompson, who is in charge of public relations for their tour of Canada, and two equerries, were with us. We discussed with Thompson what pictures we hoped to get, and it was decided that informal garden shots would be the best thing.

An equerry went inside and

Must Pay Higher Taxes German Gov't Told

BONN, Germany, Aug. 10 (AP) —The Western occupation powers have told the West Berlin government it must raise more money in taxes to pay its share of increased defence expenditures.

In lengthy talks just concluded between Allied financial experts and West German Finance Minister Fritz Schaeffer, an Allied spokesman said the Germans were told:

West Germany is paying less for Western defence that Atlantic Pact nations and must face up to sacrifices for security.

Additional political freedom for Bonn will imply more financial responsibility.

The increase in Allied occupation costs are due entirely to the build-up of Allied armies in Germany, done at the request of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Canada Protests Cheese Freeze

OTTAWA, Aug. 10. (CP)—Canada likely will officially protest American action in freezing imports of cheese from Canada and other countries, trade and agricultural officials said today.

They expressed concern over a US agriculture department announcement Thursday night setting quotas on imports of cheese to prevent further expansion in sales of foreign production in the US.

Canadian officials had hoped to widen the American market for Canadian cheese. With this in mind, Canada had negotiated a new tariff concession with the US at Torquay, England, last spring to lower the US rate on cheese from 3½ cents a pound to 3 cents. The ad valorem rate was lowered from 17½ per cent to 15 per cent.

Now, with the new US freeze on foreign cheese, officials said the value of the concession is partially destroyed.

Shipments of Canadian high-quality cheese to the US last year were 3,000,000 pounds, almost double the 1,800,000 in 1949. Exports to the US in the first five months this year totalled 1,500,000 pounds.

Under the new US action, the total than can be licensed for importation for the remainder of 1951 will be limited to five-twelfths of the annual average importation during the years 1948-50.

Open Flood Gates To Quell Bush Fire

VANCOUVER, Aug. 10 (CP)—Flood gates on the Fraser river were opened today to allow the tide to wash over a 300-acre bush and peat fire in adjoining Burnaby municipality.

A number of homes were in the path of the slow-moving blaze, but firefighters said the dwellings could be saved. Opening the flood gates would endanger no homes, firemen said.

Arrest Imminent

HAMILTON, Aug. 10. (CP) — Reports circulated today that arrest was imminent of a former jockey said to have been the contact man between gambling interests and jockeys involved in "fixed" races, now under investigation by the Ontario Racing Commission. The man's job was said to have been to notify riders which horse was to win a given race. The jockeys co-operated by "pulling" the other horses.

28 Cars Derailed Line Blocked

SUDBURY, Aug. 10 (CP) — The main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway was littered today with piles of grain, bricks, iron, steel, coal and other commodities as railwaymen worked to remove debris in the wake of derailment of 28 freight cars.

The accident occurred late Thursday night at Benny, 42 miles north of Sudbury. No one was injured. The cause of the derailment was not known immediately. A number of cars were wrecked and rails torn up for a considerable distance.

Stranded behind the pile-up on the track today was the CPR's eastbound trans-continental No. 6 from Vancouver. It was expected to continue its journey with clearing of the tracks about noon. Westbound passenger trains were rerouted over CNR lines.

Telephone communications between the east and west, cut at 10:30 p.m. Thursday night when flying railway cars levelled poles, were restored early today.

Laborer 21 Charged With Child's Murder

BATH, England, Aug 10 — (Reuters)—John Thomas Straffen, 21, an unemployed laborer, was charged today with the murder of nine-year-old Cecily Batstone, found in a field near here Thursday—the fourth victim of England's child-murder wave.

Cecily lived only 200 yards from the spot where Brenda Goddard, 6, was found strangled July 15.

Officials Considering Speeches By Princess

OTTAWA. Aug. 10. (CP) — Consideration is being given to how many speeches—if any—Princess Elizabeth will make during her October visit to Canada, but no decision has been reached.

The Princess herself probably will have the last word on whether or not she will speak, though it is expected she will make at least one public speech.

The best guess available here is that Ottawa, as the capital of Canada, probably would get top rating as the place where a speech should be made. However, it is understood that other speech-making suggestions have been put forward and also are being considered.

UN Planes Bomb Big Convoys

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 10 (AP) —Forty-five American Thunderjets roared over Pyongyang today, bombing and strafing anti-aircraft positions in the Red Korean capital.

Night pilots reported "an unusually large movement" along the highways. They spotted about 2,400 motor vehicles travelling to and from the front.

Undercast was so heavy 12 Superforts flew by radar to continue the B-29 attack on West Korean rail yards.

Today's attack was on yards near Hwangju. Thursday, B-29s, escorted by Australian Meteor jets, rained 100 tons of explosives on two yards. Flak caused some damage to the attacking planes, but all returned.

Thursday's air action was marked by the return of Red jets to Korea.

Thousands Invade W. Berlin Prefer Freedom To Reds

BERLIN, Aug. 10 — (AP)—Eluding tightened police controls, additional tens of thousands of Iron Curtain youths deserted the Communist World Youth Peace Festival today to visit Free West Berlin.

It was the second great invasion wave, staged by a new mass of youths whom the Communists had brought to the East Berlin festival from the surrounding Russian occupation zone. Shortages of supplies and housing for the two-week show requires that the delegates be brought in shifts for visits of about five days each.

West Berlin authorities, who have the task of interviewing and entertaining the visiting youngsters, reported that about 700 had inquired about asylum in the west since the festival opened last Sunday. Only a small fraction are accepted, however.

Because of the already heavy financial burden of the refugee load, only those are taken who prove they can't safely return home. The others are given a quick indoctrination of anti-Communism and advised to go home but hold fast to the faith even under the pressure of Communist rule.

The Communist leaders also were reported to be confronted with scattered revolts among the foreign delegations to the festival.

A group of British delegates were said to have refused to move into their quarters until pictures of Stalin were removed. This group claimed they thought they had come to a non-political World Youth gathering and didn't understand why it should be festooned with Communist posters and symbols.

Captains Give Up Cabins When Royal Guests Arrive

ESQUIMAULT, B.C., Aug. 10— (CP)—The Captains of two Canadian warships will give up their cabins when Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip come aboard their ships this fall.

The Navy didn' say, however, where the Captains will bunk.

Preparations for the royal visit are under way on the cruiser Ontario and the destroyer Crusader will start her preparations when she returns shortly from her current training cruise to Pearl Harbor.

Captain's quarters on both ships will be refitted. With a woman coming aboard, a lot of feminine touches will be added. These will probably include frillier curtains and new furniture.

"That's not all, either," said one old salt on the Ontario. "We'll be painting and swabbing from now on. And glad to do it for guests like those, too."

The Ontario will combine a fall training cruise with the voyage to Halifax, where she will escort the royal couple up the St. Lawrence to Quebec. Later, when the couple returns east, the cruiser will convey them from Charlottetown to Sydney, NS, and then to St. John's, Nfld., arriving there Nov. 4. That will be the couple's last stop in Canada.

The Crusader will perform similar duties on the west coast, taking the royal couple from Vancouver to Vancouver Island and back.

Try Rabies Shots Against Polio Virus

CORISCANA, Tex., Aug. 10 — (AP)—More than 200 residents of Navarro county, Texas, have volunteered to take rabies shots.

They will start Monday a program to see what effect the shots have on immunity to infantile paralysis.

It is the program of Herbert E. Hipps, Waco, Tex., doctor, who is checking something he thinks he may have found after years of investigating and keeping records: persons who have received rabies shots haven't had polio.

"I have been working on the theory that if cowpox immunization will immunize a person against smallpox, then why would not rabies immunization perhaps immunize a child against infantile paralysis?" Hipps said in an interview.

New Vaccine Expected Save Poultry

Greatest Damage Done In West, Government Acts

OTTAWA, Aug. 10. (CP) — Government scientists are hopeful of producing a new vaccine soon to strike a blow at Newcastle disease, dreaded enemy of poultry.

The virus disease, ravaging flocks at a time when Canada is undergoing an unusual scarcity of eggs, has resulted in destruction of hundreds of thousands of eggs and birds, particularly in western Canada.

Agriculture Department spokesmen said today much study has been given to production of a reliable vaccine to protect poultry against Newcastle disease and "such a vaccine will be available for general use shortly.

Cost of the new vaccine to poultrymen will be "negligible" and it will no longer be necessary to slaughter flocks to control the disease.

900,000 Birds Killed

The Agriculture Department estimated 900,000 birds and 528,000 eggs had had to be destroyed since the disease first spread into Canada about three years ago.

The cost to the government, through compensation to the farmers, has run to a total $1,137,000 in the three-year period. During the four months of April to July, 271,206 birds and 10,889 eggs have had to be destroyed. Compensation ran to $232,255.

Last year greatest damage was reported in British Columbia. This year the disease appears to have spread eastward to Manitoba.

Of 386 flocks destroyed in the fiscal year ended last March 31, 369 were in British Columbia. Another 112 flocks were destroyed in British Columbia in the four months ended last July 31. But Manitoba was hardest hit, reporting 128 flocks destroyed, compared with only one the previous year.

Other Provinces

In other provinces, Ontario reported 32 flocks destroyed, compared with only seven for the 1950-51 fiscal year; Alberta, 57, compared with only nine last year; Saskatchewan, 68, compared with none a year ago.

No reports of the infection have come either from Quebec or the Maritime Provinces. For some unknown reason, the disease, which originated in Britain, has kept to the western side of the country.

To get the disease under control, the department started a mass vaccination in British Columbia last February. A total of 703,000 birds were vaccinated without cost to poultrymen.

But the vaccine has not been completely satisfactory for general distribution. For months scientists have been trying to get improvements. Officials say they are on the right track, and will soon produce the new vaccine.

Canadian Shell Used By Allies

OTTAWA, Aug. 10 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said today the government aims to have no Canadian soldiers spend more than one winter in Korea and said it is hoped to have men of the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, home by the end of the year.

At the same time he announced that a Canadian anti-tank shell—the latest word in anti - tank warfare—has been accepted as standard by the Atlantic Pact Organization and now is in production. He described it as the Sabot shell, an armor-piercing projectile.

He told a press conference that so far "as military circumstances permit, we propose to rotate our troops in Korea to insure as far as possible they don't serve more than one winter there."

Six Grandchildren Act As Woman's Bearers

Six grandchildren of the late Mrs. John J. Jones, 797 Lock St., were pallbearers at her funeral Thursday morning. Eight other grandchildren were flower bearers.

The funeral was from the Duffus funeral home to Sacred Heart Church for 9 a.m. requiem mass conducted by the Rev. C. O'Donoghue. Burial was in the family plot, St. Peter's cemetery with Father O'Donoghue and other attending clergy saying graveside prayers.

The six pallbearers were Kenneth Collins, Gordon Whatman, Gerald Wall, and Paul, John and Laverne Jones. Flower bearers were John Curtin, John Whatman, Peter Dennie, Richard Jones, Harold and Fred Wall, and Carl and Patrick Collins.

Mrs. Jones, the former Kathleen Violet O'Dette, was a lifetime resident of Peterborough. She died Tuesday in hospital, after a sudden illness, in her 66th year.

Present in the sanctuary at the mass were Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, the Rev. V. Corkery, the Rev. J. B. O'Dette, the Rev. G. F. Sullivan, the Rev. J. Coughlin, the Rev. J. O'Sullivan, and the Rev. R. Garvey.

Moving To Lachine

OTTAWA, Aug. 10 (CP).—The RCAF's air transport command spent its last day at nearby Rockcliffe Airport Thursday packing up in preparation for establishing itself at Lachine, Que., near Montreal. The move will bring it into closer co-operation with one of its main segments—No. 426 Squadron—now based close to Lachine at Dorval Airport.

Norman's name came up during questioning of Maj.-Gen. Charles Willoughby, former Far Eastern military intelligence chief of Gen. MacArthur.

Morris asked him if he knew of Norman, chief of the Far East division of the External Affairs Department of Canada. Willoughby replied that he knew Norman as Canada's Minister to Tokyo and chief of the diplomatic mission, but emphasized "I'm reluctant to dwell on this" and was not pressed further.

Double Check

The Canadian government statement followed and it said the 43-year-old Japan-born Norman was given a double security check —the first being a routine one all employees of the department must undergo.

A second security check was instituted, the department statement added, when "reports reached the department which reflected on Mr. Norman's loyalty and alleged previous association with the Communist party."

"These reports," it said, "were very carefully and fully investigated by the security authorities of the government, as a result of which Mr. Norman was given a clean bill of health, and he therefore remains a trusted and valuable official of the department."

Underground Spoils Festival

BERLIN, Aug. 10. (AP)—Anti-Communist underground workers took two big puncnes Thursday at the Red World Youth Festival in East Berlin.

They slipped their own versions of Soviet Zone affairs into a series of handouts given the thousands of Communist visitors from dozens of countries.

They loosed a wave of pamphlet-spreading also in the Soviet Zone cities of Rostock, Ludwigslust, Waldheim, Dippoldiswalde, Dresden, Cottbus and Leipzig. The leaflets were plastered on walls in areas where most of the Communist security police had been released for duty in Berlin.

The underground workers managed to get attached to the German-language handouts a collection of purported translations of East Berlin Mayor Ebert's laudatory message into Hungarian, Czech, Polish and even Russian. These, however, ignored the message. They described East Germany's concentration camps and uranium mines, told of rearmament factories and generally attacked Soviet peace talk.

This created a furore in East Berlin.

The Allies described the position of the Communists as "adamant."

They held to this position throughout Friday's four-hour-and-12-minute session. For more than half the meeting—the longest of the 20 sessions yet held—North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, refused to say a word.

For 10 consecutive sessions delegates have been stuck on the question of where to create a buffer zone.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, head of the United Nations command delegation, tried to break the deadlock by proposing that negotiators temporarily pass over this question and go on to the next point.

That deals with "concrete arrangements for the realization of military armistice and the resultant cease-fire."

Nam Il refused.

Another Session

Despite the complicated deadlock, delegates scheduled another session for 11 am Saturday (9 pm EDT Friday).

The UN communique said the Red delegation "refused adamantly" to talk about (1) present battle lines as a possible armistice demarcation line, (2) a buffer zone anywhere but on the 38th parallel or (3) any other subject.

Car, Truck Collide Both Are Damaged

A car and a truck collided at Rubidge and King Sts. Thursday doing some damage to both vehicles.

J. G. Dodson, 27 Lafayette St., driving his truck south on Rubidge St. was about half way across King St. when he met in collision with a car being driven west by George Potter, 315 Reid St.

The grill of the truck was torn and the left front fender creased. There was a dent in the left rear fender of the Potter car. Constable Sherman Keliele investigated.

Note Lower Trend On Stock Market

TORONTO, Aug. 10. (CP) — Stock market prices continued a moderately lower trend today in early afternoon dealings.

Manufacturing companies continued strong. Utilities, agricultures, foods banks, textiles and miscellaneous industrials mixed gains and losses. Papers and liquors showed a majority of losses.

Base metals were fairly mixed. East Sullivan, International Nickel, Mackeno, Minda-Scotia, Quebec Manitou and United Asbestos climbed slightly.

Western oils tended a little higher.

Senior golds pushed ahead. Giant Yellowknife, Kerr Addison, Lake Shore, Malartic and Wright-Hargreaves showed slight advances. Secondary golds were mixed.

Premier Of Italy To Visit Truman

ROME, Aug. 10 (Reuters) — Premier Alcide De Gasperi will travel to Washington Sept. 10, the right wing newspaper Giornale d'Italia said today.

De Gasperi, who has assumed the foreign ministry from ailing Carlo Sforza in his new cabinet, will meet President Truman and State Secretary Dean Acheson, the paper added. It said there was no indicaion of the precise purpose oft the trip.

A foreign department spokesman would not confirm or deny the report.

Dies From Injuries

KINCARDINE, Aug. 10 (CP)—Miss Letitia Stanley, 80, of nearby Ripley, died Thursday as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile smash July 30. She was the second victim of the collision. Dr. J. F. Mackenzie of Detroit, a brother-in-law died Tuesday.

conferred with the Duke. Then the royal couple came out, a maid carrying Princess Anne, their youngest child, with Prince Charles toddling at their side.

We bowed our heads in salute as they approached. No sneak pictures were allowed.

A rug was laid on the lawn by an equerry and they sat down, happy and completely informal.

The photographers immediately began to shoot. Although extremely busy taking shots with three cameras—two around my neck and the other on the ground with a flash bulb—I was completely captivated by Princess Anne. She seemed entirely unimpressed by us all and kept crawling over the rug laughing, cooing and having a wonderful time as only babies can.

Although I had been warned by British photographers not to attempt to address Their Royal Highnesses directly, I couldn't refrain from saying to Princess Elizabeth, "Gosh I wish you were bringing the little princess with you to Canada."

I don't know whether Her Royal Highness understood my combination of Cockney, South Brooklyn and Lower Louisiana accents but she responded with a pleased smile that is characteristic of any mother who has a beautiful baby daughter.

After three days spent chewing my nails while my negatives were en route to Canada, I was delighted to hear that the pictures turned out so well.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 —(CP)— The American dollar today opened at 5 3-16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.05 3-16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.94½, also unchanged.

Military Bill To Pass Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP) —The House of Representatives was expected to approve today a $5,786,000,000 military construction bill aimed at bolstering United States defences here and abroad against any Communist aggression.

The House foreign affairs committee Thursday night passed a $7,848,750,000 foreign aid bill to help friendly countries strengthen their military and economic muscles. The House may vote on this next week.

Both measures together would add another $13,568,000,000 to the record peacetime $56,062,405,890 military budget passed Thursday by the House, 348 votes to two. Both pending measures will require Senate approval.

The $56,062,405,890 bill to finance the armed forces represents a cash charge of $364, or almost $1 a day, for every man, woman and child in the United States during the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Miller took a turn for the worse.

Nurse McNeeley administered oxygen to the patient while the ambulance sped through the heavy rush-hour traffic on the outskirts of Toronto and in the city itself.

Dr. Frank O'Leary, head of the obstetrical department of St. Michael's Hospital, and Dr. W. Jacques, assistant supervisor at Riverside, watched the course of Mrs. Miller's labor through the portholes of the iron lung. The mother was completely covered from the neck down.

The possibility of a Caesarion, or post-mortem Caesarian had been discussed.

Patient Rallies

Then Mrs. Miller rallied, and gave normal indications of labor. She complained of a backache.

A small dose of anaesthetic was given to Mrs. Miller before she was taken out of the iron lung.

Stopped Breathing

"For the 30 seconds or so she was out of the lung she was not breathing because of the paralysis in her chest muscles," said Dr. O'Leary.

The baby, delivered with forceps by Dr. O'Leary, appeared normal but was later taken to the Hospital for Sick Children and given several blood transfusions. She died 20 minutes after admission.

This type of delivery has been done two or three times in the United States, and possibly in Europe, but it is the first in this country, Toronto doctors say.

Other members of the family were not permitted to accompany Mrs. Miller to the isolation hospital through fear of contagion.

Her husband, William Miller, works at Luminous Processes Ltd., Aylmer St.

The couple have been dogged by bad luck since they began to raise their family. About five years ago their only child, Jane, was knocked down and killed by a car. They have one surviving child, two-year-old Michael.

Ex-ORDA President H. S. Tapscott Dies

WELLAND, Aug. 10 — (CP)— Harry Stark Tapscott of Brantford, a former President of the Ontario Retail Druggists' Association and the Ontario College of Pharmacy in Toronto, died in hospital here Wednesday following a brief illness.

He was in the drug business in Brantford for more than half a century.

He was also active in the Masonic Order. He once was Worshipful Master and later District Deputy Grand Master of Brant District and a member of the Board of General Purposes of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario.

Mr. Tapscott also was a past president of the Brantford Board of Education and of the Brant Children's Aid Society.

Tweed Farmer Burned As Tractor Backfires

TWEED, Aug. 10—Harry Foster, farmer resident three miles south of Tweed, was badly burned about the chest and arms late Wednesday afternoon and rushed to Belleville General Hospital by Dr. Jack Empson, who attended Mr. Foster at his home.

Mr. Foster, with his son, Frank, were fixing the tractor and in some way it backfired and sparks caught in the clothing of the elder man.

His son rolled him about on the ground in order to put out the flames and was also burned about the hands but did not require hospital treatment.

Mr. Foster's condition showed some improvement today but he will be confined to the hospital for some days.

Army Health Breakdown Seen In Peiping's Offer

By FRED HAMPSON.

HONG KONG, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Chinese Communist central administrative council at Peiping has decided to "increase the health of workers in national defence establishments" and in the Red Army.

The Reds do not say that there has been a breakdown in health conditions, but the decision is not the sort of thing the Reds would publicize if there wasn't a pressing reason for it.

The official New China News Agency announced the program in a series of stories late in July.

The News Agency says: "The whole body of the officers and men of the Peoples' Liberation Army, in their long-term struggle for the liberation of the whole country . . . has achieved unbounded glory . . . It is, therefore, necessary for the state to provide full protection for the healthy living of these men."

This official solicitude already has provoked the question — what's the matter with the Red Army, is it sick?

Conditions Bad

In turn this brings inevitable speculation that the Red Army suffered a considerable breakdown in health in Korea, possibly more than UN commanders there realized.

Chinese hospitals have been reported jammed with wounded Red Army men from Korea.

The health program looks like a way of providing for the permanently injured without draining the national treasury.

The Peiping Government decided on four means to bolster the health program. These included calling private and public health workers in all areas to participate on a voluntary basis. The volunteers will be given "adequately high salaries."

In cases where health institutions are crippled by too many volunteers, the government will take steps to alleviate the conditions. Finally, graduates of public and private medical schools must take jobs assigned to them by the government.

Followers of the China scene see in this foggy set of orders the likely beginning of a general commandeering of the medical profession.

Held In Toronto Jail

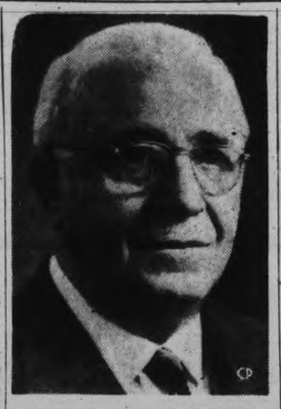
TORONTO, Aug. 10—(CP)—Bank robbery suspects Frank Watson and Leonard Jackson, arrested here last week, are being held in Toronto's Don Jail until the day of their trial in Barrie. The two men are facing several counts of bank robbery, including the Bradford Bank of Commerce raid two weeks ago when three men escaped with $4,200 after a gun-battle with a provincial officer.

School Girl Soldiers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Voice of America told overseas listeners Thursday Polish school girls are undergoing basic infantry training. The voice said also an armored force of nearly 25,000 men is being built up by Russia within the so-called eastern German police force and that a former aircraft factory in the Romanian city of Brasov is "busily producing engines and other parts for German V-2 rockets."

Highway Costs

WINNIPEG, Aug. 10 —(CP)—Work under way on the Trans-Canada Highway totals $44,000,000 in construction contracts, J. W. Wardle of Ottawa said Thursday. Mr. Wardle, federal director of engineering and water resources, was in Winnipeg studying river flood surveys and investigations.



$1,000,000 FOUNDATION—A foundation of more than $1,000,000 has been endowed by industrialist Col. R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ont., to assist Canadian medical students who intend teaching medicine. Grants will be made to selected applicants for study at home and abroad prior to taking staff positions with Canadian medical schools. The foundation also will support clinical and medical research workers.

Cobourg Polio Case

COBOURG, Aug. 10—(ENS)—Cobourg's first polio case this year has been recorded and the patient, an 11-year-old boy, has been sent to the isolation hospital in Toronto. The lad became ill about three days ago and complained about sore muscles in his shoulder and back. The county health unit has placarded the house.

Deputy Sheriffs

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 10 (CP)—A party of 25 Royal Canadian Air Cadets chosen from all parts of Canada for an exchange tour with United States Civil Air Patrol Cadets will sport badges—podnuh—when they get back to their home towns. The cadets Thursday were sworn and presented with official certificates as deputy sheriffs of the State of Texas.

Union Calls Off Strike Till Later

HEARST, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP)—The Canadian Union of Woodworkers (Ind.) Thursday called off a threatened strike in Northern Ontario logging camps "until a more opportune time."

The leftist union had said it would call out 1,500 bushmen unless the Ontario Labor Relations Board granted a vote by which the workers would decide whether they wanted their bargaining representative to be the CSW or the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union (AFL).

However, CUW members withdrew an earlier threat to strike if Andy Cooper, Lumber and Sawmill Union representative, signs a contract with 18 pulp and timber companies. The contract now is being negotiated in Toronto.

13-Cent Increase Granted By Goodrich

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—(AP)—An agreement granting a wage increase totalling 13 cents an hour to some 16,000 workers in seven B. F. Goodrich Company plants throughout the United States was signed Thursday.

The agreement, retroactive to Aug. 6 and subject to approval of the Wage Stabilization Board, was announced in a joint statement by the Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers' Union (CIO) and the company.

Endorse Action

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que., Aug. 10 (CP)—Directors of the Dairy Farmers of Canada in a meeting Thursday endorsed the recent action of the federal government in taking over import control of dairy products. The DFC, representing 450,000 dairy farmers, also will urge the government to give assurance it will not allow any imported dairy product to be sold at prices that will depress the Canadian market price level.

Korean Question Marks

It is well to remind ourselves that while the armistice negotiations are taking place these weeks in Korea, the war is still going on. There is no cease-fire while the opposing sides discuss whether there will be one. There are, as may be expected, more limited sorties than usual, for combatant officers and men themselves, knowing of the possibility of an armistice, naturally want to preserve their skins and sensibly prefer to keep to a minimum the ravages which battle causes.

• • •

Four points are on the agenda at Kaesong: the establishment of a cease-fire line; concrete arrangements for a cease-fire; the exchange of war prisoners during the armistice; and "recommendations to government of the countries concerned on both sides." Agreement has been reached on one of them. The actual cease-fire line is of utmost importance to both sides. The Americans as leaders of the U.N. forces have built up a defensive line not based on the imaginary 38th parallel. Their line goes far north of the 38th in places, south of it in others. It is a strategic line, based on dominating ground. The Reds object to this, and want the division to be the 38th. This itself cannot be easily defended along its Korean length, for the 38th is not a natural division but an arbitrary one. It is not a line at all. If the U.S.-U.N. troops had to stay behind the 38th, in places they would be far behind it. The Americans have strength, by their force of arms, to compel acceptance of their demands on the location of the buffer no-man's land, that is, if the Reds really want an armistice.

• • •

It is not yet certain that the Chinese want to call off the war. The protraction of the armistice talks may now be giving them the time they need to regroup and re-arm. The whole thing may be a big Russian bluff—both the peace move in Korea and the olive branches being held out now in other corners of the world. August is the month in which wars begin. The first World War broke out on August 4th. The second, in Poland, at the end of the month. Strategically and tactically August is a good month to begin a war. The harvests are garnered; the rainy season is several months away. U.N. embassies and generals know this; they are on the alert for a sudden Red outburst; they are cautiously playing their hands and are not going to be caught by surprise.

Are Canadians Being Reduced To British Diets?

Canadians returning from a visit to England are greeted with a statement like this: "Wasn't the food awful in England?" (and they do not refer to the cooking). "You must be glad to get back if only to get a good square meal." By a "square meal" they mean a thick steak, a couple of pork chops or a big slice of beautiful ham. Our experience in England and lately since returning to Canada is that such a square meal is as rare in Canada as it is in England. The reason is that meat is effectively rationed in both countries.

In England people cannot get fresh meat when they want it because they have not enough ration 'points'. In Canada now people cannot get the fresh meat their appetites crave because they cannot afford it. In England meat is rationed by points, in Canada by high prices. The British rationing system has one advantage and one disadvantage over the Canadian rationing system. English people can get small quantities of fresh meat from time to time, on points, at prices they can afford; Canadians never get it as cheap. The Canadian advantage is that if we can pay the price we can have as much fresh meat as we want in the home. The British cannot; they have to go to a restaurant. But in the restaurant, in Canada or in England, the situations are level. In Canada one can get a decent steak dinner for three dollars. In Britain one can get a decent steak dinner for one pound—the same price.

Both Britons and Canadians seem to judge the quality of the meal by the kind and amount of meat served. According to this standard 'good' meals are as few and far between in Canada as they are in the United Kingdom. Actually, Britons have the edge on us. They have had longer experience in preparing tasty and filling meals with little or no meat. They have learned to rely on fish and vegetables, and have devised varied menus and recipes which involve next to no meat. Oh, yes, Canadians have eggs to play around with in the menu, but at their present price, eggs are as scarce as hens' teeth; in other words, as scarce as they are in England.

The plain fact of eating on this continent now is that we feed little better than the English, and for the same reasons. We cannot afford it. Britain as a nation has decided it cannot afford to buy fresh meat, eggs and the like from countries which have them to sell, because the prices are too high. Therefore these foods are rationed. Canada has made no such decision and has no formal rationing. The decision and the rationing have been forced on each individual household by the high prices.

British homes have not the same access to sugar and cooking fats which Canadian homes have. That is a hardship which our housewives do not have to put up with. But "eating-out" in Britain is now a replacement for lacks in the domestic larder. A comfortable British restaurant will provide a good solid three-course lunch, with meat loaf or some such to make the meat go farther, for six shillings. That amounts to 90 cents. For 90 cents in a Canadian restaurant one gets a lunch of which the main course is a beef sandwich—and there is precious little beef in the sandwich.

In their homes and restaurants Canadians do not now eat much better than the British. Government controls and national budgeting have flattened British meals. Control by high prices and family budgets have reduced Canadian meals. We and the British may all end up by eating rabbit and adopting rabbit diets, with an occasional delicacy such as horse steak.

Geographical Knowledge Grows With Wars

On our front page yesterday was a story of the destruction by fire of the cathedral and national theatre of San Salvador. The date line of the story read: San Salvador, El Salvador, Aug. 9. We were not quite sure which was the city and which the country, and, as a matter of fact, had only a hazy notion that the Republic—San Salvador or El Salvador or Salvador—was somewhere in Central America. But the date line of a story opposite it was very clear: Seoul; we did not even have to read to the next word Korea. The reason for the haze over San Salvador was that it has had no battle smoke like Seoul. War extends people's knowledge of geography. Even if they never visit the battle-field, they know where it is; their papers tell them. Day after day, week after week, and sometimes, as in the Great War, year after year, the same foreign place-names are in the news, and they become household words.

El Salvador, whose capital city is San Salvador, has not had big-time battles for a hundred years; at which time press and people were not as nosey about odd corners of the earth as they now are. However, the country, which is 140 miles long from east to west and 60 miles wide, like the other "mosquito republics" of Central America has had more than enough of revolutions, coups d'etat, uprisings and turbulence. It may be that these are so numerous that people and papers are bored with them and give them no thought. They have not, like Korea, become hinges of international war and politics. San Salvador's cathedral, which was burned Wednesday night, was the seat of the country's archbishop. The Roman Catholic religion prevails among white stock (of Spanish race), the mixed blood of Spanish and Indian, and the Indian. War may not be the geography teacher we rashly suppose. Of course people now know where Pyonggang is. They still remember Arnhem and Ortona. But what percentage of the population know where Sarajevo is? For that matter, how many young people under the age of 16 know anything at all about a place called Dunkirk? So do place-names flash across the pages of the news and the minds of men, and soon fade, replaced by other even stranger names, like Kaesong.

No Princely Visit

Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip are taking the long train route from Ottawa to Toronto, in order to visit Kingston and Trenton. They will not therefore be paying Peterborough even a passing visit, which would have been possible had Their Royal Highnesses been routed by their tour guides along the direct rail line between the capital and Toronto, which of course, runs through Peterborough. We regret that Peterborough and its wide district will not have the opportunity of seeing the young royal couple, nor they of seeing Peterborough. However, England is only 24 hours distant now by comfortable planes, so Canada may expect frequent visits from the Duke and his Duchess in the future. Perhaps on the next trip one of their brief holiday hide-aways may be in the Kawarthas! We might grumblingly ask the officials who arranged the Royal tour what Kingston and Trenton have which Peterborough hasn't, but we already know the answer: penitentiaries and hangars.

We read of a wife who wants separate maintenance because her husband spends all his time bowling. What she wants is alley-money, if we may be permitted to labour a witticism.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

OLDEST BRICK HOUSE: This question, held in abeyance for several weeks, is still a puzzle, although one reader of the column has come forward with information about the first brick residence said to have been built in the city. However, it no longer stands. It was the home of the first Sheriff Hall. It was razed about the time of the first war. It stood well back from the north side of Hunter Street, between Bethune and Aylmer. Many older residents will remember it. I am told by a member of the Hall family that the house was built in 1848 or 1849, that no bricks were being made in Peterborough at the time so they were brought in "from a distance". Mr. James Hall, the first sheriff of that name, was the father of the late E. H. D. Hall and James Albro Hall who himself later became Sheriff. Fred J. A. Hall, son of James Albro, was the third "Sheriff Hall', before the last war, and now lives in retirement on Downie Street.

The James Hall family used to own the whole block bound by Aylmer, Hunter, Bethune and Brock. Sandford Fleming (later Sir Sandford) after whom the engineering building at Queen's University is named, took over much of the property. He married a daughter of James Hall and, incidentally, gave his name to Fleming Place, the cul-de-sac running north off Hunter just west of Aylmer.

A picture of the Hall residence has been lent me, and The Examiner will print it tomorrow on its Feature Page.

FROM AN UNDATED CLIPPING in the Public Library files, I have confirmation of statement made in this column three or four Fridays ago about the oldest existing brick houses. The chronicler states from verbal evidence that the "Globe" hotel on Charlotte St. (later Harper property and for a while after the turn of the century the home of Dr. Malcolm McCulloch) was the oldest brick building. It was built in 1845. The builder was "Old" John Thorn, a former Cavan Blazer. His work, says the chronicler, was known as the "Flemish bond" method of laying bricks. The bricks were crossed at intervals and thus gave the walls great stability.

The same writer states that the house then occupied by Dr. W. D. Scott, 176 Brock Street was the second residence to be built of brick in Peterborough. Incidentally, he also says that brick work was introduced into Peterborough as early as 1838.

The first brick store to be built as a store was William Snyder's on George St., where the Pattenick store, 368 George St. now stands.

Mr. Howard Pammett's researches have brought light to the subject. In one of his articles published in The Examiner he compares 1851 and 1861 census records which show that there was one bricklayer in Peterborough at the beginning of the decade, and 23 at the end. Brick houses increased from 16 to 124 during the period. It is from Mr. Pammett's history that I have secured the date of the building of the Globe Hotel, 1845, which he says is approximate.

Among the older existing brick buildings in Peterborough is The Examiner's present home. It was rebuilt after a fire in 1858 which destroyed the original brick structure built by Thomas Chambers in 1847. In those years it was the Commercial Hotel.

DEAR ALPHA: The recent movie starring tenor Mario Lanza prompts me to inquire if Enrico Caruso ever had an engagement in Peterborough. Also whether any of his contemporaries appeared in concerts here at the old opera house.

ANSWER: I have diligently searched records and enquired of other people. As far as I can find, the great Italian tenor Caruso (1873-1921) never sang in Peterborough. Undoubtedly some of his contemporaries did; I have not gone into the matter. It is a pity that no records seem to exist of the concerts and stage plays given at the old Bradburn Opera House and the later Grand Opera House.

DEAR ALPHA: You are sticking your neck out in regard to Jackson Park quarry. The main quarry was right in the park and belonged to the Dixons, according to Miss Fanny Dixon, Harvey St., and her sister, Mrs. Nelson. When the first Dixon came here in 1819 he obtained the land where Jackson Park is, right through to the present Chemong Road and beyond. The Dixons sold the park to the Nicholls.

ANSWER: I am not sticking my neck out; I always sit discreetly on the side-lines and report what others tell me. I am too fond of my neck to venture it. So there we have it; you say, on very good authority, that the quarry is inside Jackson Park. My correspondent of last week says it was outside. (Where inside the Park would you say it is?) The best way to settle the question would be for Alpha himself to toddle over to the park and see. But that would be more than sticking the neck out. Anyway, I am too old for exercise like that; my walking days are over.

By the way, just to give your neck a clip, I recall that Howard Pammett has remarked in his history that the quarry is at the western end of Jackson Park, that it was the Yates quarry, and later sold to William Hartley—really, I think I will have to make a safari out to the place, equip myself like Sherlock Holmes, and spy out what's what. . . . The quarry is hard to run to quarry!

SIR: A short time ago I saw a registered Palomino stallion, the most beautiful animal I ever beheld. Where, when and how did this breed originate? One never heard of them until recently.

ANSWER: Palominos have been in the States for centuries; explorers of Columbus' time brought the breed with them from Spain. But they survived without much notice until the Palominos Societies of Colorado and Texas founded studbooks for them. This beautiful horse was brought to Spain from Greece, and came to Greece from the Barbary States through Saracen Arabian invaders, who used them. It is a very ancient breed, and the fact that its color has been maintained so dominantly through centuries of indifferent breeding shows that it must be a foundation breed. It is like plated gold, "A gorgeous iridescent colour like golden shot silk, with white or silver mane and tail, and white blaze and stockings", so the horse expert Vezey-Fitzgerald describes the Palomino in his recent "Book of the Horse", a copy of which is in the Public Library. This writer says that in Algeria and Morocco where the Palomino is both prized and rare, no Christians are allowed to possess one; nor can Palominos be sold or exported. The name is Spanish; in Arabia and other parts of Africa it goes by other names.

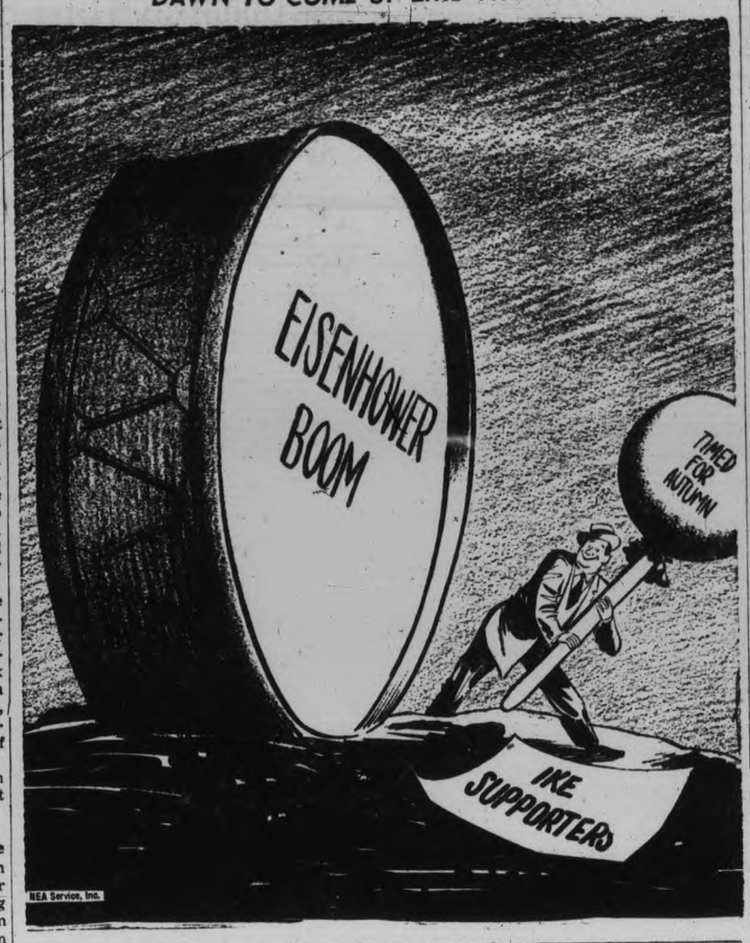
FOR THE RECORD: The fountain in Victoria Park has not yet been re-erected, although this was to have been done in the Spring. The base work is ready, the underground piping is seemingly laid, and the sculptured design of the boy fishing is done. The fountain is becoming a dodo. What's up, what's up, Messrs. Councillors and Parks Committee?

DAWN TO COME UP LIKE THUNDER?



Duller Scarlet

(SASKATOON STAR-PHOENIX)

WE note that an altercation has arisen between the R.C.M.P. and the town of Portage la Prairie as to the efficiency with which the federal force (if it can still be called that) enforces the municipal laws. This underlines what we feel to be one of the most regrettable mistakes ever made in Canada—the saddling of the federal police with the picayune and inconclusive task of enforcing local and provincial law. No longer do the Mounties always get their man for the simple reason that most of us break a couple of laws every day and nobody ever sees us do it, or what is worse, those who do see us could not care less.

So long as the R.C.M.P. carried the relatively simple rules of the criminal code into the federal territories; so long as they enforced the revenue acts and lent their invaluable help to the apprehension of major criminals; so long as they acted as counter-espionage agents in time of war or crisis they were respected by every citizen and feared by every criminal in the country. Now that they must stop small boys writing lewd remarks on Portage school walls, arrest drunken pedestrians and give parking tickets they have become just another bunch of cops in the public mind.

This is an unhappy development for the force is probably better at its proper job than it ever has been before. It no more deserves to be taken for granted than it ever did. But simply by becoming involved in the tawdry little jobs contrived by busy little legislators the glory of the scarlet tunic has lost much of its dignity and not a little of its appeal.

If our various governments are determined to hire a federal police force to do most of their police work would it not be a sensible plan to have two federal forces—one to deal with important matters on behalf of the federal authority and the other to be rented out to the provinces and municipalities?

Time To Be Serious

(Sudbury Star)

National director of the United Steelworkers of America, C. H. Millard said that striking Hollinger miners may be taken from Timmins to other steel and mining centres where the union has contracts. The next day, one of Mr. Millard's own men, union publicity director Eamon Park, discounted the statement and said it was only made "in passing."

When a single industry town is undergoing a crippling strike, statements should not be made "in passing," particularly by the head of the union concerned and most particularly in the nature of the Millard statement.

The effect of such a strike is that workers leave the community, anyway, without an organized movement on the part of the union. This shrinks the town's population. Even worse, it destroys any incentive business or industry may have had to invest in the town and expand it.

The attitude of the mine at Timmins has been one of steadfast refusal to grant the check-off of union dues from the payroll. If the men want the check-off—and apparently they do—there can be no just reason for the company not granting it.

Yet, it was the union that called the strike and it is the union that therefore must bear a large share of the responsibility for it.

If Mr. Millard had meant what he said about withdrawing men from the community, that would be one thing. His aide, however, leaves the impression that Mr. Millard did not mean it. The statement therefore becomes irresponsible.

The striking miners at Timmins have received sympathetic union support across the Dominion. If Mr. Millard wants to hold that sympathy, he would be wise to think before he talks and keep irresponsible statements off the record.

Small Farms Less Profitable

(Sarnia Observer)

Of all branches of agriculture the system of the small holdings is the last economic. Except, under specially favourable conditions, it simply does not pay.

For this there are many reasons, the first and most important of which is the slenderness of the margin between the cost of production and the prices commanded by the product.

To a greater or less extent most of those engaged in the industry of agriculture are penalized by the same handicap. But it bears with particular severity on the owner or occupier of from 20 to 50 acres in extent. He and the larger farmer both get the same prices for what they produce; but the cost of production must in his case be considerably greater.

Letter To The Editor

REPLY TO MR. JONES

Sir:

In reply to a letter signed by Mr. Roy Jones, BA, I leave it to the public to read both letters and judge who is sarcastic.

In my letter is was not necessary to refer to municipal statutes. Mayor Swanston's years in the council and as mayor surely he knows all about municipal procedure. So why did he tell me when money was set aside to buy parking space?

I simply stated facts as I found them.

I also wish to inform the honourable gentlemen I do not need to go to our City Solicitor for information on any subject I see fit to bring to the attention of the ratepayers.

My letter does not reflect on any alderman as Mr. Jones seems to think. He wants to read my letter again and he is the ill-informed gentleman in this case.

Nose Returned

(Brantford Expositor)

In Hamilton, a nose was found in the wreckage of a car an hour after the accident. It was taken to the hospital and stitched back on the owner. Although it will be about a week before doctors know whether the graft will be successful or not, the thoughtfulness of the person who found it is to be commended. His action may save the accident victim from serious disfigurement. It might also be said that The Canadian Press, which carried the story, has a nose for news.

ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE

THEY HELP EACH OTHER — The girl on the left with her cheek ripped by United Nation's shrapnel is 15-year-old Chung Nok-hyon. She is one of 8,000 Korean children in 48 improvised "orphanages" in Seoul Province. There are 24,000 others still at large in this single province. This orphanage in Seoul itself houses 80 of the orphans and is run by Nok-hyon's 18-year-old brother, Chung Kyong-nyang, seated at right. The little boy between them had his face pockmarked by shrapnel; his hands are swollen and ripped. The four-year-old on Kyong-nyang's knee is the "supervisor's" special charge. The children probably are permanently disfigured. United Nations allowance is $1.50 a month for each child.

Maimed By Korean War Orphans Terrible Sight

By BILL BOSS

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 10. (CP)—There was no mirror in the the house. War, which had removed the cheek of Chung Nok-hyon, at least spared her reminders of her mutilation. In the house's books—kept by her brother—she was an "orphan," but there was reason to believe that their parents were alive.

There were 80 like them in the place, a home lent by a wealthy retired art dealer for the purpose, children from two to 15 years of age whom war had either separated from their parents—perhaps for all time—or had rendered orphans.

There are 1,500 like them in seven improvised "orphanages" in Seoul.

There are 8,000 others in 48 other "orphanges" improvised throughout Seoul province.

There are 24,000 others still at large throughout the province. They will be gathered in when the necessary staffs and buildings can be found.

Have Many More

No one knows how many others like them are in the rest of South Korea.

The dark brown hair of the 15-year-old Chunk Nok-hyon, shaved for first aid a short while ago, is growing out in an untidy crop. Her eyes are brown and soft. The teeth of her right jaw are always visible—right back to the rear molars.

United Nations shrapnel ripped away the cheek. For lack of plastic surgery her mouth extends back along the side right to the cleft between the jaws.

No available Korean surgeon has the skill to help her.

Her brother, Chung Kyong-nyang, has others like his sister in his care.

There's one boy with a face pock-marked by shrapnel fragments and lopsided by scar-tissue around the eyes. Another with maimed arms, another blinded and beyond the reach of surgery.

Keep Balance

But there is no mirror and, spared reminders of their disfigurement, playing with other children now accustomed to their looks, they've kept their adolescent balance.

It takes only $3 monthly to take "marvellous care" of the children, say UN relief officers, but UN's allowance is only $1.50 a month.

The money will buy the kids three bowls of rice a day with "kimchi," a pickled salad that is the Korean national dish and essential as a vitamin-producer, and an extra bowl of gruel from powdered milk, dextrose and barley balls at midday.

So far some of the money has been made up by contributions from the troops.

Both In Wrong, Court Dismisses Charge

Both drivers "were pretty much in the wrong," said Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court Thursday dismissing a charge of failing to signal before making a left turn.

He said Raymond Bale, Toronto, was "in a hurry to pass," and Joseph Young, Ennismore township, the accused, was making a left turn in the face on an oncoming car.

Bale said as he drove north on George St., about 12.20 a.m. on July 1, he flicked his headlights to signal to Young driving a truck ahead that he wanted to pass.

The cars were approaching McDonnel St. Bale said Young kept to the extreme east side of the street "as if he got the signal."

Bale started to pass and Young 'swung sharply" in front of him. Bale said he saw no signal from Young. The car and truck collided. No one was hurt. Bale had one passenger in his car and Young had two passengers.

Bale said that although there was a car approaching about 200 feet north, he could have passed in safety because the deserted street was wide.

Driver of the oncoming car was Peter Nicholson, 748 Water St., who said he saw the Young truck swing sharply to make the turn.

Young testified "I stuck my hand straight out," before making the turn. He said he pulled over toward the centre of the street gradually preparing to make the turn. He saw the Bale car in rear view mirror directly behind him. He added that he had time enough to cross in front of the southbound car.

"I'm going to leave the matter to the civil court and dismiss the charge," said Magistrate Gee.

Windsor Arranging For Elizabeth's Visit

WINDSOR, Aug. 10—(CP)—Mayor Arthur J. Reaume said he has appointed R. W. Keeley to the chairmanship of a civic committee which will arrange a "typical Windsor reception" for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

It has been announced the royal couple will arrive in Windsor Oct. 7 at 11.30 p.m. by rail. They will leave the city Monday, Oct. 8, at 1.30 p.m., by air.

Mayor Reaume said the reception to be planned will take an international flavor. He said a liaison officer will be appointed to act between the Windsor officials and "our American friends," so that the welcome and reception may have an international flavor.

No Charges Laid Against Fisherman

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Aug. 10 (CP)—Resources Minister J. H. Brocklebank said Thursday that fish and equipment seized from John Invanchuk, a Reindeer Lake fisherman, have been returned and that no charge will be laid.

Earlier, officials of Mr. Brocklebank's department had said Ivanchuk would be tried on a charge of illegally selling fish outside the Saskatchewan government's fish marketing service.

(The Canadian Press reported erroneously from Prince Albert Tuesday that Ivanchuk had been charged with illegally selling fish.)

The minister's prepared statement, issued through the Provincial Bureau of Publications, said provincial law provides that when a majority of fishermen on any lake decide to sell through a certain agency or by a certain method, all fish taken from the lake must go through that channel.

Some Sport Views

By DON GRANT

Followed by only a few fans, the UE soccer team, Peterborough's fourth sporting team currently leading its league, has a good chance to win the Ontario championship, including the right to enter the Dominion Cup finals.

In case you haven't been following the soccer news, the UE team has yet to be defeated, the only Peterborough sporting group that hasn't been this year. In the 11 Eastern Ontario league games against Kingston's Vimy and Uniteds, Belleville, Brockville, Trenton and Peterborough's O'Hallorans the record has been perfect. Its exhibition appearances with Oshawa, Hamilton and Batawa have all been wins.

✦ ✦ ✦

In fact the team, against the Eastern Ontario teams, is too powerful both offensively and defensively. The UE forwards have tucked the ball into the netting no less than 57 times, while the opposition has managed to squeeze eight into the UE twine.

✦ ✦ ✦

Possibly one of the best reasons why the UE team is now atop the league is the goalie, Art Jones, formerly of Peterborough and now of Trenton. The only Canadian-born player on the team, Jones has chalked up seven shutouts so far this season. The seventh was against Batawa on Wednesday, 3-0.

Captain Eric Cotton is full of praise for Jones' work.

"He's one of the best goalies in Ontario in my opinion and a lot of other fellows' too."

✦ ✦ ✦

But a team can't win if the forwards don't score; the UE has been winning and the forwards scoring.

Bob Strong is currently leading the team's scoring with 22 out of the 57 goals. As an amateur he played with professional teams, Bradford City and Huddersfield Town, in the Old Country. Second in line is a former Scottish played, Andy Smith, now of Cobourg, with 18 goals.

✦ ✦ ✦

Other former Old Country players are George Smith, Fred Munday (both travel from Cobourg with Andy Smith and Art Jones for the games), Bill Allen, Bill Holroyd, Jim Craig, Eric Cotton, Jock Robertson, Art Ward, Jack Holt and Glen Davies. George Kirkley ,the trainer, has been kept busy.

A former Danish soccer player, Ole Jenson, who once played for Denmark in the Olympic Games, has been out for one game.

The UE team is strictly operating as an amateur. Similar to other sporting groups in the city such as the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, the soccer team players for each trip have paid part of the expenses.

"We also play for the fun of it," said several of the players.

✦ ✦ ✦

On Saturday the UE were scheduled to open the Ontario play of the Dominion Cup with either the Maple Leafs or CGE, both of Toronto. These teams ended in a tie and another game will be played. So the Peterborough team will have to wait a week before they can begin the quarter-finals.

Even though some soccer teams in Ontario have players brought in from the Old Country especially for soccer, Captain Cotton feels that "we have a good chance of winning."

Ten teams still remain in the Ontario playdowns, including Peterborough's UE. Brantford will be playing off with Hamilton Westinghouse (1950 Dominion Cup finalist), Windsor with either Earlscourt or the Hungarians, and Ulster United with the Canadians.

The first 100 women attending the junior OLA Mimico-Peterborough game at Miller Bowl tonight should be well-scented. Each will be presented with a bottle of perfume.

Perhaps, Louie, you should try a flag-pole sitter outside Miller Bowl until the Canadian championship is won.

Believe It Or Not

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10. (AP)—Parker Jerrell's eyes didn't even flutter when he told this one: Playing in a foursome at Gulf Mills Golf Club, he pitched his ball 15 feet from the cup on the 13th hole. His putt stopped just in front of the cup. As he strode forward to tap it in, a butterfly settled on the ball. It raised and lowered its wings just twice. The ball fell into the cup.

Hill Survives First Round, One Up On Lamb

Alf Hill, professional at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, defeated Bob Lamb, Summit, one up in the match play, first round, of the Miller Trophy play Thursday at Islington.

In the qualifying round Hill had a 35 and a 38 for a par 73 but was far off the pace with Lloyd Tucker, of Kitchener, blasting out a hot 65, eight under par. Hamilton's Dick Borthwick was second in that round with a 67 while Clair Chinery, of Hamilton Chedoke, and Rodolphe Huot, of Royal Quebec, each had a 68.

Oshawa's Hal Butler worked a 69 and Cobourg's Lionel Ross with a 34 and 39 for a par 73. Butler later defeated Ross in the match play, first round, one up.

Kilgore Second With 582 Total

With a score of 582 C. S. Kilgore of Peterborough was second to Dr. J. G. Kirk, Listowel, in the aggregate totals of the three series matches, sponsored by the Toronto District Revolver Association. Kirk had a total for the three matches of 586.

On Wednesday Kilgore was in a three-way tie for first place in the masters and experts match with a score of 197 out of a possible 200. He was tied with Dr. Kirk and A. B. Barney, Toronto.

At the end of the second series of matches Kilgore was in a four-way tie in the runner-up spot with 197, one point behind the winner, J. B. Robertson, Chilliwack, B.C.

T. Woods Works Wonders Wins, Loses For Orphans

The semi-finals of the city softball league promises to be the hottest in years. Thursday night at the bowl Revoys and the Orphans opened the best-of-five series, Revoys taking the first 14-6 as Lefty Doris opposed Terry Woods, but Harold Dormer's hard-hitting nine came back to take the nightcap 16-9. Woods again worked the mound chore and held Ken Guilfoyle's hustlers scoreless for six innings. He outlasted Haddy Eakins and Lefty Doris in the thrilling triumph.

Thus, the second and third place winners of the regular schedule are where they started and resume hostilities Tuesday at 7 p.m. in what is now reduced to a best-of-three set. Two games will be played before what may set a season's record crowd.

Revoys took an early lead in the second inning of the curtain-raiser scoring a pair and added two in the fifth as Doris held Orfs well in a fine display. The Dormer lads rallied strongly in the sixth however, to pump three tallies across as Sullivan homered with Jaquith aboard and Scriver, Lewis and Turner rapped safely, the latter's drive scoring Scriver. Revoys bounced back in their half and hits by Wyatt, Taylor, Spencer and Legrow, coupled with walks to Crowe, Giardino and Doris netted six more for the Guilfoyle help to give a safe lead, though it was hard fought to the finish.

Jack Mackness hit a long homer over the left-field fence for Revoys in the ninth to drive in two of his team's four in that frame while Doris and Spencer each tripled; Thomson, Taylor and Legrow had doubles for Revoys; Turner and Scriver for Orphans. Bruce Taylor, who played a fine game at short, actually led his mates at bat with three for five and drove in a pair, with Spencer, Legrow, Crowe, Mackness and Doris each hitting safely twice. McGrath had three for four for Orfs with Scriver and Lewis each a pair. The latter shone afield with five nifty putouts as well.

Second Game

Orphans showed a good reversal of form in the nightcap as they pounded the offerings of Eakins freely in the first five for 10 runs, climaxed by Red Sullivan's long homer with McGrath and Jaquith aboard in the fifth. They continued the assault on Doris in the sixth scoring four to pile up a big lead. Meanwhile Woods hurled in masterful style aided by fine support.

The strong motor boys rallied in the seventh to put five across with a few lineup changes, and followed with gusto in the final two frames to score four more as the tired Woods showed signs of weakening; but he weathered the storm, to square the series.

Hitting honors in the nightcap went to Sullivan and Bill Lewis with three runs each driven in for Orphans and Jerry McGrath and Woods with three safeties apiece. Giardino pumped three across for Revoys, Mackness and Spencer two apiece. Scriver, Legrow and Mackness all fielded well. There were plenty of thrills as all the boys gave their best.

Win From Maitlands 14-10 Juniors Still In Front

A vastly improved Toronto Maitlands lacrosse team nearly upset the league-leading junior Petes in Toronto Thursday night but Lou Vitarelli's boys kept an early lead to win 14-10. This win, their 10th in 13 starts, gave them a slim lead over the Mimico juniors who are now pounding at their heels for the league-leadership. A win for Mimico in Miller bowl tonight would practically tie the teams.

The young Petes started off like a house on fire but were cooled in the second, warmed up in the third and nearly died in the fourth. Meanwhile the Maitlands took advantage of Peterborough's weak moments, at their best in the second and fourth.

In their spurts the whole Petes team shone but the quick breaks of Toronto's Luttrel through the defence to Bill Nicholls in goal during the weak periods made the back-checking look shaky. Bond, Toronto Maitlands, helped Luttrel along the scoring ways besides notching a hat-trick.

Up front for the Petes Jim Heffernan, Jerry Reilly, Brian and Gary Robinson, Lou Nickel and Bev Groves all helped fill the Maitlands net with rubber. On the defence the Toronto Maitlands had trouble with the Petes' Doug Powell and Carl Brioux.

Up from the juvenile league, Art Galley, fleet PCVS football player, was impressive for his work on the forward line. He assisted on Doug Powell's goal early in the first period.

The Maitlands return to Miller Bowl Saturday night for the return match.

18 Involved In Ontario Race-Fixing

HAMILTON, Aug. 10 (CP). — The number of persons caught in the web of Ontario's sordid racing scandal rose Thursday to 18.

The Ontario Racing Commission continued its investigation of suspected race-fixing and the hearing brought these quick-breaking developments:

1. Jockeys George Thompson and Gordon Cox, both of Hamilton and Bobby Merchant of Montreal were ruled off Ontario tracks for life.

2. G. W. Shafrard, owner and trainer, was suspended indefinitely pending further investigation of his actions.

3. Jockey Thompson was arrested for perjury.

4. Jockeys Dick Buisson, Gil Robillard, Joe Stanton, Eric Barber, Alfred Nash and apprentice rider John Kowalick were each fined $100 for failing to report bribe offers promptly.

Thompson was the second jockey arrested as a result of the probe which has bared major betting coups.

Wednesday jockey Robert Wankmueller of Newark, NJ, was arrested on a charge of defrauding the public. One of three other jockeys barred from racing in Ontario for life, Wankmueller was described by police as the payoff man in attempts to bribe jockeys at race tracks in Toronto and Fort Erie.

Other jockeys previously given lifetime suspensions are Bobby Keans of Toronto and Phil Marchese of Pawtucket, RI.

Out At The Kawartha

Business Girls: Thirty - five girls teed off in the BG section Thursday evening and Barbara Siddall was winner of the low score on the odd holes; she was credited with a point and the draw for the spoon was between Florence Scott and Sybil Hood. Florence won the spoon and Sybil was given a point. The most honest golfer's prize was won by Marion Oddie and she received a spoon also. The BG club championship competition has been posted and the first round must be played off by next Thursday, Aug. 16.

Ladies' Section: In the 9-hole players' group Mrs. J. Gatfield won competition for low net and was given a point. Mrs. W. Beggs won the cup and saucer and Mrs. K. McCannan won a ball for the day's competition. Mrs. H. Woodcox won a point for even holes competition in the 18-hole players' section. Mrs. J. Condon was given a point for the low net score. Mrs. J. Condon won the cup and saucer and Mrs. J. Cranfield won a ball on the even holes competition.

Tennis: John Fletcher reports in the tennis section that entries for club championship plays are open until Tuesday next, Aug. 14. They are restricted to club members only. The entry sheet is posted on the tennis court bulletin board and games will be played over the next three weeks. There will be the usual five events: men's singles, ladies' singles, men's doubles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles. The last two scheduled matches in the league will be played this weekend. On Saturday, the club will go to Port Hope and on Sunday Cobourg will be at the Kawartha. Playoffs will start about a week hence.

4 Pros Sharing Tourney Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP). — Put $12,500 up for grabs and the inevitable happens—a Klondike of golf, wild mayhem against par.

This is the scene at Tam O'Shanter, where top-graded pros are gambling shots for the sake of a low score to get rich quick.

They are in a headlong dash for the winner's $12,500 bonanza in George S. May's self-styled world championship, and $5,000 more if they crack the course record of 63.

As the gold rush enters today's second round, marvelous Ben Hogan is in an ideal spot. His steady 35-33—68 against the 36-36—72 standard Thursday left him one stroke off the pace. Seven others were grouped in the same bracket.

At 67 were lean Ray Gafford of Dallas, able Ted Kroll of New Hartford, NY, veteran Al Brosch, Garden City, NY, and Jimmy Demaret.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard fired a 36-35—71.

Bowmanville Roses Leading League

PORT HOPE, Aug. 10—A six-hit pitching effort by Cee Hall gave Bowmanville's Brookdale Roses first place in the Lakeshore Baseball League intermediate series as they downed the Port Hope Ontarios here, 10-7. The win broke a first-place tie between Bowmanville and idle Lindsay.

Batting star for Bowmanville was Jack Cox who hit a three-run homer and two singles in four trips to the plate.

Diminutive Len Ashby accounted for six of Port Hope's seven runs as his triple and double drove in four counters and he himself scored twice.

Greyhound Racing Losing Hold In UK

LONDON, Aug. 10 (CP). — Greyhound racing is losing its hold on the British betting public.

The churches committee on gambling said today that the total amount bet at dog tracks in 1950 —$197,143,046—was "another substantial fall for the fourth successive year since the peak year of 1946."

The committee said the 10-percent tax on track wagering had tended to divert money to the bookmaker, especially the off-the-course bookmaker who could offer better odds because he had no tax to pay.

Visking Edge Combines 11-9

OMEMEE, Aug. 10—(ENS)—Visking advanced into third place in the Lindsay Softball League, defeating Omemee Combines 11-9 in Omemee Thursday night.

The teams finished the schedule in the following order: Greenhurst Pavilion, Silverwood, Visking, Omemee Combines, Carruthers' Drugs.

Lucus, on the mound for Visking, started the give-away game with the O's cashing in for five runs. Kingsboro relieved him in the eighth inning and Williams pitched the ninth. Johnson started for the O's, and after pitching a no-run game for four innings was replaced by Eggleton.

Neither team seemed interested in a victory and in the second half of the eighth the umpire threatened to call the game if the teams didn't settle down and play ball. It was 9-all at the end of the eighth. Visking scored two runs in the ninth and Omemee failed to score in their last batting.

Abercrombie with four hits and Lucas with three led the Visking batters. Parker and O. Crawford with three each were the sluggers for the Combines.

Lineups:

Omemee—Pogue lf, Parker 3b, Johnson p, O. Crawford ss, Eggleton 1b, Hickson c, Scott 2b, Shaughnessy rf, Weir cf, H. Fox replaced Shaughnessy in the 4th.

Visking—Boyd 2b, Lucas p, Kingsboro 3b, Abercrombie 1b, Bate c, McCabe rf, Lytle cf, Kenton ss, McLiesh cf.

Referee, Arnald McQuade.

Week's Cattle Prices Steadier

TORONTO, Aug. 10 — (CP) — Better-grade cattle prices were steady this week at the Ontario stockyard market. Plainer classes were 50 cents to $1 lower. Calves, sheep, lambs and hogs were unchanged.

Cattle receipts were 56,000 head, with 500 carried from last week. Included were 1,800 Western cattle, mostly stockers.

Choice weighty steers sold at $34-34.50; tops were $35.50. Common weighty steers sold downward to $27. Good to choice fed yearlings traded from $34-36; medium were down to $30. Common to medium light steers were $26-32. Good heifers brought $32-32.50.

Medium to good cows were $25-26, with a few at $26.50. Canners and cutters were $15-18. Good bulls traded from $28.50-29.25, while common light bulls sold from $23-27.

Light stock calves brought $34-36, while heavier stockers sold from $28-34. An estimated 650 remained unsold at the close.

Calves received totalled 1,500. Choice vealers brought $34-35 with common to mediums bringing $26-33. Grass calves sold at $18-23.

Hog receipts totalled 1,400. Hogs were $35.50 for Grade A, with sows at $28 dressed. Eastern shipments were small.

Sheep and lambs totalled 900. Good ewes and wethers were $36, with bucks at $35. Cull lambs sold down to $30. Good light sheep sold from $18-22, with common downward to $11.

Tourists, Citizens Attend Hill Funeral

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP)—William (Red) Hill, Jr., 38-year-old stunt man who plunged to his death over the Canadian Horseshoe Falls last Sunday in a flimsy contraption made of inflated rubber tubes, was buried Thursday.

Hundreds of tourists and residents in this honeymoon city joined sorrowing members of his family at funeral services in Christ Church.

Among the pall-bearers were the men who helped him prepare for his fatal plunge over the falls. He was buried in a little cemetery a few miles from the Niagara River.

Two Senators Urge Seaway Added To Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) —Senators George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.) and Blair Moody (Dem., Mich.) urged Thursday that authorization of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project be added to the US $8,500,000,000 foreign aid bill.

Moody, in a statement submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations Committees, said the "few arguments" against the seaway "fade into insignificance and unreality in light of present circumstances."

Moody also said in his statement:

"The bone of our defence structure is steel and the muscle is power. In both of these categories we are facing critical shortages."

Heads Teachers

CHARLOTTETOWN, Aug. 10—(CP)—Thomas Parker of Halifax Thursday was elected president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation at the closing session of the annual conference. He succeeds E. T. Wiggins of Didsbury, Alta. A three-way vote was taken for the vice-presidency as the names of Miss M. R. Conway, Winnipeg, D. C. Chamberlain, Rossland, B.C.; and M. J. Dunsmore, Granby, Que., were proposed. Miss Conway was elected.

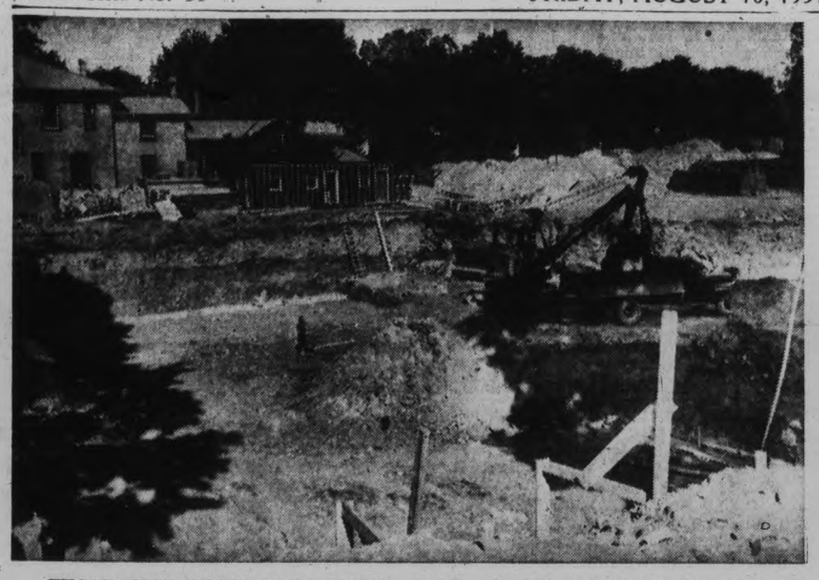
VOL. CIII. No. 33 — FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1951



EXCAVATION WORK on the new elementary separate school—St. Peter's—is proceeding apace. The $575,000 school, the sixth separate school in Peterborough, is expected to be finished in September of 1952. It will contain 12 classrooms, an auditorium seating 800, and a high school size gymnasium. Its accommodation will be 400 pupils; though only 300 are expected to register next year. — (Parks Studio Photo)

Steel Company Purchases Marmora Homes

MARMORA, Aug. 10 (ENS). — As agent for the Bethlehem Steel Company, C. Roger Young, real estate broker, has purchased the Marmora residences of Thomas Bateman and Albert Burridge. H. Olsen, general manager of Marmoraton Mining Company, who will be in charge of the development of the iron mine here, will be moving into Mr. Bateman's residence on Forsyth St. before the end of the month. S. S. Shaak who has been appointed accountant and cashier for the new company will be moving into the Burridge residence with his family at an early date.

Until he can make further arrangements, Mr. Bateman will be occupying his cottage at Crowe Lake while Mr. Burridge will be moving into part of another residence he owns, formerly known as the McInroy residence. It is understood the company is endeavoring to purchase other residences in the district.

$575,000 Separate School To Open In September, 1952

The new St. Peter's elementary separate school will be completed for occupancy September, 1952. Officials of the separate school board also said today that the estimated cost of the school, fully equipped, is $575,000. Actual building on the northwest corner of Brock and Reid Sts., is already well underway.

The new building will include 12 classrooms, a high school size gymnasium and an auditorium with a capacity for 800 people. Student capacity will total 400 for grades 1 to 8. When the school opens in a year's time, 300 students are expected to be registered.

Sixth Separate School

The new school will be the sixth separate school within the city limits, and is expected to ease the crowded condition of the other schools sufficiently, "for the time being," J. G. McCarney, separate school board chairman said this morning.

The plans for the school were drawn by J. H. Haffa, Toronto architect, and the building is being done by the George Hardy Construction Co., Toronto.

Sure He Stopped Driver Fined $5

"I'm positive I stopped," said William J. Bush in police court Thursday, but he was found guilty of failing to stop for a sign and was fined $5 and $8 costs.

He was charged as a result of an accident at Reid and King Sts. in the afternoon of July 14.

Truck driver Melvin Killian, 603 Donegal St., testified that he was driving north on Reid St. about 15 miles an hour with a 15-ton load on when he approached King St.

He saw the Bush car opposite the stop sign approaching the intersection at about 20 miles an hour. He decided the car wouldn't be able to stop, slammed on his brakes and hit the Bush car on the side. No damage was done to his truck but about $80 damage was done to the car.

He quoted Bush as saying, "I guess it's my fault."

Bush said after the accident he returned to his car and found it in low gear.

"I'm positive I stopped," he said. "I don't see how I could have been in low gear and not have stopped."

Didn't Look, Signal Farmer Fined $10

Admitting that he didn't look behind or signal before he pulled out from the curb on Hunter St. July 23, a 63-year-old Otonabee farmer, Walter Pugh, RR 7, Peterborough, was fined $10 and costs in court Thursday for failing to make a signal.

As he turned out his car collided with a car being driven east on Hunter St. by Clarence Juby, RR 1, Lakefield. Juby said Pugh didn't make any signal.

Pugh said he was a man who "went all around the block to avoid making a left turn against the lights."

"I didn't look what was coming behind. I just looked in front because there were some men working on the corner (at Aylmer St.)"

"This is my second accident in 20 years of driving," he said.

Cussed Out Waiters, Fine Railroad Worker

Pleading guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance in a downtown restaurant Wednesday night, George Thompson of a CNR work gang was fined $10 and costs in police court Thursday.

"In the presence of an officer," said Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC., "he used very vile language about Chinese in general, the waiters in particular."

Highway 28 Levelling Third Done

Preliminary Survey Being Made North of Rossmount

Work on the six-mile stretch of highway from Port Hope north to Rossmount is about 30 percent completed.

The Department of Highways has outlined a program of levelling off the tops of knolls and filling in the bottoms of dips in order that car drivers will be able to see better traffic on the highway. Some of the knolls and dips on the highway are quite sharp and drivers have found that they often meet oncoming cars at the tops of knolls without any warning.

The whole six-mile stretch is being resurfaced and shoulders will be widened and trimmed. The job, being done by contractors, is expected to be completed by the middle of September. However, work on the shoulders will continue after that.

Road Gets Hot Top

What is referred to as a "hot mix top" is being put down on the concrete road that was laid in 1929.

At present, drivers are being held up at three spots in the Port Hope-Rossmount part of the highway. There is room for only single traffic.

The Welcome-Dale cut-off north of Port Hope between Highway 2 and Highway 28 is also being repaired extensively under the same contract. Work on it will be completed about the same time.

Preliminary surveys have been made for work on Highway 28 north of Rossmount to Peterborough. If the Department of Highways decides to adopt the surveys as plans for future work, several of the sharp curves are expected to be cut out.

Dredge Parts Of Ganaraska

PORT HOPE, Aug. 10 — (ENS) —The Port Hope town council is considering dredging parts of the Ganaraska river within the town. Councillor James Sinnot put a tentative plan for dredging before the council at its last meeting. If the dredging is done, it is expected the danger of flooding in the spring will be reduced.

Former City Furrier Dies In Quebec City

Formerly a furrier in Peterborough, J. Wilbert Irvine, of Kenmore, NY, was buried Tuesday in Kenmore. More than 30 years ago, he moved from Peterborough with his wife, formerly Gladys Mulligan. Mr. Irvine died a week ago while on vacation in Quebec City.

He was a veteran of World War I, and an active worker in the YMCA here. After returning from the war, he worked at Barrie's as a furrier until he left here for Regina.

Later the family moved to Kenmore. Mr. Irvine is survived by his widow, and four sons, Walter of Washington, DC; William, John and Richard of Kenmore.

POLICE HAVE RECOVERED all but two of the guns in the valuable collection stolen from Walter Jacobs' gunshop in Port Hope early Wednesday morning. Yesterday 20 of the guns, including a priceless percussion pistol once owned by Prince Albert, Consort to Queen Victoria, were recovered in a swamp north of Peterborough. Calvin Holland, 18, of Port Hope is under arrest and police are seeking a second man. In the above photo Chief C. W. Graham and Constable William Smith are shown in the Port Hope police station with the recovered guns and ammunition. —Murray Smith Photo

Trucker Claims Justification, Court Says 'No'

LINDSAY, Aug. 10—(ENS)—Guilty, but justified, pleaded an Omemee trucker Thursday to a charge of assault.

Guilty, and not justified, the court replied in effect. The difference, by Magistrate E. A. Gee's reckoning, was 14 days.

The trucker, Lester Carruthers, 31, was charged with assaulting his wife, who told a sad story of her husband feeding beer to their four-year-old son.

Gave Child Beer

Telling the magistrate her husband gave the child enough beer to "make him silly," Mrs. Carruthers said the fight started when she called her husband a bad name. "Then he hit me in the eye and twisted my arm until it was bruised and sore.

"This is the fourth time he has attacked me," she said. "It happens every six months."

Carruthers wanted to know if she had ever given beer to the child. His wife said no, but after being reminded by her husband that she was on oath, "Well, yes, I guess so."

"Do you want your husband to go to jail for a while?" asked Magistrate Gee. "We will give him 14 days to cool off."

"Now see what you have done!" shouted the husband. "When the finance company men come for the truck, tell them to take it."

Court Dismisses Charge Laid Late

A charge of careless driving against Noel Eason, 454 Mark St., was dismissed in police court Thursday because the wrong date was on the charge and it was too late to change it.

The charge read that the offence took place July 29 and the charge was laid July 9. The date of the offence should have been June 29.

Courts have ruled in the past that changing the date on a charge is the same as laying a new charge. But under the Highway Traffic Act charges must be laid by police officers within 10 days of the offence.

"That would be fatal to this charge," said defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson. Magistrate E. A. Gee agreed and dismissed the charge.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving Day will be proclaimed shortly for Oct. 8, it was learned Thursday. An order-in-council authorizing the proclamation has been passed by the cabinet at Ottawa.

BREAKS LEG

Getting off a bus Thursday at Armour Rd. and Dufferin St., Mrs. Alice Wilson of Hamilton broke her right leg at the ankle. She was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where the leg was put in a cast. Mrs. Wilson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Robert Faulkner, Swanston Ave.

CARS COLLIDE

Two cars collided on Water St. near the police station Thursday evening when a car driven by Dorothy Drinkwater, Cannington, pulled out from the curb. Driver of the other car was Roy Scott, 596 Howden Ave. Some damage was done to both vehicles. Constable Grant Gillespie investigated.

CATCHES 20-LB. LUNGE

For the last four years Albert Watkins, Sr., has ignored the surrounding lakes to get his prize fish and trusted his luck to the Otonabee river. Each time he has come up with a lunge 20 pounds or better. This year is no exception. Late Thursday afternoon he caught a 20-pound two ounce lunge just below Campbelltown, 14 miles by river south of the city. He was trolling at the time, in company with his son Dick, when he landed the fish. For 35 minutes Mr. Watkins battled his catch after hooking it on a home-made double spoon. The lunge was 42 inches long and had a girth of 18 inches. At present Mr. Watkins, an inspector at Outboard Marine, is on holidays and is spending plenty of time at his favorite hobby—fishing.

Cleveland Man Killed As Car Strikes Truck

PERTH, Aug. 10 (CP)—Andrew Slocum, of Cleveland, O., was killed Thursday night when the car in which he was a passenger crashed into a parked Ontario Highways Department truck eight miles west of here.

Two others in the car, Edward Kusan and William Ivan, both of Youngstown, O., were injured and were taken to a Perth hospital. Hospital authorities said Kusan's condition is critical.

The three men were en route north on a fishing trip.

Municipal Board Approves Collegiate Debenture Bylaw

Approval of the issuing of debentures totalling $650,000 for the building and furnishing of the new Collegiate on Monaghan Rd. south of McKellar St., was given by the Ontario Municipal Board on Thursday.

All that now remains is the third reading of the two bylaws by the city council for which Mayor Max Swanston has called a meeting on Monday night. The ratepayers last December voted $585,000, but by the time working drawings were prepared and tenders called the total cost had risen and the Board of Education found that an additional $65,000 was required.

An appeal was made to the city council and after considerable discussion and a meeting called for which ratepayers had an opportunity of opposing the increase, the council gave first and second readings to the additional $65,000 bylaw. Prior to the vote in December, first and second readings had been given the $585,000 bylaw.

In arriving at the extra sum of $65,000 the architect, J. B. Parkin, and the lowest tenderer, J. Hubert Eastwood, agreed that a saving of $25,000 could be made in the building. Plans are already going forward and recommendations will be sumbitted to the Accommodation Committee of the Board and also to the Board next week.

The proposed cuts will not in any way curtail the size of the building, accommodation or standard of the building as already designed. It is hoped that the suggested changes will mean the elimination of items, which while possibly the best of their type, are either not necessary or can be substituted for by products and designs almost universally accepted as standard and good practice on buildings of this type.

Confirm Eight Polio Cases In City, District; Additional Case Suspected

Two More Cases Confirmed In Past 24 Hours Include City Woman In Iron Lung Who Gave Birth To Child In Toronto Hospital

Eight cases of poliomyelitis have now been reported in Peterborough and district during the last two weeks. And there is an additional suspect. The most sudden and dramatic case was late Thursday afternoon when Mrs. William Miller, 25, of 207 Stewart St., was rushed to Riverdale Isolation Hospital, Toronto. Mrs. Irene McNeeley, a nurse from St. Joseph's Hospital, administered oxygen for the last 17 miles of the hectic ride. Mrs. Miller made Canadian medical history by giving birth to a baby girl, about a week before her time, while in an iron lung. The six-pound girl died later in the Hospital for Sick Children.

This means that there were two additional polio cases confirmed in the last 24 hours.

Asphodel Girl

Mrs. Miller was taken to St. Joseph's and a two-and-a-half-year-old girl was taken to Civic after being stricken at her home in Asphodel.

The suspect, reported Thursday, is still only a suspect.

Four of the eight confirmed cases are children and so is the suspect. Three of the others are women. The lone man was Alvin Snowden, 25-year-old optical worker, who died early Monday morning while going to the isolation hospital.

One of the difficulties in diagnosing polio is that often the first symptoms are a fever and headache, similar to a dose of the flu.

Quarantine regulations for polio contacts as explained by Dr. J. A. McNeill, acting MOH, state that all family contacts of a polio patient except the wage earner will be quarantined for one week after polio has been diagnosed.

Codrington Lad Dies Of Wound From .22 Rifle

After lying critically injured for nearly three days with a gunshot wound in the neck, 11-year-old Phillip John Mound of Codrington died Thursday in Belleville hospital.

Mound was shot when his nine-year-old cousin, Robert Mound, Monday night accidentally discharged a .22 calibre rifle in an office building on the government pheasant hatchery, Codrington.

The rifle belonged to Ted Mound, father of Robert, and manager of the hatchery.

Bullet Entered Neck

Robert is said to have picked up the rifle from a corner of the room to put it back in the place it usually is kept. Somehow the gun went off and the bullet entered the neck of the older boy. He was taken to Belleville hospital and died Thursday morning.

There will be no inquest.

OPP Constable H. R. Cook of Brighton investigated.

Fly In Bread

KIRKLAND LAKE, Aug. 10 — (CP)—A plane load of bread was flown Thursday to the federal government hospital at Moose Factory, some 250 miles north of here on the southern tip of James Bay. Officials at the hospital, which treats Indians and Eskimos from the remote areas of Ontario's far north, had sent word they were out of bread.

Seymour Cow Sets Milk Record

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10 — (ENS)—William A. Matthews of Seymour township has a Guernsey cow that has just completed a year's production of milk at 9,999 pounds. She was just one pound short of the five-figure company of 10,000 pounds.

During the month of April, she was the fourth largest producer of her breed in the Dominion.

Mr. Matthews has been raising Guernsey cattle since 1930, and was possibly the first farmer in Hastings county to adopt this dairy breed. At present he has about 40 head, but with rather frequent buying and selling the herd total is constantly changing. The Matthews farm of 270 acres is on the 7th line of Seymour, about seven miles north of here.

Mr. Matthews is assisted on the farm by his two sons who help in showing the cattle at the various fairs. The prize of the herd, the cow that was the fourth largest producer, has been shown and won prizes at the Campbellford fair calf club, and won second prize in the Quinte Guernsey Club show in Belleville last year.

Many cash offers have been made for the cow recently, and her owner expects more will be made now that she has won fame as a milk producer, but he says he is going to keep her no matter what offers he receives.

Benny Returns From Tour Through Korea

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10 (AP)—"The morale of our men in Korea is terrific," reports Jack Benny, returned this week from entertaining troops in the front lines.

"They know what they're fighting for," added the comedian.

"Naturally, they want peace. But they want the right kind of peace, and they're willing to continue fighting until they get it."

"The one thing that nearly every one of them asks is: "Do the people back home know there's a war on?" I told them, "You're darned right they do."

In his six-weeks absence from Hollywood, Benny figures he travelled between 25,000 and 30,000 miles with his entertainment troupe. They played before troops and wounded veterans in Hawaii, Japan, Okinawa and throughout Korea.

Tough Trooping

"It was the toughest tour I ever made," said Benny, who made five world-wide journeys to entertain troops in the Second World War. "But also it was the most satisfying."

"The food was good wherever we went. But the living and travelling conditions were tougher than anywhere I had been."

Benny commented that his audiences were higly appreciative of the entertainment.

Yak Yak

I asked Jack what gag got his biggest laugh.

"It was usually a local joke," he replied. "The best one was when I'd tell them I was going to retire and be a movie producer: 'I can see it now—Jack Benny presents Bing Crosby and Bob Hope in "The Road To Taegu."'"

Can Talk Again

TIMMINS, Aug. 10 (CP) — A 40-year-old Cree Indian, Joseph Kataquaput, can talk again after more than six months of silence. Joe knows only one word of English—Hello—but he couldn't even say that because of a tumor on his tongue. Doctors removed the tumor July 31, and now report his condition as "fine." He is expected to leave hospital in a few days.

Germany Asks Exports Cut

BONN, Germany, Aug. 10 (AP) — West Germany indicated Thursday it might pull out of the international Rhur authority unless her export quota is reduced.

Acting Chancellor Franz Bluecher told a press conference the seven-country authority was certain to pass today a resolution calling for retention of the present quota.

Asked whether the Germans would leave the authority in protest, Bluecher said:

"I have this under serious consideration."

Germany wants its coal export quota of 6,200,000 tons a quarter reduced by 1,000,000 tons.

RHYL Entertains Canadian Cadets

RHYL, Wales, Aug. 10 (CP)—The small tourist town of Rhyl Thursday entertained Canada's touring party of air cadets.

The boys, who won the trip for proficiency as members of the Air Cadet League of Canada, were given a civic reception and dinner and escorted on sight-seeing tours.

After a whirl at the town's festival fun fair, some of the Canadians went souvenir hunting; others plunged into the Irish Sea for a swim.

Today the cadets leave for another busy program in Chester, and then by air to White Waltham in Berkshire, where they will give a demonstration of parade-square drill.

Dutch Battalion Gets US Unit Citation

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Aug. 10 (AP) — The volunteer Dutch battalion Thursday was awarded the American Distinguished Unitcita tion.

The citation, highest award given a unit by the United States government, was presented by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, US Eighth Army commander.

The battalion was awarded the citation for action in the Hoengsong-Wonju area Feb. 12 to 15.

The Princess Patricias Canadian Light Infantry, along with the Royal Australian regiment and an American tank battlion, were invested with presidential citations recently for outstanding performance near Kapyong April 24 and 25.

Northern Pioneer

CHAPLEAU, Aug. 10 (CP) — The last member of a hardy pioneer group which settled in this northern railway town when the Canadian Pacific Railway main line was being pushed westward, Richard (Dick) Brownlee, died in hospital here Wednesday after an illness of several months. He was 83.

He came to Chapleau in 1886 and had lived here ever since. He took up barbering in Chapleau and followed this trade for 42 years. He retired in 1928. He was born and educated at North Gower, south of Ottawa.

Mrs. Mary Porter

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Florence Porter, wife of Joseph Porter, Lakefield, took place Wednesday afternoon from Lakefield United church to Ray's cemetery. The pallbearers were: Thomas Campbell, Bert Dawson, Abe Payne, Thomas Church, Judson Hull and Walter Yale.

Flower bearers were: William Fife, Charles Hunter, Harry Sherin Jr., George Tanner, Carman Payne, Jack Leonard, George Walsh, Robert Schwabb. Ushers in the church were Roy Brown and George Spenee.

The service was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Tonge, assisted by the Rev. Kenneth Jull and the Rev. George Kelly, former minister of Lakefield United church. Mrs. Porter died on Sunday.

New York Papers Divided Over Ban

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (CP) — The New York Daily News suggests editorially Thursday that authorities should go on allowing Niagara Falls dare devils "to jump as they please" but The Herald Tribune supports a further crackdown on the stunt artists.

In an editorial entitled "Oh, Let 'Em Jump," the Daily News draws attention to the edict of Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario outlawing future attempts to go over the falls on the Canadian side.

"But let's not get similarly sticky about the U.S. side," the News says. "People who try this and similar stunts are exhibitionists and headline hunters at heart . . . If they want to be fools, why try to protect them from their folly?"

The Herald Tribune, recalling William (Red) Hill's death in last Sunday's attempt to shoot the falls, calls Frost's action "a crackdown on perhaps the most senseless form of gambling ever attempted outside of "Russian Roulette.'"

Rookie Constable Will Stand Trial

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (CP) — Bertrand Bergeron, 23-year-old rookie police constable, was Thursday committed for trial in September on a charge of murder stemming from the fatal shooting of Mrs. Anne Czechowski, 21, last week.

An autopsy report said the young woman died of a bullet wound in the left breast.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Farmers Invited to Blewett Farm Meeting Aug. 16—Prof. N. R. Richards, OAC, Soil Expert to Speak—Interest Increasing in Bawbul Wheat — Junior Farmers to Sell Stencils — Achievement Day for Boys and Girls, Sept. 29.

Professor N. R. Richards, head of the soils department of OAC, will speak at a twilight meeting arranged for Thursday Aug. 16 at the Harry Blewett farm on Chemong Road.

Farmers will have a chance to look over the property and the work that has been done, beginning at 7 p.m. The objectives of the planning will be explained, and the program will include a discussion period and motion pictures.

The Blewett farm has been a soil conservation project since 1946, and planned in the beginning by the soils department of OAC.

"It is generally agreed that soil erosion is a major problem in this area," Mr. Patterson said, "And we are hoping that district farmers will come out to see what has been done. We have had many visitors, and Mr. Blewett has been very co-operative, but there are others who have not yet seen the place.

As a project it was undertaken for their benefit and inspiration, not simply for Mr. Blewitt, and we do hope they will come out to hear Prof. Richards. He is one of the soils experts in this country. And it will be worth any farmer's time to hear him."

Associated with Mr. Paterson is this twilight affair are the agricultural committee of the county council, of which M. H. Johnston is chairman, and the Peterborough Crop Improvement Association, represented by its president, Robert Armstrong.

✦ ✦ ✦

TO SELL STENCILS

Peterborough junior farmers will have a tent of their own at the local exhibition, during the week of Aug. 20-25. They are offering a stencil supply to farmers. The juniors will make durable stencils out of heavy paper, particularly of farmers' names for use on crates, mail boxes and similar purposes.

They hope to get from this service funds to help them in financing the boys and girls club projects which the juniors have been sponsoring in recent years. This is one of their main activities. Their tent will be at the end of machinery row, and will be a meeting place for junior and senior farmers.

SOME DAWBUL WHEAT

Stuart Bowman of the seed grain division of the federal Department of Agriculture reported yesterday that Harry Ketcheson, grain specialist in the Belleville area, had located 100 bushels of the new Bawbul winter wheat. It is understood it cost $3.25 a bus. Mr. Ketcheson plans to sow about 50 acres this season.

"This wheat has been around for some years in small supply since it was developed by OAC," Frank Paterson remarked, "But it is now proving its qualities, and interest in it is quickening rapidly."

"Western Ontario farmers already like it better than Cornell," said Mr. Bowman.

He has had quite a number of enquiries about Dawbul in the district recently, but there is not much of it available. He did not know any farmer in this area who had any of it yet. The Ketcheson quantity was exceptional.

JUNIORS REGISTERING

Mr. Bowman also reported that ten of the members of the boys' wheat club had applied to have their present crop registered. Each sowed only an acre of registered Cornell last year. It was obtained from Robert Armstrong of Cavan. They have had good returns from their wheat experiment. Some yields are at the rate of 40 bus., or thereabouts.

That club project has turned out satisfactorily, and ten of the boys may likely be in registered company when their grain has been tested.

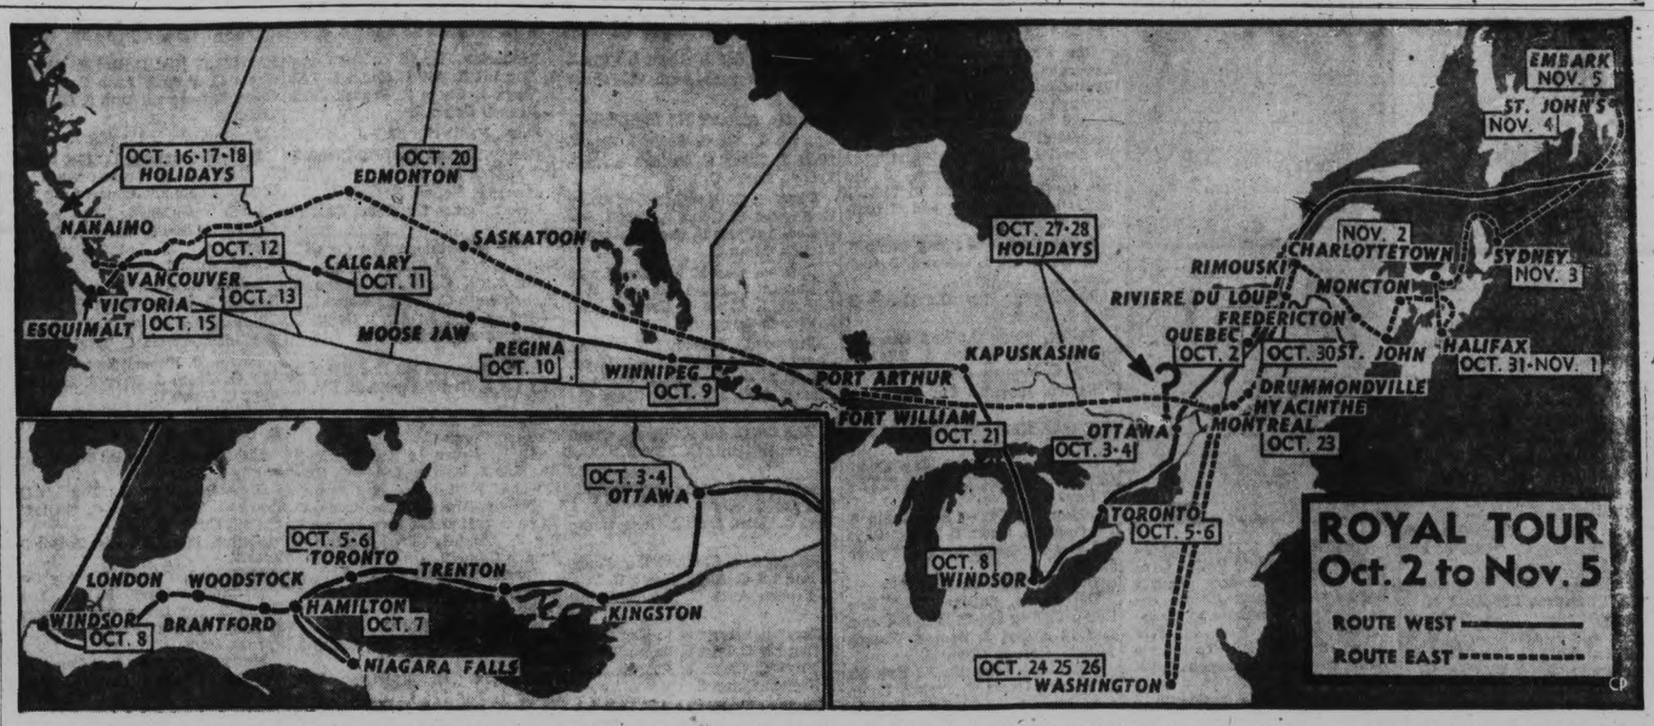
ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Achievenment Day of the local clubs will be Sept. 29, the last Saturday of the month. There will be the usual program of judging livestock, showing calves and pigs, also grain and forestry work.

"We would like to have parents come along with the boys and girls, at least for part of the day," Mr. Paterson said yesterday.

Junior farmers will be present to assist in carrying out the program. It is bound to be an interesting day for the youngsters.

R. E. Bell, assistant to Mr. Paterson, said there were 152 members in the local clubs this year. He hopes there will be no absentees on Achievement Day.



ROYAL ITINERARY—On their Canadian tour, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will arrive at Quebec City aboard the Empress of France and travel to Ottawa and Ontario centres by train. They will fly from Windsor, Ont., to Kapuskasing in northern Ontario, thence to Winnipeg; then by train to Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Vancouver. H.M.C.S. Crusader will take them to Victoria and the royal couple will spend a three-day holiday at an undisclosed spot. They will return to Vancouver on the Crusader and go by train to Edmonton. From Edmonton they will fly to Saskatoon, Fort William and Port Arthur, then to Montreal. They will fly to Washington and back to Montreal before taking another two-day holiday, then go by train to Fredericton, Saint John and Halifax; by air to Charlottetown. They will go on HMCS Ontario to Sydney, N.S., and St. John's, Nfld., then home aboard the Empress of Canada.

Maple Increase 843 Members For Half Year

A gain of 28 per cent in the membership during the first half of this year is reported by Maple Cattle Breeders Association. This increase exceeded any other half-year period since the nucleus of this organization was formed in York county.

It may be remembered that the annual statement of the Association at the end of December showed a net increase of 1,054 members during 1950 for a total of 2,924.

This new half-year report shows a gain of 843 members from Jan. 1 to June 30, or 28 per cent. The Peterborough membership was within one or two of the 380 mark this week.

The information comes through Harry Kennedy of Cavan, Peterborough director on the Maple Association. He quotes treasurer Andrew Snider. "The resultant increase in breedings was 6,841 over the first six months of last year, and the advance in earnings for the same time was $30,000, plus more than $1,500 for semen sold wholesale to new units in farther territory.

Directors decided to sell semen to non-members at the rate of $10, COD per service, providing that in order to register the resulting calf, a further fee of $15 will be charged.

With the results that are available from most sires in the unit, the directors believed that many farmers outside our members' area would wish to breed to these sires."

Advertising at fall fairs is an enterprise of publicity that was also approved.

"All the signs indicate progress," Mr. Kennedy remarked. "We are at present serving breeders as far away as Fort Frances, Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, and New Liskeard, as wholesale units, on a flat rate of so much per cow, and these groups pay their own technicians and administration costs. The last three mentioned began operations in May."

Uses Forage Harvester To Gather Wheat Crop

Clarence Johnston of North Monaghan was one of Ontario's farmers experimenting Wednesday in the use of the forage harvester in taking off his wheat crop.

Farmer's Advocate this week says the farmers of the province who resorted to this method last year could be counted on the fingers of both hands. "But, as a 1951 model of havesting it is catching on."

Frank Paterson was out to see the Johnston operation, and said it appeared to be quite satisfactory, and working well.

Farmers have been reading about it as a departure from even the combining method which had become widely established in recent years.

The grain is cut in the field by a binder without a knotter, and then is gathered from its rows by the forage harvester, is cut into fixed lengths and blown into an accompanying wagon, then is hauled to the barn and put through the old type threshing machine.

A crop of oats was handled in this way by Josheph Collier and son, east of London, Ont., as related in the Advocate. The thresher with straw blower and grain elevator was used for separating the grain from the cut-up straw. Scarcely a particle of straw was seen in the Collier bins, and there was very little grain lost in the field.

The thresher and blower were operated from the tractor and power take-off respectively. The Colliers used an 8-foor swather several days before the forage harvester went to work on the pick up. The Advocate says that it would be possible for one man to harvest his grain, but it was hardly practical. The job could be done faster with one or two helpers and an extra tractor. The Colliers used two wagons and three tractors.

Mr. Paterson said the straw was cut in four-inch lengths, or a little more, in Clarence Johnston's method.

✦ ✦ ✦

FROM REGISTERED SEED

W. W. Dawson of Otonabee has 300 bushels of Cornell wheat eligible for registration as seed. It is now being cleaned preparatory to inspection. He bought 20 bushels of registered seed an year ago from Joseph Lanphier of Leitchcroft Farm, Gormley, and sowed it over about 12 acres.

Six bushels of elite Dawson's Golden Chaff has yielded approximately 100 bushels of grain in Mr. Dawson's harvesting. This supply of winter wheat should be of interest in the district especially to farmers enquiring about registered seed.

Mr. Dawson commented today that the low temperatures three nights last week appear to have caused some damage to red clover seed. There was also some shrivellig of hybrid corn leaves, but Mr. Dawson said he was not certain as to the extent of any damage.

✦ ✦ ✦

MINOR ACCIDENT

Ernie McWilliam of Dewart Milling is recovering from a recent mishap while at work in the plant. He may be back to work next week.

WHEAT AVERAGES

Most of the wheat in Halton has been cut, yielding from 10 bus. to nearly 50 to the acre. Middlesex estimate is 30 to 50. Northumberland wheat is somewhat less than last year, but the oats appear to be excellent. The wheat average in Waterloo is said to be 35 bus. Ald. John A. Dewart says the evidence of smut in the deliveries of local wheat so far this season is much lighter, and in that respect there is substantial improvement in the crop.

✦ ✦ ✦

WORLD'S MILK RECORD

In the Associated Press cabled despatches from England, Thursday was a report from Oxford that a 13-year-old Friesian cow, "Manningford Faith Jan Graceful" cracked the worlds record milk yield Wednesday by giving her 267,315th pound of milk. By eleven pounds, she topped the previous record of the late 18-year-old American champion Holstein cow, Iona Ormsby Queen.

UNESCO STUDIES FARM FORUM

Canada's National Farm Radio Forum will shortly be the subject of an international inquiry, as announced by Floyd Griesbach, national secretary, Toronto.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Culutral Organization — Unesco — has appropriated the sum of $16,000 for the purpose of conducting research into the strucutre and effectiveness of Farm Radio Forum as a means of mass communication.

Farm Radio Forum recently celebrated its tenth anniversary. The project makes use of radio, printed study material, small discussion groups, and reports from the small groups which are summarized and reported back to the groups.

Its project is sponsored jointly by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the Canadian Association for Adult Education, and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

MAINTAIN HERDS

Increasing population of Canada and the statistics indicating a decline in the number of cattle should be factors of encouragement to breeders, Frank Paterson, agricultural representative, commented this week. He was referring to a news report from Kitchener that some beef breeders were inclined to question their programs "In view of a possible break" in the market.

Probably there might be some price reaction, Mr. Paterson said, but the breeding of cattle was a business, and many farmers had been producing steers for market a long time.

"There were the figures quoted by Dr. George Penhall not so long ago showing depletion in herds. Peterborough county in 1938 had 38,[illegible] cattle in 2,848 herds an average of 23 head; and in 1950 there had been a drop to 33,779 cattle in 1,838 herds, or an average of 18 head to a herd.

In Victoria, the figures were: 55,613 cattle in 3,318 herds, an average of 16 head in 1938; and then 1950, 54,963 cattle in 2,188 herds, an average of 25 to the herd. That showed some fewer cattle, but more to the herd.

Because of that trend I think the breeder should try to maintain his herd in size and quality, do some culling, and he'll still have breeding stock.

The cattle population is not being maintained, and the same is true of sheep. Keep an eye on cost of production and be ready for opportunity."

Mr. Paterson said that opinions from many quarters strongly urge Canadians not to sell short the future of their country and their own place in its development.

Wind In The Stubble . . .

When the wind blows in the oat stubble you know that summer has begun to wane. The calendar verifies the perceptible change of season, and swallows on the rural telephone wire appear poised for their farewell flight. They suggest a line of writing against the wall of the August sky.

These are dusty days of harvest time when men reap with labor the seed they sowed, and gather its promised increment. Night is encroaching on the fringes of the day, and the sun's glaring light of early July has noticeably faded already.

Where weeds flourish in security the blue of the wild chicory has thinned to a seasonal aspect of seediness, but the goldenrod's first fronds are fresh and radiant from nature's storehouse of color. Along the river's edge the rushes thrust their dark brown tufts above the tangle of reeds.

Signs of the decline of summer float in the fields and in the sky, from the tiny seed of the thistle to the splendor of the approaching planets and stars, both infinitely mysterious. The purple flower of the tall, bristling thistle has turned frowsy, yielding its down-borne grain to the breezes. Silence of warm nights magnifies the small voices of crickets and katydids in the grasses.

Far removed from such miniatures of life, Jupiter is a magnificent marshal of the constellations of the fall, easily recognized around midnight down in the eastern sky and just below its median line. Jupiter, greatest of the planets, and bigger than the others lumped together!

Scorpio with its reddish star Antares is retreating westerly from its dominance in the summer sky of the south. Vega is brilliant overhead, and Arcturus lies off to the west in its arc from the handle of the Big Dipper.

Summer lives on in the steady repletion of August, but its pace has slowed to a walk from the urgency and ecstasy of May, and there is subtle portent of change all around us, even in the shining face of the sunflower when the sky is clear.

August brings a mood of blandness, still with fruit to ripen, and with weeks of late heat to finish the cycle from seed to flower and seed.

DODDER, THE PARASITE

Dodder, one of the worst weeds in Ontario, is a parasite and not a plant in the true sense of the term. It lives on a host plant, and in time will strangle it.

J. W. McRae, fieldman for the Crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, says it is a very dangerous weed, affecting legume crops not only in Ontario, but elsewhere in Canada, and in the United States.

Dodder is easily recognized, as it has no leaves. The yellow stems are threadlike and twine around clover, alfalfa or flax plants. By sending short suckers into the plant, Dodder absorbs the food meant for its host, and in time will kill it. Another difference noted by Mr. McRae is that once Dodder germinates and contacts its host, the "root" dies and Dodder has no further contact with the soil. The thick clusters of white flowers in turn become seed pods containing many hard, grey or yellowish brown seeds. These are difficult to separate from legume seeds when they are being cleaned.

Mr. McRae says only seed that has been tested and graded by one of the Dominion seed laboratories should be used.

He suggests that at the first sign of Dodder in the crop, it should be mowed and removed before the Dodder matures seed. Another recommendation is to burn the crop particularly if the seed has already formed. This can be accomplished by either covering the patch with about three feet of straw or sprinkling kerosene or crude oil over the area.

The most important part of the control of Dodder is to prevent it from forming seed. Summer fallowing for one year followed by a hoed crop such as corn will kill most of the seed in the soil. However, Mr. McRae declares that the seed may lie dormant in the soil for a number of years and one should always be on the lookout for further outbreaks. In any rotation of crops following an outbreak of Dodder, care should be taken not to incorporate clovers, buckwheat or flax in the rotation for a few years, declares Mr. McRae. It does not attack cereal grains or timothy, but favours clovers, buckwheat and flax.

Mr. McRae believes that too much emphasis cannot be placed on this weed and that all farmers should take every precaution to prevents its further spread.

WHEAT CLUB FORMING

Mr. Paterson is reminding farmers that the list is open again for the 50-Bushels of Wheat Club, after one season's suspension. The boys and girls club had an inning during the year with good results, and should have some grain for seed. May be most of it will be sown on their own farms.

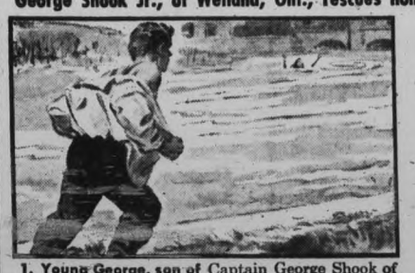
12-YEAR-OLD BOY SWIMS 300 FOOT CHANNEL TO SAVE YOUNG GIRL

George Shook Jr., of Welland, Ont., rescues non-swimmer Donna Cutler, 11, from Welland Canal



1. Young George, son of Captain George Shook of the Welland Fire Department, was approaching the west bank of the canal near the waterworks when he heard the frantic screams of a child. Running closer he saw 11-year-old Donna Cutler, struggling in the water near the opposite shore. Fortunately, George had his bathing trunks on under his clothes . . . and in no time he had stripped and was in the water . . . swimming at top speed.

2. Although the water was not over her head, little Donna was petrified with fear. She could not swim . . . and the intake for the Welland waterworks was only a few yards away. Within minutes, however, the strong strokes of George Shook Jr. brought him up to her. Exhausted and spluttering, Donna followed George's instructions to climb on his back. After his 300-foot swim the boy himself was tired — but at no time did he consider relinquishing his burden.

3. Slowly but surely George brought the girl in to shore . . . at times pulling for help at the long grass where the water became shallow. The rescue was complete by the time the city police arrived. To this gallant Canadian boy we are proud to pay tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award. Commenting on George's brave action, Mayor David Thomas of Welland said that the whole city was mighty proud of the young rescuer.

Defence Heads Plan Burial Of Atomic Dead

OTTAWA, Aug. 10 (CP).—In event of an atomic war, when as many as 10,000 persons could be killed in a single attack, burial would have to be made in some cases without prior identification.

The gruesome problem of burial was tackled Thursday by a special civil defence committee, headed by Dr. K. C. Charron, director of the health department's public health division.

A directive on burial likely will be developed out of this and other similar meetings to follow it, officials said.

Generally, the directive to communities will be that, wherever possible, legal regulations should be complied with before burial takes place.

Not Always Possible

However, this could not be done in every case. In some cases records would be destroyed, including death certificates, and the victims would have to be buried without identification.

At the meeting was Dr. T. C. Brown of Toronto, representing the Canadian Medical Association who had experience in dealing with the 119 victims of the Noronic ship disaster in Toronto Harbor two years ago.

Others included Dr. Max Klotz, Ottawa, representing the Canadian Society of Pethologists; Fraser Harris, head of the Bureau of Statistics' Health and Welfare Division; Dr. C. E. Fryer, Ottawa civil defence officer; and three morticians, Neil Bardal of Winnipeg, M. Cloutier of Quebec City, and A. E. Veitch of Ottawa.

TO GUIDE PROPAGANDA—Ben Hibbs, above, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, is head of a new State Department press and publications committee which will help guide American propaganda. The committee of distinguished newsmen and publishers will review periodically the work of the State Department's press and publications division and "recommend shifts of emphasis, new techniques and modifications."

QUIT OR BE FIRED—Sen. William Benton (D., Conn.), left, placed Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R., Wisc.) in a new role when he called on the Wisconsin Red-hunter to resign his Senate seat or be kicked out by the body. Benton introduced a resolution directing the Senate Rules Committee to investigate McCarthy's role in last year's Maryland Senatorial race and "other acts" with a view toward "expulsion." McCarthy replied the resolution would make Benton "the hero of every Communist and crook in and out of the government."

Bible Does Not Prohibit Lessening Childbirth Pain

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 10 (AP)—Roman Catholics were assured Thursday that the Bible does not prohibit lessening or elimination of pain in childbirth through modern medical science.

The question was raised by a reader of the Vatican's Sunday Osservatore Romano. The reader asked whether the Lord's words to Eve after she and Adam had eaten the forbidden fruit "in sorrow shalt thou bring forth children" did not decree such a ban.

A Catholic doctor's reply, printed by the Vatican newspaper, said that the Biblical text could be interpreted as meaning not only the pain of childbirth, but "all the physical and moral sorrows that a mother must suffer because of her maternity."

The Biblical text, he added, "does not at all forbid, for the woman, the lessening of natural pains of childbirth" just as preceding texts to the man, Adam, "in the sweat of thy brow"—does not forbid him to lessen the burden of his labor through the use of animals and machines.

The reply concluded by quoting the words of the Pope last year to delegates who attended the fourth international congress of Catholic doctors here.

The pontiff praised doctors' efforts "to lessen the pains of childbirth, however, without endangering the health of mother and child and without risking to change the sentiments of maternal tenderness for the newly born."

Lopes Sworn In As Portugal President

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 10 — (Reuters)—Gen. Francisco Craveiro Lopes Thursday was sworn in as Portugal's new president in a ceremony in the national assembly here.

President Lopes, 57, was elected last month to succeed Marshal Antonio Oscar Carmona, who died in April after nearly 25 years in office. He is a supporter of the regime of Prime Minister Antonio Salazar, in power in Portugal since 1926.

New Appointment

OTTAWA, Aug. 10—(CP)—Sir Stephen Holmes, 55, who served here as Deputy High Commissioner for the United Kingdom from 1944 to 1946, has been appointed Deputy Secretary of State to the Commonwealth Relations Office in London, the United Kingdom Information Office announced Thursday. He succeeds Sir Cecil Syers, and will take up his new duties in mid-August.

RCAF Reserve Control Moved From Trenton

OTTAWA, Aug. 10 — (CP) — Control of RCAF reserve activities in Ontario except reserve university flights has been transferred from Trenton to St. Hubert, Que., near Montreal, Air Force headquarters announced Thursday.

The announcement said the move follows policy of placing emphasis on the service's fighter-defence scheme. The reserve units, previously under Training Command, now come under Air Defence Command.

YORKTON, Sask., Aug. 10 — (CP)—A district farmer thinks he's found the solution to the threat of cool weather and possible frost to his late-maturing crops. He has sprayed his crops with anti-freeze. The farmer, well-known in this area, wishes to remain anonymous until the results of the experiment are known.

Escape From Iron Curtain Arduous Trip for Hungarian

VANCOUVER. — (CP) — The story of an escape from behind the Iron Curtain which cost the lives of four men was told by pretty Irma Gosling in an article for The Vancouver Sun. "The Iron Curtain is no figure of speech," she wrote. "It is a sickening reality, two parallel rows of barbed wire rigged with bombs and rocket flares are successfully imprisoning millions of my fellow countrymen in eastern Europe.

"About 50 of my fellow Hungarians each month try to get through. Four or five make it. Those caught are shot or imprisoned for years. I was one of the lucky ones.

"Yet my escape cost my husband $5,000. And it cost the lives of four cunning and determined men."

One of those to escape in 1948 was her cousin who had married Ronald Gosling, a British citizen. They left their life savings behind and went to South America where he got a fresh start as manager of a British firm handling a colonization scheme.

"Meanwhile I had not joined any Communist-sponsored groups . . . and my family and I were classified as politically unreliable," she wrote.

Reduced to direct poverty, one day she received a letter from Ronald Gosling, who said his wife had died sometime ago and that he was bringing up their child, Virginia. He asked her to come out and marry him. The letter came through an underground route which she said she would not disclose.

Hazardous Route

She accepted the proposal and Ronald moved to Austria where he got in touch with the guides who are engaged in "the most hazardous business in the world."

He had to deposit $5,000 in a safety deposit box in the presence of "Tony", the guide. Then they took the key to a notary and made out a legal agreement, and the adventure began.

"Ron had made other deals with four other guides before he found Tony. Two of these men had been shot at the border. The others been caught enroute to Budapest."

Weeks later Irma, guided by Tony, travelled by train and bus toward the Austrain border, walking the last 25 miles. At the fence, "stretching as far as the eye could reach. Tony gingerly cut an opening through the wire. On the other side was 30 feet of sand and another barbed barrier which he also breached with his pliers, and she was free.

A few days ago the young couple stepped from a train and took a room in the west end of the city.

"Today we are on the threshold of a new life. Ron has no job but he has talent and lots of energy. We have each other. And we have our freedom."

Liquor Offenders Fined In Bancroft Court

BANCROFT, Aug. 10—(ENS)—Nine cases, all but one breaches of the highway traffic and liquor control acts, came before Magistrate Lloyd in the semi-monthly court in Bancroft on Wednesday afternoon.

Charges under the liquor control act resulted in D. Madigar of Griffith and T. Neuman each paying $15 and costs for having liquor in a place other than a residence.

A. Beaudrie of Bancroft paid the same fine for the same offence. Two Belleville men, L. Solmes and J. Breen also paid $5 and costs for being intoxicated in a public place.

Found guilty of driving while drunk Ronald Perks received both a fine of $15 and costs and a sentence of seven days in county gaol in Belleville.

Three people paid fines for highway traffic cases. Speeding on Highway No. 62 cost Harold Workovitch of St. Catharines $10 and costs. Douglas Olmstead of Maple Leaf paid $5 and costs for having improper lights, and Ronald Parks of Birds Creek also paid $10 and costs for not having a drivers' licence.

On an assault charge M. E. Keluskey was assessed costs of $26.60 and was bound over to keep the peace for one year.

HERBERT NOBLE, 58-year-old gambler and survivor of eleven attempts on his life, was killed by a bomb in front of his home near Lewisville, north of Dallas, Texas. Noble had stopped his car to collect mail from his roadside box when the blast blew him and his car to bits.

Have New Way Of Keeping Tabs On Weather

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada Life Assurance Company has given the people of Toronto a new way of keeping tabs on what kind of weather they are going to have.

On top of the tower of its head-office building on University Avenue, already 280 feet above street level, it has put another 41-foot tower and beacon, to a total height of 321 feet.

From now on, from about sunset to early morning, the beacon, visible for many miles, will show green for clear weather, steady amber for cloudy weather, flashing amber for rain, and flashing white for snow.

Also, up the beacon's tower, are other lights, which will indicate expected temperature changes. For warmer weather they will be seen running up; for cooler weather they will run down; and for "no change" they will remain steady.

The lights were officially turned on Thursday night; and, so that Toronto residents won't get into too many arguments about what they mean, explanatory cards are being distributed to every household in the city.

Canada Life, the Weather Bureau and Toronto residents will have a few things upon which to get agreed, if they can. For instance, what should the lights show when the forecast is for a generally clear day—but one on which there may be an occasional shower? What does milady say when her Easter bonnet is ruined by a shower on the generally clear day? What does she say to Canada Life? And what does Canada Life say to her? Those are some of the things for which the company is trying to prep up the answers.

Woman Directs Ship Chandlers

LONDON—(CP)—Women follow all sorts of occupations these days but one of the most unusual jobs is that of Mrs. E. Mews, a visitor from Durban in South Africa. She claims to be the only woman ship-chandler in the world.

Mrs. Mews, a native of Scotland, came for a meeting of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women. She joined the ships' supply firm in South Africa some years ago as an assistant, and when her chief died she bought the business from his successor.

During the Second World War Mrs. Mews helped to outfit many allied transports sailing to and from South African ports.

Presiding at this year's meeting of the Federation was Dame Carolie Haslett, well-known engineer who is a member of the British Electricity Board and dircetor of the Electrical Association for Women.

'Heaven Can Wait' On Q. Mary Stage

Heaven Can Wait is the reaction of Joe Pendleton, a happy-go-lucky saxaphone playing pirze fighter, who is summoned to the Pearly Gates 50 years before his time. This delightfully different comedy was made into the movie "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," with Claude Rains and Robert Montgomery in the leading roles.

In the Summer Theatre production at Queen Mary Auditorium next week, Bill Needles and Gerry Sarracini will appear in the two roles of Mr. Jordan, and Joe Pendleton.

The play opens with Messenger 7012, a wartime helper, escorting Joe to Heaven, only to discover on arrival that Joe is not due there for another 50 years. He returns with the irate Joe to earth, only to realize that Max Levene, the fighter's manager, has just cremated Joe's body. Heaven is turned into an uproar trying to find a new body suitable to Joe's taste. The heavenly recorder, Mr. Jordon, takes Joe all over the world looking at the biceps of dictators, musicians, boxers, etc., before he finally makes his choice. The fun then becomes fast and furious as Joe turns a sharp Wall Street broker into a contender for the light heavyweight championship.

Also appearing in the cast are Ron Bailey as Messenger 7013; Frank Perry as Max Levene; Kate Reid as Bette Logan; Peter Mews as Tony Abbott, and Anne Murray as Julia Farnsworth.

Some 35 young people, local and summer residents, held their annual weiner roast at Manley's trout stream. An accordionist supplied music for singing.

Miss Arleigh McCallister, Peterborough, is home with her parents, ill with mumps.

Misses Dorothy and Muriel Keyes, Toronto, are spending holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Will Gordon and family.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, Miss Elaine McCormick, Mr. Lester McCormick and friend, all of St. Thomas, called on a few friends in this community. Mr. McCormick was a former teacher here several years ago.

4 Leave On Visit Overseas

Immediate members of four Peterborough families and close friends were on the CPR station platform Thursday noon, crowded at the coach entrance to the east bound train. As the conductor pulled the starter cord they became an excited, waving crowd, for it meant that "Mother" in each case had actually started on the 4,000-mile trip that will take her to a happy reunion with Old Country relatives and friends.

The four ladies off on three months holiday are Mrs. Wm. Anderson Sr., 395 Edison Ave., Mrs. Fred W. Brockley, 307 Burnham St., Mrs. David Leckie, 29 Victoria Ave., and Mrs. Walter Terrace, 13 Cricket Place. They left the train at Montreal last evening and this morning boarded the "Empress of Canada" which sailed at noon, bound for Liverpool, England.

The hand baggage taken along consisted mostly of hams, eggs, luxury canned goods, nylons and other gifts for the be-rationed relatives "over there."

It is 32 years since Mrs. Brockley crossed the Atlantic but she has kept in close touch with her relatives in England by mail and her son had a "second home" with them during the war. Mr. Brockley went along to Montreal and saw her onto the boat.

Mrs. Anderson is going to visit with her four sisters in Clydebank, Scotland, whom she hasn't seen in 17 years. She was the latest to get to the station, in fact had the train not been 10 minutes late, she might have had to run for it.

While the trip in itself is exciting and wonderful, there was not so much anticipation stored up for Mrs. Terrace or Mrs. Leckie. This is the 14th trip for Mrs. Terrace, her last one being made just two years ago. She will visit with friends in England, Scotland and Ireland. Mrs. Leckie came to Canada only three-and-a-half years ago and is returning to tell parents, sisters and brothers at Crail-in-Fife, Scotland, all of her experiences. She will also visit relatives in the south of England.

The date for starting on their homeward trip is October 23rd.

Find Father's Very Good In Preparing Tasty Dishes

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Did you think collecting recipes is strictly women's work, and mother is the only one in the family who can whip up a frilly desert?

Just ask dad.

Ever since we issued a call for dishes that men like to concoct, we have been flooded with replies.

A Montreal newspaperman sends along a couple of new ideas for "those who get tired of eating eggs fried, scrambled or poached all the time."

He suggests "Oeufs a la Neige" (snow eggs). This takes two hard-boiled eggs to each person. Make a white sauce using corn starch and milk. Slice eggs in the sauce and serve either French-fried or mashed potatoes and green peas.

To make the sauce: One cup of milk per person: Allow milk to reach boiling point; mix three teaspoonsful of corn starch in water and add it to milk. Cook until thickens.

Ragout de Boulettes

This Montrealer, who describes himself as perhaps "a Canadian traitor for disliking pea soup" believes that not many persons know how to serve pigs' knuckles and meatballs, or "ragout de boulettes."

His recipe: Roll meatballs in flour and brown in frying pan before placing in cauldron. Brown flour in pan and make sauce. Boil water in cauldron and add pigs' knuckles. Add meatballs to cauldron.

We're told this dish is tasty "when served with boiled potatoes and salads."

Better not believe all the stories you hear about dad's wastefulness when permitted to roam the kitchen. He may have more economical recipes up his sleeve than mother ever dreamed possible.

A Toronto chap suggests the following as "cheap and useful when the tag-end of a roast isn't sufficient to make a good showing on its own."

Boil some rice, drain, then add a can of undiluted condensed tomato soup. Toss in small cubes of meat "and use your imagination with the spices." Cayenne, garlic and curry combine well in this dish which should also include a couple of finely chopped small onions. Heat and serve.

As a "fancy touch" our friend suggests browning cubes of bread with a little butter. Sprinkle this over a casserole preparation of the above.

"Womanish Knack"

Another Toronto man confesses to having a "womanish knack" when it comes to preparing desserts. He produces the following recipe, saying the method of preparation reminds him of "bricklaying." For lack of a better title we'll call it Bricklayer's Special."

Ingredients: One package of jelly (lime); one tin crushed pineapple; one-half pint of whipping cream; one bottle of red maraschino cherries, three crushed walnuts.

Prepare jelly and allow it to set before whipping with egg-beater until creamy. Return to refrigerator until firm. Whip cream.

Comes the "bricklaying" part: Serve in tall dessert dishes. Add two dessertspoons of the jelly to each glass. Add the same amount of pineapple. Continue and finally cover with whipped cream. Sprinkle walnuts on top. Add cherry. Serves five.

Family Honors Thomas Turk

COLDSPRINGS, Aug. 10 (ENS)—Four generations were represented at a surprise party given for Thomas Turk who Wednesday celebrated his 80th birthday.

Members of the four generations were: Mr. Turk, his daughter, Mrs. Clifford Timlin, her daughter, Mrs. Reginald Willis and Mrs. Willis' infant daughter Carol Marie Willis.

Mr. Turk lives on a farm with his son Everett Turk two miles east of Coldsprings.

Mr. Turk was born in Haldimand township near Mill Valley and went to school there at No. 12, Haldimand.

He was married in 1905 to Louisa Maud Pillage. He farmed near Centreton until about 30 years ago when they moved to his present home which was the Pillage homestead. Mrs. Turk died in 1936.

Besides his daughter and son, Mr. Turk has seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Special Rail Cars For Princess, Duke

OTTAWA, Aug. 10 (CP)—Two especially-outfitted railway cars will be "home" for Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip for much of their October tour of Canada.

Normally used by the governor-general when he travels about Canada, the cars will be put at the disposal of the royal couple for the railway segments of their tour. At some stages of the visit, they will fly.

The cars are equipped with drawing rooms, bedroms, a kitchen and other facilities.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Weaves Web, Boy Waits On Sidelines

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How can I tell a boy I don't love him without hurting his feelings? Roy, 20, and I, 18, are in love and have been going together for some time. We decided not to go steady for a while and during this time I met another boy, Ernie, who fell in love with me at sight. I don't love him, but I do like him very much and don't want to hurt him. He knows about the boy I love, but not that we plan eventually to marry. How can I explain to him that I don't love him, and don't want him to love me, but that he could continue to like me? Should I tell him right away or wait until Roy and I go steady again?

SUE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: "Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive!" You have stirred up a fine hornet's nest, Sue, and don't even seem to realize it! What is Roy doing all this time? Twiddling his thumbs and watching other boys fall in love with you?

Be Fair

To do the fair thing to Ernie, who has my sympathy, you'd better tell him at once that he is only second fiddle. Apparently you expect him to take the announcement of his new status very gracefully and be perfectly resigned to changing his feelings from love to fraternity.

I think you are a little heartbreaker, Sue, but don't let your fickleness go too far or you'll soon be without boy friends altogether.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 20 years old and have been married almost three years. I have a good husband but do not love him. I had been hurt by another boy and thought I could make myself love my husband after marriage, but it didn't work.

The boy I loved married another girl but is not happy with her. He claims he loves me. He drinks a lot and runs around but says he will stop for me. Should I trust him again?

D. N. C.

ANSWER: You are a very confused young lady who needs sound counsel from a wise source. I doubt if the few words I can give you will unscramble the situation, but here they are.

Stick to what you have, but definitely! A man who hurts one girl, marries another, drinks, philanders and tries to break up another man's home is certainly no source of happiness for you. You have a good husband and once you stop day-dreaming over the romance you think you might have had, you'll realize you aren't so bad off. In the meantime, have a talk with your pastor or some older person in whom you have great confidence.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I have kept company with a boy I like very much. I know he likes me, but he is getting very cool because I won't go steady with him. I am 15 and think I'm too young to go steady. Do you agree with me?

ELEANOR.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: With all my heart I do agree. You're much too young to be going steady and your boy friend should be considerate enough to realize this. Let him know that if he wants to continue seeing you it will have to be on your terms.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"My pushbutton top comes up with a little too much oomph!"

Washing Clothes In '98 Gold Rush

VICTORIA, BC (CP)—Mrs. Josephine Cassidy, an energetic woman of 86, recalls that she made a fortune in the Yukon gold rush days by taking in washing.

In 1897 she was a dark-haired beauty with flashing eyes and a strong arm. It had to be strong because she did so much washing. She earned from $50 to $150 a day.

"I used to mush my dog team eigth o rten miles up the trail from Dawson to the RCMP station. Oh, those trousers with the yellow stripe! Washed so many of them I can't count."

"Never see those yellow striped pants that I don't want to rush up and shake the hand of the man who owns them."

Mrs. Cassidy first achieved fame when she won a race with her dog team. "Col. Steele of the mounties—the bank manager—everyone bet on me," she said.

"The race was eight miles over unbroken trail and I won $2,000."

She and her husband had bought equipment to join the gold rush. A series of misfortunes dogged them, culminating in the loss of all the expensive equipment.

One day someone asked her if she could wash. "And that is how I started my business," she said.

"I did very well, for when I left the Yukon I came out with a stake of $100,000."

At her home here Mrs. Cassidy observes an old unwritten law of the Yukon by keeping her table set at all times.

It's Exceptions That Prove Rule

CAPE TOWN (CP)—South Africans are marrying later in life. But there's always the exception that proves the rule.

Before the Second World War the average age of bridegrooms at the Johannesburg registry office was 26, and the bride 23. Today most bridegrooms are 30 years old, and their brides are 28.

A notable exception was the marriage recently at Potchefstroom of handsome 24-year-old John Hans Hug to 72-year-old Mrs. Annie Van Den. The groom came from Zurich, Switzerland, three months ago to do missionary work. His wife, who had been widowed three times, also came to South Africa from Zurich, 40 years ago.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Fried Chicken A Desirable Summer Dish

QUESTION: We were served 'chicken-in-the-rough' in a restaurant recently and it was very tender and moist inside with a crisp brown crust outside. It seemed to be made of chickens that were a good size and cut in good sized pieces. Maybe you or some of your readers could supply me with a recipe on how to prepare it. I enjoy your column and get many helpful ideas from it.

Blanche P.

ANSWER: I know exactly how that is done in one large restaurant. It may be differently handled in the one to which you refer.

✧ ✧ ✧

Crusty Fried Chicken

Prepare large fowl and cut in serving pieces. Either steam or cook tender in pressure cooker. When it is cool enough to handle and dried off dip in beaten egg to which add 2 tablespoons cold water for each egg, then dip in salted and peppered sifted cracker crumbs to which you have added 1 teaspoon paprika. Fry in deep hot fat (crisco or corn oil) at 375 deg. Fahr. just long enough to give rich brown coating. Drain on unglazed paper.

NOTE: Chicken should not be ice cold or it will not be in fat long enough to heat through.

QUESTION: Would appreciate it if you could give me the recipe for orange marmalade for diabetics. I had good success with the strawberry jam and would very much like to make the orange marmalade. (Mrs.) S. T. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

Sugarless Marmalade

(This is not guaranteed to keep. But I know one lady who has all of her sterilized technique so perfected that it does. Otherwise it will have to be stored in refrigerator and used up within a month or so.)

Three medium sized oranges, ¼ cup lemon juice, 8 saccharin tablets, ¼ oz. granulated gelatine for every one-half pint of pulp. Cut the rind from the oranges, being careful to remove the white pith. Chop the rind or cut in fine slivers. Cut up the pulp being careful to catch the juice. Add pulp and juice to rind with 1 pint of water. Simmer gently for 30 minutes. Add saccharin tablets and lemon juice and cook just until rind is tender. Soak the gelatine in ¼ cup cold water 5 minutes. Remove marmalade from heat, stir in soaked gelatine. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once. If to be kept in refrigerator merely cover it with hot paraffin.

QUESTION: Last year I did down my red cherries with your recipe for maraschino cherries. They were delicious. The recipe called for red colouring, almond flavouring, cherries and sugar, but I have lost it and don't know the amount of each. Please . . .

Mrs. Geo. H.

ANSWER: I hope this reaches you before cherry season is over.

✧ ✧ ✧

Maraschino Cherries

Royal Anne cherries should be used but other cherries will do—however they do not take on th ecolour as well as the light-coloured variety. Three lbs. cherries weighed after pitting, 3 lbs. sugar, 1 oz. liquid red colouring, 1 oz. almond flavouring, 1 cup water soak cherries in cold water 2 hours, then pit them. Weigh. Put sugar and water in kettle and boil until sugar is dissolved, but do not let burn. Add the colouring, then the cherries and cook slowly until cherries are red and the syrup is fairly thick. You should adjust your burner as low as possible for this cooking. Remove from heat and when just warm add flavouring. Let stand until cool and pour into sterile jars and seal. Store in cool place.

HILL-CREST FARM AND HATCHERY FOR SALE
A beautiful country estate with all city conveniences. Owner retiring. "Hill-Crest" is situated at outskirts of the village of Norwood (the home of the Norwood Thanksgiving Day Fair), is 17 miles from the thriving city of Peterborough, and on super-highways Nos. 7 and Trans-Canada at junction with 45. Village street lights fronting farm. Beautiful 9-room home, city equipped, site unsurpassed. Large hip-roofed barn, cement stabling. Beauty equipped; abundant water supply in house, barn and outbuildings. Large drive-shed, double garage, triple-decked poultry houses, colony range and brooder houses, all hydro equipped. Electric hatchery, 15,000 egg incubator with separate hatcher and electric egg cleaner. Long and well established Chick Hatchery and special premium egg market in Montreal for selling our Government Permit A-1 carton eggs. Poultry stock on hand: 3,000 pullets ready to lay and 1,500 hens shelling out those high-priced eggs. Flock under Hatchery Approval for past 25 years, layers blood-tested (no re-actors).
The farm, 50 acres, in high state of fertility, with an average of over 61 bushels to the acre. "Hill-Crest" contest fields in last two competitions had the highest yield in the Peterborough District "50" Bushel Winter Wheat Club.
Farm machinery: tractor combine, ploughs, disks, fertilizer drill, cultivators, etc. Full equipment for an efficiently operated tractor farm. This property is within one mile of Norwood's excellent schools and churches. New $400,000 High School Area School now under construction. C.P.R. station and express office ¼ mile.
Farm will be sold with or without poultry or equipment. IMMEDIATE POSSESSION IF DESIRED.
As a sound, profitable business undertaking, or as a desirable rural estate for a city business man, this proposition is worth investigating. "Has to be seen to be appreciated." Reasonable price for quick sale.
Write or phone (3041) for appointment or personally contact the owner.

Dodgers Trip Giants 6-5 Lead By 12½ Games, Boston Splits Twin Bill

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

"Who do we play in the World Series?" That's all Brooklyn wants to know. With a 12½-game lead in the National League, the Dodgers can start scouting the American League contenders. Unless the Brooks fold completely in their last 50 games, they're in. A clean sweep of their three-game series with New York, capped by Thursday's 6-5 decision on Roy Campanella's two homers, just about put the clincher on it. But in the American League, New York and Cleveland rest in a 66-39 tie with 49 to play. Boston, another 4½ back, and Chicago, seven games out, remain in the picture.

New York regained a piece of the lead with the help of Washington's Gil Coan who dropped two fly balls to give the Yanks three unearned runs and a 6-4 decision. Cleveland and Chicago were idle.

Boston could do no better than a doubleheader split at Fenway Park with Philadelphia A's. The Red Sox took the second 5-3 on homers by Walt Dropo and Vern Stephens after losing the opener 6-5. Fred Sanford and Satch Paige teamed up with a five-hitter for St. Louis' 6-3 victory at Detroit.

Downs Phils

Rookie Chet Nichols of Boston Braves beat the Phils 5-4; Chicago rallied with four in the ninth to edge Cincinnati 5-4; and Cliff Chambers of St. Louis shut out his old Pittsburgh mates with five hits, 4-0, in a night game.

Campanella's second homer for Brooklyn broke a 5-5 tie in the seventh off loser Sheldon Jones. Clyde King, fifth Dodger pitcher, won his 12th with a scoreless three-inning job. The teams set a league record of 24 walks by both clubs. The old high was 23.

Young Nichols cooled off the Phils with an eight-hitter to hand Bubba Church his seventh loss.

Ransom Jackson's two-run single climaxed the Cubs' surge to nip Cincy as Howie Fox weakened in the ninth.

Chambers had a no-hitter going for 5 2-3 innings until Howie Pollet, his pitching opponent, singled down the left field line. The hit didn't help Pollet, who absorbed his eighth loss.

Help To Yanks

The Yanks had Coan to thank for their win over Julio Moreno who lost a five-hitter. The left fielder dropped Yogi Berra's fly in the seventh with the score tied, two out and a man on third. Gene Woodling came home with the winning run and Joe DiMaggio sent in Berra with a triple.

DiMaggio hit his 10th homer in the sixth. Neat shutout relief work by Joe Ostrowski over the last 6 2-3 innings gave him the victory.

Dropo's three-run homer in the sixth drove Boston to their second game victory over the A's after a three-run rally in the ninth fell short in the opener. Leo Kiely won the second game and Maury McDermott lost the first for Boston. Bobby Shantz was the A's winner and Alex Kellner the loser.

St. Louis exploded six runs in the sixth to hand Marlin Stuart his first defeat, Sanford gave up homers to Pat Mullin and Dick Kryhoski before Paige came in to hold the fort. Satch struck out four in three innings.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Led by Gil Boa of Toronto, 1951 King's prize winner at Bisley, Eng., more than 140 small bore marksmen from Canada and the United States are sharpening their sights for the annual national small bore rifle matches starting at Ottawa's Connaught ranges today.

The shoot will last three days, covering 18 events including four team matches which will be fired Sunday.

Main event is the Canadian open championship, won last year by William E. Farley of Williamsport, Penn.

Besides Gil Boa, another member of the famed shooting family, Jim Boa Jr., will also be on hand.

At Chicago, William A. Miller, 20, a jockey from Seattle, Wash., Thursday was indefinitely suspended by the Illinois Racing Board, together with an owner and trainer, for attempting to use a battery on a horse running at Fairmount Park, Collinsville, Ill., last Saturday.

The horse, Riot, with a change in jockeys, subsequently won.

The suspended owner is Alfred H. Schierer, Chicago, and the trainer involved is George W. Bohlander, Redwood City, Calif.

For the first time, a football game between Canadian teams will be televised when Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats play an exhibition game at Buffalo's Civic Stadium Sunday.

The telecast, from WBEN-TV, will start at 2:30 p.m. EDT. WBEN-TV in Buffalo, is the only television station regularly received in Hamilton and Toronto.

Future of Ottawa's participation in International League baseball may depend on whether the capital sanctions Sunday sport, Frank Shaughnessy, president of the league, said in an interview here Thursday.

The league president said Ottawa should have Sunday baseball to make the International League a certainty, and added that he talked with Mayor Grenville Goodwin about it.

There have been unconfirmed reports that New York Giants, sponsor of Ottawa Giants of the international loop, are planning to drop the Ottawa club from their farm system after this season. T. P. (Tommy) Gorman, Ottawa promoter, holds an option to purchase the club.

There is a chance that Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will see a Big Four football game in Toronto Oct. 6.

Toronto Argonauts, Dominion champions, play Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Varsity Stadium that day. The Royal couple will be visiting Toronto.

Walter Thompson, publicity chief for the royal tour of Canada, said he hopes they will be able to take in some Canadian sporting events while they are in the country.

George S. May, Tam O'Shanter president, and the United States Professional Golf Association Thursday signed a contract providing for a $100,000 purse for May's 1952 golf tournaments.

The all-American section of the meet, Aug. 7-10, will carry $25,000. The "world" tourney, Aug. 14-17, will be for $75,000 with the winner receiving a fabulous $17,500.

The current meet has a total award of $75,000 for the all-American and "world" sections. The top "world" prize is $12,500.

Earl Blaik said Thursday he will stay as Army's football coach although his son Bob and "all but a few" of the probable team he hoped to field are among the 90 cadets facing expulsion in an exam-cribbing scandal.

Blaik made his announcement at a press conference here. Young Blaik, regular quarterback, identified himself as one of the involved cadets later at West Point when told of his father's decision.

The coach said approximately half the 90 involved cadets were athletes and that their expulsion virtually wiped out the academy's football, basketball and baseball teams for the coming year.

Meanwhile, at Washington President Truman told his press conference he is having an inquiry made into the situation.

By implication, there was a suggestion it might deal with the whole question of present-day emphasis on football as an intercollegiate sport.

The Rajah pilots the Seattle club, now leading the Pacific Coast League. O'Doul bosses the San Francisco Seals.

Horse Purchased Sight Unseen Mainliner Wins Hambletonian

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, NY, Aug. 10 (AP)—A horse purchased sight unseen while his trainer was fishing is boss of the three-year-old trotters of the United States after an unexpected straight heat victory in the richest of 26 Hambletonians.

Mainliner, owned by building contractor Ralph H. Kroening, of Milwaukee, and trained and driven by veteran Guy Crippen, stepped away from 20 other high class trotters in 2:02 3-5 and 2:04 3-5 to take down $51,347.26 — winner's share of $95,263 — at Good Time Park Thursday.

Few in the crowd, estimated at 15,000, thought the son of Worthy Boy would win and even fewer figured the Buggy Whip Derby would be over in the minimum of two heats.

But Crippen, who has been riding sulky for 35 of his 59 years, knew he had a good horse and proved it.

He beat back the challenge of Spennib, one-half of the favored entry from the Hayes' Fairacre Farm of Du Quoin, Ill., in the first mile and then came off the pace to whip a pair of outsiders in the second after the more highly regarded trotters faded in the stretch.

Short Acquaintance

Crippen, making only his second appearance in trotting's Kentucky Derby (he finished third with Lord Stewart last year), got his first glimpse of Mainliner less than a year ago.

"Well, too, I remember that day," said the Western Allis, Wis., reinsman. "It was after the meeting at Milwaukee. Mr. Kroening told me I had been doing a good job and to take a few days off and go fishing.

"You don't have to tell me twice to go fishing.

"But I was no more back in the house after catching a few fish when the phone rang. It was Mr. Kroening. And the news was he had purchased Mainliner sight unseen from Sep Palin for $25,000."

Palin had paid $3,200 for the brown colt after winning one heat of the Hambletonian with his sire.

Takes Full Advantage

Mainliner was well placed in the bulky field and Crippen took full advantage of the opportunity. When Great Hanover swung out in front within the first quarter-mile of the first heat and then gave way to Spennib at the half, Mainliner never was far out of contention.

Crippen moved the Wisconsin-owned trotter into command a quarter-mile from home and went on to win by two lengths. Spennib beat off the challenge of Mrs. John L. Wehle's Yankee Hanover for second place.

Mainliner returned $56.30 for a $2 win mutuel. And even in the second heat he was not the choice, paying $8.50 to win.

The second heat was much like the first. Crippen kept Mainliner off the pace as Betsy Volo and Mighty Fine, Spennib's stable mate, battled for the lead.

In the home stretch, however, it was Mainliner by two lengths with second going to Leo McNamara's Scotch Rhythm of Carmel, Ind., second, and Candy Man, owned by K. D. Owen, of Houston, Texas, third. Scotch Rhythm was driven by Ralph Baldwin, of Lloydminster, Sask.

Eight Crack Shots To Represent Province

LONG BRANCH, Ont., Aug. 10 (CP).—Eight crack shots from Ontario will represent the province next week at the Dominion Rifle Association's matches in Ottawa.

They were named to the team Thursday at the conclusion of the four-day annual match sponsored by the Ontario Rifle Association. Sgt. F. H. Wallace headed the team with an aggregate score of 513 out of a possible 515.

Others on the team are: Sqdn. Ldr. D. Reynolds and F. L. Wakerell of Ottawa and E. G. Stock of Toronto, all with a score of 509; and Maj. D. T. Burke, CSM N. J. McLeod and Capt. H. C. Hawess of Toronto and Maj. F. V. Shepherd of Ottawa.

L'il Marlene Stages Hot Comeback

By W. R. WHEATLEY

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 10 (CP) — The Canadian ladies' open golf championship came down to a pair of international semi-finals today, leaving a smoking trail of sensational comebacks.

The great last-chance upheavals staged by Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old Canadian girl, and Grace Lenczyk, American girl seeking her third open title, had the galleries gasping.

Miss Stewart, from Lookout Point at Fonthill, Ont., was drawn against Mae Murray, of Rutland, Vt., and Miss Lenczyk against Mrs. Peter Patch, of Montreal Whitlock, in the 18-hole semi-finals.

Miss Murray Thursday defeated Mrs. J. H. Todd, of Victoria, four and three, and Mrs. Patch won three and two over Ann Sharp, of Fonthill.

These solid unspectacular victories were almost lost sight of when little Marlene and Miss Lenczyk went on their hole-winning rampage, well along the back nine.

Wins 4 Successive Holes

Marlene won four successive holes to defeat Marjorie Row, American girl from the Beach Grove Club at Tecumseh, Ont., two up.

Miss Lenczyk picked the identical hole—the 15th—to start her rousing rally against Pat O'Sullivan and erase a three-hole deficit.

The two Connecticut girls — Grace from Hartford and Pat from Orange—halved the 18th and went on to the 19th.

Miss O'Sullivan practically lost her own match at the extra hole when she stymied herself.

She had a sure half and a possible win in sight but her putt for an angle curved off and stopped a foot behind Miss Lenczyk's ball.

Mrs. Todd lost the first hole to Miss Murray and could never catch up. She played poorly up to the eighth, missing good opportunities to win the sixth and seventh.

Miss Murray lost the eighth when her second shot went into a trap. She also lost the ninth when her approach overshot the green and Mrs. Todd was down in par four.

But the Rutland girl got the two holes back soon after the turn for home.

Wings Nail Syracuse Twice

By The Associated Press.

Moving up fast at a seven-out-of-nine clip, Rochester Red Wings have soared from fourth to second place overnight in the International League race.

The Wings knocked Syracuse into fourth Thursday night with a doubleheader sweep, 14-9 and 7-2.

Russ Derry's three-run homer in the sixth inning nailed down the opener as Syracuse fought back to overcome an early 6-0 Rochester lead. Ken Wild, fourth Red Wing pitcher, was the winner. Freddie Hahn went the route in the second game with a five-hitter.

Toronto, making a belated bid for a playoff berth, crashed three homers to whip Baltimore 9-5. Les Fleming, Frank Colman and Andy Anderson did the long-distance clouting to help Irv Medlinger win in relief. Marv Rickert hit No. 26 for the Orioles.

Montreal knocked out Rudy Minarcin of Buffalo on the way to a 10-1 triumph to give Bob Alexander his 14th triumph.

Ottawa scored five runs in the sixth inning to win the first game from Springfield, 6-1, but the Giants were shut out with four hits by Vern Fear in the 4-0 second game.

Nels Burbrink, Springfield catcher, was hit on the throat by a foul tip in the first game and taken to hospital for observation.

Thorncliffe To Open Monday, August 13

TORONTO, Aug. 10 (CP). — Thorncliffe raceway will open the second half of the summer harness-racing season Monday, Aug. 13, instead of Saturday, the originally-announced date.

The change was made at the request of the Ontario Racing Commission which said that a Saturday re-opening would interfere with the meeting of the Hamilton Jockey Club.

Thorncliffe raceway's biggest stakes of the season still are to be contested in this meeting which will end Labor Day. The Maple Leaf Cup for trotters is scheduled for Aug. 17 and the Canadian Cup for pacers, Canada's richest harness-race, will be contested Aug. 31.

Man Burned In Bed Near Minden

Semi-Invalid's Body Found In Ruins After Fire Dies Down

LINDSAY, Aug. 11 (ENS)—The charred body of a semi-invalid, James Ball, 35, was found in the smoking ruins of his home at Maple Lake, Friday morning. Maple Lake is in Stanhope township in Haliburton county about 70 miles north of Peterborough.

Ball, who had been a semi-invalid for several years, was apparently trapped in his bed although he was able to walk. The house was levelled by the flames.

The fire was first seen about 7.15 a.m. by a neighbour, Mrs. George Fader, who lives west of the Ball home, and Mrs. Verle Fader, who lives across the road.

They ran to the house but flames blocked them from entering.

Found In Bed

When the fire had burned itself out and the ruins had cooled enough for men to scramble in, Ball's body was found in his bed.

Dr. Jamieson, coroner from Minden, was called to the scene with Provincial Constable Gordon Langton, of the Minden detachment.

It is believed the fire started from an overheated stovepipe. The pipe passed through a hole in the kitchen wall where it is thought the blaze started.

Ball had been an invalid some years. His sister, Mrs. Earl Redner, who lives in the settlement, has been looking after him. At times, he was unable to walk, but at this time, it was reported, he could have walked to safety if he had seen the fire in time.

He is survived by his sister and his father, Ernest Ball, who lives in Stanhope township nearby.

Hurt By Dead Cow

WAUKESHA, Wis., Aug. 11 —(AP) — Edwin Sherwell, 87, was in critical condition today after being struck by a dead cow. A car hit the cow on a highway near here Friday. The cow, killed instantly, was hurled 15 feet to the side of the road where it struck Sherwell, a pedestrian. He suffered a broken leg, internal injuries and shock.

Junior Team Full Of Beer Stages Fight

ROUYN, Que., Aug. 11 (CP) — Ted Soucie, president of the Rouyn, Noranda Junior Baseball League, said Friday that some members of the Rouyn junior team drank beer and started to fight Wednesday night after being beaten in a final game with the Beattie team at Duparquet, 31 miles northwest of here.

He said a meeting of the league executive will discuss punishment of the coach.

Soucie said that the basis of the fight was the fact that after being beaten in a final game with the Beattie team in Duparquet, the entire personnel adjourned to a club, where they were allowed to buy too much beer.

"The trouble is," says Soucie, "they are all juniors and therefore necessarily under the age of 20. Everybody knows they're a junior team, so they shouldn't be served beer. The law says no one under the age of 21 should be served beer."

Ruining Athletes

Soucie continued that drinking has been the ruination of many a promising athlete in this district. "If we get that kind of juniors," he said, "what kind of seniors will we have?"

He said a meeting of the league executive was to be held so that some suitable punishment for the coach of the team might be discussed.

The local paper carried a story yesterday about the fight, which took place most of the way back in the chartered bus from Duparquet. Several girl friends of team members were present. When the bus arrived in Noranda the driver immediately called police while the fighters spilled out and spread about the Noranda ball park, still fighting. Two arrests were made but the youths were later released without charges being laid.

"We're trying to get the parents interested in trying to take beer out of sport," said Soucie. "Beer and sport just don't mix. It's time people in this district realized that and did something about it."

Polio Deaths Total Two In Past Week

10 Cases, One Suspect As Mrs. W. Miller Dies In Hospital

Mrs. William Miller, 25, of 207 Stewart St., died this morning at 10:15 in a Toronto hospital.

Mrs. Miller was the victim of polio who made Canadian medical history by giving birth to her child a few seconds after she was taken from the iron lung she had been placed in. The child lived only a few hours and died in the Hospital for Sick Children.

In the meantime two new cases reported in the last 24 hours have brought to 10 the total of polio cases in Peterborough and district.

The new victims, who have both been diagnosed as definite poliomyelitis victims, are a 23-year-old man and a child.

All of the 10 except two lived in Peterborough. The others were a child from Asphodel township and one from Cavan.

Second To Die

Mrs. Miller is the second Peterborough victim to die of the disease within a week. Alvin Snowden, 25-year-old optical worker, died early Monday morning while being rushed by ambulance to isolation hospital in Toronto.

Mrs. Miller died of "ascending paralysis." Hospital authorities said that Mr. Miller was on his way to Toronto when his wife died.

Mrs. Miller was rushed to Riverside Isolation Hospital in Toronto Thursday afternoon after being admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital that morning. Her child died at three am Friday. Mrs. Miller had paralyzed breathing muscles and legs.

One Suspect

As well as the 10 confirmed cases there is one suspect taken to hospital Thursday. He is still only a suspect. All the cases have been reported in the last two weeks.

Col. John A. Dewart, chairman of the city's Board of Health, said today that both acting medical officer of health Dr. J. A. McNeill and MOH Dr. R. A. Kelly, who is

UN General Claims Door Slammed On All Allied Efforts

MUNSTAN, Korea, Aug. 11 (AP)—Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy told Communists in strong terms today they had "slammed the door on every attempt to make progress" in the Kaesong cease-fire talks. The senior United Nations envoy aimed his words directly at Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, for Nam's inflexible stand on the 38th Parallel as the only cease-fire line acceptable to the Reds. "You did not come here to stop the fighting," Joy declared.

"You did not come here to negotiate an armistice. You came here to state your price—your political price for which you are willing to sell the people of Korea a temporary respite from pain.

"You have engaged in these conference only to present demands, not to negotiate a solution."

Very Angry

When Nam left the conference room at the end of the day's session observers said he was "apparently angry."

Brig-Gen. William P. Nuckols, an official spokesman, said Joy departed from his "normally well-tempered, coldly logical phraseology" in his most "vehement" attack yet on the Communists.

Nuckols said the negotiators wrangled for two hours and 20 minutes and reached only one agreement: to meet again tomorrow at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. EDT Saturday).

Joy's blast apparently followed his failure to reach any sort of compromise agreement with the Reds.

The communique said the Reds "brusquely rebuffed" Joy's suggestion that they indicate on a map their concept of a buffer zone "based on the present battle line and the overall military situation."

Standing Pat

Nam and his fellow Reds stood pat on the "single and inflexible" demand that the line be based on the 38th Parallel, old political dividing line between North and South Korea.

The Allies have said they want the line to follow the present fighting front, mostly in North Korea.

The unyielding envoys held their 21st meeting in a charged atmosphere generated by Friday's long session of wasted words and stony silences.

An American correspondent at Kaesong said Nam Il left the conference site "apparently angry."

"He was talking with some animation to one of his delegates,

Medical Library School Here Canada's Third

The third school for medical record librarians in Canada will be opened at St. Joseph's hospital in September. The other two schools are at Kingston and Toronto.

St. Joseph's hospital has been approved by the Association of Medical Record Librarians for the opening of the school.

School classes will begin in September with lectures given by the medical staff of the hospital. The students will study anatomy, bacteriology, psychology, medical terminology and medical record science.

The course takes one year and on completion the graduate will receive a salary equivalent to that of a nursing supervisor or a school teacher. Applicants must have shorthand and typing as well as one of the following, nine upper school subjects, graduate nursing certificate, teacher's certificate.

For more information application may be made to the director of the school of medical record librarians, St. Joseph's hospital.

Pleven Gov't Wins Vote Of Confidence

PARIS, Aug. 11 (AP) — Premier Rene Pleven and his new strongly-Conservative cabinet today won what amounted to a vote of confidence. The National Assembly balloted 390-222 to postpone indefinitely an opposition request to debate the make-up of the cabinet.

Pleven had presented his cabinet to President Vincent Auriol earlier after an all-night squabble over who would get what job.

France's worst cabinet crisis since the Second World War ended in a breakfast-time meeting at the Elysee Palace during which the president served coffee instead of the traditional champagne to the new cabinet members.

Pleven formed a cabinet after seven other men had tried and failed in the last 30 days. How long it could stay in office was doubtful.

Observers Encouraged

Observers were encouraged, however, because Robert Schuman—renamed foreign minister—will have a government behind him when he attends meetings of the big three, the Atlantic Pact countries and the signing of the Japanese peace treaty. All these events are scheduled for September.

The new cabinet reflected the swing to the right shown in the June 17 election. For the first time in more than a year there are no Socialists in it. The cabinet also excludes Communists and right-wing followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Although the Socialists refused cabinet posts they are expected to give the new government their votes in the assembly.

Cabinet members were chosen from the Mouvement Republican Populaire, a left-of-centre Catholic group and the least conservative presented; the radical Socialists (Conservatives); Independents and Peasants; and the Democratic and Socialist Union of the Resistance to which Pleven himself belongs.

UK Gun Put Through Paces But Allies Not Convinced

WARMINSTER, England, Aug. 11—(AP)—Britain took the wraps off her now rapid-firing .280-rifle in impressive tests Friday, but she failed to convince western military men that it is the best weapon in its field. The stockless weapon that resembles a sub-machine gun was put through its paces before 200 military attaches and 50 reporters.

The tests showed the new gun can be fired faster than either the United States' semi-automatic .300-calibre Garand or the old British .303 bolt-action Enfield, but lacks their penetration and shocking power.

The US and Canada favor the Garand.

The new weapon will be thoroughly checked, however, by a committee of the Atlantic Treaty Organization. The group will report its finding to the Atlantic Treaty foreign ministers this fall and they will decide whether to adopt the gun for pact countries. At present the Garand is top nominee for the infantry weapon in proposed standardization of western arms.

84 Shots A Minute

In Friday's tests the new gun poured out 84 shots a minute compared with 43 for the Garand and 28 for the Enfield, but its penetration through wood proved slightly less than the American gun.

The odd-looking machine has a small metal butt in place of the conventional stock, and carries a telescopic sight.

American observers objected to the new weapon on grounds that the ammunition it uses is too light to go up against enemy armor.

It was also explained that the complex mechanism of the gun has not yet been tested under battle conditions and no one knows yet how production models will stand up.

Final decision on whether to put the new gun into production as the official British military weapon still has not been made. British generals indicated it might take "some years" to tool up and produce enough to equip British soldiers.

Tension Eases In Iran Talks

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 11—(Reuters)—United States envoy Averell Harriman met the Shah of Iran today and British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd paired off with Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh to discuss progress in oil negotiations.

British and Iranian delegations also were to meet today for the fourth time in their attempt to end the long-standing oil nationalization dispute.

It was thought Harriman discussed possible settlements with the Shah, though no official announcement was made.

The three-level meetings followed a lull Friday—the Moslem Sabbath—broken only by an hour-long meeting of the Shah and British delegation leader, Richard Stokes.

The atmosphere here and in Abadan, site of the world's largest oil refinery, eased considerably with the announcement Friday of the first tangible results of negotiations.

Red Indian Squadron Back From Germany

ODIHAM, Hampshire, England, Aug. 11—(CP) — The advance guard of the Red Indian RCAF jet-fighter squadron returned to its base at Odiham today after a five-day tour of operations with the British forces of occupation in Germany.

Fifteen ground crew of the 48 officers and men who took off from here Monday on the 500-mile flight ot Celle, near Hanover, will be flown back early next week in RCAF transport aircraft.

During the operations the Canadians took part in a series of air exercises with units of the RAF and other Atlantic Treaty nations.

Million Dollar Storm Damages Cotton

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 11 (AP). —Vicious thunderstorms hit the south plains of Texas—one of the largest cotton producing areas in the world—a $1,500,000 blow Friday night.

Hail damaged an estimated 10,000 to 12,000 acres of irrigated cotton, mostly in Hockley county.

Strong winds blew away an empty cotton warehouse in a community 20 miles northwest of Lubbock.

The thundershowers on the south plains ended five weeks of extremely hot, dry weather for that section.

Crops, gardens and pastures suffered.

Soviets Preparing For Mammoth Parade

BERLIN, Aug. 11—(AP)—The Soviet-controlled railway administration today closed 30 subway and elevated stations, mostly on the border areas between East and West Berlin, in preparation for the big parade of the Communist World Youth Festival.

The parade, billed as the "mightiest peace demonstration ever seen here," will take place Sunday morning. The Communists say more than 1,000,000 members of the Free German Youth will march under banners assailing the West.

The transport served curtailment to keep travellers out of the parade area and hindered young Communists who want to sneak over the border for visits to the Allied sectors of Berlin.

Fear Boy 9, Dead In Gravel Cave-in

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 11 (AP) —Rescue workers prepared today to resume digging into tons of sand for a nine-year-old boy feared dead in a gravel pit cave-in.

The cave-in buried Douglas Davis, son of an east Lansing factory worker, as he romped with two playmates Friday. The other boys were thrown clear.

Police mobilized a 50-man crew to search for Douglas. But the hours dragged on and as bulldozers widened the excavation no trace of the boy was found. At nightfall hope was abandoned.

Blinker Signal Starts Rescue

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 11 (Reuters).—A blinker signal from 40 miles off Australia's southeast coast today told a rescue ship that a British freighter, drifting since Thursday, has lost the use of her radio.

The distressed freighter, the 7,285-ton Stanfirth, was rolling helplessly in rough seas and lashed by winds of almost hurricane force. On board are a crew of 43 Britons.

She was being carried at a speed of about two knots towards the barren coast of Victoria.

Battling to her aid was the British coal ship Heronspool. She read the message, flashed by lamp from the Stanfirth, reporting the ship's radio was out.

Egypt Will Cancel Treaty August 25

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 11 (AP)—The newspaper Al Ahram said today Egypt will cancel its much disputed treaty with Britain Aug. 25. The treaty was signed Aug. 26, 1936.

Al Ahram said Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Salah El Din now is preparing a statement for the parliament denouncing the treaty.

The paper said Nationalist groups are preparing celebrations for the cancellation of the treaty under which Britain garrisons the Suez Canal.

Begin Inquiry In Train Crash

SIMMESPORT, La., Aug. 11 — (AP)— Plans were made today for an official investigation into the cause of a high speed, head-on train crash in which eight men died in flaming wreckage, about 60 other persons were injured and one Marine was missing.

Coroner Dr. J. C. Roberts said he would conduct a hearing soon to establish a verdict on "where the fault lies."

He said the crash was caused by a "garbled, forgotten or ignored message" received by the crew of a Marine troop train that plowed into the oncoming Kansas City Southern streamliner, the Southern Belle. The crash occurred Friday about 60 miles northwest of Baton Rouge, La.

R. R. Sutter, superintendent of transportation of the Kansas City Southern that operated both trains, said the troop train's crew ignored an order to side-track their train for the streamliner.

"Just why the crew of the troop train failed to switch it to the side track is something we may never know since most of those who might be able to give some reason are already dead," Sutter said.

Call For Nurses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP) —The Red Cross has appealed for at least 50 nurses to serve in polio-stricken areas. It said Friday that nursing resources have been greatly overtaxed by a sudden upsurge in the number of infantile paralysis cases in some communities in Colorado, Wisconsin, Utah and Texas.

Cut Cheese Ration

LONDON, Aug. 11 —(AP)— The British cheese ration was cut today from two ounces a week per person to 1½ ounces, effective Sept. 9.

150 Lose Jobs Blame Taxes

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP). —About 150 workers were laid off at General Steel Wares, Ltd., Friday, company officials indicated.

A company statement, issued by H. J. Simmons, plant manager, said "a drastic slow-down in sales" had affected "about 350 employees since late spring."

He attributed the sales drop to imports of American products, to higher excise taxes imposed by the last federal budget, and to credit restrictions.

Farouk Loses $157,000 In Gambling Sessions

CANNES, France, Aug. 11 (AP) —King Farouk's gambling "system" backfired again today. The playboy Egyptian monarch lost $72,000 in nine hours of play in a card game that ran from midnight to 9 a.m., casino sources said.

This brought his losses over a two-day period to $157,700. Earlier, the King claimed he had developed his own system for winning at the gambling table.

Rags To Riches Overnight For People Of Alberta

EDMONTON, Aug. 11 (CP). — Alberta has switched almost overnight from cowboy to oil multi-billionaire.

During the last fiscal year, almost $24,000,000 poured into government coffers from oil leases, fees, rentals and royalties, provincial auditor C. K. Huckvale reported Friday.

It accounted for a major slice of Alberta's record operating surplus of $56,247,689 and record income account revenues of $118,186,426.

Oil let Premier Manning's Social Credit government cut the provincial funded debt to slightly more than $100,000,000 and still leave a nest-egg of $70,556,401 in cash and bonds—the largest sum so held by any province.

The oil bonanza began flowing into Alberta's treasury in earnest five years ago when fabulously-rich new fields were discovered in the Edmonton region.

But the hint of huge oil riches came early in the century.

In 1914, black crude and natural gas first gushed from Turner Valley, south of Calgary. Wainwright 100 miles southeast of Edmonton produced in 1926.

For many years they were the big producers, pouring 20,000,000 barrels of crude into local and world markets.

Wildcatters drilled from the Peace River country to the Montana border. One company, Imperial Oil, spent $20,000,000 and 20 years drilling 123 dry holes.

In 1939 oil was found at Lloydminster, on the Saskatchewan border. Conrad, Vermilion, Princess and Taber, scattered through south central Alberta, were found soon after.

Then came discovery of the Leduc field in February, 1947, and Redwater in September, 1948. These Edmonton-district fields became the richest producers ever found in Canada.

8 Homeless Ships

LONDON, Aug. 11 — (AP) — Britain's Transport Ministry has eight homeless ships left out of its wartime fleet of more than 4,000 and it can't get rid of them, the Ship-Building and Shipping Record said today. The ships, which have a total tonnage of 17,500, were requisitioned during the war from Latvian and Estonian owners. Now the owners either cannot be found or the ownership is in dispute.

Canadians Help Carry Out Bluff

Commonwealth Division Cut Off For 5 Days

WITH THE COMMONWEALTH FORCES IN KOREA, Aug. 8 (Delayed) (Reuters)—A large part of the new British Commonwealth division in Korea has returned from its first action after being isolated for five days by floods from supplies and reinforcements.

The division, which includes Canada's 25th brigade, had to play a game of bluff to stop the enemy discovering their dangerous position. The men patrolled aggressively in widely-separated areas, going without sleep for long periods, to make their strength appear more formidable.

Planes dropped ammunition and supplies after the men had been reported "out on a limb."

The unit had gone out on what appeared to be a routine manoeuvre, but a torrential rainstorm broke and cut them off.

A large part of the new division, with trucks and equipment, found its route back to the main allied positions barred by a swollen roaring river.

American tanks which took part were also cut off.

Rose 15 Feet

The water had risen 15 feet since they crossed it on their way north.

When at last the rain stopped, some of the men managed to cross the river in a rubber raft.

Troops on the southern bank saw 20 bearded, red-eyed and mud-bespattered Britons clamber out of the raft—shouting excitedly the news of the new division's first successful action against the Communists in Korea.

At the height of the deluge even assault boats could not get through the flood.

Infantrymen missed two meals Sunday but sufficient food, medical supplies and ammunition were parachuted to them Sunday and Monday.

The river did not begin to subside until late Monday.

By noon Tuesday the first infantrymen were being ferried back. Steel rope was slung back to the bank and six pontoons were joined to form a raft and pulled back and forth by a pulley system across the 12-knot current.

Many Nationalities

Australian and Belgian infantry, an Indian field ambulance and gunners of New Zealand, Canadian and British artillery batteries wkere involved in the action.

It began before dawn last Saturday and was intended to be a diversionary raid aiming at occupying two high ridges 8,000 yards out in no-man's land.

A battalion of the King's Shropshire Light Infantry occupied one of the obpectives and a Belgian battalion the other.

They practically route-marched to their positions, the Belgians meeting only sporadic rifle fire.

The Shropshires met no opposition.

Plane Swerves Off Runway

NEWARK, NJ, Aug. 11 (AP)— A twin-engined C-46 airliner carrying 41 passengers and a crew of four, swerved off the runway during a take off at Newark airport today, injuring two of its passengers.

Injured were Sophie Berkowitz, Brooklyn, NY, and a sailor, Richard Kroll of New York. They were taken to hospital where their condition was reported as "fairly good."

Fire broke out in the right engine and right wing of the C-46 which was en route to Los Angeles via Philadelphia and Chicago, the spokesman said.

All passengers climbed out of the plane and the fire was quickly extinguished with emergency equipment.

A witness said the plane's right engine "conked out" and that the ship suddenly veered off the runway to the left, stopping over the ditch adjacent to the runway.

The plane's undercarriage collapsed.

Allies Bomb Convoys During Night

2,000 Red Vehicles, Supply Trains Target For Raid

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 11 — (CP)—United States Marine fighters and Air Force light bombers Friday night spotted more than 2,000 enemy vehicles in a sweep over Communist supply routes.

Aided by flares, the Allied pilots inflicted "substantial damage" on the enemy supply trains, the Air Force said. It was the second successive night heavy Red traffic was spotted.

Mud bogged down ground fighting in the west. Patrol action was spotty in the central section but bitter local fighting raged in the east for control of three hills southwest of Kansong.

The 1,200 to 1,500-foot hills dominate the northern road out of Inje to the mountain fastness south of Wonsan, beleaguered east coast port.

Divide Gains

United Nations troops gained control of one hill but an enemy counter-attack supported by mortar and artillery threw Allied forces off another hill. The fate of the third hill still was in doubt Friday midnight as a UN force attacked from three sides.

Despite clouds and thunderstorms, Allied planes flew 635 sorties.

B-29 Superforts bombed the rail hub at Hwangju, south of Pyongyang, North Korean capital.

Australian Meteor jets sighted enemy MIGs in Northwest Korea twice but the Communist pilots refused combat.

One UN F-60 Shooting Star jet was shot down by enemy ground fire.

10 To Be Tried In Assassination

AMMAN, Jordan, Aug. 11 (AP) —Prime Minister Tewfik Pasha Abul Huda said today 10 persons —including three relatives of the exiled Grand Mufti of Jerusalem —will go on trial for the assassination of King Abdullah.

The Premier told a press conference that a special military court will try the murder case here in a few days. He said 21 suspects have been released.

Eight of the accused men are under arrest. The two others are outside the country, and presumably will be tried in absentia.

A young Moslem tailor shot King Abdullah last month in the Mosque of Omar in the Jordan-held old city of Jerusalem. The assassin was gilled by the king's guards.

Charge Ex-Bellboy

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 11 (AP)—Albert Callahan, 30, a former bellboy, was charged in country court Friday with starting fires in two hotels and a tavern. Police said Callahan told them he had a hero complex which caused him to set fires while he was intoxicated. He admitted starting blazes in the Charles Hotel, the Surfside Hotel and the Allee Club.

Report 145 Fires In BC Forests

VANCOUVER, Au. 11—(CP)—Drought-caused forest fires Friday night flamed over thousands of acres of British Columbia timberlands.

Seventeen new fires were reported in isolated districts Friday bringing total now being fought to 145.

A force of 2,292 government-employed firefighters and at least another 1,000 volunteers were on the fire lines.

The twin fires in the Grand Forks district, where 8,000 acres of timberland have been blackened, still blazed, but they have been halted from joining up.

The fire hazard has closed nearly 100 small sawmills on the lower mainland, and some of the larger mills have curtailed operations.

Hundreds of millhands now are joining the 15,000 loggers who have been out of work for more than a month because of the forest closure.

"This is one of the most serious situations that has ever faced our industry," said L. L. G. Bentley, vice-president of Canadian Forest Products Ltd.

Forecast lightning storms, however, are a threat. Rangers said electrical storms would "be almost certain" to touch off new fires.

Springville WMS Holds Meeting

SPRINGVILLE, Aug. 11 — A special evening service was the form of the August meeting of Springville Women's Missionary Society. In absence of Mrs. Stevens who prepared the program, Mrs. Preston took charge.

A short worship period followed. Mrs. Preston welcomed Mrs. Daisy Murray, Westington, a former Springville girl and guest soloist of the evening. Mrs. Westington conducted a short sing song of hymns, Mrs. Bothwell read the scripture, Mrs. Johnston led in prayer. Mrs. Westington sang two solos "Consider the Lilies" and "The Stranger of Galilee". Her husband, Dr. Mars Westington of Hanover College, Indiana, then addressed the gathering on the "The Segregation of the Negro", recounting many interesting experiences and anecdotes, and finishing by stating that the Church is best fitted to cope with this problem.

First Atomic Pile

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 11 — (Reuters)—India is to set up its first atomic pile within the next two years, an authoritative source said Friday. The pile will be used for experimental purposes, and for the production of radio-active isotopes, the sources said.

Shells Catch Fire

HAVILAND, Kas., Aug. 11 (AP) —A truckload of 105-millimetre shells caught fire near here Friday. More than 200 of the 500 shells exploded in a series of blasts that shook the area for miles around. No one was injured.

RIVERSIDE ASSET

As George A. Macdonald says of Riverside, when it is at its best there are few playgrounds in Canada to equal it in the beauty of its setting, backdrop of the willows, the river, the deep green of the grass, and last night August paraded a big half moon across the sky. The ball fans appreciate that community investment, especially when they have a team that can win from Belleville and Oshawa.

Manitoba Ends Rent Control September 30

WINNIPEG, Aug. 11 (CP). — Rent control will end in Manitoba Sept. 30, except in municipalities which request the Provincial Government to continue it, Labor Minister C. E. Greenlay announced Friday.

The Manitoba Government took over the rent-control machinery of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board last April.

Mr. Greenlay, in form letters to municipal authorities, said Friday the Government is reluctant to continue any unnecessary and expensive administrative organizations.

"Experience has shown that only a few areas of this province may require the continuance of lease-hold regulations," he said.

It was not known immediately whether those areas requesting continuing control would be administered by province or municipality.

The Winnipeg Free Press in a newspage story says: "It is almost certain that larger municipalities, particularly Winnipeg, where the housing shortage is critical, will request controls he continued for their areas, with the province retaining jurisdiction."

The order applies only to domestic rent controls taken over by the province last April. Other rent controls were discontinued earlier.

Col. Dewart said that every precaution is being taken to isolate possible carriers. Dr. Kelly is returning from his holidays Monday. It is believed that there has been no connection between any of the cases.

Ontario Figures

There have been 271 cases of poliomyelitis reported this year in Ontario as of Aug. 9, Health Minister Phillips said Friday.

In the same period in 1950 there were only 60 cases. In Peterborough last year, said public health authorities, there was only one case.

Five Ontario counties accounted for 70 per cent of the 69 cases reported in the week ending Aug. 4—Carleton, Essex, Renfrew, Welland and York. York county which includes Toronto, reported 28 cases. Dr. Phillips said that there was a smaller proportion of paralytic cases in this year's total.

Mrs. Miller was the mother of a two-year-old son, Michael. She was born in Peterborough, Elizabeth Jane Cavalier, daughter of Michael Cavalier and Ruby Halpin.

She attended the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School and was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

She is survived by her husband, her parents, her son and a sister Mrs. H. McAdams (Barbara) of Peterborough.

Details of the funeral being arranged by Kaye's funeral home will be announced later.

Charges Bush Camps Have Low Standard

HEARST, Ont, Aug. 11 (CP)—Peter Mongeon, an executive of the Communist-dominated Canadian Union of Woodworkers, said Friday night that living standards in Quebec bush camps are lower than they were in some concentration camps during the war

Mr. Mongeon—whose union is battling the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (AFL) for the right to act as bargaining agent for Ontario and Quebec bushworkers—said in an interview that Quebec camps have inadequate washing and laundry facilities and constitute poor shelters against the cold of winter.

"The Canadian Union of Woodworkers wants to get into the Quebec bush to clean these conditions up," he said, "but Mr. Duplessis doesn't want to let us through the door."

Plan Special Mass To Honor Virgin Mary

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 11—(AP) —For the first time since Pope Pius proclaimed the dogma of the assumption into heaven of the Virgin Mary, a special mass honoring her will be celebrated in Roman Catholic churches throughout the world Aug. 15—feast day of the assumption.

Proclamation of the assumption dogma Nov. 1, 1950, was the highlight of the 25th Holy Year of the Roman Catholic church.

Hundreds of thousands of pilgrims from many parts of the world gathered in St. Peter's Square for the event.

The new mass contains a special liturgy praising the Virgin Mother of Jesus Christ.

For centuries Roman Catholics generally have observed the feast day of the assumption and believed in her bodily as well as spiritual assumption into heaven. Proclamation of the doma, however, made belief in her assumption a tenet of Roman Catholic faith, requiring all Catholics to believe it.

Man Sleeps, Snores With Eyes Open Police Use Stomach Pump Wake Hamiltonian

HAMILTON, Aug. 11—(CP)—A man who snored and slept with his eyes wide open was discovered in Dundurn Park Thursday night by police.

Constable Robert Chipper and Park Police Officer Gordon McKie found the man near the park's dance pavilion. At first they thought he was an ordinary drunk. They bundled him into a cruiser and delivered him to central police station.

But they could smell no liquor on his breath. And the man just sat staring at the car's ceiling and snoring loudly.

At police headquarters he could not be roused. But his eyes were still wide open. A light was shone in his face; his feet were tickled; and he was pinched.

Police could tell that he was alive. His breathing was heavy. And there were still snores filling the room.

Finally the man—booked on a vagrancy charge—was rushed to a general hospital. After a stomach pump treatment the man began to respond.

To date the only word he has been able to utter is "Robert".

A box of pills— a few capsules were left—was found in his clothing.

Prepare Plans To Defend Cattle In War

OTTAWA, Aug. 11 (CP).—The Agriculture Department stepped into civil defence Friday with the establishment of an organization to protect the country's livestock population against bacterial or biological warfare.

Known as the Animal Health Emergency Organization it will be headed by Dr. T. Childs, the department's veterinary director-general.

It will detect, report and isolate diseases which might be spread by an enemy bent on curtailing and destroying food of animal origin.

Department officials said world scientists have warned that biological attack now has been so perfected that it could be used sucessfully in wartime to strike a crippling blow at food resources.

The organization will have committees in all provinces, headed by the Federal Department District Veterinarian. Membership will include officials of both the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture and veterinarians.

The committees will give instruction in the detecting and reporting of abnormal conditions associated with animal disease.

Market Prices Drift During Week

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Summer doldrums overtook the Toronto, Montreal and New York Stock Exchanges this week as prices drifted aimlessly.

An upward trend that started four weeks ago had some observers speculating on the return of last winter's bull market. As the climb continued the following two weeks, their views were strengthened. Last week, however, the higher trend broke into mixed irregular trading.

Base Metals were the centre of most Toronto activity during the last week. Western Oils, however, also became more active and industrials picked up toward the end of the week. Volume averaged about 1,750,000 shares daily.

The Toronto Stock Exchange was closed Monday in observance of a Civic Holiday. In Montreal, papers climbed more than 10 points as golds and combined issues rallied. Banks and utilities eased.

Prices Weaken

Prices opened firm Tuesday on the Toronto Stock Exchange, then weakened and ended mixed. In Montreal, papers weakened from their strong advance of the previous day. Utilities, golds and industrials edged ahead while banks weakened.

Toronto prices drifted lower Wednesday. Papers dropped more than seven points in Montreal, and utilities, combined and golds slipped.

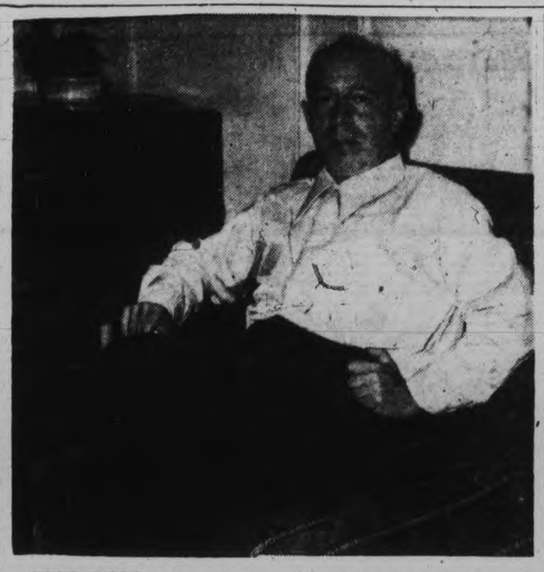
Prices continued to slip in Toronto Thursday. Senior Golds, however, showed signs of activity. Once again selective Base Metal and Western Oil trading highlighted the market. Papers staged a slight rally in Montreal. Utilities, industrials and golds climbed hesitantly.

Led by golds, the Toronto market staged a mid-afternoon comeback to regain most of the ground it had lost earlier in the day. In Montreal, too, golds were higher. Papers led all other groupings lower.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 1.46 at 333.78, golds up .8 at 80.85, base metals down .67 at 180.74 and Western Oils up .25 at 106.77.

In the Montreal averages, papers were off 2.85 at 816.86, industrials up .7 at 231.1, golds up .88 at 82.86, banks off .38 at 28.95, utilities off .3 at 86.6 and combined up .3 at 182.9.

In New York the Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 50 cents to $96.20.



FRED ROSE, released from St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary in Montreal, Thursday, August 9th, relaxes at his home. The balding, ex-Member of Parliament imprisoned in 1946 for the part he played in the Soviet spy ring in the metropolis, said it was a "glorious feeling" to be back home. Apart fro that, he refused to discuss politics or any future plans. Waiting for him were his wife and 15-year-old dauhter, Laura.

Need Canadians

MONTREAL, Aug. 11 (CP)—New England potato growers hope to get 3,000 Canadians as seasonal agricultural workers to help pick the main crop, it was learned Friday. And Canada has agreed to try and find this number of temporary workers in Quebec and New Brunswick. This was the highlight of a day-long session between representatives of the New England potato growers and employment officials of the United States and Canada.

Slander Suit

DETROIT, Aug. 11—(CP)—An $800,000 slander suit has been filed against Alfred Stern, technical director of Detroit's 250th Birthday Festival, by a rival who lost out in his bid for the job. Arthur J. Beer, a designer and producer of exhibits, conventions, festivals and jubilees, charges Stern thwarted his bid for the post by making slanderous statements about him to festival officials.

Need Farm Hands

REGINA, Aug. 11 — (CP) — Spokesmen for the National Employment Office here said Friday that Saskatchewan will need some 2,000 farm hands from Eastern Canada as the 1951 harvest — already started in places — gets into swing. A special farm labor office in Regina has placed 50 applicants on district farms. Fletcher Robinson, in charge of the office, said supply is "almost" up to demand.

Find No Secrets In Norman's Past

OTTAWA, Aug. 11 (CP)—The external affairs department said Friday it has had full knowledge of its UN delegation chief's association with the Institute of Pacific Relations, an organization under United States Congressional inquiry.

The acting delegation head—E. H. Norman—has been named before a US Congressional committee as a former member of a "Communist study group" in the US in 1939. The department said Thursday he has been cleared of any Communist suspicion by a double security check.

Friday, a Washington report said he had been linked with the IPR, a private research institution studying far eastern problems, some of whose members have been subject to attack on the ground of alleged left-wing leanings.

The department, through a spokesman, said Friday the security investigation that gave Mr. Norman a clean bill of health on loyalty had been conducted in the full knowledge of his connection with the Pacific Relations Institute.

Hit By Bullet

MALTON, Aug. 11 (CP) — A stray bullet struck John Thomas, 26, of Hamilton, in the right arm Friday as he carried a pail of drinking water to workmen building a jet engine plant here. Thomas threw the pail to the ground and, with his fingers, dug the bullet out of his arm. He was taken to a doctor for treatment.

Dies From Burns

TORONTO, Aug. 11 (CP) — William Polischuk, 26, died Friday night of burns suffered Thursday night when he touched a hydro wire carrying 13,200 volts. He had been cleaning equipment on top of a substation transformer.

Extend Term

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP) —The Senate approved Friday another two years term for Gen. Omar Bradley as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Pipe 70 Canadians Aboard Plane

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—(CP)—The pipe-and-drum band of the Argyll and Sutherland Regiment of Hamilton Friday night piped 70 Canadian members of three Canadian and American Scottish clan organizations aboard an Edinburgh-bound plane.

Sixteen members ofgthe Hamilton group, headed for a gathering of the clans, boarded the British Overseas Airways plane at 8.07 p.m. EDT. The other 12 were to leave Friday.

Also aboard was Catherine B. Ritchie, of St. Catharines, Grand President of the Women's Auxiliary of the Order of Scottish Clans.

2nd Largest Harvest Predicted In US

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP) —The second largest harvest of food, livestock feed and fibre crops in American history now is in prospect.

Reporting this Friday, the Agriculture Department said it was true despite heavy regional losses caused by mid-western floods.

But for those losses, over-all crop production might be headed for a record surpassing the 1948 peak.

Gets Biggest Contract

OTTAWA, Aug. 11 — (CP) — Canadair Limited, of Montreal, copped the biggest contract Friday as the Defence Production Department announced $15,000,000 worth of new defence orders. The big Montreal aircraft company, manufacturers of the F-86 Sabre jet fighter, was awarded a $3,400,000 order covering repair and reconditioning of RCAF planes and engines.

Bandmaster Dies

TORONTO, Aug. 11 (CP) — George Sainsbury, 76, a leading Canadian bandmaser and former mayor of suburban Weston, died Friday night. He organized the Weston boys' band which won many top prizes in competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition. During the First World War, he was bandmaster of the 220th battalion of the Canadian army and the headquarters band at Military District No. 2, Toronto.

Flight Cadets Receive Wings

SUMMERSIDE, PEI, Aug. 11—(CP)—The largest group of flight cadets to receive their wings since the end of the Second World War —the exact number is shrouded in security regulations — was graduated Friday from the RCAF Navigation School here, to complete another phase in Canada's war preparedness scheme.

"We know," said Air Commodore J. G. Bryans, of Kenora, Ont., Deputy Air Member for Air Plans at Ottawa, "that the way to avoid another war is to make it too costly for the other fellow. That is the reason for this group."

Commodore Bryans said toviewing officer at the graduating parade of two classes of regular flight cadet trainees and the first university flight cadet course to graduate from an RCAF navigation school.

Commodore Bryans sai dtoday's graduates would help form the backbone of Canada's air force training scheme if the country had to mobilize for war.

PO William Colotelo, of Sarnia, summed up the views of most of the graduates.

"We're not idealists but we see an opportunity to aid Canada while helping ourselves," he said.

Stay In Toronto Busy For Princess

TORONTO, Aug. 1 — (CP) — Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will have a busy 40-hour stay in Toronto if their itinerary includes all the points of interest suggested Friday by city council members.

Nine aldermen and one controller were asked for their opinions. The result was 29 suggested place for the royal couple to visit here.

Ideas included visits to the art gallery, city hall, University of Toronto (largest university in the Commonwealth), Hospital for Sick Chifdren, the new subway and the Prince Edward viaduct, named after Princess Elizabeth's uncle.

Serving Sentence

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 11 (AP)—Dick Contino, $4,000-a-week accordion player, Friday started serving his six-month sentence for draft dodging. Contino pleaded guilty to draft evasion and was sentenced this week in San Francisco. He was also fined $10,000.

Condition Critical

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP) —The condition of Stephen T. Early is critical, Dr. Paul Dickens, said Friday night. The former White House press secretary spent a restless day, the doctor added. Early suffered a heart attack last Tuesday. He now is vice-president of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company.

40 PC of Dead Reburied

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP) — Approximately 40 per cent of the United States' Second World War dead have been returned to this country at the request of relatives, an official said Friday. Harold A. Keats, member of the US commission on battle monuments, said that by the choice of next-of-kin the other 60 per cent will remain at US cemeteries overseas.

Fewer Trains

STOCKHOLM — (CP) — The Swedish State Railways will cancel 150 train runs on Sept. 1 because of shortage of coal and the lag in delivery of new electric locomotives.

BOY MEETS BIRD—When Fred Svensson found a baby hawk near his Edmonton home ,he took it home and raised it as a pet. Now nearing its full growth, the bird will perch on Freds arm.

BC Barber Enjoys Visit With Viscount Alexander

VANCOUVER, Aug. 11—(CP) —Barber Tony Villa, in the tonsorial tradition, carried on a brisk conversation Friday with Viscount Alexander while he clipped the Governor-General's hair.

He also gave the Governor-General's two sons, Shane and Brian, "a trim and a bit off the top."

The Governor-General, who arrived by private railway coach, later boarded Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace's yacht Walithy, bound up the British Columbia coast for a 10-day fishing trip.

Villa said:

"We talked of Italy where I had been visiting up to a month ago. He asked me how things are there now. I told him they were rebuilding the bridges of Florence and the Monastery at Cassino.

"We remarked on the fact that he had seen the destruction while I had seen the reconstruction.

"He knew more about the country than I do.

"I was talking to the boys about their fishing trip and they were very excited. I asked them if they were good fishermen and they answered with a laugh: 'We think we are.' "

Villa arrived here 50 years ago from his native Italy.

The Governor-General slipped unobtrusively into and out of the city. No civic officials were on hand to meet him.

Autumn At Best For Royal Visit

MONTREAL, Aug. 11—(CP)— When Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh take time out from their Canadian tour duties to rest in late October they will be in the Montreal area at a time when the Laurentian Highlands are at their best.

Just where the royal couple will go has not been announced. But if the frosts come at the right time, and the couple decides to go to the mountains, they will find them at their colorful autumn best.

There are places almost without number where they could vacation and obtain quiet.

The highway to the mountains in the late autumn is usually something no traveller ever forgets as the colors shift with every yard of progress, first over the flat lands of the St. Lawrence River Valley and then up into the vari-patterned slopes of the Laurentians themselves.

Throb Of Tom-Toms As "Treaty" Signed

FORT WILLIAM, Aug. 11 (CP). —The throb of tom-toms echoed from stockade walls Thursday as a "treaty" was signed and a shrine to the robust era of the fur-trader was set aside for the use of an international public.

The event was the dedication of Grand Portage, Minn., about 60 miles southwest of here, as a national historic site.

Among those present were Premier Frost of Ontario, L. V. MacRae, president of the Thunder Bay Historical Society and Harry T. Kendall, President of the Minnesota Historical Society.

To Spend $300,000 On Publicity Program

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que., Aug. 11 (CP)—A directors' session of the Dairy Farmers of Canada Friday approved a $300,000 publicity program for 1951-52.

Publicity funds are raised from all dairy producers who pool one cent for each pound of butter sold during June.

Friday's session ended the two-day D.F.C. meeting here. The annual general meeting will be held next January in Montreal when officers will be elected.

Remanded For Week On Robbery Charge

WINDSOR, Aug. 11 —(CP)— Henry Perreault, was remanded Friday for one week on a charge of armed robbery. Police allege Perreault stole $9,000 at the point of a gun in the Kelsey Wheel robbery June 25 "together with one John Edward McKay and another person as yet unknown."

McKay is in the custody of Hamilton police awaiting trial there on a charge of escaping custody following his arrest in early July on suspicion of the Windsor robbery.

He was also sentenced last week in Toronto to five years in the penitentiary for carrying a revolver and pointing it at the Toronto constable who arrested him.

On Third Cruise

HALIFAX, Aug. 11 (CP) — The frigates La Hulloise and Swansea and the destroyer Crescent will sail from Halifax Monday on their third and last summer cruise to the United Kingdom. The ships will carry nearly 150 cadets of the university naval training divisions. The Swansea will visit her namesake—Swansea, Wales—for an informal two-day visit, while the La Hulloise and Crescent are visiting Plymouth.

US Mentally-Ill Patients Have Better Prospects

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A person entering a mental hospital in the United States today has better than a 50-50 chance of getting well.

The Council of State Governments in a comprehensive report just issued on the mental-health problems of the 48 states says for certain types of mental illness, the chances of improvement or complete recovery now are better than they ever were.

Research achievements are pooled to raise standards of treatment through the "clearing house" of the American Psychiatric Association.

Here's what the council found in its survey of 190 hospitals:

In general, psychotherapy, a system of verbal interviews between doctor and patient, is given on an individual basis but more that one-half the hospitals now are using some form of group psychotherapy. The latter sometimes takes the form of "psychodrama" in which the patients act out their problems.

All but 10 hospitals use electric shock treatment to some extent.

More than half also use "insulin shock" treatment to some extent.

The majority of the surveyed hospitals employ "surgery" on some of their patients, a specialized form of brain surgery, which involves severing certain connections in the brain.

Another form of therapy called "narcosis," involving artificial, prolonged sleep, is used by only 18 state hospitals.

Fewer Restrains

The council said there are indications of "A more humane and restricted use of restraints than has been the case in the past."

"Restraints" of course are various devices including straitjackets. Only 13 of the hospitals reported they still use a device called the "lock chair".

Sixty-two hospitals use restraining straps; 96 employ belts or wristlets, but the report finds "many" use camisoles, something like a restraining cloth band.

The council reports evidence of an increasing number of "family-care" programs for patients on the road to recovery. Often a family other than the patient's own is selected on the theory that the patient's basic trouble may have stemmed from his home enviroment.

At the time of the council's report 74 hospitals in 16 states had about 3,600 patients under this "family care". New York State's program in this respect was rated as one of the most active.

Check Clothing Sent To Korea

TORONTO, Aug. 11 —(CP)— Diapers and towels — not brassieres and old spats—are the chief items the United Church of Canada includes in its clothing shipments to Korea.

The Rev. J. R. Leng, chairman of the church's overseas relief committee, said Friday that all shipments are carefully examined before they leave the country.

He was commenting on a news dispatch this week from Korea by Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff wri etr ,w wotoher shr cmf shrrf writer, who wrote that cast-off corsets and brassieres, old spats and spike shoes are among the useless items being sent in relief shipments to Korea.

Articles shipped by the United Church include: layettes, towels and diapers for the babies; girls and boys clothing; women's dresses, underclothing, coats and sweaters.

Total shipment to Korea: 58 tons.

Flooded By Requests For Birth Certificates

TORONTO, Aug. 11 —(CP)— Every day, between 2,000 and 3,000 applications for birth certificates flood into the office of the Ontario Registrar-General. Most come from persons who need them in applying for old-age pensions. Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar said Friday the staff and machinery at the office are equipped to put out only 1,000 of the little plastic certificates each day. He said that from now on the applications will be handled strictly in the order they are received.

Kennedy Says Ontario Market For Alberta

EDMONTON, Aug. 11 (CP)— Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said here Friday there are big markets for Alberta coal, feed grain and livestock in Ontario.

He said the population of Ontario, growing fast, needs more farm products.

"This year we shall need 60,000,000 bushels of feed grain from the west." Ontario would also need 150,000 cattle, large supplies of potatoes and British Columbia apples.

South Africa Expands Forces To Meet Obligations

PRETORIA — (CP)—With the return of defence minister F. C. Erasmus from the recent defence talks in London, South Africa for the first ime in its history has peace-time military commitments outside its borders.

The extent of South Africa's commitments and the contributions she will make to the general defence of the Middle East are of course military secrets. But observers believe South Africa should be able to make initial contribution to Middle East defence at least as large as that it was making at the end of the Second World War.

The Union now has the largest and best-equipped armed forces it has ever had in peace time. The nationalist government led by Dr. Daniel Malan, with the co-operation of the opposition has maintained and expanded the efficient war machine that the late General Jan Smuts created in the teeth of nationalist opposition in the war years.

Mr. Erasmus himself has no doubts about the ability of South Africa to meet its new commitments, and he has stated that the union's plans have commended themselves to the two powers most closely concerned, Britain and the United States.

Great Expansion

The South African Air Force and Navy provide the two most striking examples of the union's present preparedness, compared with 1939.

At the outbreak of the Second World War, the air force consisted of a bomber squadron flying obsolete macaines. The union now has 15 squadrons with modern air craft and men who have learned the latest techniques of air warfare in Korea.

In 1939, South Africa's naval forces mustered three officers, 13 men—and no ships.

The South African navy now has 16 ships, including a destroyer recently bought from Britain, 70 officers and more than 700 men.

With white South Africa united behind the defence policy of the government, the potential manpower of the land forces is greater than it was in either of the two world wars.

And the defence machine is geared for action should an emergency arise. A defence act was passed in the recent session of parliament to make mobilization more flexible. It also makes it possible for any member of the union defence force to serve outside South Africa as a volunteer. In the last war, a special measure had to be introduced to cover this and men had to enlist specially for overseas service.

Army Set-Up

The union defence force is made up of a permanent force, with an armored brigade group as its hard core, an active citizen force and a rifle commando organization.

The active citizen force has no exact equivalent in other parts of the Commonwealth, but resembles the British Territorials. Part-time training in it is compulsory for every fit youth from the age of 17 to 25. Active citizens force units also train in the air force and the navy.

The force is organized on the basis of two armored untis with various coastal defence and anti-aircraft regiments and certain corps units. There are some 150 rifle commandos, mustering 80,000 citizens. These are mainly in the country districts and include some of the finest marksmen in the world. One of their main functions will be internal security. Their role will be similar to that of the home guard in Britain in the last war.

A South African marine corps is to be established, it was announced recently, and marine officers may be borrowed from Britain to help in its formation.

Mr. Erasmus has promised that a new uniform will be specially designed for South Africa's marines—a prospect which traditionalists view with misgiving. He has even cast a critical eye on the ceremonial dress of the union's Scottish regiments and ever since he came into office South Africa's "Highlanders" have been desperately clutching their kilt and preparing to defend it to the last pleat.

Dollar A Year Men In Ottawa

Ottawa observers say Government departments are beginning to look like wartime again with so many "dollar-a-year" men around. Actually, the borrowed American term is not quite applicable. Canada's statutes do not require that such men as industrial experts loaned by companies for Government work be paid anything to legally ensure that they work for the Government and not for their companies. Many of these industrial and business administrators on loan to Ottawa do not draw any Government salary—one dollar or ten thousand. Some, like steel director K. S. Harris and non-ferrous metals director Frank Hewett get no salary from any source; both have independent incomes. Others continue to draw salaries from their companies. Some, like J. M. Cochrane, director of mechanical transport for the Department of Defence Production, on loan from Ford of Canada (of which company he is a vice-president) will not accept even expenses. Incidentally, the expense accounts of Canada's "dollar-a-year-men" are not grandiose; they are on the same scale as those allowed civil servants. There is not the joke in Ottawa that there used to be in wartime Washington that a man got a dollar a year in salary and thirty thousand for expenses.

* * *

Ottawa now has more than eighty "dollar a year men", most of them called to the capital by Defence Production Minister Howe. Among them are: the big lumberman of Canada, H. R. McMillan, a former wartime controller and now Canadian representative of the NATO Production Board; Dr. O. B. Hopkins, vice-president of Imperial Oil who is petroleum director; William Cunningham, general manager of the Red Barge Line of Vancouver, the new shipping director; Crawford Gordon, president of English Electric of Canada and vice-president of John Inglis, who is a production co-ordinator. Ian F. McRae, works manager of the Peterborough plant of Canadian General Electric is among the hierarchy; he is guns director for the Department of Defence Production.

* * *

Why does the Government want to get the services of such men? The reason is obvious; they are experts in their special branches and can bring to the Government department exceptional experience in administration, business and production. Why are the companies prepared—and even eager—to let some of their top men leave the company's service temporarily, and yet continue to pay their salaries? The Government is getting for nothing, services which companies are paying thousands of salary dollars to provide. Why? Company heads prefer to deal with government officials who understand the industry's problems, limitations and capacities; men who have a practical rather than an academic civil service knowledge of business and industry and world commerce in their products. They are glad to have their own men go to Ottawa.

* * *

Are these men serving two masters—the Government and their own companies? Yes; but they are big enough to be able to do both and to serve both well. Their patriotism cannot be questioned; and if they ever had to choose between the interests of their company and of their country, their country's good would be first. Even though the companies may be paying the salaries, they do not call the tune. The Cabinet and permanent heads of departments do that; and the dollar-a-year men have long been sufficiently elevated in incomes not to have to put their own salaries above their duties.

* * *

Dollar-a-year men have their limitations and disadvantages. It is all very well to say "Run the government in a businesslike way". But the basic fact is that business and government are two different things entirely. Too much business in Government, and too hard-and-fast business methods could ruin good government as quickly as too little. The practical businessman's view is inclined to be narrow (because it is 'practical') and his motives limited by the primary demand of business: to make a profit. But Canada's experience during the last war with these industrial and commercial experts was good. The country could not have got along as well as it did had they not been in Ottawa. Their presence in the capital again is reassuring.

An Illinois man has sued for divorce because his wife made a quilt of his four-in-hands. Cutting home ties, in short.

U.N. Organization Under Fire

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) has spent $34,000,000 since 1946. Next year it will spend $8,500,000. British and French critics have recently asked if UNESCO is not spending more money than the results of its work show. Viscount Simon, former British Foreign Minister has grumbled that "they keep books in haphazard manner." United Nations expenses for many member countries whose economies have been disrupted by war are heavy to bear. Britain, for instance, pays one-eighth of all U.N. costs, and thus an eighth of the millions UNESCO has spent. Canada has a financial interest in how and where U.N. money goes too. It is the seventh largest contributor. It is assessed 3.2 per cent. of U.N. expenses.

UNESCO has been called by one European editor a "crackpot's carnival." Some European critics claim that the chief beneficiaries of UNESCO are its employees. They get big salaries. They are paid travelling expenses to and from all parts of the world, and get a daily allowance of $25, tax free. They also get whisky, wine and cigarettes duty-free, and other diplomatic privileges. A Paris investigator says he has discovered that:

The organization seriously put forward a plan to take information criticising any country out of schoolbooks throughout the world. It supplied cash to numerous strange causes, including a search for mythical Inca treasure. It suggested a new Garden of Eden on the Amazon river, the funds to be supplied by members of the United Nations. It studied the case of an African tribe which extracted the front teeth of children so they could pronounce words of the native dialect.

He discovered that Miss Myrna Loy, the Hollywood actress, a member of the organization, was concerned with explaining to the world certain national customs—such as why Englishmen always carry umbrellas. John Gordon, editor of The Sunday Express, London, who is attacking UNESCO as a useless and wasteful group, suggests Miss Loy explain why Americans chew gum.

Last year a retired English politician in France found it difficult to bring money from England for his living expenses. He knew officials of the UNESCO and succeeded in having himself nominated to its Paris staff. He draws $1,500 a month. When he travels he is paid expenses of $25 a day. He has been repeatedly to New York. Wishing to spend a holiday this summer in North Africa he applied for and received travelling expenses from UNESCO.

Thus are damaging charges being hurled at UNESCO. Its Director-General is Torres Bodet, a Mexican poet who draws $20,000 a year as salary and has a large expense account and other privileges. Incidentally, all salaries are paid in U.S. currency, currency which Britain, France and Canada, among other nations who contribute to the support of UNESCO, have difficulty in finding.

One reason for this tarring of UNESCO is that politicians and so-called "practical" men are usually chary of the intangible. They want "results" that they can value in dollar and cents, and they want results which they can include in annual statistical reports. Therefore UNESCO, whose field is the care and betterment of men's minds and human society, often meets with contemptuous suspicion.

UNESCO has numerous remarkable achievements to its credit; for instance its work in the education of Arab refugee children from Palestine. It has established forty schools in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan, and 21,000 children are being provided an education superior to primary education in the Arab states. Actually, UNESCO's aims are so high, its field so vast and important, that the $34,000,000 already allocated to it since 1946 is niggardly. It cannot succeed in its purpose—and the purpose of the 59 member states which set it up—if it has insufficient funds. What is the purpose of UNESCO? It is suggested in a noble sentence of Mr. Attlee, quoted in the preamble to its constitution: "Since wars begin in men's minds, it is in the minds of men that the defences of peace must be constructed." If UNESCO can build these defences by spending only a particle of the money the waging of one day of war costs, then UNESCO is indeed worthy of preservation and the sums provided it.

British Death Duties

The British are taxed pretty heavily in life; in death the rate is enormous. The estate of Sir George Holcroft, who died last April, has just been probated. He had been chairman of the Littleton Collieries before the Labour Government nationalized the coal mines. He left a fortune of £1,176,313 ($3,528,939). Death duties on this have now been paid, totalling £910,882 ($2,732,646). Thus of an estate valued at more than three and a half million dollars, the State took all but $792,293. It will thereafter nibble chunks of this from the inheritors, by way of capital levy.

If social legislation is not lifting the poor in Britain, certainly taxation is doing away with the rich. It is no more possible in Britain today for a person to inherit great wealth than it is for him to amass in his own lifetime a fortune the size of Sir George Holcroft's. Income and corporation taxes are preventing one, death duties the other.

The obituary of a Westerner says that "he learned well-digging from the bottom up." We always understood that well-digging was one of those trades where you begin at the top.

War And Friendship

By ROBERT E. SHERWOOD

(Ed. Note: Robert E. Sherwood, who herewith reviews Churchill's latest volume of wartime memoirs for the Peterborough Examiner and the London Observer, is the noted author and playwright, and during the war was a member of President Roosevelt's personal staff.)

MR. CHURCHILL'S fourth volume of Second World War memoirs "The Hinge of Fate", has already been published in the United States, where it has been widely acclaimed as the best of the series so far. Perhaps some of this enthusiasm is due to the understandable interest of Americans in their own part in the war; and it was in the period covered by "The Hinge of Fate", 1942 and half of 1943, that American forces first joined in combat with our enemies on an appreciable scale. Even so, I doubt that English readers will be any less enthralled by this superb story of the progress from bewildering, humiliating defeat to the tremendous victories of Midway, Alamein, Stalingrad, Tunisia and the prolonged Battle of the Atlantic, which in the space of a year reversed the course of human events.

The disastrous events of the first half of 1942 are recorded with grim accuracy, and with no attempts to explain away much that is still, even at this late date, inexplicable. The story of the turn towards victory, "the end of the beginning," is told with exuberance, relish and, it is needless to add, eloquence.

* * *

IT may be complained that "The Hinge of Fate," for all its 917 pages, is not nearly long enough; Mr. Churchill skims over some of the mulititudinous developments in a rather cursory manner, as if he were in a great hurry (which, heaven knows, he had sufficient reason to be, and it seems churlish to be asking for more). It may also be complained that the title of the book implies a certain misapplication of credit for the great reversal. The three who were principally responsible for this hinge were not the sombre sisters, Clotho, Lachesis and Atropos; they were Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin, who took the shaping of destiny into their own hands.

* * *

CONSIDER the record of travels by Very Important Persons, chiefly Mr. Churchill himself, during this critical period when the seas were nowhere safe from enemy action and nor was the air anywhere within range of the European continent:

January, 1942—Churchill flew home from Washington after three weeks with the President during which were established, among other things, the grand strategy for the entire war, the organization of the Combined Chiefs of Staff and the Joint Boards for control of munitions assignment, production, shipping, food, raw materials and other resources, and the concept of the United Nations was first proclaimed; April — Harry Hopkins and General Marshall flew to London to discuss with the Prime Minister and staff the plans for opening a Second Front in France; May — Molotov visited London and Washington for discussion not unrelated to the same topic; June—Churchill again to Washington (his description of the morning when news of the fall of Tobruk came to the White House is extraordinarily moving and fills one with a sense of nostaglia for those days when good friends were not hesitant to behave as such); July—Hopkins and the United States Chiefs of Staff to London, from which meetings came the decision for the landings of Anglo-American forces in North Africa; August—Churchill, accompanied by Averell Harriman (who is still on tour), flew to Cairo, where he transferred the desert command to Generals Alexander and Montgomery, and thence to Moscow for his first meetings with Josef Stalin.

January, 1943—the Casablanca Conference, followed by the Prime Minister's flight to Adana to meet the heads of the Turkish Government (for whom he had prepared a statement which "was meant to be a wooing letter containing an offer of platonic marriage from me and the President"); March—Anthony Eden to Washington; May—Churchill and complete staff again across the Atlantic (this time on the Queen Mary, along with some 6,000 German prisoners) for another full-dress, top-level conference in Washington, followed by a Churchill flight with General Marshall to confer with General Eisenhower in North Africa.

* * *

WHEN the Anglo-American principals were not meeting face to face, they were constantly in direct communication (as opposed to the usual diplomatic "channels") by cable or letter. The Roosevelt-Churchill correspondence is surely unique in all history, and may well be forever so. One cable from Roosevelt consisted of the word "Hurrah"; Churchill's reply was somewhat more fulsome, reading, "O.K., full blast." When, in the winter of 1943, Churchill was temporarily inconvenienced by a severe attack of pneumonia, Roosevelt wrote him, "Please, please, for the sake of the world, don't overdo these days."

In the light of the present world situation readers will probably take especial interest in Mr. Churchill's description of his first encounters with Stalin, "the great Revolutionary Chief and profound Russian statesman and warrior with whom for the next three years I was to be in intimate, rigorous, but always exciting, and at times even genial, association." Stalin revealed by turns a "swift and complete mastery" of the strategic problems confronting his allies, and then a capacity for insult which was next to intolerable. At their last meeting in the Kremlin, cordiality so far prevailed that Stalin suggested, "Why should we not go to my house and have some drinks?" Churchill replied that he "was in principle always in favour of such a policy."

RELATIONS with the Russians were in a constant state of flux, and one never knew whether the next wind from Moscow would be blowing hot or cold. Much depended upon the determination with which convoys were launched into the gauntlet of U-boats, surface raiders, air attacks from Norwegian bases—and great numbers of ships with their cargoes, and the lives of many British and American sailors and merchant seamen, were sacrificed to convince the Kremlin of our good faith. In one convoy, known as PQ 17, "of the thirty-four ships which left Iceland twenty-three were sunk and their crews perished in the icy sea or suffered incredible hardships and mutilation by frostbite."

During the black winter of the loss of Hong Kong, Singapore, the Philippines, and most of Indonesia and Burma, there were some painful controversies between Mr. Churchill and the Australian Government, and there were polite altercations between him and Roosevelt over Indian policy. There were the beginnings of differences with the American Chiefs of Staff, particularly Marshall, over the proposed trans-Channel assault, and these were to assume larger proportions in the two years that followed. Mr. Churchill also had some unpleasant moments in the House of Commons, culminating in July, 1942, when a vote of no confidence was moved and roundly defeated.

* * *

CONSIDERING the awful strains and stresses of those times, and the prevalent weariness of body and soul, it is quite remarkable how generally free the record is of dissensions and wranglings within the British Government or between allies. Winston Churchill will never need to berate himself, as did Mark Antony, for being too "meek and gentle"; he has never been conspicuously submissive or acquiescent; one might even go so far as to say that he is inclined at times to be contentious; and yet his ability to keep his temper and to sustain his impregnable (and mischievous) humour, in the midst of tragedy and peril, is not the least of his historic qualities.

It is a veritable godsend to posterity that he and his loyal associates, notably Lord Ismay, have been given time and energy, in the midst of innumerable other duties and concerns, to set down on paper this priceless bequest. On behalf of limitless numbers of my countrymen in the United States, and of our children and our children's children, I beg to express gratitude.

HEAT'S ON!

Pigeons And Starlings

(BRANTFORD EXPOSITOR)

IT is still summer, and that may account for some stories, silly and otherwise, that are getting on the news wires. The other day a report from Paris, France, recounted that the municipal authorities had got rid of pigeon pests by simply setting out French marigolds in the gardens. It appears that pigeons don't like the smell of these flowers. Quite logically, the account led The Expositor to suggest the planting of French marigolds in window boxes or roof gardens on, say the city hall, the post office building and a few afflicted banks. The research is being pursued further.

An even more improbable "cure" for unwanted rock doves (the real name for pigeons) is described in Leven, Fifeshire, where the corporation is desirous of getting rid of about 200 pigeons which roost in the clock tower of the town hall. The town's rat-catcher was called in but all his artifices failed. Now the authorities have resorted to desperate remedies. They have issued the rat-catcher with a dozen bottles of the best Scotch whisky—not for himself, be it understood, but to encompass the downfall of the pigeons. Their feed is to be soaked in the usquebaugh in the hope that the potent fluid will get them so intoxicated that they will be easy to catch. However, knowing the average Scot's habits of thrift and appreciation of the national beverage, let alone powers of logic, the yarn seems a trifle tall.

In the matter of bird pests, it is a toss-up between pigeons and starlings as to which head the lists. It is by interesting coincidence, therefore, to find that in Buffalo, N.Y., the works department has resorted to "fogging" as a means of driving away an estimated 10,000 starlings infesting the Depew Avenue and Starin Avenue neighborhood. Fogging consists in spraying a chemical mist into treetops and roosts. The mist drives the birds away without killing them; it appears that it kills the insects on which starlings feed.

The Buffalo campaigners are encouraged by the results to date, but one may be dubious about the method being tried at Montclair, N.J., where residents of the Glen Cove housing development are using 41 artificial owls (complete with recorded owl-hoots) to frighten thousands of starlings that have a habit of congregating in nearby trees.

All this, of course, may revive the ancient, rather boring and quite inconclusive argument at to whether starlings do more harm than good. By and large, however, it is difficult to escape the conclusion that it might have been better if the fellow who introduced starlings to this continent from Europe hadn't. And the same goes for the individual who brought in the English sparrows.

Hanging's Too Good

(Calgary Herald)

A couple of American Congressmen have introduced legislation into both Houses of Congress that would provide what they call "beast of prey" bounties. These payments of $500 would be given any person, except a police official, giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of dope peddlers.

It seems to us that these Congressmen have coined an excellent phrase for those unscrupulous characters who purvey narcotics. They are nothing but beasts of prey and should be hunted down as ruthlessly as their animal counterparts. Whether offering financial rewards for information about these parasites will do the trick is difficult to say. But any way which can be devised to track down dope peddlers is worth the trouble of investigating.

Fortunately for Canada the narcotic disease is not as widespread as in the United States. The close tab which the R.C.M.P. and local police keep on known addicts and peddlers has cut down the incidence of it here, while the fact that our police and courts have generally been vigilant, has hindered the development of large-scale, well-financed gang operations such as have been revealed in the United States.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord God; I will even gather you from the people, and assemble you out of the countries where ye have been scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel . . . And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you; and I will take the stony heart out of their flesh, and will give them an heart of flesh; that they may walk in my statutes, and keep mine ordinances, and do them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God. (Ezek. 11:17, 19,20.)

Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men: forasmuch as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart . . .

Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life . . .

Now he Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Cor. 3:2,3,5,6,17,18.)

WHY NO ADVICE ON POLIO?

Sir: With more than six polio cases reported in Peterborough, I should think that the Board of Health and the Department of Health in this city would be interested. However I have not as yet seen one word of advice which we as taxpayers might expect from this body which annually is making heavier demands on our city treasury. Have they been victims of their own folly and thinking, "It can't happen in Peterborough?"

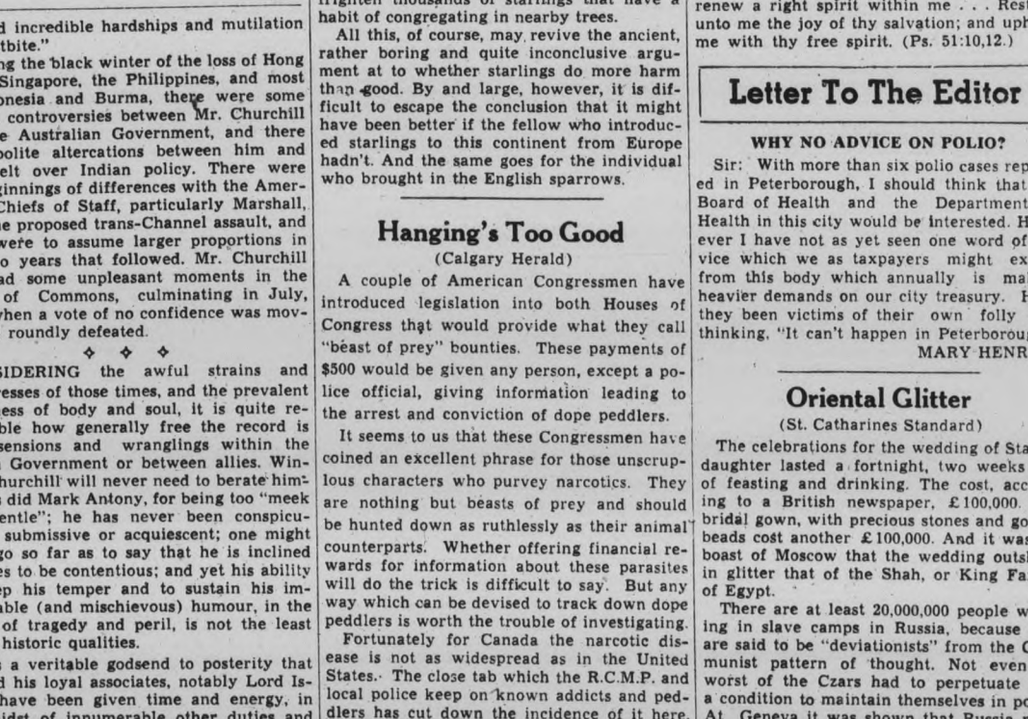
Oriental Glitter

(St. Catharines Standard)

The celebrations for the wedding of Stalin's daughter lasted a fortnight, two weeks full of feasting and drinking. The cost, according to a British newspaper, £100,000. The bridal gown, with precious stones and golden beads cost another £100,000. And it was the boast of Moscow that the wedding outshone in glitter that of the Shah, or King Farouk of Egypt.

There are at least 20,000,000 people working in slave camps in Russia, because they are said to be "deviationists" from the Communist pattern of thought. Not even the worst of the Czars had to perpetuate such a condition to maintain themselves in power. At Geneva it was shown that Russia never contributes one ruble or one nickel toward alleviation of distress anywhere to the world and, least of all, any help toward the United Nations' Children's Emergency Fund. Comment on all that is futile.



"Don't look now Tito, I think we're being followed."

FIRST BRICK HOUSE IN PETERBOROUGH, so it is believed, was the residence of James Hall, the first of Peterborough's three Sheriffs Hall. It stood facing the north side of Hunter Street, between Aylmer and the tracks. The house was built in 1848 or '49, it is said. This photograph, taken in the garden in 1865, shows members of the Hall family. The boy at right in a straw hat with narrow band is E. H. D. Hall, the second Sheriff Hall, son of James and father of Basil D. The boy leaning over to light a miniature cannon is Charlie Hall. In line with his hat and hardly visible at the back in her dark dress, is Mrs. James Hall. Next to her is her husband, in dark bowler, the owner of the house.

Hospital Founded; Regattas Dr. Barnardo's Home In '80's

By HOWARD PAMMETT, MA

After Robt. Nicholls' death in 1883, with $15,000 endowment, to be administered by the Nicholls Hospital Trust (incorporated by Ontario Act, March 25, 1886). Mrs. Nicholls appointed the trustees—R. Hall, R. Davidson, W. Manson, G. Cox, J. Flavelle, J. Stratton, and A. Poussette—to represent the main Protestant Churches. Moira Hall proved unsuitable, and in 1888 Mrs. Nicholls gave five lots in North Ward and another $35,000 toward erection of Nicholls Hospital, opened in 1890 together with a nurses' training school. At her death the same year, Mrs. Nicholls left the Trust a further $40,000 endowment; she also left $20,000 to the Protestant Home, $20,000 to the YMCA, $10,000 to the Mechanics' Institute and $117,000 to the Presbyterian Church; including gifts to the town, her public bequest totalled $300,000.

The Roman Catholic diocese bought property on the hill south of Elizabeth (Hunter) St. East, formerly occupied by Rev. J. Beck, then by Irwin the lumberman, then by Dr. Burritt and finally by Dr. Halliday; on this site the four-story St. Joseph's Hospital (25 beds) was erected, being opened in 1890. Just to the south a House of Providence was established at the same time, to look after Roman Catholic indigent and aged. In 1883 George Cox bought Hazelbrea, residence of the late A. Smith near George St. North, and gave it rent-free to Dr. Barnado of London as a home for emigrant British orphan children; Dr. Barnado sent out 150 girls and 50 boys in 1884; the same year he visited the town, and made Hazelbrae a Home for Girls, with a staff of fourteen, from which girls could be put in district employment. A news item of Aug. 17, 1889, noted: "110 girls arrived today at the Barnado Home." To aid the town's youth, a club was organized in 1881, being incorporated in 1885 at the Young Men's Christian Association under Pres. Dr. Fife, in quarters over the old post office. After Mrs. Nicholls' bequest, a YMCA building was planned. A Catholic Young Men's Association was also organized.

Other Organizations

Among other town organizations of the 1880s were: the Law Society, the Medical Association, the Grange, the WCTU, the Foresters both Ancient and Canadian, the Odd-fellows, the Good Templars, the Royal Temperance Templars, the Sunday School Teachers' Association, and the Musical & Literary Society. The Agricultural Society in 1884 accepted R. A. Morrow's offer to lease it 12 acres in the south end, and beside in the Driving Park Company leased 30 acres where a race-track was laid out.

In the realm of sport, the town was very active, and the Amateur Athletic Association was set up in 1885 to coordinate activities. The Riverside Lacrosse Club became Central Ontario champions year after year, and the Cricket Club defeated Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal teams. There were football, bicycle, baseball, snowshoe and tennis clubs functioning. The Otonabee Canoe Club under Pres. H. C. Rogers won continent-wide fame especially after the A. C. A. Regattas (where they were hosts). The Curling Club moved their rink from the Quaker site to Charlotte St. and enlarged it; in Feb., 1888 they won the Governor-General's Trophy at Ottawa. The Boat Club moved most of its activities to Chemong Lake in 1889, setting up the Chemong Lake Boat Club.

Important Events

Many important events can only be mentioned: the largest log-drive (Ullyot-Sadler) in history came down the river in June 1881, and in September serious forest fires were within two miles of town. In June 1882, 150 emigrants arrived and were all employed within a week. In June, 1882, 150 emigrants arrived and were all employed within a week. In June 1883 the first Decoration Day was observed, and in August the Fire Department Band under Finch Miller (with 21 instruments) beat 18 other bands at Toronto Exhibition to become Canadian champions; there was also the famous A. C. A. Regatta at Stony Lake. A dynamite explosion in Ashburnham in Jan., 1884, was followed by the explosion of a wagon-load of dynamite on the Lakefield Road in Sept., 1885. In 1886 local photographers Hamill & Ball were caught counterfeiting, and the town was visited by Lt. Governor Sir J. B. Robinson (Peter's brother), by Gen. Booth of the Salvation Army, by Prime Minister Macdonald, and by opposition leaders Black and Laurier. In June 1887 the Queen's Golden Jubilee was celebrated by regatta, parade, decorations and illuminations, and next month 4000 people marched in the Orange Parade, followed in August by another A.C.A. Regatta and the IOOF Grand Lodge Convention. In 1888 a noted trial resulted from a circus murder in town, and in 1889 plans were laid to make Peterborough "a winter carnival and sports centre."

Ashburnham grew from 1266 people (231 families in 231 houses) to 1674 (327 families in 325 houses) in this decade. Most numerous were the Roman Catholics, then the Anglicans, the Methodists, the Presbyterians and the Baptists. Industrial establishments increased from 24 with capital $100,980 to 26 with capital $177,645, while value of production increased from $243,125 to $510,649. In 1881 there were 92 workers with average yearly wage $291, and ten years later 108 workers with average wage $327 (a bit higher than in Peterborough). Village assessment in 1883 was about $360,000, rising in 1889 to $432,574; the tax rate rose from 12 to 14 mills. The reeve through most of the decade was John Burnham, MP; the village clerk John Wood, the treasurer A. H. Peck. When the village hall burned down, a new one was built at Mark and Elizabeth Sts. in 1889 for $5,000. Among the leading enterprises were Calcutt's brewery and steamship line (Calcutt

In compliance with recommendations of the United Nations General Assembly, Yugoslavia has been repatriating to Greece a number of Greek children removed from their homeland during the post-war guerrilla struggle in that part of the world. Above, one of the touching scenes which took place near the Greek frontier station of Idhomeni upon the reunion of a mother with her two children.

Greek Children Go Home After Long Yugoslav Exile

By a Special UN Correspondent

ATHENS—In the early hours of 24 May a section of the Orient Express crossed the Yugoslav-Greek border. As the train ground to a stop, just before daybreak, the little Greek frontier station of Idhomeni became the scene of unaccustomed activity. In addition to customs and railroad officials, a group of Greek Red Cross nurses in uniform hurried to and fro with an air of suppressed excitement. A field kitchen was in operation near the station, and a long table piled with large chunks of brown Greek bread and dripping with jam and pots and cups filled with steaming cocoa had been placed in the open next to the tracks.

The reason for all this bustling activity soon became evident as curious childish faces peered from the train's car-windows—they were the faces of 214 Greek children removed from Greece during the post-war guerrilla struggle, and now returned to their parents by Yugoslavia in compliance with the General Assembly recommendations on this problem in 1948, 1949 and 1950.

Press Excluded

By previous decision, no official reception had been prepared by the Greek Government, even press representatives being excluded. The train, to which, a special Red Cross car was not attached, soon was able to continue on its two-hour run to Salonika. Here again no special reception or ceremonies had been organized, and the children, remarkably well behaved, each with a suitcase in hand, formed in line on the station platform and were marched off without delay to the waiting buses which were to take them to the nearby children's centre.

The Children Centre of Saint Demetrios, located within extensive grounds, is one of the several centres operated by the Queen's fund for children rendered temporarily or permanently homeless.

The group of repatriated children, however, were lodged in a separate wing independent of the other buildings and entirely under the jurisdiction of the International Red Cross representatives, headed by Colonel Leo de Meyer. These children had already been officially handed over by the Yugoslav Red Cross to the representatives of the International Red Cross, in the presence of Greek Red Cross representatives, at the Yugoslav town of Arandjelovac. There a Greek doctor had certified their good state of health. Everyone agreed it had all taken place in a most cordial atmosphere. Nevertheless, it was still the International Red Cross's responsibility to see to it that the children were returned as rapidly as possible, and without intermediaries, to their parents or legal guardians, according to the agreement arrived at between the Yugoslav and Greek Red Cross societies.

Returned To Parents

Under Colonel de Meyer's constant supervision, the process of turning the children over to their parents began on the second day following their arrival, and continued for two more days. Out of the total of 214 children, 99 were boys and 115 were girls, ranging between the ages of eight and 15 except for one little girl of five and, on the other extreme, one of 20.

The formalities attending the actual surrender of the children were strictly observed. The parent or legal guardian, after being duly identified, signed in quintuplicate a statement, acknowledging receipt of the child, copies of which were forwarded to the Yugoslav Red Cross, the Greek Red Cross and the Geneva headquarters of the International Red Cross. But it was the human drama surrounding the first meeting of parents and children, after several years of separation, that really set off the occasion.

First there were the lines of parents, sitting on edge, clutching identity papers with impatience. Then at last the reunions, giving rise to touching scenes that did not fail to move the onlooker deeply. The very young children could scarcely remember their parents, but it was striking how quickly the bonds of intimate affection were restored.

Arrangements had been made allowing the parents to remain overnight at the Centre and thereby have plenty of time to firmly bind the broken family ties. Then finally came the moment when the children were taken back to their homes, mostly in small villages of Western Macedonia, there to renew lives interrupted by the play of forces of which they had been the innocent victims.

This was by far the largest number of children repatriated at one time by Yugoslavia. Previously, 21 children had been repatriated on 25 November, 1950, and 54 on 14 March of this year. Counting the latest group, a total of 289 children have been repatriated by Yugoslavia.

Joseph Keeler Granted Whole Alnwick Township For Early Colonization Experiment Before 1800

By MRS. GERALD MARRYAT

In contrast to the method of colonization employed in the settlement of Peterborough under the guidance of Peter Robinson, a vastly different arrangement, whereby the northern townships of Northumberland were originally allotted, was "an experiment in colonization in Upper Canada," described in detail by Brig.-General E. A. Cruikshank, in the Papers and Records of the Ontario Historical Society, vol. XXV, pp. 32-77. Joseph Keeler, father of the founder of Norwood (Keeler's Mill), was one of the outstanding individuals employed therein.

Joseph Keeler, "the first settler" of Colborne, was born 12 March, 1763 and died 11 July, 1839. He married Olive Scripture and their son, Joseph Abbot Keeler, afterwards founded Colborne and was a pioneer in the early development of the township of Asphodel.

The original Keeler came from Rutland, Vermont, about 1789; about 1793 he returned with forty settlers, among them the surveyor, Aaron Greeley; he built saw mills, flouring, carding and woollen mills as well as an oil mill and a distillery near the mouth of Keeler's Creek, now Colborne Harbour.

DOING HARM

It is going to get worse before it gets better. And those who are spreading the foolish notion that we can get through this period without price and wage controls are doing the country . . . harm.

—President Truman.

Besides all this, he played a very prominent part in the above mentioned "Experiment in Colonization." And, if he failed in carrying out his somewhat grandiose scheme, his actual accomplishments remain to offset his failure, which was attributable rather to a change in policy at the top rather than by a neglect of duty on the spot.

Survey Ordered

In 1791, even before the arrival of our first Lieutenant Governor, John Graves Simcoe, Lord Dorchester had ordered the townships fronting on Lake Ontario to be surveyed; and, following a method of procedure, successful in Lower Canada, had allowed whole townships to be granted to suitable companies and individuals.

Joseph Keeler was one of those individuals and to him was granted the whole township of Alnwick, which he later resigned, receiving in lieu, the township of Cramahe. That is the story . . . in brief.

What power he possessed may be guessed by the inclusion among the papers of the Hon. Peter Russell, who acted as president, after the departure of Simcoe, until the appointment of Peter Hunter, of a letter from Lt.-Col. Graham (an American) to John King, Under Secretary of State, dated 3 Nov. 1798 . . . about the time that the value of those early township grants was becoming painfully apparent to the incoming settlers in general, and in particular the importance of the township of Cramahe to the Hon. Peter Russell, as Simcoe's successor.

Third Columnist?

The extract from the above mentioned letter was as follows: "Major Lee (Aide-de-camp to General Clarke) and Joseph Keeler, both of the county of Rutland, have gone for Upper Canada, pretending to speculate in land . . . These persons were sent by the Democratic Society and paid by them to do what they can in the cause of Jacobinism in Upper Canada.

"They were said to have been sent by Col. Matthew Lyon, an Irishman who was an officer in the 'Green Mountain Boys,' during the American Revolution, a member of the Legislature and a Congressman from 1799-1801 and from Kentucky from 1803-1811.

"Major Lee and Keeler were to be found with Elijah Phelps, a Jacobin, at the landing place near the Falls of Niagara . . ."

The writer of this letter added that the intention of Keeler and his companion was to aid in a revolt against the government of Upper Canada; he added that "Governor Simcoe will remember Elijah Phelps."

Whatever suspicions were held by the letter-writer, there does not seem to have been any doubt concerning the loyalty of Elijah Phelps, who, as one of Butler's Rangers, had received large grants of land in the Niagara district, and was engaged in milling at Queenston and Niagara Falls. He lived to the age of 103 years and was buried at Fonthill. So much for him.

The case against Joseph Keeler became more understandable when we read a portion of a letter written in January of the following year by President Peter Russell himself to a relative in Ireland, Hugh Hood Farmer, who had not bestirred himself in time to arrive in Upper Canada soon enough to claim the grants of townships which Russell had earmarked for him. Indeed now, wrote the disappointed President, a very valuable township called Cramahe had once been set apart for him, but the Governor (Simcoe) moved the council to grant the appropriation to one Keeler, who was upon the spot and who promised to fill it immediately with inhabitants. Russell added in his letter that Keeler had failed in this and "the township of Cramahe shared the common fate," that of being thrown open to settlement, it would seem.

Intrigues

Keeler seems to have had the approval of Governor Simcoe. He was but 30 years of age when, at Newark, 25 June, 1793, he and his associate, James Farr and others petitioned the government for the township of Bristol, now Darlington, which Keeler, as the memorialist, considered he had every right to; but which had been granted away from him owing to the "intrigues of the person to whom it had been granted;" he further prayed that if Bristol was not available, then he wished to have the township in the rear, that of Cartwright. This petition was marked "Endorsed, to Joseph Keeler and others a township, to stand over for consultation with His Excellency, J. G. Simcoe."

On 10 July, 1793 "half a township in the rear of Haldimand was granted to him and the other half was to be reserved to him." That township was Alnwick.

We are apt to forget what conditions along the Trent River and Rice Lake were like in those days when all the country north of that water barrier was "Indian Territory," and that Northumberland and Durham was taken over by the "Gun-Shot Treaty" as lately as 1787. Not until 1818 did the Indians north of Rice Lake surrender their lands and the few settlers south of the lake were very much afraid of an Indian uprising.

Alnwick township was not, therefore, such a prize as its southern neighbors. Joseph Keeler, who seems to have been a pretty shrewd operator, was not slow to profit by the news that Cramahe township had been thrown open to settlement, owing to the failure of the original grantees, Jasper Murdock, John Andrew Graham and Silas Hodges to bring in the promised number of settlers.

He at once offered to resign his claim to the township of Alnwick if Cramahe might be granted to him in lieu. As President Russell remarked, Keeler was "the man on the spot."

In all Keeler's petitions there is evidence of a practical mind, and in his paper on "An experiment in colonization in Upper Canada" Brig. General Cruikshank pays greater attention to him than can be summed up in a short article such as this.

Other Settlement Grants

In September 1797 Keeler petitioned for 1,200 acres of land each for Isaih Hall, Aaron Wallace and Martin Keeler for having assisted him in settling the township of Cramahe; but a ruling was made that being alone the original grantee of the township of Crahame he alone was entitled to a further grant; therefore 1,200 acres was ordered granted to him, which closed his claims for this service.

Anon. MS. Lansdowne, (762)

As well as his undertaking to settle Cramahe township, Joseph Keeler was associated with Asa Danforth and Aaron Greeley in the settlement of the townships in Hamilton, Percy and Haldimand and they produced lists showing 61 settlers in Hamilton; 26 in Percy; 63 in Haldimand and 55 in Cramahe. In Haldimand, the name of Joseph Keeler occurred four times.

Six months after the Hon. Peter Russell had written so bitterly to his relative in Ireland, Augustus Jones received orders to thoroughly inspect the settlements in the above-mentioned townships; and to report on the state of the buidings and the cultivation of each lot. Joseph Keeler had, by this time, cleared 100 acres in Haldimand. Other details of the report included 28 persons in Hope, 43 in Hamilton, 53 in Haldimand, 39 in Cramahe and 14 in Percy.

Perhaps some Percy landowner may be able to add something to the claim made in July, 1796, by Elisha Baker, Junior, who drew the council's attention to the fact that the township of Percy does not contain the number of acres allowed to a township, and who prayed for a grant in the township of Murray and failing that, part of the township granted to Joseph Keeler. This was not granted, but it would be interesting to know where Elisha Baker's grant was in Percy.

Peter Smith, probably the founder of Port Hope, also wanted his 1,200 acres in Cramahe, which had before 6 July, 1796, been granted to "Keeler and Associates."

Charges of Fraud

So it is not surprising that there was a tendency to critisize the work of one on whom fortune had smile as it had on Joseph Keeler. Against the reports of Aaron Greeley and "Mr. Rogers," the surveyor, Augustus Jones, claimed that Keeler and his associates furnished additional proofs of fraud and unprincipled selfishness in not bringing in new inhabitants but in borrowing names of settlers already established elsewhere. The council therefore recommended that no further grants be made to these men, and also expressed the council's dissatisfaction in a "scathing minute" dated 1 July 1799.

President Peter Russell, who had acted as Lieut.-Governor from July 21, 1796 to August 17, 1799, may or may not have disliked Keeler; or Keeler may have been negligent; again, he may have found it more difficult than he had supposed to obtain settlers for the northern townships of Northumberland county because of the uneasiness of the inhabitants owing to their fears of an Indian uprising.

At any rate, Joseph Keeler did establish mills and open up Cramahe township. His son, Joseph Abbott Keeler, served in the war of 1812; obtained land grants in Asphodel, then open for settlement; founded Colborne; built the first mills in Asphodel at the present village of Norwood; was active in getting a road built from Colborne to Norwood over the new bridge across the Trent at Mastings; and settled friends and employees at various places forming a neucleus around which settlements sprang up.

If he was "on his own" to a far greater extent than was Peter Robinson and if his part in "An experiment in colonization" did not receive the approval of a critical governor, there is this to be noted on the credit side—it was a vastly different undertaking to bring in settlers from the United States in the closing decade of the 18th century from Peter Robinson's government assisted scheme of mass emigration from an Ireland that was suffering from famine and starvation; and to bring these emigrants through a partially settled country to Peterborough county where there was no question of an Indian uprising and where there were already many well-to-do landowners to stiffen the attitude of the newcomers in their determination to make the best of their new homes.

There is a time-lag of nearly 30 years between the world of Joseph Keeler, south of the chain formed by Rice Lake and the Trent River, and that of Peter Robinson to the north. There is still a great amount of research to be done on those early colonizers, without whose efforts there might have been no Robinson emigration in 1825.

No Let-Up in War on Japanese Beetle

By HENRY PREE

Written for NEA Service

Japanese beetles are on the rampage again and wise is the gardener who gets after them before they spoil all the bloom on the roses. Fortunately, these insects pretty much stay away from the vegetable garden although they are fond of red raspberries, beans and sweet corn.

Although not present in our garden, as yet, all shrubs and flowers will be dusted regularly. Hand picking will be indulged in when but one or two are observed on a plant.

The grown Japanese beetle works in full view from June through August. Its sole object is to devour every green thing above ground, and it has a special fondness for the leaves of the white birch, all types of maples, cherry trees, rose bushes and dahlias. Grass blades do not particularly tempt it.

In July, the female burrows into the soil to lay its eggs. In August, the eggs hatch into the worm stage. Grass roots are the mainstay of the grub diet. Well-fed grubs are content to hibernate from November through March.

In April their interest in the roots of your grass returns, and the grubs feed ravenously. In June the adult beetle emerges from the soil. The cycle begins again.

What can you do? The three principal insecticides available are chlordane, DDT and arsenate of lead. I suggest the use of one of the first two. Of the three, chlordane acts the fastest and DDT is the cheapest.

All three poisons can be dangerous if used on vegetables, so for safety's sake use rotenone in the vegetable garden.

Both chlordane and DDT may be used as a dust or in solution as a spray. Apply 5 per cent of either when dusting and the 50 per cent wettable powder if spraying is preferred.

Lead arsenate at the rate of one pound per 100 square feet of lawn area is recommended for the control of the beetle in the grub state. Mix the lead with an equal amount of milorganite, spread evenly over the lawn, then broom or rake to move the lead earthward from the grass blades, and water thoroughly.

GARDENING QUESTIONS

Q—Please suggest a robust everygreen vine tolerating partial shade.—S. R.

A—The hardy Evergreen Bittersweet, euonymus fortunei vegetus. Known also as Bigleaf Wintercreeper, this vine will cling to both masonry walls and tree trunks, and is useful as a ground cover or specimen shrub. The thick rounded evergreen leaves are attractive the year round and the pinkish orange berry-like fruit add color to the plant in autumn.

LEARN TO RECOGNIZE this arch-enemy of the gardener.

Q—How often should the rose garden be cultivated?—M. F.

A—It is best to cultivate the soil during the spring and then add a mulch to keep the soil cool and damp for the remainder of the season. Peatmoss is a popular mulch, although rotted manure or ground corn cobs may be used instead. However, where a mulch is not used, it is wise to cultivate after a rain or after watering so that the ground will not become packed and hard. This should be either shallow scratching or not over two inches deep.

Some Sport Views

By DON GRANT

Well, Cec, the sports scene in the little borough is much the same as two weeks ago when you wandered from the typewriter for two weeks' basking in the sun.

A quick glance across the picture reveals that four teams: the senior baseball, senior lacrosse, junior lacrosse and soccer teams, are still leading their various leagues. But several are holding, very shakily to slim margins.

✦ ✦ ✦

Take our senior baseball club. The ball fans in Peterborough again Friday night saw the second-place Merchants at Riverside and tonight the Merchants play hosts in the Motor City. These two games are probably the most important sports items this summer on the sports menu.

While our nine have been standing back waiting while the others play, the Merchants have been whittling away at the three-game lead. Staffords in last weekend's games in Oshawa and Toronto proved that the Merchants are not all stars. They forced the Motor City crew twice.

Later in the week the Merchants had a little pitching trouble with Croftons of Toronto. Coasting along with a healthy lead, something like 15-7 in the seventh, the Merchants were showered with baseballs in the ninth. Croftons awakened and tied the score 16-all.

In spite of the fact that Oshawa has more wins, they also have more losses, allowing the Petes to have a better average.

✦ ✦ ✦

In lacrosse our fellows have come through for the first time, winning the Ontario championship last Monday with a neat win over St. Catharines in a postponed issue. They're still winning and next Wednesday will see their windup of the schedule at home with Brampton.

If you see Lou Vitarelli shaking violently on the street, it's only his nerves. The Mimico and Niagara Falls juniors are breathing down the Petes' juniors' necks for the leadership in the junior OLA. He wants that first place position in the worst way.

From St. Catharines way, when the wind is right, you may hear moaning anytime throughout the day. The Athletics are in trouble. In the past two weeks, as though on a toboggan slide, they have slipped into fourth.

Their goalies seem to be jinxed. Bud Smith, the regular tender, suffered a painful arm injury in an industrial accident, a week ago. Then Bill Frick stopped a hot drive by Russ Slater Monday night with his head.

In the junior camp, Niagara Falls and the Petes again were mixed up in a goalie injury. While making saves which were out of this world on Lou's juniors, Justine Howe, Falls' goalie, tore a knee muscle in the final minutes. He's been out a week and so have the Falls' juniors.

✦ ✦ ✦

Watch the hot Mimico Mountaineers or the so-so Hamilton Tigers (my pick as Peterborough's opponents in the Eastern Canada finals) in the playdowns two weeks yet.

✦ ✦ ✦

I hate to tell you this (probably you'll hate me) but the football teams are practising nightly. The Orfuns under Leo Deadey at the exhibition grounds are working into shape, while Johnny Lynch has St. Petes High juniors out. Bev Goulding will have his Garnet and Greys out in a week's time.

✦ ✦ ✦

The softball teams in both the men's and women's league at the bowl are now in the playoffs. They'll be continuing on for the next week or so before the city titles are decided.

✦ ✦ ✦

The UE soccer team is now waiting for the first game of the Ontario Dominion Cup round with two Toronto teams. The cricket teams still have two more district council matches left. Besides these, there's the minor leagues in all sports.

✦ ✦ ✦

Before turning back to the general news beat, I would like to thank the various sporting teams and Fred Maybee for the assistance in the past two weeks. Take it away, Cec.

Lindsay Gains First-Place Tie

LINDSAY, Aug. 11 — Doug Loucks hurled Lindsay Merchants into a first-place tie with Bowmanville Roses by setting back Port Hope Ontarios 5-2 on three hits in a Lakeshore Intermediate Baseball League game here Friday night.

The 23-year-old righthander set a new strikeout mark of 14 as he threw no-hit ball for five of the six frames. He also clubbed a two-run triple in Lindsay's winning rally in the fourth. Ray Mann and Jack Bongard scratched singles to spoil Loucks' no-hitter in the sixth and young Jim Gilmour lined a triple to centre in the seventh.

Veteran Grant Wickett pushed his batting average to 439 and his hit total to 19 with two hits, including his ninth double in four trips. Hank Debois paced the 10-hit Lindsay attack off Long John Holman with two singles and a double for a perfect night. It was Loucks' eighth win in 11 games.

Westclox Split With Marines In Sr. Girls' Series

Westclox and the Marines divided a doubleheader Girls' City League senior softball finals Friday night in the bowl. The Westclox nine grabbed an impressive 18-3 but were turned back in the other by the Marine lasses 10-6 in a better game. The Westclox girls hold a 2-1 edge in games.

Cramming six runs across in both the fourth and sixth innings, the Westcloxers decided their win in which they grouped together 17 hits.

In the first inning the Marines went up one run on a double by M. Behan, followed by an error and a walk. A fielder's choice allowed the run to score.

But from there in the Westclox took over by timely hitting and costly errors by the Marines. They sent six across in the fourth, six in the sixth, one in the seventh and three in the ninth. Meanwhile the best the Marines could do was one each in the sixth and ninth.

M. Batley, with two singles and a double, starred at the plate for Westclox while third-base M. Owen was tops in the fielding. M. Behan had two singles, a double and a walk in five trips to the plate for the Marines.

Marines played heads up ball throughout for their 10-6 win and were the winners throughout.

Once more they started off well, scoring two runs in the first inning and then following up with another in the second. But the Westclox lasses on a single and a fly in the second notched a run and then went ahead in the third inning with three runs to make the score 4-3.

Marines didn't wait long to regain the lead and with singles by McGillen, Whittaker and Page scored two in their half of the fourth. Doubles by Behan and McGillen mixed with singles by Hart and Whittaker put the game away in the fifth with four runs. They added an assurance run in the sixth.

M. Hawthorne wacked out a home run in the eighth for the Westclox girls, scoring McIntyre who was on base with a fielder's choice.

Eleanor Whittaker, besides scattering nine hits, led the Marines at bat with six singles in seven trips. Owen and Hawthorne were the pick of the Westclox nine.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Augmented by rinks from clubs in this district, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club held its first open twilight trebles for the Review Printing Co. trophy last evening, and considering it was the first time that this beautiful trophy has been competed for, the response was quite pleasing to the committee.

The idea of playing this tournament in the evening was a good one inasmuch as it gave each and all a chance to compete.

All played 10-end games and the night was ideal.

Play began shortly after 7 o'clock and the games were finished around midnight.

Winners

First—Peterborough, G. Snowden, R. Whalen, R. Dyer, skip. Review Printing Co. Trophy and each a replica donated by Review Printing Co.

Second — Peterborough: A. Jackson, H. Taylor, A. Aitkenhead.

Third—Peterborough: F. Jones, W. Jones, R. Knox, skip.

Fourth—Peterborough: E. Martin, T. Doughty, F. Martin, skip.

Fifth—Port Hope: W. McLaughlin, V. Highfield, skip.

Tonight we have the family hour mixed rink tournament.

Mimico Edges Junior Petes Move Closer To First Spot

Either dazed by the perfume donated to the women or tired from Thursday night's game with Toronto Maitlands, the junior Petes faltered in the fourth quarter of Friday's game with Mimico and lost 13-10.

The win placed the second-place Mimico within striking distance of the league-leading Petes who Friday were well off their game, especially in the last session. They looked far from a top place team failing to get the draw on faceoffs and not grabbing loose balls which Mimic made pay off.

Start Badly

Lou Vitarelli's boys started off on the wrong foot and quickly slipped behind in the first quarter 4-2. But they returned to their first place style in the second quarter outplaying Mimico and outscoring them 5-1 for a 7-5 half time score for the Petes.

Then the game seemed to change completely as referees Tiger Hewitt and Bun Hill began to fill the penalty box with slashing, tripping, elbowing and fighting penalties. The play closed nearly to a standstill as at times there were four men in the box.

Again Mimico carried a slight edge on the play and nearly tied the Petes at the three-quarter mark 10-9.

Then Mimico took advantage of every break offered, grabbing all the loose balls and taking the faceoffs. This paid off.

Mimico Go Ahead

Rock picked off an easy goal on the edge of his crease in two minutes of the fourth. Kelly followed up later with a long screen shot from directly in front of the net, to put Mimico up again 11-10. While Barager was sitting in the penalty box for slashing Sandford broke loose and took a long pass from MacIntyre to score. Rock cut the game away at the 12-minute mark, grabbing a loose ball on the crease.

Two minor fights gave the crowd of 500 a few thrills as Doug Powell and Kelly teed off late in the third to earn markers. Still in a fighting mood, Powell again opened up with the fists in the fourth with Hodson. This time the referees quickly stepped between them. Only minor penalties were awarded.

Tigers Wallop Torontos 15-7 In Lacrosse Tilt

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto West Yorks' slim hope of making the senior lacrosse play-offs faded in Hamilton, where the Tigers wound up their home schedule by drubbing the West Yorks 15-7. The Tigers, tied for second place with Mimico, have two out-of-town games to play before the schedule ends.

St. Catharines Athletics came from behind in the final period to beat Fergus Thistles 13-12 in Fergus. However, the victory was not sufficient to move the Athletics up from fourth place.

The Hamilton victory was the Tigers' 12th in their last 16 starts. Defenceman Merv McKenzie scored four Tiger goals, Blain McDonald and Doug. Davidson three each, Jack Dorney two goals and an assist, and Les Digby, Don McFarlane and Jack Gair one apiece. Frank Facto tallied three times for West Yorks, Jim McNulty twice and Jack Howes and Leo Teatro got singles.

Three-goal Flurry

A three-goal flurry in the final quarter enabled St. Catharines to take Fergus into camp. Thistles took a one-goal lead into the last period but the Athletics broke away from them.

Croft led the St. Catharines scoring with three goals. Nelson and Howe each potted two, while D. Smith, Uhrynuk, McNulty, Oneschuck, Bird and Melville got singles. For Fergus, Don Campbell led with four, Harris tallied twice and singles scorers were McWhirter, Kazarian, Chambers, Abbott, Smith and Lumley.

Dadson Wins Second 5-2 Over the Oshawa Merchants To Preserve Viaduct Lead

Peterborough staved off an attack by the Oshawa Merchants Friday night for the first place position in the Viaduct Major league. Eddie Whitehill's nine defeated the Merchants 5-2 for their 24th win of the season and before the season's largest attendance, close to 2,000. The Petes have lost but four.

Lefty Bill Dadson picked up his eighth win of the year against no defeats in chalking up his second straight win over the strong Merchants. He handcuffed the Merchants on August 2 for a 4-2 win on four hits.

Dadson gave up five hits last night, struck out four and was never in difficulty despite five walks, while his mates gave him fine support afield. Two excusable scores were charged to Petes and one to Oshawa as the top teams gave a preview of playoffs under the arcs. Merchants used three twirlers with lefty Grant Coates charged with the loss after relieving Bob Carlston to start the fourth; Coates gave up three runs on as many hits in less than two frames.

Peterborough took a two-run lead in the third as Carlston walked Menzies and Dadson, Lowrey sacrificed and Golden shot a long double to the fence near the right field foul line. Coates replaced Carlston and after one good inning, Rowland bobbled Dadson's grounder and Lowrey hit safely through second; Garvey sacrificed neatly and Golden and Brabin walked to force in Dadson. Huntley promptly singled to centre to score Lowrey and Golden and give Peterborough a comfortable lead. Miller replaced Coates at this juncture.

Oshawa scored a pair in the seventh as Charlie Walsh drew a pass; Dick Berning poled a long drive over the right field fence for a homer. Dadson steadied down, however, Cook grounded to Milne and Napolatano flied to Garvey to end the inning.

Fielding features were supplied by Hosay Morales on Brabin's infield in the seventh and a neat double play, Napolatano to Morales to Rowland on Stewart's rap to end the fifth. Lowrey, Huntley and Brabin featured in the outer garden for Petes, particularly the fleet Lowrey, while Golden had one putout and five assists in a sparkling night's play. It was a good game all the way.

Petes Drop Game To Mimico 13-10 As Wipper Takes 11 Stitches

MIMICO, Aug. 11—(Special)—Peterborough's pet hate Donnie McPhail is at it again as he cut down Harry Wipper early in the third period of Friday night's game at the Drummond St. bowl.

The Timber Structures, without Wipper's services for the balance of the game, appeared disorganized as they lost a 13-10 decision to the Mounties.

It was an accidental clip that laid Wipper low as he faked his shot 'ducked' and attempted to go round McPhail. The flying Scot, his stick carrying high, had no chance to stop its motion as Harry ducked into it and he was carried off the field and to St. Joseph's hospital where he received 11 stitches.

The game was a close affair from the start to the end of the third quarter but in the fourth stanza, the usually reliable Jerry Fitzgerald allowed McPhail to knock the stick out of his hand and while Fitz was recovering, McPhail took a pass from Bud Stock to knot the count at 9-9.

Missed Chance

Fitzgerald had a chance to atone just seconds later as Hildebrand got a breakaway and passed near the Mimico defence but Fitzgerald, with only the goalkeeper to beat, missed the ball completely and Kenny Dixon broke away to put Mimico ahead 10-9 and they never relinquished that lead.

The red hot battle between Wipper and MacPhail for the scoring honors continues and Harry tallied twice before his injury while McPhail got two goals and an equal number of assists on the night although the 10-minute penalty meted him by Referee Fitzgerald possibly stopped him from adding to that total.

Mimico led 2-1 at the end of the first quarter and maintained their one-goal advantage as the second quarter ended, leading 6-5 but a determined splurge by the Timber Structures gave them a temporary 9-8 lead at three quarter time. Mimico's last period drive was too much for the visitors.

Led Petes

Don Ashbee with three goals led the Timber Structures while Wipper and Arn Dugan had a pair each. Ken Dixon potted three for the homesters, McPhail and Harold Downer each getting two.

Three Veterans Survivors In Golf Tourney

ISLINGTON GOLF CLUB, Toronto, Aug. 11 (CP). — Three veteran golfers and a comparative youngster set out today in the semi-finals of the 24th Millar Trophy professional match play championship. They are the survivors of a field of 70 that started Tuesday in the qualifying round.

Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga, winner of the tournament in 1937, took on Clair Chinery of Hamilton Chedoke, while Willie Lamb of Toronto Lambton, 1930 title winner, met Normie Himes of Kitchener Westmount, former New York American hockey player.

All but Chinery are old-timers to this tournament for professionals and assistants. Chinery won the consolation last year after failing to qualify for the match play.

The final was scheduled for this afternoon.

In Friday's quarter-final, Brydson defeated Stan Horne of Montreal Islesmere one up. Chinery set back Gordon Harrison of Toronto Oriole Park Fairways 3 and 2. Himes stopped Rudolphe Huot of the Royal Quebec club 5 and 4. Lamb beat Archie Grimsditch of Toronto New Uplands 3 and 1.

Prize winners in the consolation 18-hole medal competition for non-qualifiers were: 1, Ben Norris, Timmins, 35-36—71; 2, George Harrison, Sudbury Idlwyde, 34-38—72; 3, Duke Adams, Brampton, 34-40—74; 4, George Clifton, Niagara-on-the-Lake, 33-43—76; Gill Gardiner, Sault Ste. Marie, 38-38—76; Archie Bloor, Orillia, 38-38—76; Bill Thompson, Toronto York Downs, 37-39—76, and Les Franks, Toronto Islington, 35-41—76.

Tribe Shades White Sox 6-4 As Mize Helps Yanks Edge Philadelphia

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Pennants are won by clutch hitters like Cleveland's Al Rosen and New York's Johnny Mize. Because these two long-ball hitters came through under pressure the Indians and Yanks are tied for the American League lead. Rosen smashed a two-run homer with the score tied to give Cleveland a 6-4 shade over the stubborn Chicago White Sox. Mize hit a homer and drove in two runs for the Yanks' 3-1 margin over Philadelphia.

Boston, a 6-4 winner over Washington, now is 4½ lengths back and Chicago has dropped eight games behind.

Ned Garver of St. Louis won his 14th with a neat 4-2 job on Detroit. Just to make it sure, Garver came up with four hits, including a double.

Rain washed out most of the first division action in the National Friday night, postponing the Boston-Brooklyn and Philadelphia-New York games. St. Louis nipped Cincinnati 4-3 in 10 innings on pitcher Gerry Staley's single with the bases loaded and two out. In the afternoon Mel Queen of Pittsburgh shut out Chicago 3-0 for his first victory since May 13.

Rosen of the Indians doesn't waste many homers. Fourteen of his 18 came in winning games. Three were wasted in losses. The other helped the Tribe to a tie.

Chicago, which has been rough on Cleveland all season, piled up an early 4-0 lead off Bob Lemon, but Ken Holcombe couldn't hold it. Lemon went the route for his 13th victory.

Seventh Loss

Mize backed up Ed Lopat's six-hit pitching to hang a seventh loss on Sam Zoldak, Gil McDougald's triple and Bobby Brown's single produced the first run in the third. After Mize homered in the sixth, the A's came back with one. The Yanks added their insurance run in the eighth on singles by Yogi Berra and Joe DiMaggio and Mize's run-scoring liner to Al Clark.

Charley Maxwell's two-run pinch single helped Boston come from behind with a three-run spurt in the sixth inning to top Washington. Clyde Vollmer's 20th homer off Connie Marrero in the eighth nailed down the decision.

Garver was the whole story at Detroit. Cliff Mapes homered off loser Virgil Trucks to break a 1-1 tie in the sixth. Pat Mullin's fifth-inning homer gave the Tigers their first run.

Staley won his own game for the Cardinals. With two out in the 10th, St. Louis loaded the bases on Ken Raffensberger with a walk to Nippy Jones, Wally Westlake's double and in intentional pass to Hal Rice. Staley singled home the winning run for his 13th victory.

Queen settled down after yielding four hits in the first three innings to blank the Cubs while the Pirates made five hits off Cal McLish good for three runs.

Tricounty Loop Throws Out Protests

LINDSAY, Aug. 11—The Tricounty Baseball League executive threw out two protests and cleared the decks for playoff action in a special meeting at Manilla.

A protest by Cambray Cardinals against Lindsay player, Stu Hicks, was ruled out and president Roy Scott announced that the Walkwoods outfielder was eligible.

Port Perry Chiefs' protest on a 3-1 loss to Sutton Green Sox in Sutton was also tossed aside. As the result of the game which was marred by a near donnybrook, player Ron Rowe, who was thrown out after charging the Ports' catcher at the plate, was reprimanded by the executive.

The league also gave the go-ahead sign for the semi-final series to the central league leaders, Sonya Braves and Valentia.

People Were Happier And Friendlier When They Povided Own Entertainment

By VIOLET M. CARR

In these days when children, teen agers and even grownups have to be entertained . . . when the family car must take it's load to town to see a show, play, hockey, baseball or lacrosse game it is refreshing to look back on "The good old days" so often referred to by the older generation and see the happy times they had with home-made amusement.

"There is a great deal of happiness and friendliness in a small community that city dwellers miss but unfortunately this is also gradually dying out in many small centres. It is so much easier to just go to town or city to see something that can be paid for than to create it. Before the days of easy transportation, Bethany created its own entertainment. The long winters were not considered so terrible. There were quilting and wood bees which mostly went hand in hand. A dance was sure to follow. No house was considered too small . . . they just moved the furniture outside and the fiddler sat up on the stove and scraped the tunes. Richard Hayes' or "Dicky Hay" as he was most commonly called, provided some of the early music on his violin. His pay was collected in a cap by one of those present. We are told there was always plenty of fun.

There was sleighriding and tobogganing down Chudleigh's Hill. No one was considered too old to enjoy this sport. Moonlight nights the hill was crowded with young folks and their sleighs. One had to wait his turn, so it was a "Hurry up" if you didn't want to keep someone waiting too long. Someone always stood at the bottom of the hill where the road joined the main street to give the "All Clear" signal that meant there were no sleighs or cutters coming on the through road. Skating, too, was enjoyed and carnivals were the crowning point.

Indian Entertainers

Each winter a medicine troupe, the Kick A Poo Indians, with their squaws and papooses would come to the village for a month or six weeks and give entertainments in the Orange Hall. The first evening was free, the next you paid. They sold salves, cough medicine, rheumatic remedies, complexion soaps, etc. With each purchase a coupon was given and you had your chance to vote for th most bautiful lady, the loveliest baby and the most popular married couple. On the final night those having the most votes received prizes. Excitement would run to fever pitch. One or two full dress balls were sure to be held during the winter. You were invited by card and upon presentation of the card and $1.00 you gained admission to the charmed circle. An imported orchestra provided the music. Evening dress was the order for these special dances and provided the topic of conversation for weeks before and after. At Christmas time the Methodist Sunday school always held a concert. About the middle of November the practice commenced and long and hard did the leaders toil to train the boys and girls to give a presentable performance. The young people held a choral class each winter, which was most popular and beneficial. In the spring an exhibition of their talents was given under the leadership of the instructor who came from "outside." The village had circuses come to town and it is more than 60 years since "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was played under a big tent on the green across from the hotel.

The twelfth of July was always celebrated by local Orangemen and visiting lodges. The village would be decorated with evergreens and flags for the occasion. Refreshment booths lined the streets. The Bethany Lodge had a very fine band, which took prizes at many outside celebrations. At home they held band concerts on summer evenings and any young couple that got married were always serenaded by the band.

The village boasted an annual fall fair. The fair grounds were in the vicinity of Pigeon Creek in the early days and later at the Athletic Park. In those days the men brought their finest horses and cattle, their best grain and roots, while the women brought their cooking and butter, their fancy quilts and mats just the same as they do today. The competition was always keen. Horse racing provided entertainment, fancy carriages, new buggies and phaetons shining with new paint and polish took the centre of the ring. Dr. T. G. Brereton took a great interest in the fair always owning good horses. Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Sr., always drove Dr. Brereton's turnout for the lady drivers' competition.

In the summer there were picnics and excursions, football, baseball, horseshoe pitching, cricket and lacrosse. Through the years Bethany has had some outstanding athletics and their activities have been previously printed.

Railroad Activities

Reminiscent of the early days when the railway was first built are the stories of its activities. Carloads of grain were shipped. Lumber went to far distant points. Livestock buyers in the district had a "Cattle Day" and "Hog Day" every week when carloads of stock were shipped by rail. Now these are all picked up by truck right in the farmer's yard. "Turkey Day" came each fall just before Thanksgiving. The turkeys were shipped alive. H. H. Ryley handled these and it was often a laughable sight to see a few big men trying to round up an escaped turkey. The farmers did not formerly send their cream to a creamery. The whole milk was sent in large cans to the cheese factory either at Fleetwood or Cavanville. Frank Galbraith owned the saw mill where Harold Hay now has his garage and service station, and he shipped lumber, shingles, etc. in great quantities. About twenty-five years ago the Cody Bros. from Aurora came here and bought up most of the wood land and cut and shipped train loads of logs, telegraph poles and lumber all from the Canadian Natioan! Railway siding (former Grand Trunk and Midland).

EARLY IS ILL—Stephen T. Early, above, 62-year-old former presidential press secretary for Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman, was reported in serious condition at a Washington hospital. Early, also a former deputy Defense secretary and now a vice president of Pullman, Inc. was stricken with coronary thrombosis.

Restrictions And Self Denials Lay Way To Enriched Life

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Jesus said, contrasting Himself and His mission with those who come to steal, kill, and destroy: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

Few people realize how greatly the economy and psychology of Judaism, and of the Christianity of Jesus, who said He had come, not to destroy, but to fulfill, were the economy and psychology of abundance.

"Be fruitful and multiply," was represented as God's injunction to the chosen people.

"A land flowing with milk and honey" was the desirable environment of the good society, and the descriptions of pastoral richness and blessedness were such as to delight the heart of any eager farmer—pastures clothed with flocks, valleys covered with corn, paths dropping fatness, hills rejoicing on every side, singing and shouting for joy (Psalm 65).

How does it come about, then, that Christianity, and religion in general, has been to such an extent represented as on the side of suppression, repression, denial, and self-imposed restrictions, even at times to the glorification of poverty?

The fact is familiar of the anchorite saints, of the more worthy renouncing the world and its worldly ways, and the less worthy or utterly unworthy, sitting by the roadside or at the gates of temples, seeking the alms of the more normally-living and prosperous.

The reason for such a perversion, if perversion it be, is not hard to explain. In the ancient world, as in our modern world, the corrupting influence of wealth, and the spiritually undisciplined quest of it, with all its incident temptations, were widely and deeply in evidence.

It was in the times of Israel's greatest prosperity that the deepest oppression and injustices arose. The Prophet Hosea complained (Hosea 10:1) that it was in the very time of the "luxuriant" (See the American Standard Revised Version) vine that Israel had increased the altars of idolatry; and it was at such a time that Amos saw the righteous being sold for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes.

But the glorification of poverty can be carried to just as gross an extreme.

Restrictions, self-denials, and disciplines, often stern and unyielding, inevitable and necessary only as they lay the foundation for the positive virtues, actions, and ideals that enrich man's life as he discovers the nature of true prosperity and abundance, and the meaning of what, ideally, we have called the "commonweal."

The parable that Jesus told of the successful farmer (Luke 12: 16-21) is good and important reading for every successful man, farmer or otherwise, of today and of every day. His success was not foolish, but he was foolish in his success.

His mistake, as Jesus said, was that he lived only for himself and was not rich toward God. A vital question that we might well ask of ourselves is, "How rich are we toward God?"

The answer to that would tell both how strong and how weak we are, and it might make us more zealous and less boastful.

Snapsnots Treasured

By NANCY CLEAVER

"What lovely pictures you have of your children," Mrs. Blake said almost enviously to her neighbor, Mrs. Brown. "You must have a real knack with a camera! I can't get our Jimmie to stay still long enough to get a snap of him. The few pictures John and I have taken have been a waste of money."

"I've had my picture failures too," Mrs. Brown said quickly, "but my husband and I both wanted a picture record of our youngsters from their earliest years. So we made a hobby of finding out some rules for amateur photographers, and some secrets about taking successful pictures of children."

Any parent who wants to take snaps of his child, but hesitates because he feels so green at picture-taking, should invest in a helpful simple handbook such as the Canadian Kodak Company's "How to Make Good Pictures." A public library usually has several books and magazines on photography too. The basic rules for picture taking such as:

Keep your camera perfectly still when you click the shutter.

Be the right distance from the object you are taking.

Do not "shoot" into the sun—have the sun behind you.

Keep your lens clean and fingers away from it.

Turn your film to the next number immediately after taking a picture.

Watch your background! Do not let it compete for attention with the objects you are taking. A figure in light clothes against a dark ground is a good plan.

Use your imagination to avoid mistakes. A tree branch which seems to be sprouting out of a person's head looks ridiculous. So does a "feet first" shot, where the laws of perspective have been forgotten. The soles of the shoes appear enormous compared to the size of the rest of the body.

These and other mechanical details can be quickly mastered. One of the most valuable things for an amateur photographer to do is to discover why some of his snapshots are so poor. Ask a friend who is experienced in photography or even the man who develops your pictures, what is the reason for a blurred or unsatisfactory picture—then don't make the same mistake twice!

Children are born actors. They lend themselves to informal action shots. Don't take stiff, unnatural pictures of a child and his chums standing at attention in a straight line, staring at the camera. Always have your camera loaded, ready for an unexpected shot.

Pictures, taken at any season of the year, which tell a story of happy days, give pleasure to all who see them. They are priceless treasures to parents in the years to come. How grandparents and fond relatives love snapshots slipped into a letter. What joy a picture can give! The investment in a camera and film, the time and study and patience necessary to master the art of taking pictures, are small indeed compared to the pleasure snapshots can give now and with the passing years.

Cottesloe WMS Meets

COTTLESLOE, Aug. 11 (ENS). August meeting of the Cottesloe WMS was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Toms with 21 members present. Mrs. Fred Bolton, secretary of Christian citizenship and temperance, gave a reading on Prisoners of Hope and Hope in Jesus. It was decided the Afternoon Auxiliary would supply cards for the different secretaries to send to sick members. A letter was received from the Overseas Relief Depot in Toronto acknowledging the bale sent to Korea.

Mrs. Max Tedford had charge of the program and opened with a hymn, followed by prayer by Mrs. Tom Webster. Mrs. John Gallaher read a paper on "God's Cornerstone." Mrs. Max Tedford led in a Bible quiz. Miss Helen Tedford gave a talk on the Book of John, stressing the fact we must obey the command of Jesus to Peter when he said "Follow thou me." Mrs. A. Tedford sang a solo, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," accompanied at the organ by her daughter Helen. Mrs. Fred Bolton closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Toms served lunch, assisted by Mrs. G. Toms.

Student Naturalists Find Beautiful Orchid Grove

Written for The Canadian Press
By PERCY GHENT

A fascinating bog many acres in extent was discovered by a party of naturalists recently in the wilderness not far from Ahmic Lake in the Magnetawan River region of Ontario.

This bog was the site of an ancient lake that long ago lost its shining waters. Sphagnum moss now stretches over the site, a carpet into which the exploring naturalists sank, sometimes to knee depth, on their way to a tree covered island left by the departed water.

But the chief charm of the bog was orchids—literally thousands of native Canadian orchids, the calopogan species, and of a beautiful, deep-rose color It is an event exceedingly rare to find this species in such opulent growth and the observers were thrilled. Another lovely species, the pogonia orchids of pale pink, were also growing there in hundreds rather than thousands, but the pogonias are rarely found in such numbers.

Pitcher plants were plentiful on the bog borders. So, on many a moss-covered, rotting log and stump, were sundew plants. Both species are of the carnivorous kind, trapping insects by wily ways, entangling them beyond escape, and in due course absorbing them for nourishment.

Student Naturalists

The professionally-led amateur naturalists were students at the annual summer nature school sponsored by the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, and their trip was once again an outstanding success thoroughly appreciated by the more than 50 students.

At the time the writer visited the nature camp, nearly 100 bird species had been identified, and no less than 250 species of flowering plants and graceful ferns. Included in the teaching staff were professors A. F. Coventry and T. F. McIlwraith for birds; Dr. J. H. Soper for advanced botany, and Dr. Helen Sawyer Hogg, for astronomy. All were from the University of Toronto.

Lovely Bird Song

No greater thrill can come to the bird student, amateur or otherwise, than to hear in some lonely place, often the fringe of a cedar swamp in the Canadian wilderness, the superb songs—for they have infinite variety of pitch and key—of the hermit thrush, considered by many authorities to be a finer musician than the nightingale.

But the thrill comes all too rarely, for the hermit bird, true to his name, avoids the throng and loves solitude. When attempts are made to translate his themes and their variations in sundry keys to the notes of music, page after page of manuscript accumulates. While Canada has the hermit thrush no tears should fall because the nightingale is not with us.

More Dangerous Animals

In the current issue of the American Journal of Forestry are reports of serious damage to valuable stands of timber by the clawing of black bears. In the Lake Edward district of Quebec, 90 per cent of sample plots of balsam fir which had made impressive growth were so damaged. Other regions where the bark-stripping animals had been unusually active were certain sections of the Washington and Oregon forests, and in Alaska.

Apparently a vicious habit of recent development, and probably due to the high-imitative quality in black bears, the damage is done, sometimes to the killing degree, when the animals loosen bark with their jaws at the base of the tree, then strip it upward, sometimes to a height of seven feet.

Priest To Intervene In Timmins Strike

TIMMINS, Aug. 10—(CP)—A Roman Catholic priest has decided to intervene in the Hollinger Gold Mines strike as a result of an accidental meeting with the mine president in Toronto.

The Rev. Charles Therriault, rector of Notre Dame De Lourdes Church here, said Thursday night he will meet with leaders of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) today in the hope of some success in resolving differences.

Father Therriault said he accidentally met Jules Timmins, president of Hollinger, while in Toronto Wednesday. He added that while he brought no new proposition from the mine management, he hoped some basis of agreement might be reached.

Workman Burned

TORONTO, Aug. 10 — (CP) — Hydro workman William Polischuk, 26, was critically burned Thursday night when he fell against a cable carrying 13,200 volts while working on a transformer on Bay Street in central Toronto. All fingers of one hand were burned off along with all his clothing. Hospital authorities said he suffered 100 per cent burns. Little hope was held for his recovery.

VOL. CIII. No. 34 — SATURDAY, AUGUST 11, 1951

Tourists Few City Hotels Report

Business Said Lower By 25 Per Cent; No Apparent Reason

Hotel tourist business is down about 25 per cent in Peterborough, just as it is throughout the province.

With summer more than half over, hotel keepers who handle most of the city's tourists, said that since July 1 weekend when the number of tourists was about the same as last year, business has dropped off considerably.

Department of Travel and Publicity officials have reported that the number of tourists crossing the border was the same as last year.

If this is correct, said a hotel manager, the tourists must be going somewhere else. But a survey across Ontario revealed that there was a province-wide slump in the tourist business in hotels.

Motels Part Cause

Asked if the three recently-built motels in the Peterborough area would be responsible for the drop, the hotel official said that the motels would account for some of the loss of business. However he thought they could hardly be responsible for all of the decrease.

This is the first summer that motels have been in operation in the Peterborough district. Even casual observation shows that the motels have been doing considerable business all summer.

Much of this business however would be from tourists that other years stayed at cabins or tourist homes in and around the city.

Resort Booked.

A recent survey of the tourist resorts showed that they were booked up until late this month. The tourist establishments which offered housekeeping cabins were better off than tourist lodges.

The survey revealed that there was a drop in the number of transient tourists. Most of the tourists who were arriving apparently had booked their accommodations well in advance.

It is this decerase that hotels have noticed.

"There just don't seem to be as many American tourists around this year" said the hotel manager.

A CNR PASSENGER TRAIN Friday afternoon ran into a car which was stalled on the tracks and the driver, Miss Ruth Dempsey, of Trenton, escaped with a shaking up and a few minor lacerations. The front of the automobile was a complete wreck (ABOVE). Miss Dempsey was alone and was crossing the CNR tracks at the Kingston crossing just east of Cobourg when her car stalled. As she was trying to start the engine, the railway wigwags started into action and her frantic gaze saw an oncoming train. Unable to get the car going and with no time to get out, she was trapped as the train bore down on her, brakes of the train grinding it slower but not enough to stop. The impact tore the front of the car to pieces but left the rest intact.—Murray Smith Photo.

Front Steps Hit By Car, Woman Injured In Fall

Running out to see what had happened when a car hit the verandah of her house Friday evening and knocked down the front steps, Mrs. Morley James, 42, 182 Adeline St., fell off the verandah and injured her back and leg.

Mrs. James was just nicely getting over the results of a former fall. She missed the steps of her back porch and fell fracturing her legs in several places.

The series of events that led up to Mrs. James' fall started with 15-year-old William O'Brien who lives across the street from Mrs. James at 179 Adeline St.

Climbed Into Car

He climbed into a car owned by a friend of the family, John Plumpton, RR 9, Peterborough. The car was parked in the lane beside the O'Brien home. Young O'Brien told Plumpton that he was going to back the car along the lane but, Plumpton told police, he thought the boy was only fooling.

O'Brien started the car and put his foot on the gas. He shot out the lane, angled slightly across the street, bounced up over the curb, over a small lawn and hit the steps of the verandah.

The crash and the screams of children brought Mrs. James running to the front of the house, where she fell off the verandah.

Dr. Herbert N. Young was called to examine the woman. He said she had an injured back and leg, but the seriousness was not immediately known. She was not taken to either hospital.

The trunk and rear end of the car were caved in. The steps and verandah posts were broken.

Constables John Conlin and C. Stephen investigated.

$500,000 Project Improves Highway 28 Above Burleigh

Work has been under way for about a month now on the seven-mile stretch of Highway 28, immediately north of Burleigh Falls. Cost of converting this stretch into a high-standard grade may run as high as $500,000. It is a Department of Highways project and is being supervised from Bancroft.

The right-of-way is being widened from 66 feet to 100 feet. About 35 men are employed at the work being carried out by Storms Construction Co., Toronto. Several bulldozers are being used and, as much of the right-of-way is rocky territory, both drilling and blasting are necessary.

For Fast Traffic

The contract also calls for improving the grades and widening and curving the roadway for speedy motor traffic.

Work will not be completed this year but will continue on into 1952. The logical next step is to continue the "high standard grading" operation to Apsley when this first seven miles is completed. But the Department has given no official indication of its future plans.

Something is going to be done about the Apsley-Bancroft section of the highway, now in a bad state of repair.

Tenders Called

Tenders have already been called for a contractor to stockpile — probably later this summer or fall — 40,000 tons of gravel along the 20-mile stretch north of Apsley. In the spring there will be minor grading operations, (eliminating frost boils, etc.), and then a permanent asphalt surface will be put down.

At present the pitted highway is covered with apshalt prime which has to be renewed each year.

Division Engineer Frank Szammers, Bancroft, says the objective is a Class A highway.

This will come as welcome news to many tourist operators who say that visitors, aware of the condition of the highway, purposely avoid it and go to Bancroft via Highway 62; that is the Madoc to Bancroft highway which is all but completed now.

Paving on Highway 62 will likely be completed in the fall.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

COUNCIL MEETING

The August meeting of the city council will be Monday, at 7.30 p.m., as set in the schedule for summer.

87 PER CENT

Upper school results in Port Hope high school were given out Friday and showed 87.3 per cent. of the papers written were given honor marks. Twelve students wrote the departmental examinations.

DRINKING DENIED

Several of the seven boys who took part in the prank on Sturgeon Lake on Sunday night when a boat was taken from Greenhurst and disabled have told the Examiner that this newspaper was in error when it said they had been drinking.

PASSED IN ALL PAPERS

In the Grade XIII Upper School results of the PCVS published on Friday Donald L. Allen passed in all nine papers written instead of five he was credited with. His record was Eng Comp 3, Eng Lit C, Alg 1, Geom 2, French Comp 2, French Auth 2, Trig 2, Latin Auth 3, Latin Comp 3.

STRANGE BALLOON

Provincial police at Cobourg are wondering where a balloon, nine by four feet, came from. The plastic balloon was found near Wicklow. It had a small bag of sand in the bottom as ballast. A hole in the bottom allowed enough gas to escape to permit it to descend. Similar balloons are being used by the United States weathermen to check wind velocities at various heights.

Survey Marks Peterborough As 'Above-Average' Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. — With Peterborough residents earning more money and spending more freely than in the average community in Canada, the city is stamped as a richer market, with a higher standard of living than most. The figures are contained in Sales Management's copyrighted buying power survey of Canada and the United States.

Peterborough's 10,400 families recorded net earnings in 1950, after deduction of income taxes, of $40,295,000, a gain over the $36,116,000 earned in the previous year.

On a per family basis, dividing income by number of families, the average locally was $3,875. This was considerably more than earnings generally in Canada, $3,492 per family. It was more, also, than was earned in 1949, when the earnings per family amounted to $3,612. The figures are mathematical averages, notes Sales Management.

A Good Year

Just how good a year it was is indicated by the fact that Peterborough should have accounted for only .2638 per cent of the Dominion's income to meet its quota, on the basis of population, but actually turned in .3186 per cent.

The bigger buying power was reflected in the amount of business done in the local retail stores. Cash registers in Peterborough stores rang to the tune of $35,547,000 in the year, a mark well ahead of its prior year volume of $33,896,000.

This rate of spending, $3,420 per family, was greater than that elsewhere in Canada, where the average was $2,495 per family. In Ontario it was $2,695 per family.

The rating of a market depends on various considerations, including the number of people there, the amount they spend and the amount they might have spent. Such factors were taken into account in arriving at a "quality of market" index for Peterborough. The city is rated in the survey at 125 on such a basis, or 25 per cent better than the Canadian national average.

Plan Plaques Of Honor In City Hall

To Honor Founders Of Peterborough, Former Clerk of City

Plaques commemorating Adam Scott, Hon. Peter Robinson and Simon R. Armstrong will be placed in an inner vestibule of the new city hall.

Mayor Swanston's proposal has been meeting favor within the council, and will be put into effect when the building is nearer completion.

The names of Adam Scott and Peter Robinson are being honored as founders of the city, and the late Mr. Armstrong as the esteemed city clerk of many year's service.

Proposed texts are: "Adam Scott, courageous first settler, who established a grist mill in 1819, and gave the place its first name: "Scott's Plains."

"Hon. Peter Robinson, able administrator, managed the immigration of 2,000 settlers into the district in 1825; after whom Peterborough is named."

The brass plaque in memory of Mr. Armstrong was placed in the present council chamber shortly after his death, and will be transferred to the new city hall when the old premises at Water and Simcoe Streets are vacated.

Finishing Date

It is expected that the architects, Marani & Morris, will soon be in a position to inform the council of the approximate date of the finishing of the building. It will likely be a week in advance of the official opening, which will be the main municipal event of this year.

Employees of the various departments will occupy their offices probably a week in advance of the opening. The building will then have the appearance of both newness and established use.

It is understood that the memorial to William George Morrow will be prominently placed in the main vestibule. Mr. Morrow left the major part of his large estate to Peterborough for a municipal building.

Show Tradition Maintained

The theatrical tradition that "the show must go on", so bravely illustrated at the Windmill Theatre, London, during the blitz, is being stoutly maintained by Michael Sadlier's Peterborough Summer Theatre group. One morning three weeks ago radio and stage star Bill Needles was notified that his wife had had a baby in Toronto hospital. He drove the 92 miles from Peterborough, saw his wife and son, and was back in time to resume the leading role in "The Browning Version" that evening.

This week the company is doing the hilarious comedy "The Man Who Came To Dinner". The "Man" is Toronto actor Gerry Sarracini. It is a long, exacting, strenuous part played mainly from a wheel chair.

Few people in the audiences this week knew that Gerry Sarracini had to be carried on stage to his chair, and carried off again. At the dress rehearsal before the play opened, Sarracini had fallen, cracked his spine, torn a ligament and later had internal haemorrhages. Despite the pain and the difficulty in walking from the wheel chair, actions the play requires towards its end, Saraccini gave one of the finest performances of his carrer—all week long.

The nurse in the same play is actress Pat Atkinson. Friday morning young Miss Atkinson had a phone call to say her mother was dying. Mr. Sadlier drove her to Toronto so that she could be with her mother for a brief while. Miss Atkinson was back on the stage when the curtain opened at 8.20 p.m. Her mother died during the night.

AT STACK'S TOP

Workmen at the top of the tall Raybestos stack are too near the sky for the ease of mind of Alparka neighborhood. They walk around on a narrow plank about as coolly as if they were down to box car height.

Love Their Work

VANCOUVER, Aug. 11 (CP). —Some downtown retail merchants yesterday opposed any civic holiday for Vancouver Oct. 13 when Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip visit the city.

One termed the proposed holiday a "crazy idea" and an "unreasonable flash in the pan."

Monday, Oct. 8, Thanksgiving Day, will be a holiday. Stores are closed Wednesday. A Saturday, Oct. 13, holiday would mean stores would be closed three days in the one week.

Chief Welcomes Standard Hose Couplings

It's an ill war scare that blows nobody any good. That's the feeling of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs—among them Chief George Smith, of Peterborough.

The cause for celebration is the decision of the federal government to standardize hose couplings throughout the dominion. A total of $900,000 has been set aside for this purpose, $300,000 of it for Ontario.

To the layman this might not seem very important, particularly when compared with other defence projects. But Fire Chief Smith and his colleagues don't agree.

Long Overdue

"It's a step in the right direction," said Chief Smith approvingly, "but a long time overdue. The association has been urging standardization for years but nothing was done about it. Now it has been incorporated into part of the civil defence preparedness program as announced by Col. Arthur Welsh, defence co-ordinator for Ontario."

The chief explained that in Ontario there are now about 100 fire departments whose equipment is not interchangeable. This means that there is a delay if one fire department goes to the assistance of another.

For instance, if a major fire broke out in Lindsay—whether by accident or by enemy action—the Peterborough department would be unable to tap the Lindsay water supply until a special adaptor was put on the port of the hydrants there. The adaptor would also be needed if a length of Peterborough hose were coupled with a length of Lindsay hose.

No conversion will be required in Peterborough, Chief Smith said. The standard is five threads to an inch on couplings and that is the basis here in Peterborough already. Toronto also has the standard coupling.

Municipalities, with the assistance of the province, will be expected to make the necessary installation in their hydrants if they do not already meet the standard. A mobile squad is being made available to assist municipalities in installing the couplings if no trained labor is available.

Air Cadet Recruiting To Start September 1

Recruiting for Peterborough's new squadron of air cadets will get underway September 4. This was announced today by the Air Cadet Squadron sponsoring committee of the Peterborough Wing of the RCAF Association.

Arrangements have already been made by the sponsoring committee with the Peterborough exhibition board to use the manufacturing building on the exhibition grounds for air cadet headquarters. Chairman of the committee. K. C. Dalrymple said today that members of the committee will begin preparations for occupancy as soon as the exhibition closes, August 25.

September's recruiting campaign is expected to establish the "City of Peterborough Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadet" numbering 100. Youths between the age of 14 and 17 will be eligible for enlistment. If present plans are successful the committee names mid-September as the date when the unit will first go on parade.

Today money is being raised for the cadet squadron by a tag day.

Milk Distributors Oppose Discount At Stores; No Action On 5-Day Delivery

Differential For Store Sales Would Reduce Overall Sales Is Claim; Doubt Public Interested In Store Discount

COBOURG, Aug. 11—(ENS)—Dairymen of the Peterborough and Belleville zones met here last night and went on record as being opposed to a discount on store sales of milk to the public, opposed 2 per cent. milk very emphatically; also went on record as being against Provincial zoning of dairy areas but took no definite action in regard to restricted milk deliveries. Herman Graham of Trenton was chairman.

Before the meeting got under way, there was some discussion as to whether the press should stay in and report the meeting or get out. One distributor said that there had been too much unfavorable publicity on the part of the press.

"Will they print what they hear or try to think between the lines" asked another doubtful dairyman.

William Ovens of Peterborough sponsored a motion to have the press remain. It was best that the newspapers get the information first hand by attending the meetings instead of errors creeping in by obtaining the information indirectly, Mr. Ovens declared. The motion carried.

Milk distributors were present from Belleville, Peterborough, Lindsay, Bancroft, Lakefield, Cobourg, Fenelon Falls, Sutton, Trenton and other centres.

Unfavorable Comment

Les Burroughes of Sutton, president of the Ontario Milk Producers Association, said that there had been unfavorable comment by the press and the government on the milk distributors side of the case and this was perhaps due to the fact that the distributors had not told their side of the story adequately. Because of war subsidies, the price of milk had seemed to have gone up unduly to the consumers but actually the rise was moderate as compared with other commodities.

He told the meeting that reducing the price of milk to store customers would not help the dairymen and would reduce consumption of milk because it had been shown in Winnipeg in 1949 and 1951 that discount to store customers had reduced the per capita milk consumption by 12 per cent. It was a serious thing for an industry like the dairy business to sell at a lower price to stores with so small a margin of profit to the dairy on a bottle of milk. Mr. Ovens commented that he doubted if the public were interested in the store sale discount. Discussion culminated in a resolution being passed, recording opposition to any differential between store and delivery price.

Consider Cut Delivery

In regard to a five day work week with five deliveries, it was pointed out by Ted Weir of Peterborough that it was difficult to compete in the labor market when men could get a five day week outside the dairy industry. The five day plan was working out well in Windsor and St. Catharines it was stated. Mr. Ovens said that the five-day, five-delivery plan was being considered in Peterborough.

Mr. Ovens said he was puzzled over the question of how the Milk Control Board arrived at the prices set in Toronto and Chatham of $4.60 buying price and 21 cents sale price. He urged the dairymen to study the price question very thoroughly before the new agreements came up and not price themselves up and out of business.

It was pointed out that the same yardstick had not been used in arriving at prices because one man was allowed to represent over 4,000 producers while the dairies all had to have their financial statements in.

The meeting didn't like the idea of provincial zoning because it would mean in some instances the jacking up of the price in a small place to meet the standard of for instance a larger centre and the public wouldn't like it.

It was felt that 2 percent milk, as proposed by the Hon. Mr. Kennedy would never come into being but the dairymen were still irate over the ideas as it would mean an impossible burden to change processing to provide the thinner milk.

"Kennedy ought to have his head read for dreaming that one up," said Leonard Reid, Belleville distributor.

Student Tops Upper Schools With Nine Firsts

Bob Fitzgerald, a student of St. Peter's High School, with nine firsts, headed the list of Peterborough students in the departmental examinations results released Friday.

This student received first class honors in all subjects that he wrote.

Carmel Shaughnessy, St. Peter's High School and H. Patricia Johnston, PCVS, tied with seven firsts. Both students wrote nine examinations, and received seconds in their other two subjects.

Six firsts were received by: Joan Marie Lang, PCVS, Donna Munro, PCVS. Five firsts: Mary E. Craw, PCVS; Gerald Dawson, PCVS; R. Donald Pollock, PCVS. Four firsts by: Grace A. Hudson, PCVS; Harold F. Frederick, PCVS.

Most Firsts

Algebra and Geometry tied for the highest number of firsts of the subjects written—17. Next highest on the list was trigonometry with 9.

Grade XIII students at PCVS wrote a total of 528 papers this year. Of this total, there were 81 1st class honors, 101 seconds, 106 thirds, 164 credits and 76 failures.

In 1950 there were 615 papers written. A breakdown shows 202 firsts, 132 seconds, 97 thirds, 156 credits and 28 failures.

Of the total number of papers written 85 per cent were passed.

In 1949, 606 papers were written; in 1948, 604 papers, 1947 452 papers and 1946 500 papers.

Add, Extend Courses At Millbrook High

MILLBROOK, Aug. 11 (ENS)—Beginning in September, commercial and shop work will be introduced in Grades 9 and 10 at Millbrook high school. As students progress, a full program of options will be adopted throughout the school.

The staff has been considerably strengthened. A new principal and two new assistants have been engaged to make the full time staff of four teachers.

Special Call

PRESTON, Ont (CP)—Answering a fire alarm, fireman Howard Ruppel found it was his own home that was ablaze. His four-year-old daughter was rescued by his wife and a neighbor and damage was confined to two rooms.

Ontario Girl Pulls Big Upset Marlene Stewart In Golf Finals

By W. R. WHEATLEY.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 11 (CP).—What happens when a 17-year-old golfing sensation meets a calm, unruffled 23-year-old ex-champion was left today to the wildest sort of conjecture.

The Canadian ladies open golf championship has never seen such goings-on as happened over the Laval layout Friday.

Little Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., pulled the greatest upset of the tournament when she eliminated Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt., one up on the 18th green.

It was the second time since the war that a Canadian has come through to the 36-hole final. In 1947, Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn., draped a smothering 12 and 11 defeat over Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen of Toronto.

Now the 23-year-old Connecticut girl, winner in an all-American final in 1948, is in the final once more.

Friday she was never behind her opponent in eliminating Mrs. Peter Patch, Montreal girl now resident of Berkeley, Calif., four and two.

Draws Crowds

Today Miss Lenczyk met the determined Ontario girl whose courageous fighting spirit has sparked this tournament into a blaze of excitement.

The unheralded show has brought the pros at the finalists' home clubs here on the run.

Bob Smith, from Miss Lenczyk's Indian Head Club at Newington, Conn., arrived the day before the semi-final.

Gord McInnis, pro at the Lookout Point Club, Fonthill, came in breathlessly Friday to watch his little star.

By the time six holes were played Friday Marlene found herself three holes down. But the match was squared at the 12th where the Vermont girl drove under trees.

The match moved on to its climax on the par five 18th. Both were short with their second shots, but Mae had a 30-yard advantage. Marlene put her third 25 feet past the cup. Mae misgauged her distance and was 20 feet short of the pin.

Marlene's putt rolled off to the left six inches from the cup. Mae's putt stopped four feet short and she conceded the hole and match when her next putt missed the cup.

65 Girls Leaving For 10 Days At YWCA Camp

Ten days at "camp" starts Sunday for 65 girls, aged nine to 12 years, who have been fortunate in getting reservations with the YWCA. The so much anticipated activities will take place at Camp Kawartha on Clear Lake under the direction of a competent staff headed by Mrs. Irene Campbell of the Y staff.

By squeezing the accommodations to the limit it has been possible to take in five more than the number set, but it was necessary to turn down more than 20 applications this year.

The program is most interesting and is to include costume designing in addition to the usual, as well as finger painting and painting. A library of 60 books has been selected for the girls and they are being loaned by the Public Library. There will be movies, dancing, drama and a variety of interesting games and sports, also canoe trips, nature lore and camp craft.

A cup will be presented to the best camper and there will be awards to the occupants of the best-kept cabin.

Waterfront director will be Mrs. Phyllis Pilkington and Mrs. D. Snelgrove is to be camp nurse. The counsellors are Betty Jones, Christine Monk, Margaret Munro, Janet Estlick and Donna Bristow of Peterborough and Barbara Ann Cowin and Barbara Ann Thompson of Cobourg.

The Peterborough girls registered are: Diane Standish, Donna Boorman, Lynne Doris, Margot McCombe, Frances Cooper, Eileen Hall, Marion Everett, Carilyn Wilson, Jean Anne Dobbin, Margo Huffman, Lorna Seabrooke, Judy Neal, Karen Neal, Mary Hucks, Diane Peters, Anne Stacey, Mary Allin, Jane Whiteley, Sandra Bickell, Carol Smitheran, Sally Spearin, Marilyn Barry, Carol Parnall, Mary Hardill, Lorna Myles, Marjorie Harvey, Linda McIntyre, Sandra Wood, Gayle Smillie, Patsy Thirnbeck, Patsy Cowan, Joan Armstrong, Alfrida Pooley, Clara Ann Hayward, Donna Mann, Judith Dunford, Dorothy Kingston, Patricia Taylor, Beverley Burns, Iola Peters, Patracia Edgerton, Dorothy Edgerton.

Out-of-town girls are Rosemary Pooley, RR 3, Peterborough; Diane Hutchison, RR 11, Peterborough; Barbara Kent, Lakefield; Mary Lynn Elmhirst, Keene; Judy and Janet Hobbs, Ann McKnight, Lenore Ouellette H. Ingram, Millbrook; Joan Webber, Fenelon Falls; Linda Nixon, Port Hope; Susan Sine, Patricia Brett, Carol King, Cobourg; Slizabeth Sorby, Sally and Susan Van Luven, Kingston; Betty Lund, Audrey Macey, Ridgeway; Beth Kelly, Toronto; Beverley Nicoll, Baptiste; Jean Little, North Bay; Dawn Marshall, Montreal.

The girls will leave the camp on Wednesday, August 22.

PICTURED ABOVE are Audrey Eileen, duaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. H. Allan, and Harold Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Barnett, Niagara Falls, Ontario, whose marriage will take place September 1st, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

FBI And RCMP Hunting Former Jockey

HAMILTON, Aug. 11 (CP). — Police in Canada and the United States are searching for Johnny Perron, a former jockey, suspected of being the chief contact man in Ontario's racing scandal.

The Ontario Racing Commission, which has been carrying out a vigorous investigation of a wave of fixed races on tracks in the province, announced Friday that evidence against Perron is overwhelming.

Commission chairman Tupper Bigelow said:

"We have reached the point in our investigations where the evidence against Perron is so overwhelming that we have recommended to police that he be arrested wherever and whenever they find him on this charge. We are convinced that Perron was the go-between—between the higher-ups and the jockeys. He was the contact man used by these men to arrange betting coups."

Perron was around Ontario tracks until recently. Quebec police reported that he was seen at Ottawa's Connaught Park, then left for the United States.

FBI Co-operating

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is co-operating with the RCMP in the hunt for Perron, who comes from Toronto.

The Racing Commission inquiry adjourned here Friday and will resume in Toronto Monday when several trainers and an exercise boy will testify.

Another development Friday was the 30-day suspension of trainer John Calhoun for giving false evidence before the Commission. Calhoun trains horses owned by his wife at Stamford Park near Niagara Falls and these horses will be barred from racing for the suspension period unless placed in control of a trainer approved by the racing commissioners.

Perron and Calhoun were the 19th and 20th persons thus far affected by the inquiry into jockey bribing and race-fixing by racketeers who made killings by betting heavily on the fixed races.

Demaret Leads In Golf Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (AP)—Jimmy Demaret, fashion plate of the fairways with just $4,200 earned this year, today had drawn a halfway bead on golf's biggest loot, the $12,500 top prize in the $56,000 "world" championship tournament.

The 41-year-old Demaret, from Ojai, Calif., was a one-stroke leader at eight-under par 136 as the "world" shifted into its third 18-hole round at Tam O'Shanter course.

Two tough customers, US open champion Ben Hogan and big, bustling Clayton Heafner, were tied at 137.

Two strokes behind Demaret, with 138, were Johnny Palmer, Bob Hamilton, Lawson Little, Herman Batton, Ed Furgol and Al Brosch.

But the field of 64 pros and 10 amateurs may find Demaret not so much a laughing boy in this big one. For one thing, he doesn't want to let down his pert, 16-year-old daughter, Peggy, a starry-eyed follower of Jimmy on his three-under-par 69 Friday, and another thing, Demaret hasn't done too well lately, his best 1951 effort being a fourth in the Canadian open.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Owner Coley Hall of the Vancouver Canucks in the Pacific Coast Hockey League plans a wholesale renovation of his club, he disclosed Friday.

He said he has offered his last year's coach, Murph Chamberlain, a new contract at a "much reduced figure" from his 1950 salary, which was reported to have been $10,000.

If Chamberlain refuses the terms Hall will "consider seriously" hiring Walter (Babe) Pratt, who last week won his unconditional release as manager of New Westminster Royals. If Pratt fails to land a job on the coast, he will likely go to Saskatoon, Hall said.

George Robbins of Thamesford, Ont., left Hartford Friday with the singles championship of the American Lawn Bowling Association.

Competing late Thursday night, he defeated Thomas Stirrat of the Hyde Park Club of Niagara Falls, NY, 21 to 8, in the final.

Robbins, 28, was awarded the Brunswick Trophy and a plaque from the American Lawn Bowling Association.

Two former professional golfers Friday were reinstated by the Royal Canadian Golf Association as amateurs.

Charles H. Douglas of Deep River, Ont., a member of the Pembroke Golf Club, retired from professional golf activities in 1944. Walter A. McAlpine of Vancouver, BC, a member of the Vancouver Golf Club, was an instructor with the YMCA.

Seven stakes totalling $110,000 were announced Friday by Pimlico during its 18-day meeting starting Oct. 27 at Baltimore. The dates have not been fixed.

The stakes program will consist of $15,000 Pimlico Special, $25,000 Futurity, $25,000 Pimlico Cup, $15,000 Marguerite, $15,000 Exterminator, $10,000 Manly Steeplechase, and $5,000 Pimlico Breeders' Stakes.

Charley Gehringer took over Friday as general manager of Detroit Tigers—seven weeks earlier than he had anticipated—so that he can start building for next year.

A surprise announcement from Tiger owner Walter O. Briggs said Gehringer, an all-time Detroit great, would assume his duties "immediately," replacing Billy Evans.

Briggs said the move was made to enable Gehringer "to start the task of strengthening the Detroit baseball club for the 1952 season." Briggs said the 67-year-old Evans ended his duties with the American League club "as of this date."

Canadian Swimmers Represent 2 Countries

FOLKESTONE, Kent, England, Aug. 11 (Reuters).—Winnie Francis Lueszler of Toronto, North America's only representative in next Monday's international channel-swimming race, said Friday she plans to represent the United States as well as Canada.

Entered under her maiden name —Roach—the 25-year-old mother of three children is one of 20 crack swimmers from 10 countries who will compete Monday over the 21 miles of water from Cap Gris Nez, France, to the English coast.

"The truth is I don't think the United States or Canada takes Channel swimming seriously.

"So I am going to show the world that North America can at least produce a girl who is willing to swim the Channel."

Few Old Names On Work Sheet

WEST POINT, NY, Aug. 11 — (AP).—Army's "work sheet" for the coming football season was released Friday and showed only the names of ends John (Eddie) Weaver of Kingston, NY, and John R. Krobock of Hazelton, Pa., as returning members of the 1950 Varsity squad of 45.

Richard Inman of Vincennes, Ind., a guard, and Don Fuqua, a back from Little Rock, Ark., are listed among the returning members of the B squad.

Weaver, Inman and Fuqua previously had telephoned their parents they were not involved in the current cribbing scandal in which 90 cadets face expulsion from the military academy.

Earl H. Blaik, football coach, Thursday told New York City sports writers that "all but a few" of the 45-man A squad were involved.

The Army said it would be incorrect to assume that all those not returning were involved in the scandal.

US Cup Squad Nears Victory

MONTREAL, Aug. 11 (CP). — The United States Davis Cup squad was one match away from victory in the North American zone final tie as Canada's outclassed team hoped to eke out a doubles win today.

Little Henri Rochon and Brendan Macken of Montreal have the almost hopeless task of trying to overpower the American combination of Tony Trabert and Budge Patty.

The US pair are 7-to-5 favorites to win the match without loss of a set.

The Americans showed their power Friday with two singles victories in straight sets. They gave up only 11 games to the Canadians.

Trabert, a 20-year-old wizard from Cincinnati, clipped Lorne Main 6-1, 6-2, 6-3 in a 49-minute first match and Dick Savitt sailed past Macken, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 in 51 minutes.

Kitchen Shower For Miss H. Arthur

ROSENEATH, Aug. 11 (ENS). —Miss Hilda M. Arthur, whose marriage takes place this month, was guest of honor at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Smith, Roseneath, on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in receiving the guests by her daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Small, Hamilton and Mrs. John Coyle, Roseneath.

A mixed program was presented: a reading by Miss Linda Arthur; a pantry contest by Mrs. Lorne Thackeray and won by Mrs. Flex McMillan; a vocal duet by Misses Linda and Joyce Arthur and a vocal duet by Mrs. Kenneth Small and Mrs. John Coyle.

Three junior girls, Mary Coyle, Agnes Small and Lorna Greacen presented the gifts to the bride-to-be and the best wishes of the gathering were extended to Miss Arthur.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Lorne Thackeray. Mrs. Robert Linton and Mrs. Earl Thackeray.

Needy Served Free At Market

VICTORIA, BC — (CP) — Mrs. Barbara Green has set up a stall in city market where she distributes donated foodstuffs to needy persons, without charge.

She says the plan in which commercial firms are co-operating has proved successful, and she would like to see it operated in other cities.

Cards are distributed to eligible persons by the city welfare department and nearly all have been used to get supplies from Mrs. Green's stall.

In one day Boy Scouts delivered 15 hampers filled with fruit, meat, home baking, butter, eggs and other goods. About 600 pounds of tomatoes, 200 pounds of beans, crates of lettuce, watermelons, carrots, apples, cherries, potatoes and other produce were delivered.

SCHOOL MEALS

More than 85 per cent of children in schools in Britain are supplied free milk.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"I've been sleeping here since Rover won first prize at the dog show—the wife gave him my bed!"

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Has Martyr Complex Will Be Nagging Shrew

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I have been married only a few years and have one child. We love each other very much, but my husband wants to belong to civic associations and other clubs and I never could become interested in such things. Consequently he goes out evenings and I stay with the baby, as I don't feel right having someone else sit with her. If my husband is late getting home I'm worried to death for fear something has happened to him. I have met some of his friends but I can't bear it when they laugh and joke with him. Perhaps I am a little jealous but it hurts to have him so gay with others and so quiet with me.

SARAH.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: You have a very bad case of martyr complex, and unless you take hold of yourself worse of all possible wives — a quickly, you'll soon turn into that nagging shrew! There's no reason in the world why you can't engage a competent sitter to stay with the baby so you can get out with your husband once a week anyway I think you enjoy sitting home feeling sorry for yourself.

You Should Join Him

Man is a gregarious animal; he likes people and fun. If simple pleasures are denied him at home, he's going to seek them elsewhere. There is certainly nothing wrong in the type of club or organization he frequents; in fact, they are for civic and national betterment and it would do you good to get into such work and find out what goes on in the world.

When your child enters school, affiliate yourself with the parent-teacher organizations. You need them and they need you. If you learn to laugh a little with your husband, you'll soon lose the jealousy over seeing someone else do it.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend, Ralph, has a job in which he sees a lot of pretty girls He is always talking about them and we are constantly fighting about it. We broke up once but were back together again very soon. Should I break up for good or wait to see if we can get along better?

EUNICE.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: If your only point of dissension is your boy friend's talk of pretty girls at his job, I wouldn't advise you to break off too hastily. One thing you can be sure of, if he were serious about any of these girls he wouldn't [illegible]tly about it, so as long as [illegible]s them into the discussion [illegible] you can be assured that's how he feels. A boy will look at a pretty girl, you know! That's one of the laws of nature — probably only second to the law of self-preservation.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR SSMI DIX: There is a boy in my classroom whom I like very much and would like to know better. However, he is continually teasing and making fun of me to such an extent that I think he detests me. I am considered attractive, and am popular with all my classmates except this boy. I have done nothing to give him reason for his behavior.

ARELENE.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: You are untutored in the ways of men, Arelene, so I will let you in on a little secret concerning them. Boys seldom go to the trouble of teasing a girl unless they like her very much. Just why they insist on covering up their real feelings with this kidding attitude is something even I can't fathom, but they do it.

Your cue is to tease him right back. Don't let him get you ruffled and don't let him see you're annoyed. Be a good sport about this teasing and you may get your man yet.

Dress Designer Gains New Fame For Royal Garb

LONDON (CP)—Hardy Amies, London couturier chosen by Princess Elizabeth to design some of the clothes she will wear on the Canadian tour with Prince Philip, is drawing much comment from London fashion writers.

One of the youngest of London's "big ten" of fashion, he has long been a favorite with Canadian buyers and the sudden Royal patronage gives added interest to his background.

Just turned 40, clean-shaven and dark-haired, this six-foot bachelor started his designing career by a turn of fate experienced by few.

Early familiar with the inside of a fashion salon through the employment of his mother by a court dressmaker, Amies met the wife of a director of Lachasse—another of the big ten—and gave such a graphic description of her dress that it was later relayed to the lady concerned.

As a result Hardy Amies succeeded Digby Morton as designer to Lachasse when Morton retired to start his own salon.

With no training to guide his early career, Amies became part of the world of silks and satins—and still laughs at his own sketches. His dutter complain they are "more like blueprints." They have, however, one advantage. The designer fears nothing from dress pirates.

"If anyone can copy from my sketches,' 'he said, "I'd like to employ them myself to help me."

FASHION NOTE

Corduroy is forecast as a round the clock fabric for fall wear. The bisque to brown color range is favored.

UNFRIENDLY RIVER

The Limpopo River in South Africa is 1,000 miles long but is unnavigable for vessels of more than 200 tons because of sandbars that obstruct its mouth.

Readers' Column By Mary Moore

QUESTION: I for one enjoy your column very much. I love trying the different recipes and find them very good. I have a recipe which I am enclosing. My friends make this cake and it turns out delicious for them, and I just can't make it. As a rule I get a thin layer of leathery substance on the bottom of my cake. In the first place what temperature should the oven be? Am I heating it too much or not enough. Usually use the mix master.

I would be so thankful to find out just what I do that is wrong. (My friends) have coal ranges—I have electric. Mrs. G. B.

◇ ◇ ◇

SPONGE CAKE

(Sent for correction by Mrs. B. G.)

Three eggs beaten light, pinch of salt, add 1 cup sugar and beat 10 minutes. Add 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup flour, flavoring, ½ cup boiling water is added last. Combine well and put in ungreased pan. Mix cake in order given. Take quite a large pan 8 x 14.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: According to all my recipes for 3-egg sponge cakes you are using too much water. For a quick and economical sponge cake I use what is very like your recipe but the few changes are noted below,—and of course the temperature and time in oven.

◇ ◇ ◇

HOT WATER SPONGE CAKE

Three medium-sized eggs, 1 cup sifted granulated sugar, 1 cup sifted cake flour (be sure this is not damp), ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 3 tablespoons warm water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. (Measurements are level using measuring cup and spoons.)

Under your electric beater beat the whole eggs until light and lemon-colored. Add the sifted sugar gradually while beating. Add warm water and continue to beat 2 minutes. Sift flour and measure then sift the flour with the salt and baking powder twice. Now fold the flour mixture into the egg mixture, 2 tablespoons at a time, with a wire whisk. When blended pour into ungreased tube pan (or into buttered paper lined square pan if desired). Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 minutes.

If your cake has leathery layer it means one or more things are wrong. You may not have strong enough heat from bottom element on your electric stove. Try baking the cake with the rack lower down in the oven. Underbeating of yolks sometimes causes this—so if you follow above directions that will not be one of the causes. Damp flour will cause soggy layer at bottom of cake so be sure flour is kept where it is dry. Write again if these suggestions or this recipe do not work for you.

Question: Would it be possible to secure a recipe for a spiced tart which has current and cake mixture with a small amount of jam. Also covered with caramel icing. Mrs. R. H.

Answer: Sometimes these are called:

Cake Filled Tarts

Cake mixture: One and one-third cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon each soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup sugar, ⅓ cup shortening, 1 well-beaten egg, ¼ cup currants or raisins, ⅓ cup each milk and molasses. Sift together the flour, soda and spices and salt. Cream the shortening well then cream in the sugar. Add egg and beat. Stir in dry ingredients alternatively with the milk and molasses. Line tart tins with your best pastry. Place 1 teaspoon tart jelly or jam in each, then add cake mixture to fill 2-3 full. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 18 or 20 minutes.

Caramel Frosting

Mix together 1½ cups brown sugar, ½ cup thin cream or top milk, a tablespoon butter and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Stir over medium heat until sugar dissolves then boil to soft ball stage stirring almost constantly (238 deg. Fehr.) Let cool until you can hold hand on bottom of pan. Beat unutil creamy and slightly stiff. It is now ready to spread. Double this recipe for caramel frosting for cake. It is delicious sprinkled with chopped nuts.

FASHION NOTE

Vogue suggests a mixing of make-up colors, bright red for lipstick and pink for nails or vice-versa.

Now lies in death's cold chill.
—Always remembered by wife Nora, Son Cyril (Bud), daughter-in-law Margo.

JAMES—In loving memory of Lewis Boyd, who passed away August 12, 1949.
God knew that he was suffering,
The hills were hard to climb,
So He closed his weary eyelids
And whispered "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God
By the valley of rest so fair,
Sometime, someday, we know not when
We will meet our dear Boyd there.

William Clark Buried In Merrell's Cemetery

ROSENEATH, Aug. 11 (ENS) —The funeral of the late William Clarke was held on Thursday at 2 p.m. at the McMillan Funeral Home, Roseneath. The service was conducted by Rev. J. N. Lovelace.

The deceased was born and spent the greater part of his life in Alnwick township but resided for a few years in Norwood and near Warkworth. He died in Cobourg on Tuesday.

His wife, the former Mary Eley, predeceased him four years ago. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. John Jardine, Walldeck, Saskatchewan and a brother, Norman Clarke, Roseneath.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Silas Sherwin, Fred Brown, Port Hope; James L. Timlin and Kyle Brown.

Interment was in Merrill's Cemetery, near Roseneath.

Bethany News

Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Dodds and children Rosemary and Garry of Summerside, Prince Edward Island, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Alban Sisson are on holidays motoring to British Columbia.

The Bethany girls softball team won their game in Orono on Thursday night with a score of 14-12.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Carr spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hall in Whitby and Mr. and Mrs Sidney Hutchinson at Newcastle.

Word has been received here of the death of Carl Westlake on Friday, August 10 in Toronto. Mr. Westlake was well-known here having lived his early life in Bethany, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Westlake. He is survived by his widow and daughter Grace in Toronto and the other members of his family, Mrs. Frank Bigelow, Bethany, Mrs. Walter Burns, Peterborough, Mrs. Myrtle Waite and Williard Westlake in Toronto.

Wesley Staples of Toronto was the guest of Lewis Staples and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Challice on Thursday. Mr. Staples, who is 90 years of age had many comments on the changes in Bethany and surrounding community. Despite his advancing years, he is remarkably active and his memory is keener than those many years his junior. Failing eyesight is his only handicap. He was born in Bethany, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Staples. His father was the contractor who built Bethany public school in 1876. His trip down by motor from Toronto was quite an event for this elderly gentleman and the changes in the highways 35 and 7A were quite remarkable to him. Earlier contact with Mr. Staples had established many of the facts supplied in the history of Bethany currently being printed in the Examiner and it was a real pleasure to those who had the opportunity of meeting him to hear Mr. Staples further reminiscing of days that are almost forgotten to those of this generation.

Roseneath News

Messrs. William Morrow and Marshall A. Dean, Toronto, were guests the first of the week of Mr. and Mrs. George Mouncey.

Terry Black, Bowmanville, is holidaying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Varcoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, Port Hope, were in the village on Thursday and attended the funeral of the latter's uncle, the late Wiliam Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Preston, Toronto, are holidaying with Rev. and Mrs. R. C. White.

Ronald Smith has returned to Bailieboro following a holiday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Brown.

Mrs. Rae Brown is a guest of Miss Ruth Waldie, Peterborough.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Coyle on the birth of a baby daughter in Cobourg hospital on Wednesday.

Miss Frances Scholes, Pittsburgh, Pa., is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sherwin.

Miss Selina Gilpin, Toronto, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jewell.

Miss Audrey Hope is visiting relatives in Barrie.

Mrs. Les Tucker was a guest on Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Brown.

July Rains Ease Demand Made On Waterworks

July's pumpage at the waterworks was 15,057,000 gallons less than in the midsummer month last year, as shown in the monthly statement of R. L. Dobbin, manager. Total pumpage a year ago was 164,795,000 gallons and last month 149,738,000 gallons.

That was an effect of the weather with its fairly frequent rain. Precipitation was 4.28 inches as compared with 2.29 inches in July 1950. Less water was needed for lawns and gardens, assuming that the tub-shower outlets were as active as usual.

Water mains constructed during the month were: London St., Donegal to Gilchrist; Wellington St. 371 ft.; Lock St., 188 ft. northerly from King George; King George, 146 easterly from Lock; Ephgrave boulevard, 450 ft. of 6 in., and 400 ft. of 4 in.

Electric Peak Up

Peterborough's electric peak load was 11% higher in July than a year ago. The increase in kilowatts was 2,062 to 20,500 for last month.

Report of Utilities Manager R. L. Dobbin for July mentions the completion of the first of two substations on High St. This one on the Tird Ave. hill is now in operation and is supplying power to Dominion Woollens.

"As soon as convenient, other circuits including Civic Hospital, will be transferred to this station to lighten the load."

Some grading and fencing of the grounds remains to be done.

Piers have been set for the 44,000 volt switchgear towers on the lower station near the CPR, and erection of transformer towers is well advanced. Three 600 kva. three-phase transformers were delivered to that site.

Ten new power poles have been set and others moved to suit the city paving program. Forty water heaters were connected during the month.

Warkworth News

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Seward left this week on a three weeks motor trip to North Bay and other Northern Ontario centres.

Mr. Emmett Gallagher and daughter of Toronto have been visiting his sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Miller and son David of South Bend, Ind., are spending their vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Massey.

Mr. and Mrs Glen Hancock and family have returned home after visiting his parents at Orono.

Master Bobby Bowen has returned from Toronto after vacationing with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lattimer.

Mrs. C. O. Dudley and son Raymond and their guests Mr. and Mrs. John Waters and family of Chester, Virginia visited the former's daughter, Mrs. Mabel Rimer in Toronto for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Birney and Eveiyn were guests at the home of his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Birney, Cobourg for a few days.

Miss Ina Bowen is visiting in Edmonton and Vancouver.

Mrs. W. W. Grieve is a patient undergoing treatment in Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

Miss Monica Lonergan visited for a few days with her brother Mr. Thomas Lonergan in Rochester N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buttars spent a few days holidays at the home of his brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Buttars, Plainville.

Mr. Joe A. Greenly has been visiting friends at Seeley's Bay. His wife, who has been visiting her brothers and sisters there, returned home with him.

Miss Margaret Ewing has returned home after having taken a summer course at Queen's University.

Messrs. Clayton Cole and son Earl have been visiting at Ottawa, also at Clayton, N.Y.

Mr. Douglas McVety has rented the farm from Mr. Randolph Potter on the 1st Concession of Percy township, and Mr. Potter has purchased the home recently owned by Mr. McVety near Banta Town, just west of this village. The change-over is expected to take place this fall.

Mr. J. H. Brooks of Campbellford has been visiting at the home of his daughter Mrs. Roy Shea and family.

Mr. Chas. Killingbeck suffered a painful accident when he fell from a ladder while working on the verandah of his home. A rung in the ladder broke, causing him to fall about 12 feet to the ground. He had the ligaments in his shoulder torn and also received a hip injury.

Alderville News

Mrs. Frank Joblin, Sutton, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Christopher Marsden.

Mr. and Mrs. James Loukes, Toronto, were guests the first of the week of the former's brother, Mr. William Loukes.

Mr. Robert Marsden and Misses Della and Eleanor Marsden have returned to Christian Island after a holiday with the former's sister, Mrs. Ernest Crowe and other relatives here.

Guests during the week of Mr. and Mrs. Irven Smoke were: Mrs. Agnes Naish, Miss Marilyn Naish, Mr. Albert Jones, Oakville and Mr. Howard Platt, Rochester, NY.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Chase, Toronto, are holidaying with his mother, Mrs. Mary Chase.

Miss Velma Marsden, Brantford was a guest during the week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Marsden.

Bridegroom Convicted Of Giving Minors Beer

TORONTO, Aug. 11 —(CP)— Lawrence Brabant, 18, who said he drank a bottle of beer left over from his wedding two weeks ago, Friday was convicted of supplying intoxicating liquor to three minors—one of them his bride.

Brabant was sentenced to one month. His wife, Joyce, and her two friends, Diana Reid, 18, and Isabelle Taylor, 18, were fined $10 or five days for obtaining liquor while under 21.

One Killed, Three Hurt In Two-Car Accident

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 11 (CP)— Wilbert Caughlin, 70, of Komoka was killed, and three others injured in a two-automobile accident at Lobo, about ten miles west of here Friday night.

Injured were: Nettie Keddy, 70, of Exeter; Douglas Keddy, 23, of London, and his wife Doris, 25.

Hospital officials said Caughlin received head lacerations and a possible fractured skull.

The Keddy's four-month-old daughter, Barbara Elizabeth, was not injured.

Car Kills Deer

MARMORA, Aug. 11 (ENS)— A large doe was killed by a car bearing an Ohio license on No. 7 Highway on Wednesday evening close to the resident of William Aunger. It so chanced that Conservation Officer John A. Shannon was in the vicinity at the time. The venison was taken by the officer to the Hastings County Home. The fender of the car was badly smashed through the impact.

Careful Planning Can Cut Costs of Building Homes

How can construction costs be cut? If all of the home planners in the country could be assembled together that question would arise as a chorus. It is undoubtedly the major concern of every person who is planning a home.

Construction economies are real and the planning stage of home building is the time to realize that many building dollars can be saved. Since every nail and board that goes into the house affects the final cost, the future home owner should recognize the fact that planning for economy is a lengthy process—but one that pays prompt and substantial dividends.

Construction economies largely depend upon the shape of the house and the simplicity with which the structural shell of the house can be framed.

Square Shape Cheapest

Since the cost of the enclosing outside wall and roof area is a large item in the total cost of the house, the shape of the house is important. The most economical shape is the square. It provides the maximum amount of floor area with the least amount of wall area. Corner construction costs more than straight-wall constructino, with the result that square and other rectangular-shaped houses are less costly than L, U or Z shapes. The rectangular shape also simplifies the structural framing system of both floors and roof and thus effects economies.

The size and arrangement of rooms should permit the use of standard size floor and ceiling joists without waste of labor and material. When this is done, rooms of maximum size are provided by a given amount of labor and materials. Floor openings and intersecting roofs and dormers add to the cost of the structural frame by complicating the framing system.

The framing should be planned in relation to the mechanical equipment to permit the economical installation of pipes, ducts, wires, and other items. Intelligent planning can prevent later additional framing or the adjusting and cutting of structural members.

Even the inexperienced home planner probably knows that stock millwork items such as door and window frames, door and window sash, kitchen cabinets, finish trim for wall openings and cornices, and other items are an economy. Much of this equipment and many finishing items today are so well designed and manufactured that special items become a luxury. Stock moldings of good design are available in various sizes and shapes and can be readily combined to secure effects of wide variety.

Plumbing Position

Economy in plumbing installation is often obtainable by locating plumbing fixtures to avoid an excessive amount of piping. This objective can be reached by planning the kitchen and bathroom with fixtures back to back along a partition common to both rooms when they are on the same floor, or by locating the bathroom over the kitchen in a two storey house.

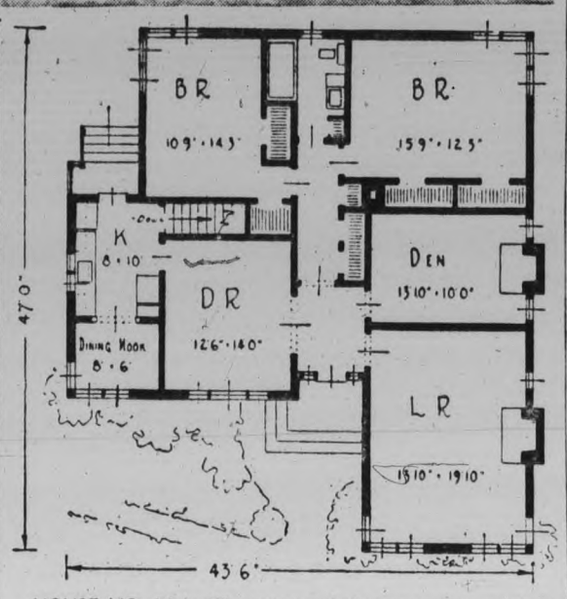
Unless the building budget will permit construction of an attractive chimney of good proportion, it is generally thought desirable to use an inside chimney for economy.

There are many other short cuts to savings in home planning, and the economies which are possible are well worth the trouble and work needed to evolve them.

In the small house it is possible to effect a compromise in the interest of space economy and combine the dining function with either that of cooking or of living. It is a logical compromise, since dining space is required for use for only about three hours each day.

Preference for dining space in the kitchen or the living room varies with individual families. When the kitchen is used also for dining purposes it should be made somewhat larger than for kitchen use alone.

For those who prefer to dine in the living room, the kitchen can be made small but adequate for equipment and work space. Space provision should be made in the living room for the dining table and chairs.



HOUSE NO. 504—The owner of this appealing cottage is a well-known realtor. Undoubtedly his profession influenced him in his choice of a home. A practical eye would be quick to appreciate the many fine features in evidence. Of unusual interest is the beautiful den, which, besides having a big open fireplace, is panelled in mahogany. With a full basement the house contains about 29,000 cubic feet. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay Street, Toronto.

Bldg. Contract Prevents Misunderstanding

A building contract is of equal importance to the prospective home-owner and his contractor. This document, which sets forth the responsibilities of each and prevents any misunderstanding, should be prepared with legal assistance.

A properly completed contract contains four parts: The agreement, general conditions, working drawings, and the specifications. All sections should be clearly understood by the prospective home-owner. The agreement names the parties concerned, the scope of work to be completed, and the amount and method of payment. It also states that the working drawings, the specifications and the general conditions form a part of the contract.

The general conditions detail the rights and responsibilities of both the owner and the contractor and provide for arbitration of disputes. They also outline the responsibilities for all liabilities, including claims under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and the method of settlement of mechanics' liens or similar claims which might be filed against the property for unpaid bills. Specific mention is also made in the general conditions of the responsibilities of the contractor in regard to work performed by a sub-contractor.

Working drawings outline in detail the construction of the house while the specifications describe the size and quality of materials to be used. They should be carefully checked and signed by both parties to prevent any possible misunderstanding or misrepresentation.

L. McMillan Buys Alliston Farm

Lyle R. McMillan of Hill-Crest Farm, Norwood, has purchased the Air Port Farm at Alliston, Ont., the site of the 1950 International Plowing Match. He is planning to move into possession this fall.

This information is linked with an advertisement in Friday's Examiner offering Hill-Crest for immediate sale. This farm is on the north side of Norwood and about a mile from the centre of the village.

It is the former home of G. A. Brethen, who years ago, dispersed a fine herd of Holstein cattle, and then established a chicken hatchery. His son-in-law, Mr. McMillan, has been associated with Hill-Crest in recent years, but is acquiring the big farm at Alliston as his own enterprise.

Mr. McMillan has carried on capable farm management of Hill-Crest that was indicated by his successes in field crop competitions. He had the highest yield in the 50-bushels of wheat club last year. The nine-room house has all city conveniences and the premises completely equipped as a chicken hatchery, including a 15,000-egg incubator, triple decked poultry house, and also marketing connections. It is being put on the market as a well established going concern that has always received good care and management. Close to Norwood, it is 17 miles from Peterborough.

The Alliston Air Port Farm has an area of approximately 575 acres, comprising a number of farms that were unified for the Air Force during the war. Only one house is left on it, and the old dividing fences are gone. Plowing strips extend to lengths of a mile and up to nearly a mile and a half.

Mr. McMillan is a prominent young farmer in East Peterborough, has taken an active part in community and club affairs, and has many friends throughout the county.

Hilaire Godin

NORWOOD, Aug. 11—(ENS)—The funeral of Hilaire (Harry) Godin was held Wednesday afternoon from the McConnell-Warner funeral home with service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. The Rev. R. D. Duncanson officiating.

During the service Fred Bennett of Havelock sang "Is There Any Room For Jesus."

The graveside service was under auspices of the Masonic Order conducted by Messrs. Walter Bitten and Gerald Baker. The HEPC, of which Mr. Godin was superintendent, attended in a body.

Pall-bearers were G. Cooper, J. William Golloher, John Cronin C. Riseborough, Clifford Davey, and Armar Weir.

Flower bearers were members of the Masonic order.

Without Director

KINGSTON, Aug. 11—(CP)—The housing shortage has left Queen's University without a director for its Department of Extension. Dr. Harold W. Hedley, of Toronto, appointed to the post last May, has advised the University he will be unable to take over his duties. Dr. Hedley is the father of three children and has found it impossible to get housing accommodation here.

Get New Ice Arena

CAMP BORDEN, Aug. 11 (CP)—This big military camp is going to get a new ice arena. Construction of the building, to replace Lee Hall which was destroyed by fire six months ago, has been approved by Ottawa. The multi-purpose arena will be ready in 1953.

Typhus, Smallpox Patients Side By Side In Emergency Hospitals

By BILL BOSS

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 11. (CP)—"Typhus," said the Korean doctor, standing in the middle of the tent and its 40 or 50 wretched patients—North Koreans all. Conducting a tour of the hospital improvised in the gigantic evacuee camp at Kunchon-Myong, five miles east of Seoul, he had shown the "reception room," the hospital "office and the "operating theatre"—various applications of the ordinary packing case draped with soiled white cotton—and then gone smack into the "wards."

The more than 800 patients in the hospital were but a fraction of the camp's 61,536 occupants. A further 500 were treated the same morning — until medicines and bandages ran out — at the clinic in another part of the centre.

The doctor had said earlier that almost 300 of the cases were infectious diseases, but that they were in "isolation."

They were. They were in separate tents slam-bang up against the others.

Hasty Exit

"Typhus," he said, having led the visitor into the middle of the first tent, after the barn housing the surgical patients had been visited.

With decent haste the visitor led the way outside.

The party was at the far end of the next tent before the doctor turned and explained:

"Smallpox."

The interpreter was asked at the next tent's entrance what its patients had. The answer came: "typhoid."

There was a smile, a nod, the visit ended.

Since the beginning of June more than 23,000 patients have been treated in this hospital, 8,000 of them with communicable diseases. Amazingly, only 360 have died.

During the same period 320,000 evacuees have passed through the camp—turned out of their homes in the areas adjacent to the front, both North and South of the parallel, and told to make their way into South Korea.

As many as 8,000 a day have been dusted with DDT.

Just Ignored

As far as can be ascertained not one of the hospitals organized in Seoul province by the United Nations Civil Assistance command has yet been visited by a single medical officer attached to it by either the army or the World Health Organization.

The medicos sit in their offices at headquarters and "advise"; experienced disaster workers here say the Koreans must first be shown, then "advised."

Only one, a Norwegian surgeon named Meyers, concerned himself with the plight of the Koreans to the point of going out and doing something personally about it. He performed as many as five operations a day in Seoul city relief hospital besides doing his paper work, finally working himself into nervous exhaustion.

Do Their Best

At Kunchon the five Korean doctors and 11 Korean nurses — several just high school girls pressed into service—do the best they can.

Ninety per cent of the evacuees are malnutrition cases to varying degrees.

Says the Colonel commanding the UNCAC team in Seoul province:

"They are really starved and in bad shape. These evacuees are in the worst condition I have ever seen. Either they were terribly treated by the Chinese or else they were too scared to go out and look for food. They even ate poisonous grasses. And between the heat and flies they suffer badly from dysentery."

There are 11 permanent-type camps like Munchon throughout Seoul province, each with an estimated 19,000 inhabitants.

Nehru Anxious To Settle Row

NEW DELHI, Aug. 11 (AP). — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru expressed again Friday a desire to find a peaceful solution of the boiling dispute over Kashmir, but said India would remain on guard against attack by Pakistan.

In a brief note to Pakistan's premier—possibly the last in the lengthy exchange—Nehru told Liaquat Ali Khan that "the real alternatives you offer India are surrender to your wishes or resort by you to force." He added:

"So long as this remains your attitude, no government of India can relax its precautions which are purely defensive."

The two countries have been quarreling over control of the predominantly Moslem state of Kashmir for three years. A United Nations mission is trying to settle the dispute.

Council Shelves Plan To Resurface Street

PORT HOPE, Aug. 11 (ENS). — A plan to resurface one of Port Hope's main streets, Ontario St., is going to be shelved because some of the street will have to be torn up and replaced.

The extra work will cost the town an added $3,000. Members of the council say unofficially that that they have not the money.

The matter will come up before the council at its next meeting.

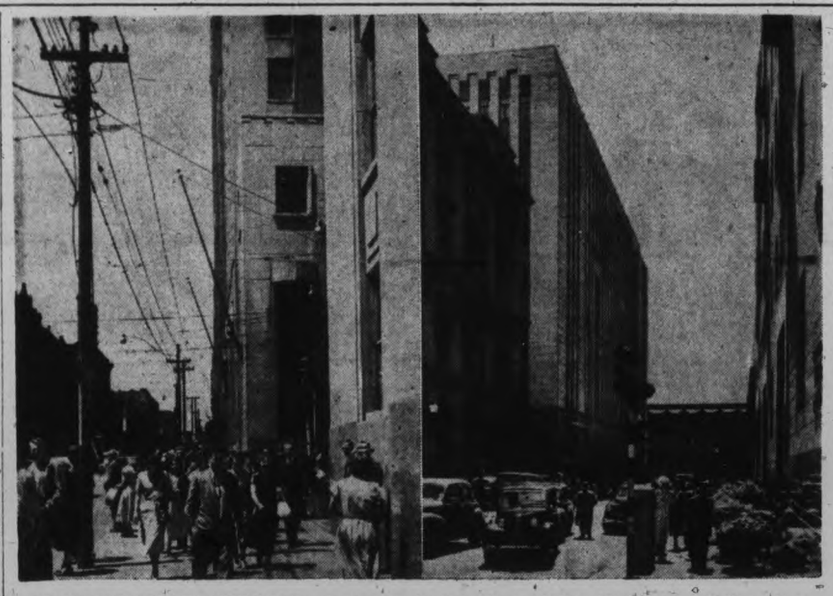
Originally it was thought only resurfacing of the street would be required. That would cost $7,200.

If the Department of Highways approved of the plan, it would pay half the cost. But the department is believed to think some sections of the street will have to be completely replaced. This would jump the cost to well over $10,000. And the town would have to pay for all the extra work.

It is believed the town just hasn't the money.

Breaks Own Record

OSAKA, Japan, Aug. 11 (AP)—Hironoshin Furuhashi, Japan's flying fish, today broke his own world free-style record in the 200 metres for a 50-metre pool. His time was two minutes and eight seconds flat in the all-Japan swimming meet, 2-10 of a second faster than the mark he set last year.



FROM WHATEVER THE LAND, visitors to Canada express amazement at the overhead wiring. Many Canadians are aware that most European cities have placed their wiring out of sight underground, but do not realize that the same is true of places like Santiago in Chile, Hong Kong, Wellington, N.Z. and others scattered throughout the world. At right, above, is Parliament St., Cape Town, South Africa, where the absence of overhead wiring gives a neat appearance, and contrasts with the scene at Bay and King Sts., left, the heart of Toronto's financial district.

MechanicalBombadier Shipped To Korea

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP).—A mechanical "bombardier" with a reported record of accuracy far superior to human aiming, or bombing by radar, has been shipped to an air force base in Korea, a reliable source said Thursday. It was not disclosed whether it is operating in combat.

It was described as a computer, electronically operated, which remains on the ground, but nevertheless guides the bombers, and trips the trigger for the bombs, at the end of the bombing run.

Informants said it guides the plane to the target, "following" it on a radar screen.

Regatta Aug. 15 At Chemong

The annual junior regatta for the young fry and teen-agers of Chemong park and cottagers on Chemong lake will be held Wednesday.

The regatta, sponsored by the Chemong Park Cottagers' Association headed by Mrs. Cecil Wasson, will be held in front of J. K. Hughes' cottage.

Formerly the regatta was open to children of Chemong Park and Bridgenorth only, but this year it has been extended to include children of all cottagers on Chemong lake.

The events will include swimming races, canoe races and other contests for children of all ages between six and 20.

Prizes to the winners of the 33 events will be paddles and boat cushions and other articles.

Plans Parachute Jump On His 83rd Birthday

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP).—Bernarr MacFadden, physical culturalist, is determined to make a parachute jump above Niagara Falls to celebrate his 83rd birthday Aug. 16 to prove "his youthful vitality," his associates said Friday.

MacFadden left Thursday night for Dansville, NY, to make an inspection flight over the Falls, Edward Bodin, managing editor of Physical Culture magazine, a MacFadden publication, said.

MacFadden made a parachute jump at Dansville on his 81st birthday.

Negro Singer Makes Hit In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11 (AP)—Josephine Baker, longtime toast of France, made a triumphant debut to Hollywood this week, netting $24,000 in a one-night performance.

The American Negro singer's performance contributed a considerable amount to the Damon Runyon Memorial cancer fund, which is show business' principal charity. The sepia performer displayed her songs and talents in a one-night performance before the cream of Hollywood society at the showcase night club, Mocambo.

The television networks are making big plans for their prize comics to do their shows from this end of the continent starting this fall. But no decision has been announced yet on a pesky problem: the time differential.

For instance, if Jimmy Durante does this show to be seen by the eastern audience at 8 p.m. Saturday, it would be 5 p.m. here. That's not a good viewing time for Pacific coasters.

Since the larger, eastern audience is always favored, it appears that the shows will have to be filmed and shown at a later hour for westerners.

News item: "Warners preparing third version of 'Desert Song.'" Oh, No. . .

Among the silliest things about the movies are the ad lines to advertise them. Here's one that I noted on a theatre advertising the latest Humphrey Bogart flicker: "He got what he wanted at night."

Westinghouse To Get $5,500,000 War Order

HAMILTON, Aug. 11 (CP). — Defence production orders totalling $5,500,000 will be given the Canadian Westinghouse Company here, it was learned Friday.

The information came to light in a letter to Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West, from Milton F. Gregg, Minister of Labor.

Mr. Gregg added that $1,000,000 worth of electronic equipment would be produced later under sub-contract.

$11,000 Car

DETROIT, Aug. 11 (AP). — A Cadillac is being fancied up for a trip to the Argentine. Equipped with built-in television, bar and air-conditioning, the automobile will carry Argentina's dictator, Juan Person, and his wife, Eva, in super-luxurious style. The car cost $11,000.

Fuel Oil Will Scatter The Beaver Faster And Better Than Men Or Traps

The next time you want to chase beaver out of your backyard you are going to have an easier time.

Ways of moving beaver or discouraging them from building dams where they flood crops, creeks, ditches or railway culverts have failed miserably for years.

But a Timmins Department of Lands and Forests game overseer reports that he has found an infallible method.

Spray a little fuel oil around their lodge and where they are cutting trees, he said. Apparently beaver intensely dislike the smell and the whole colony packs up and leaves.

Formerly overseers have caught beaver in live-beaver traps, but many a veteran beaver has been too smart for the traps. Now the wardens don't have to catch them, they just discourage them.

5 Villages Destroyed During Lake Flood

COMO, Italy, Aug. 11 (AP). — Ebbing flood waters Friday uncovered a stark scene of death and destruction in Italy's Lake Como district where storm-whipped waters have laid waste five villages.

The Italian news agency Ansa said 26 persons have perished in the stricken area. Many others were missing, feared lost.

Two streams, swollen by heavy rains over the last week, overflowed their banks following a cloudburst Wednesday night in the five-village area.

Mud - laden waters burst through the Domaso Dam and wrought havic in the hamlet of Gera Lario. Domaso and three other villages—Dongo, Sorico and Sondrio—also were were hard hit.

Two Doctors Carry Wounded Man 12 Miles In Bush

ST. JOVITE, Que., Aug. 13. (CP)—Rupert T. Zickle, wealthy Westchester, NY, sportsman, sat up in his hospital bed today and chatted with the pilots and doctors who spent 24 hours rescuing him from deep in the Quebec bush, after he was accidentally shot in the abdomen. The rescue involved two aircraft which flew to lakes close to the isolated Sakaigan hunting and fishing club, about 90 airline miles north of Montreal, to get aid to the stricken vacationer.

Two doctors, who clambered through three miles of virgin bushland to reach the wounded man, then carried the patient at night over moon-lit logging roads for 12 miles to reach the spot where an ambulance was waiting.

Zickle, president off the Sakaigan Club, was shot at about 8 a.m. Sunday as his party, including his 16-year-old-son, Randy, was getting into canoes to start a day's fishing.

Someone, it was said, stumbled getting into a canoe and touched off a loaded gun. The bullet pierced Zickle's left hand and went into his abdomen.

Expert Bushmen

A telephone call from Lac Chaud informed Tom Wheeler, operator of Wheeler Airlines, St. Jovite, of the accident. He reached Dr. Ray Lawson, son of Ontario's lieutenant-governor and a well-known Montreal medical practitioner, who was vacationing at nearby Mont Tremblant. Dr. Lawson teamed up with Dr. Raymond Dupre of St. Jovite. Both medical men are expert bushmen.

Pilot Dorilla Thiroux flew a guide and medical supplies to a lake near the scene of the accident. Alf Cockle, flying a Beaver aircraft, took the two doctors and landed them at a smaller lake about three miles from the camp. The two doctors then walked in.

When a helicopter from the RCAF Rockcliffe base failed to reach the scene by nightfall, the two doctors decided to carry Zickle to Labelle, 12 miles away.

The doctors said today that fortunately it was a moon-lit night and the journey was not so rough as had been feared.

Today Zickle was safely in the St. Jovite hospital. X-rays taken showed that the bullet, after piercing the hand, had gone into the abdomen and travelled upwards to come out under the ribs.

No operation was necessary and it is expected that Zickle will be up and about within a few days.

Chinese Reds Try To Close All Churches

HONG KONG, Aug. 13 (AP)—Missionaries being ejected from Communist China said today the Communists apear bent on eliminating all Christian churches except their own "reform church."

The Roman Catholic church is bearing the brunt of Red activities now.

Travellers from Peiping said every foreign missionary in the Red capital is either in jail or under house arrest. The report said Chinese Christians are under pressure to join the "reform church."

One Canadian known to have been jailed is Msgr. Cuthbert O'Gara of Ottawa, Bishop of Yuanling. Five Canadian nuns also have been reported arrested.

The Rev. Harold Rigney of Chicago and 18 other Roman Catholic missioharies were reported jailed July 25. Rigney, only remaining American missionary in China and former rector of Roman Catholic Fujen University, was bound when taken to jail.

Take Over Parishes

Simultaneously with the arrests, the Reds took over 12 of Peiping's 17 Catholic parishes.

Roman Catholics are the only large body of foreign Christians left in China. There are about 3,000 foreign Catholic missionaries still in Red China. The all-time high was 5,000 in 1949.

Only 100 or so Protestant missionaries remain, including hospital workers and doctors. The Reds took over administration of all mission hospitals and schools several months ago.

In the open struggle between the Catholic church and the Peiping government, most high foreign officials of the church have been jailed or place under house arrest.

Archbishop Anthony Riberi of Monaco, Italy, Papal internuncio, is under house arrest in Nanking.

Compass Fails But Plane Lands

BRACEBRIDGE, Aug. 13 (CP)—Norbert Behnke of Milwaukee, Wis., brought his light plane down safely on the Trans-Canada Air Lines emergency field near this Muskoka district town Sunday night 1½ hours after his compass failed and left him circling aimlessly in unfamiliar territory.

There was enough fuel in the tank of his Ercoupe for 15 minutes' flying when provincial police guided the 31-year-old pilot to his landing place.

Behnke was flying a passenger, Tillie Pluk of Toronto, from Port Huron, Mich., to her hometown when the compass went haywire. He signalled traffic control at Toronto's Malton airport that he was circling a town but didn't know where he was.

Shortly afterward, provincial police spotted the Ercoupe over Orillia, 82 miles north of Toronto. They called Malton, and Behnke was directed to the nearest airport at Gravenhurst.

But the compass let Behnke down again. He wandered off course and had to be redirected to Bracebridge, 28 miles north of Orillia.

This time provincial police cruisers with blinking lights guided the errant Ercoupe to its destination. Behnke made a perfect landing, tinkered with his compass and said he'd finish his flight in the morning.

Mass Channel Swim On Wednesday

DOVER, England, Aug. 13 —(Reuters)— The mass Channel-swimming race from France to Britain today was postponed for a second time—to 6:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. EDT) Wednesday.

Weather experts said Channel seas, rough all weekend, were still stormy today.

The race is to begin at Cap Griz Nez, France, and officials said the prospects for the start Wednesday morning were now considered to be "very favorable."

Weather conditions Saturday forced the first postponement.

At Wissant, near Cap Gris Nez, 20 swimmers from 10 countries wait to tackle the Channel. Among them is Winnie Roach Leuszler, 35-year-old Toronto housewife.

35-Pound Fish Jumps Into Boat With Boys

OTTAWA, Aug. 13 — (CP) — Rene LaFrance, 14, of Pembroke, Ont., and his seven-year-old brother Ronnie went for a boat-ride during the weekend with no intention of fishing but came home with a 35-pound Sturgeon.

The fish jumped into their boat on the Ottawa River.

Other boatmen, attracted by the boys' screams when the 45-inch long sturgeon leaped into their boat, substantiated their story.

They didn't have a fishing line with them.

Second Polio Patient Gives Birth To Baby

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Evon Jennings, 23, an iron-lung polio patient, Sunday gave birth to a seven-pound four ounce boy described by her doctor as "perfect."

Dr. Samuel Nelson said it was possible to remove Mrs. Jennings from the iron lung for only four minutes at a time, returning her after each interval for 10 minutes' rest. For an hour she was alternately in and out of the lung before the delivery was complete.

Million Reds Parade, Outdo Hitler

Youths Given Orders To Sabotage Western Allied Arms

BERLIN, Aug. 13. (AP) — More than 1,000,000 hoarse and footsore Communist youths were sent home today after a screaming praise parade for Russia's Stalin that far outdid anything the Nazis ever whipped up for Hitler.

In parting, they received instructions from Walter Ulbrecht, East German Communist boss, to sabotage Western defence by "all manner of strikes in West Germany." He threatened "ultimate ruin" if Western Germany re-arms. Most of the youths were from East Germany with only a few Westerners who might be in a position to carry out these orders.

Organizers of the Communists' "World Peace Festival" immediately began moving hordes of replacements for the departing boys and girls into the city as the second week of the "Hate America" jamboree got under way.

Great Hysteria

They will have a hard time, however, matching the pitch of mass hysteria reached in Sunday's demonstrations when seemingly endless waves of blue-shirted kids shouting "Long live Stalin" and "Amit (Americans) go home" marched past the reviewing stand

Once past the reviewing stand, where East Germany's Communist President Wilhelm Pieck, Premier Otto Grotewohl, Ulbricht and their Russian guests took the "friendship salute," observers noted that kids' enthusiasm collapsed.

They literally dropped out of line and fell asleep on the ground. Some of the marchers were only six years old. Thousands had been brought in overnight — without sleep—to swell the ranks of the marchers.

At least 300,000 of the youths visited the democratic Western sectors. There they saw an abundance of material things and a freedom that astonished many who spoke with reporters.

Ready To Begin Treasure Hunt

MONTREAL, Aug. 13—(CP)—Believing that somewhere on the floor of the southern seas there is a fortune in gold and silver bars awaiting the finder Cliff Stuart, 39-year-old Toronto jack-of-all trades is going to try his luck as a treasurehunter.

Skipper Stuart who left his job in a Toronto munitions plant to take the schooner Yolanda into the Caribbean and South Atlantic arrived here today on the final lap before heading his ship down the St. Lawrence river and into the Atlantic

With [illegible] as a passenger is A. R. Hill of Hamilton and a crew of hardy weather-beaten tars.

Iranian Officials Pessimistic About Talks

TERHAN, Aug. 13—(CP) — Iranian officials today expressed pessimism on the outcome of their oil nationalization talks with the British.

A new hitch in the negotiations developed Sunday night when the Britons postponed submission of their proposal for a settlement of the dispute over the nationalization of Anglo-Iranian Oil Company holdings. Iranian coolness to their overtures was given as the reason.

The British proposal was scheduled to be presented tonight by Richard Stokes, chief of the British delegation. Stokes saw the Shah for a half hour this morning, and is believed to have outlined his proposal and appealed for the Shah's support.

Kazem Hassibi, undersecretary of finance and adviser to the Iranian negotiating team, told reporters: "In view of our talks in the first four meetings with the British, it is very difficult to be optimistic that their proposals will meet a satisfactory response from the Iranian government.

Second Postponement

Today's postponement of the draft presentation was the second in the last two days.

The British and Iranian delegations were to have met Sunday night. The talks were postponed until today, however, because Stokes was believed to have wanted time for last-minute consultations with the Foreign Office before presenting the draft agreement.

There was unusual optimism here Sunday among both Iranians and Britons on the chances of agreement.

Tehran radio Sunday night quoted the Iranian Oil Nationalization Board's chairman, Allayar Saleh, as saying he thought agreement could be reached today.

College Experts Believe They've Heard Corn Grow

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 13. (AP)—Seven men, including three University of Wisconsin experts, said today they believe they've heard corn grow. A tape recording of corn growth sounds were available to substantiate the claim of a newspaperman that there was basis to support an old saw that "it's so hot you almost hear the corn growing."

"If that wasn't corn growing that we heard I'd sure like to know what it was," Robert S. Beeler, assistant professor of agricultural journalism and editor of the College of Agriculture's farm science reports, declared after he witnessed and heard a recording of the stunt.

"When background noises subsided, you could hear that corn growing," Verner S. Suomi, associate professor of meteorology said.

The project originated with Herbert Jacobs, telegraph editor and farm news editor of The Capital Times. On a quiet country road during the night, near a corn field, he swore he heard snapping, crackling noises.

Jacobs enlisted expert farm and recording services to experiment.

Accept Invitation

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 13 (AP)—The newspaper El Ahran said today it has learned the Arab states will accept the Palestine conciliation commission's invitation to the Israeli-Arab peace meeting in Paris Sept. 10.

The paper quoted Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab league as saying he understood that if the Arabs attend they will not confer directly with the Israelis, but only with officials of the conciliation commission.

Sister Kenny Incurably Ill

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 13 — (AP).—A reporter for the Sydney Sun today quotes Sister Elizabeth Kenny as saying she was incurably ill and had little time left for this world.

The famous nurse, who has been internationally honored for her work with polio victims, did not name the disease.

The reporter who interviewed Miss Kenny said she was shaking and did not look well.

Miss Kenny, accompanied by a nurse to look out for her, is scheduled to leave Thursday by plane for the United States en route to an international poliomyelitis conference in Copenhagen. She told the reporter:

"I am unwell and incurably so."

"I only hope I will be spared the time to come home again.

Cripps Improving

ZURICH, Switzerland, Aug. 13 (AP) — Doctors reported today that Sir Stafford Cripps, former British Chancellor of the Exchequer who has been under treatment in Switzerland for a tubercular infection of the spine, is "in a slow state of convalescence."

The bulletin said "he is able to walk a little more each week" but would not be able to take part in any political or other work for a long time.

Allied Officers Agree Enemy Forces Built Up Now For New Offensive

Can't Make Any Progress Till UN Delegates Follow Communist Plan, Warning; No Acceptance of Any Point In Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Aug. 13. (AP)—The chief Communist armistice negotiator said today Korean truce talks "will not make any progress" unless the United Nations changes its demands on where to create a buffer zone. The statement from North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il was broadcast by the Red Pyongyang radio 10 hours after he had again refused to change his own demands. The Red position is so firmly fixed that in Mondays' negotiation session Nam Il rejected a United Nations statement as "not satisfactory" as soon as it was delivered.

And, a UN communique said, Nam Il made the rejection while "speaking from a previously prepared and translated paper."

Ready To Act

US Eighth Army headquarters today reported only small patrol actions along the muddy front. But high allied officers, agreed that the Reds have built up their forces to the point where they can launch another major offensive if Kaesong armistice talks fail.

In the Pyongyang broadcast Nam Il called on the UN delegation "to change its attitude" and "to take into consideration our demands" for a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

He said if the Kaesong truce negotiations are to "make any progress at all" UN delegates must "change their distorted demands they have made up to now."

UN spokesmen have emphasized the allies will not consider a demarcation line on the 38th parallel. They say the Reds must change their stand if negotiations are to progress.

No Progress

No progress was made in today's 80-minute session—the 13th devoted to the same question.

Opposing representatives could not even agree on where their armies are.

Navy Bomber With 12 Men Lost In Alaska

KODIAK, Alaska, Aug. 13 — (AP)—A four-engined United States navy patrol bomber with 12 crew members was reported missing today in Alaska. It was the fourth plane to have vanished along the Alaska and British Columbia coasts since July 21. They carried 60 persons.

The Kodiak-based privateer was on a routine operational mission when it vanished.

Three officers and nine other ranks were aboard.

The big plane's gasoline supply would have been exhausted at 9:35 p.m. Sunday night, 14 hours after it took off from Kodiak.

The navy declined to give the location of the bomber when it was last heard from.

Fog Hampers Search

Fog and rain hampered the search, which was started as soon as the Privateer was presumed lost.

The PB4-Y-2 is the third plane for which search is being made in the Alaskan region, a Canadian Korean airlift DC-4 with 38 aboard disappeared July 21 over the Alaska Panhandle between Cape Spencer and Yakutat. Six days later a private, single-engined Norseman vanished in the same vicinity, leaving no trace of the pilot and the wife and daughter of a wealthy New Jersey scientist, Walter Wood.

On Aug. 4 a chartered Queen Charlotte Airlines single-engine plane was lost on a 37-mile flight from Muchalat Arm to the tiny settlement of Tofino on Vancouver Island. The pilot was flying six passengers to Tofino from logging camps on the island.

UK Warships Cancel Visit

CAIRO, Aug. 13 (Reuters)—A proposed visit by British warships to Egyptian ports has been cancelled, a British Embassy spokesman said today.

Application for the visit was made July 3 but as no reply had been received so far from the Egyptian authorities, the Admiralty had decided to cancel the visit.

(The Foreign Office in London refused to comment on whether or not the cancellation had anything to do with the recent deterioration of Anglo-Egyptian relations.)

General Feels Talks Hopeless

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) —Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, United Nations commander in Korea, apparently hasn't much confidence in the cease-fire talks now going on at Kaesong.

But he's banking heavily on the fighting spirit of his men, if the talks fail.

In an interview published today by the magazine US News and World Report, Ridgway said:

"The ceaseless flow of falsehoods, perversion and slanted statements which continue to emanate from Communist-controlled public-information media, together with the long record of Communist duplicity, deceit and faithlessness in contractual obligations, have dissolved all doubts in the minds of members of this command as to Communist objectives."

Russians Win Rugby Game But Split Peace Festival

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—Football—especialy as played and won by the Russians with the aid of their own referee—disrupted the peace of the Communist World Youth Festival Sunday.

East Berlin's Communist press severely scolded German sports fans for being beastly to the Russians and loudly booing Moscow's Dynamo team and the referee Dynamo brought along.

Neue Deutschland said some spectators proved they had not lived down "their evil old nationalistic arrogance" and had not proved "worthy of the great confidence of the youth of the world and, above all, of the friendship of the great Soviet people."

The Muscovites, brought here as the star sports attraction of the youth festival, have played two matches against East German all-star elevens, winning the first 5-2 and the second 2-0. It was at the second game, played Friday night, that the booing occurred.

The Communists tried to hush up the scandal, but the little Christian Democrat newspaper, Neue Zeit, which sometimes sneaks in some anti-Soviet facts even though it is printed in the Soviet sector, revealed the discord.

It seems that some German fans thought their team would have beaten Dynamo—and would have if Moscow hadn't played dirty and if the Russian referee had called half the fouls committed by Dynamo.

Neue Zeit said the Germans held the Muscovites to a scoreless draw in the first half, but in the second half the Moscow referee went to work "like one of the Dynamo family." The newspaper said the fans loosed a chorus of boos that "turned into an angry concert lasting for minutes."

BC Welcomes First Shower

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13 (CP)—It rained on the British Columbia mainland Sunday—the first time in 58 days.

A shower at 3.30 a.m. officially ended the record dry spell, the first measurable rainfall since June 13.

Later in the day, some sections had rain for an hour, but nowhere was it sufficient for parched farmlands and fire-stricken forests.

A "rain rally" was held in a downtown auditorium during the afternoon as bright sunshine flooded the city, and in many churches prayers for rain were heard at morning services.

Amateur rainmakers sprinkled dry ice from a plane over some sections of Greater Vancouver yesterday afternoon, seeding cloud areas, but the test didn't produce any downpour as hoped for by its sponsors.

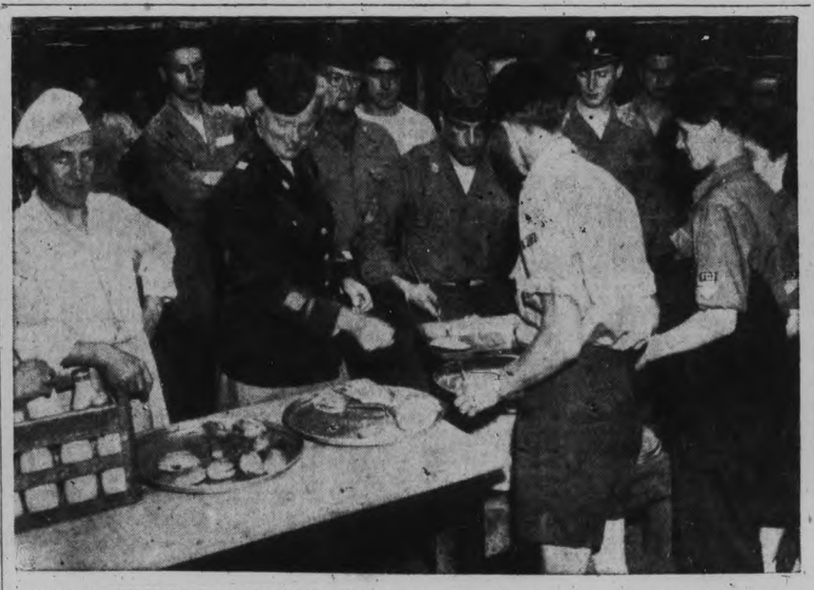
Decorator Intends To Shoot Over Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, NY, Aug. 13 (AP).—Leslie Sander, 38-year-old New York interior decorator, will go ahead with his plans to shoot Niagara Falls Aug. 25.

He said here Sunday that he would go over the horshoe Falls in his welded steel barrel "to dramatize the urgency of the world situation."

Reminded of Ontario Premier Frost's edict against river stunts he said:

"I only know that I intend to go as planned."



DISHING IT OUT FOR THE REDS—While the Commies dish out propaganda at their big youth rally in East Berlin, they don't seem to be dishing out much food. So the young Reds have been crossing the border to West Berlin, where they find plenty of good food at the US Army Youth Camp. Here Capt. Carolyn H. Jones, of Bethlehem, Pa., and her helpers feed some of the visiting Communists. A mammoth parade staged Sunday by the Reds outdid any Hitler efforts.

Ridiculous Fear Russian Power Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—Senators generally were considerably perked up today by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's reported assertion that it is "ridiculous" to be overly frightened by Russia's military strength. But Senator Lester Hunt (Dem. Wyo.), a member of the armed services committee, told a reporter he hopes the North Atlantic defence commander's estimate of comparable free world and Iron Curtain strength doesn't "lull Congress to sleep."

Eisenhower's views were in a subcommittee report prepared for the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees. These groups are meeting jointly to consider the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign bill.

Overwhelming Power

The subcommittee, including nine members who visited Europe in July, reported that Eisenhower had told them:

"The material, intellectual, spiritual, technical and professional resources available to the free world are so overwhelming as compared with what the iron curtain and satellite countries have that it is almost ridiculous for us to be talking in terms of fright and hysteria, which we often do."

The report said Eisenhower acknowledged the Soviet bloc has a unity lacked by the North Atlantic Treaty members but said it was brought about "by a gun and a sword held forever behind a man's back ready to chop off his head."

To gain real unity, the Senators said, Eisenhower told them the job is to convince every country and man participating in western Europe's defences that "we are approaching this thing from the standpoint of enlightened self-interest."

The subcommittee said further in its report:

1. Eisenhower's headquarters is dissatisfied with the fact that while the United States has doubled its ground forces since the outbreak of the Korean war, western Europe has increased them only 20 per cent.
2. Spain and Yugoslavia should be brought into the master plans for defence of Europe from Communist aggression. It estimated military and economic aid needs of Spain at $400,000,000.
3. Lt.-Gen. Alfred Gruenther, Eisenhower's deputy, testified that once the European military buildup was accomplished it would be possible to begin the gradual withdrawal of US ground forces.

Mobile Gate Hits Spectators

TIMMINS, Aug. 13 — (CP) — Eighteen persons were injured, two of them seriously, when they were struck by a wing of the mobile harness horse starting gate at the Timmins race track, Saturday night.

Most of the injured were knocked over and suffered minor head wounds when the wing, carried on the back of a half-ton truck, dragged along the top of a fence erected face high before the crowd.

Eddy Prouls, 11, and Rene Mongeon, both of Timmins, were the most seriously hurt. Hospital officials said they suffered serious head injuries.

The second heat of a free-for-all race was being started when the wing projected into a crowd of about 300 persons lining the rail. Children held up on the railing by parents were among those struck.

Stock Market Prices Climb Moderately

TORONTO, Aug. 13 — (CP) — Stock Market prices climbed moderately today in early afternoon dealings.

Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan, Estella, Falconbridge, Pend Oreille, Golden Manitou, Steep Rock and Torbrit were ahead. Ascot, East Rim, Head of Lakes, Minda-Scotia, Sherritt Gordon and Mackeno showed small losses.

Western Oils edged ahead. Anglo-Canadian, Atlantic, Grioil, Okalta, Security, Selburn, Superior and Trans Empire pushed upward. Ajax, Devon-Leduc, Jupiter, National Petroleum, Pacific Petroleum and Tower Petroleum eased.

Senior Golds climbed moderately. Dome, Giant Yellowknife, Kerr-Addison and Wright-Hargreaves led the advance. Secondary Golds remained mixed with little trend in penny changes.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Aug. 13 —(CP)— The American dollar today opened at 5 13/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Friday's close. That is, it took $1.05 13/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95⅛, also unchanged.

Pills May Help Dissolve Clots

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP) — Pills that dissolve in your mouth may be a new way of fighting bloodclots in heart patients, or saving frostbitten soldiers from amputations.

The new pills contain heparin, a blood-thinning drug. Heretofore, heparin has been given only by injection for heart patients, to dissolve potentially fatal clots in blood vessels.

In frostbite, a major winter hazard of soldiers in Korea, tiny blood vessels in toes or fingers may become clogged, and the tissue dies, necessitating amputations. Heparin thins the blood to prevent clogging, but soldiers usually can't get it until they reach a hospital. Someday they may be able to carry the pills for emergency use.

The first human experiments with the pill form of heparin was described in the proceedings of the Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine by Drs. Joseph Litwins, Jefferson J. Vorzimer, Leon N. Sussman and A. David Etess, and a chemist, Norman Applezweig, of Beth Israel hospital here.

Only a small amount of the heparin tablets have been produced for experimental studies.

Set Thusday Deadline For Royal Tour Plans

OTTAWA, Aug. 13 (CP) — Federal authorities arranging the October Royal Tour have asked provincial and local authorities to submit by next Thursday an outline of their plans for welcoming Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

This request has been submitted to provincial premiers, lieutenants- governor and mayors of municipalities along the route to be followed by the Royal couple. Their plans must be approved by the government special co-ordinating committee.

The committee also has asked that welcoming speeches be kept brief.

Induct New Minister On Fraserville Circuit

BAILIEBORO, Aug. 13—(ENS) —Members of congregations of Fraserville, Bailieboro and Bensfort United churches were present on Thursday evening when an induction service was held in Bensfort church for Rev. H. Yarr of Newfoundland as minister of the Fraserville circuit in the Peterborough Presbytery.

Ministers assisting in the service were Rev. H. D. Douglas and Rev. A. Mathews of Peterborough and Rev. H. B. Herrington of Keene.

At the close of the service a reception was held in the basement of the church when Messrs. W. C. Dawson, Fred Barnard and Ray Finley voiced words of welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Yarr. Lunch was served.

Obituary

CHARLES JOSEPH FAGAN

Charles Joseph Fagan, 71, 35 St. Lawrence Ave., Lindsay, died in Peterborough hospital Friday, following a five weeks illness.

He was born in Peterborough, son of the late Christopher Fagan and Mary Conway, and has lived in Lindsay for two years. Previous to that he lived in Buffalo, New York, for 30 years, going there from Peterborough. While in Buffalo he was in the real estate business and in Peterborough was a railroad engineer.

Mr. Fagan was a member of Sacred Heart Church, the Lindsay Council Knights of Columbus No. 1124, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Gerard Connelly (Marie), Peterborough, and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Fox (Anna), Lindsay, and Mrs. S. Cadigan (Mary), Peterborough. His wife, the former Margaret M. Hallaham, predeceased him in 1941.

The funeral was held today from the Duffus funeral home to Sacred Heart Church, where requiem mass was said at 9 a.m. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery.

Inspections: Wheat this year 577; last year 403; cars of contract 276; oats 186/93; barley 127/51; flax 1/0; rye 0/8; other grains ¼; total 892/559.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (CP). — Prices were 50 cents higher on steers, bulls, heifers and fed yearlings on the Ontario stockyards today. Choice weighty steers were mostly $35-$35.50 with a few at $35.75; good heifers brought $32.50-$33; fed yearlings were $33-$36.50.

Good cows traded from $26-$26.50 with tops at $27. Good bulls were $28.50-$29. Stock calves sold from $35-$37; stockers were $28.50-$33.25.

Calves were strong to $1 higher at $34-$35 for choice vealers, with some sales at $36. Common to medium calves were $26-$33.

No hog price was established. Lambs were $1 lower at $35 for good ewes and wethers, bucks were $34. Good light sheep were $18-$22 with common downward to $11.

Receipts were: Cattle, 4,400; calves, 680; hogs, 430; sheep and lambs 460.

Prison Aftermath

SOUTHEND, England—(CP)— Charles Peake, 27, a waiter after being sentenced to three years imprisonment on a charge of housebreaking told the judge: "A man's sentence does not begin when he goes to prison. It starts when he comes out."

Two Hurt As Car, Truck Collide

MARMORA, Aug. 13 (ENS). — John Pressuk, 38, Cordova and Michael Callery, 41, Marmora township were admitted to Belleville General hospital early Saturday morning, suffering from back and head injuries received Friday night in a trailer car crash on Highway 7.

Bernard Stewart, Springbrook, who received hand lacerations was treated at the scene of the accident.

About 1:30 a.m. Saturday, a truck trailer of an Ottawa transport company driven by Frank Ball, Morewood, was proceeding east when the car driven by Pressic passed it. Apparently the Pressuk car intended to turn to Deloro and in the direction of Callery's home but overshot its mark. It stopped and started to back up. Ball swerved to pull out and as he did, the Pressick car shot out in front of the transport striking it broadside to become a total wreck.

Dr. H. G. Parkin, Marmora, attended the injured at the scene of the accident and ordered the removal of Pressick and Callery to hospital.

Provincial Police Constables T. W. Lummiss and A. Bolyea of Madoc investigated. It is understood charges will be paid against Pressick.

Decline In Prestige Of Church–Charge

OXFORD, England, Aug. 13 (Reuters)—Sir Henry Self, president of the Modern Churchmen's Union, said today the Church of England has shown over the last 100 years "a grievous decline both in status and prestige."

This decline paralleled the deterioration of the national economy, he added.

The church was "struggling to balance her domestic accounts and at the moment not making a great success of it."

Self, speaking at the annual conference of the women which seeks to advance liberal religious thought within the church, added:

"The clergy as a whole are grievously underpaid. They cannot exist without endless contrivances to make ends meet while suffering all the anxieties springing from what can only be described as real poverty."

Allied Officers

Their next session, scheduled for 11 a.m. Tuesday (9 p.m. Monday EDT) will find them right back where they started.

A UN spokesman said the Red Generals refused again Monday to sidestep the deadlock and talk about something else. They ignored a UN invitation to express their views on a militarized zone based on the present battle line, and they again insisted on a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

Other Differences

The difference in view of present battle positions became apparent when Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate, introduced a map comparing the allied and Red concepts of the fighting front.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN briefing officer, said they were in general agreement but there were some differences — "particularly in the centre and on the flanks." Joy noted they were practically the same on parts of the line.

North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red delegation, had introduced a map the preceding day showing the Red concept of the front. His map compared this with (1) the allied view of a militarized zone based on the present battle line and (2) the 38th parallel as a demilitarized zone.

No Less Firm

Nuckols said the Reds Monday were "no less firm than in the past" in insisting the fighting be halted right where it started — on the old political boundary between North and South Korea.

Communist arguments became slightly less temperate, Nuckols said. Nam's remarks were sprinkled with such words as "arrogant, absurd and contradictory."

Joy opened the Monday session by reading a 38-minute statement. It was an answer to five questions asked by Nam Il.

The North Korean general immediately rejected the answer as "not satisfactory". The UN commander said Nam made the rejection "speaking from a previously prepared and translated paper."

Nuckols said Nam Il's questions were partly "provocative of thought." But some were "double-barreled rhetorical questions" to which no answers were expected. Some pertained to the UN concept of a demilitarized zone. Nuckols would not say what the other questions were about.

Glub, Glub . . .

You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink. So goes the old saw. On Saturday there was no such reluctance on the part of a "dry" horse-powered vehicle. In short, it was a milk truck that followed Driver Frank Timlin, RR 10, Peterborough, down the bank to Little Lake after he had parked it on a grassy slope. The steed didn't stop for a hasty mouthful, it plunged right in and was totally submerged. And it took the combined efforts of Pete Paquette, Crescent St., and a Russelle tow truck to extricate the water-logged hulk. Paquette dived with a town chain and fastened it around the rear bumper. The whole thing started as a kindly deed. Timlin parked on the bank to put some water in the rad but the brake slipped and the vehicle kept right on going.

Hotel Faces Problem Of Guest Protocol

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)— The custom of honoring its notable guests by flying the flag of their office over its Park Avenue entrance presented the Waldorf Astoria with a problem in protocol today.

It didn't know which flag it should fly after Vice-President Alben Barkley and two Generals, Omar Bradley and George C. Marshall, checked in. Another General, Douglas MacArthur, also is a guest.

Finally, a compromise was effected by moving the five-star General's flag to the Lexington Avenue back door, and unfurling the vice-presidential banner over Park Avenue.

500 Miss Death In Rail Wreck Cars Drop 20 Ft.

FOUR OAKES, N.C., Aug. 13 — (AP)—A fast Miami-to-New York streamlined train carrying more than 500 passengers was wrecked Sunday with three cars flying down a 20-foot embankment. But nobody was killed.

"The most miraculous thing I've ever seen," said Dr. Watson Wharton. "The steel cars saved the passengers."

Nine persons were taken to hospital and scores were treated for cuts and bruises, but many of the 25 ambulances which converged on the scene went away empty.

The 18-car train, the Atlantic Coast Line's east coast champion, was passing north of here when nine middle cars derailed.

Standing On End

The diner swung cross-wise on the double track and came to rest almost standing on its nose with one end buried in mud at the bottom of the bank and the other end in the air.

At the bottom of the bank, rescue workers found one car upside down, another on its side and one upright. The other cars stayed on the right of way, although one turned over.

C. G. Sibley, ACL assistant vice-president for operations, said the engineer saw nothing wrong with the fill when approaching it at 45 to 50 miles an hour. Another passenger train passed safely over it an hour ahead of the streamliner.

The scene of the accident is 75 miles from the site of ACL's worst wreck which also involved the east coast champion. It happened Dec. 16, 1943, near Rennert, NC, and 72 persons were killed.

Tanker Aground

HALIFAX, Aug. 13 (CP)—The tanker A. C. Dodge ran aground early today in the St. Lawrence river near Alexandria Bay, N.Y., about 30 miles east of Kingston. The RCAF reported that the 987-ton vessel, carrying a cargo of gasoline, was spilling the fuel into the river and had warned all other vessels to keep clear. The crew of the tanker was standing by.

13 Preceptories 4 Chapters Mark Derry Day

HAVELOCK, Aug. 13 (ENS).—Ideal weather no doubt was partly responsible for the record crowd that visited Havelock on Saturday to commemorate the 261st anniversary of the Relief of Derry, when 13 lodges of the Royal Black Preceptory and four Crystal Chapters participated. The lodges represented were: Trenton, Belleville, Peterborough and Havelock Crystal Chapters; Royal Black Preceptories from Lakefield, Wellman's Corners, Marmora, Norwood, Campbellford, Queensborough, Peterborough, Bancroft, Frankford, Trenton, Wellington, Kirkfield and Havelock.

The parade formed in the town park and was led by Sir Kt. Geo. Newton and Sir Kt. German Ellis, senior and junior directors respectively of the local preceptory mounted on black steeds. The Havelock Pipe Band under the direction of Pipe Major Harry Anderson came next, followed by the Havelock lodges with Sir Kt. Jack Adams as standard bearer.

At the park outstanding members of the order addressed the gathering with Sir Kt. Richard Sanderson of Havelock, LOL Deputy Grant Master officiating as chairman. Reeve E. W. Seeney gave the address of welcome.

A Commemoration

Henry A. Graham of Kingston, Past Grand Master of British America, and Field Secretary for Ontario east said that August 12 was of more importance than July 12. He also did not like the anniversary being called a celebration. It was instead a commemoration he said of the sacrifices that had been made during the siege of Derry. In closing he counselled, hold to the British Empire, sing God Save the King and love the Union Jack.

Sir Kt. Cecil Beckett of Kemptville, Hon. Grand Master Ontario east, spoke on the siege of Derry, and reported on the Grand Black Preceptory and Grand LOL of British America held at Fredericton, NB.

Welcome Ladies

Mrs. George Newton, WP of Crystal Chapter No. 36, Havelock welcomed the members of the visiting chapters.

Sir Kt. Fred Bateman of Stirling LOL, Grand Master Ontario east, spoke on the subjects which were under discussion at the Grand Lodge meetings of the RBP and LOL at Fredericton, NB, the Hope commission, etc.

Rev. G. Dyson of Warsaw spoke on a remark by a former speaker about "no surrender." "We are surendering all the time. One has only to go into the churches and observe the empty pews to see it. That is why so many of churches are empty. We are forgetting the men, women and children who died in bygone days to defend their faith. If we had half of the courage they had we would do something about it. You have a great gathering once a year and I am sorry to say," he declared, "that for 51 Sundays you are surrendering." In closing he said "What good is a day like this if it does not do us some good, and expressed the hope that it would cause some members to do some deep thinking and that it would result in bringing forth work.

Four Generations Attend Derry Day In Havelock

HAVELOCK, Aug. 13 (ENS)—Four generations of the family of David Seabrook, 81, of Belmont township attended the 261st anniversary of the Relief of Derry which was commemorated at Havelock on Saturday by the various Royal Black Preceptories of the district. Three of the four members participated in the celebration. They are D. Seabrooke, a member of Havelock RBP No: 946, his daughter, Mrs. Charles Ellis and granddaughter Mrs. Arthur Anderson, both of whom are members of Havelock Crystal Chapter, No. 36.

Mr. Seabrooke although not a member of the RBP for a long period, has been very active in its work during his membership. He however; enjoys the reputation of being the oldest member of Havelock LOL No. 326, having joined that order 62 years ago at the age of 19 years. He came to Belmont township at the age of eight years and is still living on the homestead where his parents settled. His father the late William Seabrooke came from Cork, Ireland. He played the fife for Old Belmont LOL and later Havelock LOL for 65 years.

Sir Kt. J. A. Holden of Peterborough, Past Grand Master, said that if the time comes and "we are put to the test the no surrender banner will still fly."

Sir Kt. W. J. Cottrell of Marmora, Past County Master and Chaplain of the Marmora Preceptory said the Knights of the RBP stand with hearts just as true as the Knights of old.

Short addresses were also given by Sir Kt. Roland Darling of Lakefield, Deputy Grant Master Ontario east, and Sir Kt. Edward Payne of Paterborough.

Booths were operated in the park by the local Crystal Chapter and RBP and did a rushing business which necessitated replenishing their stocks several times.

New Burn Dressing To Aid Atomic Victims

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—A new aureomycin dressing for burns is described as an "important step" in medical preparations for atomic warfare.

The dressing, disclosed Sunday, is a gauze bandage impregnated with auremycin, a wonder drug, in an ointment base.

The firm said it would be valuable in atomic warfare, which would require treatment of large numbers of persons suffering serious infected burns as well as the prevention of infections in minor burns.

Robert K. Scott Dies At Cottage

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13 — (ENS)—A resident of Campbellford for more than 62 years, and one of the town's most respected citizens, Robert K. Scott of 191 Naseby St. died at his summer cottake at Crow Bay, north of the town, following a heart attack on Thursday evening.

Mr. Scott was born 68 years ago at Chandos, in Peterborough County. He came to Campbellford with his mother and father, Wm. S. Scott and Isobel Thompson, at the age of six. He resided here ever since. A carpenter by trade, Mr. Scott was a member of St. John's United Church here.

Surviving are his wife, the former Margaret May Simpson, and seven children: Mrs. Fred Clarke (Lillian) of Campbellford; Kenneth Scott of Toronto; Mrs. Otto Sarginson (Violet) and W. S. Scott of Campbellford; Mrs. Walter Owens (Thelma) of Belleville; Raymond Scott of Peterborough; Robert Roy Scott of Belleville and Mrs. Everett Mechetuk (Doreen) of Campbellford. One sister, Lizzie Armour, resides in Lethbridge, Alberta. Two brothers, Donald Scott of Norwood and George Scott of Trenton also survive. Five other brothers and sisters predeceased him.

Mr. Scott had spent a most enjoyable day at his summer cottage at Crow Bay, and was resting after his evening meal when he was stricken. His wife had suffered a heart attack earlier in the afternoon, and was resting on a bed near him at the time he passed away.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon from the family home on Naseby St. by Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of St. John's United Church. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Walter Scott, Alfred Scott, Russel Ayrhart, Samuel Flint, Jack McClure, Wm. Donald. Bearers of the many beautiful floral tributes included Messrs. George Frederick, Walter Owens, Jack Runions, Charles Shaw, George Moore, Reginald Moore, Harry Nicholls, Walter Mitchell, Harry Tinney and William Cochrane.

Credit Of $1,200 Given Board By Contractor

HAVELOCK, Aug. 13 (ENS)—The Eastwood Construction Company of Peterborough have sent the Norwood Area High School Board a credit for $1,200 on the contract for the new high school. This saving was made possible because the drainage was so good due to the nature of the soil that the company could delete the anti-hydro waterproofing liquid.

The board met on Wednesday night at Norwood when the following trustees attended: chairman E. T. Buck, C. A. Copp, R. Doan, E. J. Leeson, P. Davidson, F. Richardson, D. H. Walsh and Earl Hamblin.

A copy of a letter written to the Norwood council by F. D. Kerr, KC, in regard to the ownership of Elm St. was read. Mr. Kerr's opinion was that Ralph Cuthbertson owned Elm St. and the town had lost all claim to the street and it was quite in order for the school board to purchase the land from Mr. Cuthbertson.

The matter of transporting pupils from S. S. area No. 2 Dummer into Norwood and Havelock schools was discussed. This was made necessary owing to a portion of Dummer Township coming into the Norwood High School district under the Peterborough County By-Law 1698 passed by the county on June 15 this year. The matter was letf in the hands of the transportation committee to deal with as they deem fit.

Dummer Boundaries.

The following portions of Dummer Township coming into the Norwood High School area are: Concession 2, south half of lot one and north-east quarter of lot two, west half of lot 4, east half lots three to seven inclusive; Concessions 3 to 6 inclusive— lots one to ten inclusive; Concessions 7 to 12 inclusive— lots one to 19 inclusive. The number of public schools in this area are S. S. Nos. 1, 2, U6, U7, and 11. The assessment for the Norwood High School district on this district will be $305,339 and the population in that area is 591.

Another matter left in the hands of the transportation committee was the transportation of the pupils from Norwood to Havelock and vice versa. More Grade IX pupils will be going into the Norwood High School than can be accommodated there. Students in Grade XII in Havelock High School may be sent to Norwood in order to make room here for the Norwood students.

The question of single phase power in the new school or three phase power was discussed resulting in the single phase power being adopted.

The secretary was instructed to write the architect H. H. Roberts in connection with a corner stone for the new school showing date, etc. The matter of purchasing a new site fence and furnishings for the new school was left in the hands of Trustee D. H. Walsh, no purchases to be made until the Norwood village council had sold debentures.

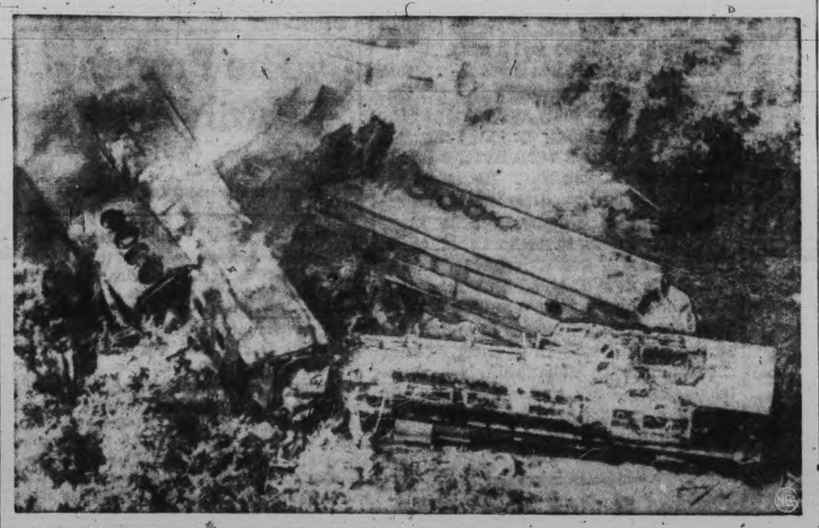
Sale of Debentures.

Chairman Buck reported that the Norwood council was endeavouring to have Peterborough County sell the debentures when a lower interest rate could be obtained and the debentures would sell at a higher price. In this way a saving of about $25,000 could be made.

The following progress on the new school was reported: — a progress estimate was received from the Eastwood Construction Company, Peterborough on the work to July 1 to the extent of $31,692.25, which was referred to the Norwood council for payment.

Building progress shows— excavation complete less part of back fill; footings, forms and concrete are completed; 80 per cent of the wall forms completed; 60 per cent of the wall concrete completed.

The accounts passed by the board included an account of $800 covering the cost of repairs made to the school chimney damaged during a recent electric



WHERE TWELVE DIED IN TRAIN WRECK —The diesel locomotive and passenger coaches of two Kansas City Southern trains lie in a smoking tangle of wreckage in the Louisiana swamplands after a head-on collision near New Roads, La. One train was a streamliner, the other a Marine troops train. Estimates of the dead ranged from four to 12, and at least 60 were injured.

Out Of Gasoline In Lake Ontario

COBOURG, Aug. 13 —(ENS)—Running out of gas two miles out of Cobourg harbor on Saturday evening, Gordon Wood of Ottawa in his 35 foot cabin cruiser, Don Gee of Port Credit, signalled to shore where Mrs. Don Markle heard the shouts that they were out of gas. She telephoned the police who went to the harbor and enlisted the services of Raymond Dunthorne, the only craft in the harbor, and they went out and towed in the gasless cabin cruiser. Incidentally Dunthorne's craft, an 18 foot cabin job powered by a 12 hp outboard, is also from Port Credit.

7-cent Increase

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 13 — (AP)—More than 1,200 employees Sunday accepted a seven-cent-an-hour general wage increase offered by five Buffalo milling companies. The pay boost, retroactive to July 1, 1951, announced by Local 36, American Federation of Grain Millers.

90 In Family

BIGFORK, Mont., Aug. 13 — (AP)—Mrs. Ida Boyer, 83, uses a bookkeeping system to keep track of her 90 descendants. Her 11 daughters gave her 44 grandchildren. The great-grandchildren have put two great-great-grandchildren on the family tree. She writes to each frequently and sends out 90 Christmas cards every December.

Woman Suffers Cuts Car Suddenly Stops

COBOURG, Aug. 13 —(ENS)—Mrs. M. C. Ranson of Wilson, NY, received cuts on the mouth and a bruised face when her head banged the windshield after the car driven by her husband ran into the back of one driven by Lorne Weatherby of Welland Sunday. The Welland car came to an abrupt stop when the driver mistook a train on the overhead subway track for one on the level crossing. Ranson ran into it from behind. Acting Chief H. Pearse investigated.

Normie Himes Captures Trophy

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (CP) — A former professional hockey player from Kitchener, Normie Himes, Saturday at 51 became the oldest player ever to win the Millar Trophy professional golf title.

The former New York Americans' centre led all the way in the final match against Clair Chinery of Hamilton Chedoke — 18 years his junior — to win 6 and 5.

Himes saved his most sparkling play for the final hole of the match, the fateful 13th. His second shot on the 450-yard hole struck the pin, leaving him an easy six-foot putt.

The title brings to Kitchener Westmount Club both the Ontario Pro and the Ontario Amateur Championships. The latter was won recently by Gerry Kesselring.

Says Tipping Now Inflation Casualty

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—An average tip of 15 to 20 per cent is more in keeping with the times than the traditional 10-per-cent gratuity, now an inflation casualty, Gilbert B. Phillips, travel department manager of the New York Automobile Club said Sunday.

His suggestions also included 25 cents for the bellboy at a city hotel, more if he carries several bags; 25 cents a person for the chambermaid if the hotel stop is two days or more, nothing for one-night stays; and 15 to 20 per cent of the cheque at better restaurants, more at a night club.

Touching U.E. Affairs

On Tuesday we editorialized in a sad vein about the United Electrical Workers (U.E.) Local 524. We said: "It is an awful and unhappy situation that Peterborough C.G.E. workers, through the check-off, and contributions of the Local to national and international U.E. funds, may be helping to provide money to bail Communists in the United States." This was in reference to an American journal's report that U.E. was a major donor of the bail money posted for the Communist leaders now facing jail or trial in the U.S.A. A delegation comprising the top officials of Local 524 U.E. has informed us that there is no possibility whatsoever that a cent of Local 524 funds has even been used for such a purpose. A sizable part of C.G.E. workers' U.E. dues does go to the International U.E. kitty, but the International office has a separate bank account in Canada in which their levies on Canadian dues are deposited. Therefore no Peterborough U.E. money, through the District or the International office, crosses the border into the United States. If this is so, and we have no reason to doubt the sincerity of the local men who said it, then U.E. members in Peterborough are safe from any imputation that their money is being donated, or has ever been donated, to the Civil Rights Congress in the U.S.A. to help provide bail for such notorious Communists as Gerhart Eisler.

* * *

There are no "secrets" about Local U.E. funds not open to U.E. membership, we have been assured, and a complicated system of checks and trusteeship governs all U.E. money. If an American U.E. local wants to contribute money to a Santa Claus parade or a Civil Rights Congress it is free to do so, if the membership of the Local authorizes it. The spending of union money, and the shaping of U.E. policy are democratically arranged and under the surveillance of all the members, Local 524 officials affirm with conviction.

* * *

For better or for worse, people are known by the company they keep. Local 524 U.E. is in questionable company. It is a great worry to Peterborough that the bargaining agent for the largest group of industrial workers in this city is tainted with Communism. U.E. has been excluded from the chief central labour organizations in Canada and the United States who did not like its Communistic leadership. The Canadian unit of U.E., District 5 of which Mr. C. S. Jackson is President and Mr. George Harris is Secretary-Treasurer, is under suspicion as being Communist in its leadership. ("District 5" is the only one in Canada; other U.E. "Districts" are in the U.S.) The Secretary-Treasurer of the whole organization covering all its Districts in the United States and Canada is Julian Emspak and the Director of Organzation is James Mattles. The American Senate has investigated both these men for Communist activities.

* * *

We are firmly convinced that all but a handful of C.G.E. workers in or out of U.E. do not want Communism. Local 524 President George Wallace, for instance, repeatedly and with the utmost sincerity, has said that if ever Communism should influence Local 524 or if ever U.E. Canadian policies were bent into a Communist groove local U.E. membership would revolt, as he would. This is an honourable, just statement. Our fear if that the feeling that "It can't happen here" gives a false assurance. Czechoslovakia also had convinced union leaders and apparent democratic labour organizations, but they fell under the hammer and sickle. Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Roumania—all now have People's Democracy. It is the New Democracy. It is not the kind of democracy that Canadians can afford to harbour in any way or incipient shape in their own unions.

Philanthropist McLaughlin

It is many years since a carriage shop employed the energies and initiative of a young R. S. McLaughlin. It seems as long since the stately big McLaughlin and McLaughlin-Buick cars first appeared on Ontario roads. During and since those days Colonel R. S. McLaughlin achieved fame and fortune. General Motors of Canada is his industrial and commercial seal. His high personal qualities are best known to his intimate associates. His worth as a Canadian benefactor—apart entirely from his contributions to the development of business and industry in Canada—is manifest through personal and financial interest in Canadian culture and health.

Mr. McLaughlin has been a generous donor to Queen's University; his million-dollar gifts have built and equipped the engineering building which bears his name, and assisted substantially in the erection of Wallace Hall. His latest act of generous humanitarianism is the establishment of a foundation to assist financially graduate medical students in advanced study and experiment in Canada. This new McLaughlin Foundation is backed by more than a million dollars. Thus are riches being put to enlightened use for the welfare of the people of this country. Mr. McLaughlin is an illustrious example of a citizen who considers wealth a trust which his endowments have brought, and he is in turn endowing his nation.

Oil And The U.S. Marginal Sea

For the past fourteen years, the Federal Government of the United States and certain individual States have been disputing "paramount rights in and full dominion over" the marginal sea. The issue did not arise until 1937, since this submerged shelf of land had not proved a great revenue-producer prior to that year. However, when California, Louisiana and Texas began to draw rich incomes from offshore oil leases, the Federal Government decided something should be done about it, and it claimed rights in the marginal sea "in the national interest."

The Federal submission is that while there has never been any question of States' rights in inland waters or in tideland waters—the area between high and low tide marks—the Federal Government possesses sovereign rights over the strip of submerged land from the low-tide mark to the traditional three-mile limit of national sovereignty. This appears to be somewhat complicated in the case of Texas, for when that State entered the Union in 1845, its seaward boundaries were defined as being three leagues from shore.

In 1946, Congress passed a bill giving title to the States, but it was vetoed by President Truman and the case was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. The court's decision gave the Federal Government "full dominion" over the marginal sea, but the states involved apparently refused to accept the ruling of the Supreme Court. At any rate, the matter came before Congress again at the present session, and the House of Representatives has once again passed a measure giving clear title to the States. If the Senate also approves the measure, it is thought that Mr. Truman will again veto it.

The incident reveals still another crack in the Democratic front. Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas is known to be a friend of the President's and one of his few strong supporters in the South—yet Mr. Rayburn was the power behind this bill. The South as a whole, with nine or ten states bordering on the marginal sea, obviously likes Mr. Rayburn's measure—which, of course, was presented by another legislator. And Republican California, along with the other Pacific State will naturally join the South in approving. All of which adds still another complication to a pre-election picture already sufficiently difficult to interpret.

Home-Grown Corn Best

Cobs have filled out in corn fields and are again taking their golden place on our tables. It is one of the seasonal dishes which gives the rolling months pleasurable anticipation and contenting fulfilment. Strawberries usher in the summer; then come raspberries and peas; then huckleberries and plums; then corn and backberries. Finally, peaches. So summer ends and before we know it we shall be eating pumpkins again. Ah! the dear delights of native foods, fresh and toothsome!

Some people think that eating corn on the cob is a barbarous practice, indulged in only by cows and wild Indians. We suspect that these benighted folk are either Britons who can't manage to chew on a cob with grace, or Europeans who have never realized that there is a table corn as well as the acres of corn they grow for their cattle.

The best corn is what you get nearest your own door. The odds are that it is fresher and picked at the proper time. Dealers try to lure the palate ahead of season by bringing crates of cobs from a distance, from districts which have warmer, earlier seasons. Our experience is that corn imported from, say, Niagara, is wizened like the gums of a toothless hag by the time it has passed through dozens of hands between Niagara and our door. Wait for the home-grown stuff—which is now plentiful—and then go at it tooth and nail while it lasts. The season for the tender, succulent corn is short. It is on now. So, lay in the butter or margarine, park the elbows on the table, pivot the cobs between the hands, and munch. A lovely sound; lovely corn.

Out West a woman has been divorced for waving an axe at her husband. Well, she was obviously looking for a separation.

Someone has discovered that beer is useful for setting hair. Now we shall see bigger crowds than ever at the warehouse.

The French Birth-Rate

By
J. C. FEVRIER
(Service d'Information Francais)

WHILE the last war caused France more material destruction than that of the First World War, losses in human life, however grievous, were less considerable. France's contribution to the destruction of Hitlerism amounted approximately to 400,000 dead from 1939 to 1945 and compared with 1,300,000 from 1914 to 1918.

That did not prevent the situation of France in 1945, from a demographical point of view, from being a tragic one. We remember the words of Adolf Hitler in 1938 to a foreign diplomat: "In 1940 I shall wipe France off the map of the world". In 1945 one might well wonder whether this sinister prophecy were not to be fulfilled in delayed action, whether France were not to disappear quietly away for lack of men. More than from the burden of material devastation, did not France risk slowly fading away as a result of the progressive reduction of her population?

✧ ✧ ✧

LET us sum up the facts. From 1914 to 1918, 1,300,000 dead; approximately one million children less on account of the war. From 1919 to 1939 an alarming decline in the birth-rate. During the period 1936-38 alone, the annual birth-rate had dropped to 149 per 10,000 inhabitants. It was the lowest figure for the whole of Europe, and in the course of this period the death-rate began to exceed the birth-rate. Only naturalization of foreigners concealed this tendency. Then, from 1939 to 1945, not only the hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen dead on the battlefield, in Gestapo gaols or concentration camps, but the keeping in captivity of French soldiers captured by the Germans in 1940 and the deportation of part of French workmen to German factories inevitably led to a drop in the birth-rate. From 41,900,000 in 1938 the French population fell to 40,300,000 in 1946.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE problem was one of extreme gravity. One of the few merits of the Vichy government was to realize this and to try and develop legislative measures to encourage the family. After the Liberation, under the influence of different political groups, particularly the Popular Republican Movement, this tendency became more marked. France is at present one of those countries granting most effective aid to the family. This aid takes two different forms: direct allocations and tax exemptions; in the second, it is of the greatest advantage to the better-off.

Family benefits are of four kinds—

(1) On the birth of the first child, and in certain conditions, an allowance as aid to the mother;

(2) A separate family allowance is paid to the head of the family for every dependent child after the second. This allowance increases according to the number of children;

(3) An allowance called the single wage is paid to non-working mothers.

(4) Lastly, pre-natal allowances are paid during pregnancy.

Funds corresponding to these very considerable payments are in principle supplied from contributions paid by employers and corresponding to 16% of wages. In some cases (for instance, for civil servants) this responsibility falls on the State. On the other hand, the general income tax, or progressive tax, is reduced to a greater degree when the number of persons comprising the family becomes larger.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN fact, family allowances would be far more effective if young couples could be certain to find decent housing, spacious enough for them to bring up their children. That is not the case, alas! And of all the troubles existing after the war the housing crisis is the most acute. The reconstruction budget, despite the very considerable sums allocated to it, has been able so far to give only part of its resources to the building of new blocks of flats. The most urgent problems had to be seen to first—restoring means of communication (bridges, stations, port installations and public buildings), then providing roofs for the inhabitants of devastated cities. Since the Liberation 64,655 houses destroyed in the war were reconstructed and 110,245 new ones have been built. To this must be added 119,260 temporary dwellings. This is still too little, and at a time when there were hopes of allocating to this urgent social need a more considerable part of the budget the inescapable necessity of rearmament introduced an unexpected obstacle.

THE results of this policy for the family do nevertheless deserve attention. The figure for the birth-rate for living children had risen from 620,400 in 1936-38 to 840,200 in 1946; to 866,600 in 1947; to 867,200 in 1948; to 865,200 in 1949; and to 853,700 in 1950. During the 1936-38 period the annual excess of deaths over births had been 19,400. Since the armistice, on the contrary, it is births which each year exceed deaths by several hundred thousands. This surplus of births over deaths reached 298,000 in 1946, 332,000 in 1947, 357,000 in 1948, 297,000 in 1949 and 327,000 in 1950. There has been, it is true, a slight drop in the birth-rate in the past year. In January and February 1951 it reached almost 9% as compared with the corresponding months of 1950. There is no doubt that the return of prisoners and deportees in 1945 caused in the following years a temporary rise in the birth-rate which could not entirely be maintained. But this inevitable drop is now much slower than in the years following the return of the prisoners in 1918. The principle reason for this lies in the present demographical policy.

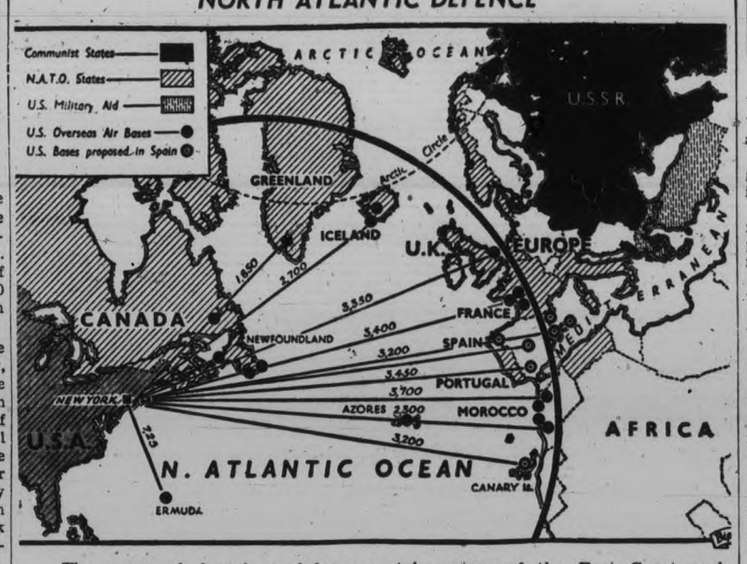
In 1938 France was, of all European countries, that in which the birth-rate (147 births for 10,000 inhabitants) was lowest. In 1950, with a rate of 204, she is outstripped by only a few countries (Finland, Portugal, Holland and Eire) and henceforth takes place before Italy, the United Kingdom, Belgium, Western Germany, Sweden, etc. France was once, up to the mid 19th century, a country of large families. This tradition had been preserved in French people who had emigrated to Canada, Algeria and Morocco. It is returning today to metropolitan France.

Plastic Skins For Aircraft

(UK Information Office)

The Royal Air Force is beginning trials this summer with a new process for aircraft storage which is based on the use of a plastic 'cocoon' of airtight, weathertight, temperature-tight skin. It is claimed that planes wrapped up in this skin can be stored in the open for periods ranging up to a number of years.

NORTH ATLANTIC DEFENCE



The proposed American defence pact with Spain serves chiefly to complete an American chain of overseas bases within a 3,500-mile radius of New York, which has a twofold purpose. First, it is to secure the North Atlantic and to safeguard the lifeline connecting America and Western Europe. Secondly, it is to serve for interception of possible air attacks by long-range bombers from Central Europe against the American industrial centres of the East Coast and Great Lakes area. A system of interception bases across Alaska and Canada already protects these centres from air attack across the Arctic. Bases in France and French Morocco form the beginning of a similar defence chain against trans-Atlantic attack, which Spanish bases would complete. Tim O'Hea's Canadian V.C.

(By THOMAS DUNBABIN in The Ottawa Citizen)

"THE medal, with its citation, is now in a case at the Regimental Museum at Winchester. It looks very fine."

So writes Field Marshal Lord Wilson of Libya in a letter from his home at Kingston Blount, near Oxford, dated July 29 and just received in Ottawa. The medal is the Victoria Cross won at Danville, Que., on June 10, 1866, by Private Timothy O'Hea of the Rifle Brigade—the only V.C. ever awarded for a brave act done in Canada.

After 76 years in Australia, the V.C. was about to come to Ottawa. As the result of a letter from Minnedosa, Man., and of the prompt action of Lord Wilson, it was diverted to the Rifle Brigade Museum at Winchester, England.

✧ ✧ ✧

ITS story began at Danville near Quebec City on June 10, 1866, in the days when Fenian invasions of Canada from the United States were in the air. A large supply of ammunition, including 95 barrels of gunpowder, was being sent from Quebec to the Niagara-Lake Erie frontier. The trucks were hitched to a passenger train carrying 200 German immigrants to the West. Four picked men of the Rifle Brigade were in charge of the ammunition. One of these was Private O'Hea from Bantry, County Cork, who was just 20 years of age.

As the train drew into Danville, O'Hea saw that one of the trucks was on fire. He gave the alarm and called, in the Queen's name, for assistance. He stated later that his three comrades, a company of infantry drawn up in the station yard, and the railway officials, rapidly retired to a safe distance. The German immigrants admired the view from the windows in happy ignorance of what was passing.

O'Hea found a bucket, a short ladder and some water. He mounted the ladder to douse the fire 19 times and put it out after working single-handed for an hour.

The V.C. awarded to him on January 7, 1867, was the first, and perhaps the only, V.C. ever given for a brave deed not performed in actual warfare. In the citation the words, "For conspicuous bravery in the presence of the enemy," were struck out and replaced by these: "For conspicuous courage under circumstances of great danger."

A little later O'Hea left the army and went to New Zealand. In June, 1874, he reached Sydney, Australia. Two days after arriving he applied to join an expedition fitted out to seek for a supposed survivor and relics of the lost Leichhardt exploring expedition of 1848, under the guidance of Andrew Hume, called the Black Prince. Looking for Leichhardt relics was the Australian equivalent of the Franklin search in Canada.

The Black Prince and his companion, Thompson, an itinerant piano tuner, had already set out. O'Hea pleaded so hard that he was sent after them and caught them up at Maitland, 120 miles north of Sydney. Before he started O'Hea left his V.C. in Sydney with a Major Crummer.

O'Hea and the Black Prince died of thirst in November, 1874, near a place in the far west of Queensland called the Policeman's Waterhole. Thompson survived. O'Hea's body was later found by aborigines and buried in the bush.

Major Crummer kept the V.C. medal until 1905 when he gave it to his brother-in-law, E. Du Faur, president of the National Art Gallery. The V.C. lay quietly in the Gallery till February 4, 1950, when Alexander H. Chisholm, editor of the Australian Encyclopaedia, asked about it. The medal was then found in a drawer in the Art Gallery office.

Chisholm wrote of it in a Sydney newspaper, a copy of which came to the Australian High Commissioner's office in Ottawa. A letter was at once sent from that office to Hal Missingham, director of the Art Gallery, asking that the V.C. might be returned to Canada. This back-to-Canada movement was strongly supported by Mr. Lester B. Pearson, Minister for External Affairs.

The Art Gallery trustees, after consulting Mr. Henry Crummer, son of Major Crummer, agreed to return the V.C. All was set for this; the only thing to be settled was whether it should go to the Archives or to the War Museum in Ottawa.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEN Mr. C. E. Eames of Minnnedosa, Man., heard of what was afoot. He wrote to the officer commanding the Rifle Brigade Depot. Lord Wilson, the Colonel Commandant of the Rifle Brigade, went into action. He wrote to Mr. Pearson pointing out that it would be a gracious action for Canada to waive its rights and let the V.C. go to the Brigade's Museum at Winchester, England.

Mr. Pearson consulted the Australian in Ottawa who had been the prime mover in the matter. He raised no objection. Mr. Pearson met Lord Wilson's wishes. The V.C. medal, the citation, and other documents were sent to London.

They were formally handed to Lord Wilson at the Rifle Brigade's regimental dinner in London on May 29. Lord Wilson at once sent them to Winchester.

"My Regiment is fully aware," writes Lord Wilson to his Ottawa correspondent, "that it is through your good offices that the O'Hea V.C. has found its way back to the Regiment he served. It greatly appreciates what has been done."

(The "prime mover" in this matter of the medal was none other than the author of the article. Mr. Dunbabin at the time was attached to the Office of the High Commissioner for Australia in Ottawa.—Editor.)

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels. For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations. (Isa. 61: 10, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then Job answered and said . . . Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat! . . . .

My foot hath held his steps, his way have I kept, and not declined. Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food.

But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth. (Job 23: 1, 3, 11-13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. (Ps. 84: 11.)

Secret (Wheat) Service

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

The federal cabinet has passed an order-in-council ruling that certain government orders may be exempted from publication. For the most part, the orders-in-council affected are those issued under the authority of the Emergency Powers Act, relating to particular persons or classes of persons, publication of which might prejudice the security of the nation. There can be no real objection to this procedure. Government by secret edict is distasteful and, over an extended period, dangerous. But in periods of crisis it is patently necessary in fields where careless dissemination of vital information might be invaluable to a real or potential enemy.

Since we believe strongly that governmental self-censorship should be used only as an extreme measure we are concerned at the fact that the same order-in-council (P.C. 3485) also exempts certain specified orders of the Canadian Wheat Board from publication. The connection between the operations of the agency charged with selling his wheat and the security of his country may be obscure even to the farmer, the citizen most directly concerned. The farmer, we think, would like to know at all times how the board is handling his product. Canadians in general will be suspicious of this seemingly unwarranted extension of special governmental powers.

The Price Of Homes

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Last year at this time permits had been issued for 557 new homes. So far this year only 534 permits have been issued for new dwellings.

The cause of the decline in home building during the period can hardly be laid to shortages of materials and labour. There shortages were almost as acute last year. The tightening of credit during the past few months has probably had something to do with it. But the main reason for the slackening in dwelling construction in Winnipeg and in the rest of Canada is most likely due to the fact that new homes have priced themselves out of the market as far as a good many Canadians are concerned.

The demand for new homes does not seem to be slackening. In fact Central Mortgage and Housing, an outfit that should know what it is talking about in this field, has said that the demand for housing is as great as ever.

This demand ceases to be effective in many cases when families learn what it will cost them to build. That is the main reason why fewer homes are being built in Winnipeg today.

93-Mill Tax Rate

(Sault Ste. Marie Star)

Korah township ratepayers got anything but good news last week in the shape of a record 93.3-mills tax rate. Beside this, the Sault's 62.5-mills rate, highest in city history, appears comparatively modest.

A direct comparison, however, is no doubt misleading. As Reeve Carl Ableson pointed out to Korah council, the high mill-rate must be considered in the light of the township's low assessment.

The flare had been accidentally loosened from another plane during take-off.

Believe Churchill May Head Next British Government

By GLENN WILLIAMS

LONDON, Aug. 13. (AP)—Winston Churchill likes to note, in private conversations, that William Gladstone became prime minister for the last time when he was 83. Churchill isn't quite that old. But it's plain that he aims to run the government once more. If politics run the course expected by many political observers, Churchill may well celebrate his 77th birthday next November at 10 Downing Street. A general election is likely within the next few months and a Conservative victory is believed almost certain. Some observers predict the Tories may win a majority as big as 150 seats in the 625-seat House of Commons.

Now the political stream is a confusion of cross currents.

Prime Minister Attlee's second Labor administration, with only hairline control of the House, is in constant danger of having an election forced on it.

The Conservatives recently have come close to defeating the government. Labor's effective majority is only five.

Lately the government also has been criticized by its own left wing, whose leading members quit the cabinet over the arms bill and its inroads into the welfare state.

See October Election

Favorite date of political pundits is October, 3½ years before Attlee's term normally would expire.

If the Tories should win Churchill would be Prime Minister again.

His parliamentary intimates believe he would take little active part in running the government.

They say he regards himself, however, as fate's chosen instrument to redeem the glory of John Bull; that he believes Britain's greatest need is a revival of the swaggering, confident spirit that made her great, and that he is the man to inspire the revival.

They say he would employ his gift of oratory to stir the country as he did in the glum days after Dunkerque, and leave the detailed administration to his lieutenants.

Have No Remedies

The Tories accuse Labor of doing many things wrongly. But they have been unable to find specific remedies for many of the evils they rail against.

The Conservatives cry loudly against high taxes but haven't said what taxes could safely be cut.

They protest the high cost of the welfare state but would be unable to cut it much without inviting political suicide.

Churchill advocates private enterprise and an end to economic controls. But lately he has ceased to hold up Belgium and the United States as examples; Belgium's post-war economic freedom has led to unemployment, and the United States is increasing controls.

Textile Prices May Go Up; No Shortage Seer

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadian producers report that civilian and military needs for clothing and other textiles are being well met, says "Textiles," publication of the Primary Textiles Institute. It adds:

"Prices may go higher, but there is no danger of a general shortage; and wardrobes will contain an even larger percentage of chemically-made fibres . . .

"With prices of raw wool and cotton higher than a year ago by some 15 and 30 per cent respectively after having reached unprecedented levels in the meantime, primary producers are hard-pressed to maintain current selling prices.

"Because the cost of raw materials is not reflected in consumer prices for nine months, during the processing period, some of the highest prices for wool and cotton have not yet reached the retail counter, and probably never will.

"Recent decreases in costs of these commodities will have some effect in stabilizing prices, but increased costs of services, such as wages (up 10 per cent in a year) and equipment, will undoubtedly force further rises for consumer goods.

Rayon Prices

"Rayon prices are up too, although not to the same extent except in imported fibre and yarn (20 per cent of total supply). By mixing fibres, in such materials as suitings and overcoating, producers have managed to keep prices within reach . . .

"Primary mills are, with rare exception, not running at capacity and could increase production should the need arise. Government credit restrictions have forced many large producers to clear inventories to raise cash, cutting buying from mills.

"This industry has always faced heavy competition on its home market from imports, due mainly to Canada's high wages and low tariffs. Today imports have attained such levels as to cause serious concern, despite compensating defence contracts calling for approximately 15 per cent of a year's fabric output . . .

"One outstanding reason for the current plentiful supply of Canadian textiles is that primary producers have spent, or are spending, more than $300,000,000, between 1945 and the end of 1951, for mill and machinery modernization, and to a lesser extent for expansion, thus increasing capacity above the Second World War level."

Students Share Dunkerque Repair Work

PARIS—(CP)—A dozen British students of both sexes are spending part of their summer holidays working hard and willingly on reconstruction of the famous library at Dunkerque.

Although the library was one of the few buildings left standing in that coastal town after the Second World War, its full restoration had to be postponed while more urgent tasks were undertaken in the coastal town which was the scene of the great British evacuation in 1940.

Most of the books remained in storage, as they had been during the hostilities, but now the library too can have its big reconstruction thanks to the student volunteers.

A dozen of these students, members of the The British Students United Nations Association, aged between 18 and 25, have volunteered to do a month's labor on the library.

With help from the director of French libraries, and a number of specialists including UN experts, the students will classify between 10,000 and 15,000 books during their stay, which starts Aug. 15. The town of Dunkerque will provide board and lodging and provide spare-time excursions for the visitors.

The Strasbourg library will also benefit from another project of the UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. There a party of British students will micro-film and label the volumes, selecting works which may be exchanged for volumes to replace war losses.

Jockey Freed On $5,000 Bail

WELLAND, Aug. 13 — (CP) — Jockey R. Wankmueller, of Newark, NJ, the alleged payoff man among jockeys on fixed races at Ontario race tracks, was freed from jail here Saturday night on $5,000 bail.

Wankmueller was arrested last week after he testified before the Ontario Racing Commission. His bail is reported to have been raised by a group of friends headed by his sweetheart's father.

Wankmueller is one of six jockeys whom the commission has ruled off Ontario tracks for life. George Thompson, of Hamilton, one of the six, was also arrested and charged with perjury.

The commission's investigation has also resulted in the arrest of two Buffalo men and one Toronto resident, indefinite suspensions against an owner-trainer and two other jockeys and the fining of six more riders for failing to report bribe offers promptly.

Labor Will Battle Mining Industry

TIMMINS, Aug. 13—(CP)—A union leader said Saturday that Canadian labor stands ready to battle the hard rock mining industry over the Hollinger gold strike, called to enforce demands for wage increases and union dues checkoff.

The strike of some 1,600 workers in the world's biggest gold mine goes into its sixth week today. There has been no indication of either side weakening on the key issue—whether the mine will deduct union dues from pay cheques of union members.

Find Child's Body

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 13 (AP)—The crumpled body of Douglas Davis, 8, was found late Saturday, deep under the pile of sand in which he was buried Friday. Discovery ended a search of nearly 28 hours in a huge gravel pit by more than 100 volunteers. The boy was trapped by a cave-in there Friday, while tunnelling with two young companions.

Reds Clearing Out Cities In Bloodless Terror Reign

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) The Communists of middle Europe are carrying on a bloodless reign of terror against "unessential" persons.

Tens of thousands have been dumped on the countryside to die without food, shelter or a chance to work.

The program began quietly in Bulgaria a year ago and now is spreading through Poland and Czechoslovakia.

From refugee stories flooding into Washington it appears the Communists are trying to get rid of three types of persons:

1. The middle class.
2. Those who live near the western borders of the Soviet bloc.
3. Those over 35 years of age, too old to "make the great change" to Communist thinking.

The purge is reported to have partially emptied big cities such as Warsaw and Cracow in Poland, Prague and Brno in Czechoslovakia and Budapest in Hungary. Previously Sofia in Bulgaria suffered. In Budapest a Jewish old people's home was cleaned out.

Communist police tell people that in 24 hours they must be at such-and-such a railroad station with only 20 to 60 pounds of belongings, depending on the size of the family.

Dumped In Rural reas

They are loaded aboard cattle cars and dumped in some rural area. In Hungary and Czechoslovakia, significantly, they are dumped near railroads that go into the Soviet Union.

The Communists claim they need city apartments and houses for "essential workers." They fill the emptied homes with young Communists who have some technical skills.

There are plenty of reports of housing shortages in middle Europe.

But news reaching the headquarters of the International Peasant Union and of the Christion Democratic Union tells another story. Both groups represent large middle-of-the-road political parties of middle Europe.

Here are reports on what has happened:

Poland

So far about 40,000 have been tossed out of their homes in Warsaw and 5,000 in Cracow.

The Poles have merely been thrown on the streets penniless and told to find their way to some small town in East Poland.

At the peak a year ago 5,000 families were being thrown out of their homes each week in the larger cities.

Hungary

By the end of June 15,000 persons had been dispossessed. At the peak 2,000 a week were being thrown out of their homes in Budapest alone.

Czechoslovakia

Unknown thousands have been thrown out of Prague, Brno and Bratislava. Arms production is being increased and young Communists are being concentrated in the arms production centres.

Planning Congress

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP) — The ninth catechetical congress of the western hemisphere will be held here Nov. 7-11, it was announced Saturday. The sessions, which will convene at the invitation of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Chicago, are expected to attract 50,000 persons, including 10,000 priests, nuns, and catholic lay leaders from the US, Canada, Alaska, Central and South America.

Driver Surrenders

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (CP) — A charge of manslaughter was laid Sunday against 30-year-old John McPherson who surrendered to police after they sought a driver in the death of an eight-year-old boy. John Joosten, Jr., was killed when struck by a car as he was about to cross a downtown street with his parents Saturday night. Police said he did not stop after the fatal accident.

Drug Aids Crops

EDMONTON, Aug. 13 (CP) — A University of Alberta scientist has discovered that antibiotics—the wonder drugs which cure a host of human diseases—also cure diseased crops. The scientist—Dr. A. W. Henry—told farmers visiting the university plant science department Saturday that actidione will cure smut in grains. Actidione is produced from the same organism which produces streptomycin.

Prison Camp Job Gave Him Career

CALGARY—(CP)—Eric Humphries got his journalistic experience the hard way.

Humphries, 31, now a public relations official with the Canadian National Railways in London, England, started the writing business in a Japanese prison camp in Hava during the Second World War.

He told the story while in Calgary during a nine-week tour of CNR offices across Canada.

He was a prisoner-of-war in a Japanese camp at Batavia early in the war when the Japanese provided news bulletins of a sort for the prisoners. But they were written in such bad English that they were practically unintelligible. Humphries got the idea of editing and publishing the news himself from official releases.

He convinced the Japanese authorities this was a good idea, and with the help of a fellow prisoner and a typewriter borrowed from the Japanese he put out a single-sheet weekly paper for nearly three years.

"We found out later that the 'news' we got from the Japs was highly coloured propaganda," he said. "But at least it gave the boys an idea of where the fighting was going on."

Ex-Sheep Official James Telfer Dies

PARIS, Ont., Aub. 13 (CP) — James A. Telfer, 66, head of the sheep production division of the Federal Department of Agriculture for more than 30 years, died here Saturday. He retired in 1947.

Until his death he was secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Sheep Breeders' Association and director of the International Wool Growers' Association.

In 1949 he was unsuccessful Liberal candidate in the federal constituency of Brant-Wentworth.

Piper Wins Shield

ST. ANN'S, N.S., Aug. 13 (CP) —Pipe Major Rod A. Nicholson of Sydney, NS, Saturday won the McCrimmon Shield, emblematic of the Canadian piping championship, during the final days of the 13th annual Gaelic Mod competitions. The shield was brought here from Scotland by 70-year-old chief Flora MacLeod of MacLeod.

Swimming, canoeing, rowing, sailing, fishing—these enter into most vacation plans. But too often, holidays bring tragedies—over 1000 Canadians drown each year.

The Canadian Red Cross Society water safety rules are printed here in the hope that both adults and children will learn them, respect them, and obey them.

RED CROSS Rules for Water Safety

1. Learn to swim safely. Join a swim class sponsored by Red Cross or other recognized organizations. Know your own limitations as a swimmer.
2. Learn artificial respiration. The briefest delay in applying it may cost a life.
3. Where to swim. If possible, swim in a supervised area. Investigate unknown water before swimming or diving. Respect "DANGER" signs.
4. When to swim. Late morning and afternoon are the safest hours in which to swim.
5. Temperature and time. Between 70° and 80° is best (warmer water relaxes too much, colder exhausts). 30 minutes is long enough in the water for the average swimmer.
6. Swimming after eating. Wait at least 2 hours after eating a regular meal before swimming.
7. Panic contributes to most accidents. Learn to scull and tread water. Novices must stay in shallow water while learning to swim.
8. Exhaustion. Avoid over-activity before a swim. Over-exertion while swimming, and extremely cold water also contribute to exhaustion.
9. Always have a companion when fishing, swimming or boating. Never swim alone.
10. Reaching aids. Learn how to use all reaching aids; how to use floating objects to support yourself; how to throw handline and ring buoy.
11. Cramps. If hit by stomach cramps, scull to support yourself and call for help. To ease leg cramps, take a deep breath, submerge, and seize cramped muscles with thumb and fingers of one hand, pressing through the muscles to meet those of the other hand.
12. Currents. Never buck a current. Swim diagonally across and with its flow. If unable to reach shore, drift to save strength and call for help. If caught by an undertow, go with it and swim diagonally upwards to the surface.
13. Weeds. Use gentle, slow drawing and shaking movements to get out of weeds. Swim with the current, not against it, until freed.
14. Boating. If capsized, hang onto the boat and call for help. Never enter a canoe unless you are an experienced, competent swimmer.

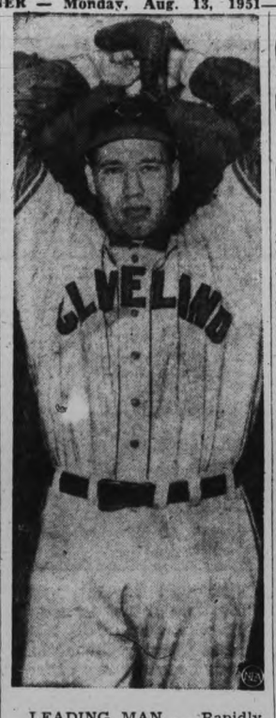
Staffs Get One Over Petes By A 4-1 Score

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—Staffords turned back the league leading Peterborough Petes 4-1 in the best game of the Viaduct Major League season here Sunday at Millen Stadium. In the opening contest the Petes were lacing the lowly Croftons 15-2 when the time limit ran out and league president Orville Wyckoff ordered the game called after three and a half innings.

Jim Barnes, the diminutive Stafford southpaw, held the hard-hitting Petes to four safeties over the seven-inning route. After the Staffs chased starting pitcher Bunny Maeson to the showers in the fourth with a three-run rally lefty Bill Dadson was rushed into the game for the Petes. Dadson retired the side after Alfie Williams' sizzling drive to right got away from Bill Huntley.

Dadson featured the Petes' attack with two of their four hits, driving home their counter in the fifth with a double to left after George Brabin worked Barnes for a base on balls. Dadson's second one came in the seventh after another base on balls and two out. Barnes whiffed Lowery to end the game.

Dar Ralley, coach of Staffords shared the honors with Barnes, getting three hits. His first opened their three-run rally, Ralph Hosking followed with a walk, Bill Heyes doubled scoring ralley and then Maeson departed.



LEADING MAN — Rapidly approaching his first 20-game season since 1947, Bob Feller once more is the Indians' best pitcher.

Oshawa Takes 9-1 Win Over The Petes

OSHAWA, Aug. 13 — Almost 2,000 cash customers turned out to the Memorial Stadium here on Saturday night to see the Oshawa Merchants score an impressive 9-1 victory over the Peterborough nine, leaders of the Toronto Viaduct Major League race.

Manager Mike Mellis went to the mound for the Merchants and once again proved that his experience and control pitching was the remedy for silencing the booming bats of the Liftlock City team as he limited the visitors to five solid hits, four of these in the first three frames. Dick Golden had two-for-three including a lusty triple in the eighth inning—the only safe hit the Peterborough club collected in the last six frames—while George Brabin had a scratch single and a double; Al Menzies got the other hit garnered by the losers.

Peterborough's lone tally was scored in the third inning when Golden drew a walk after two out. It was the first of only two free tickets given up by Mellis but it proved enough to spoil his shutout. Golden stole second base and scored when Brabin doubled to right centre. The visitors never got a base runner past second after that except when Dick Golden tripled to open the eighth inning and he died on third when Mellis bore down to get the next three batters on infield outs. Mellis fanned 11 batters along the way and was always in command.

Bill Ousted

Bill Edger started for the Petes but proved a disappointment to the Bowmanville ball fans on hand to see the game when he got off to a bad start and was headed for the showers in the first inning with only one out. Vic Napolitano opened with a single and Jose Morales bunted cleanly past the in-rushing fielders. Then Jim Rogers sacrificed and this was followed by Dick Bemming's triple—into left field. He scored himself when Ted Barnes singled—and that was all for Edger.

Doug Plunkett took over and got along nicely until the fourth and from that point on, Merchants hit his offerings steadily and boosted their total. Sherry Rowland opened the fourth with a single and Charlie Walsh followed with a blow through shortstop, scoring Rowland who had gone to second on a wild pitch. Jim Rogers got one of his three walks in the fifth, moved on Berning's single, stole third and scored the while a double-play was being attempted—and failing.

Berning got his third hit of the game in the seventh after Rogers had walked again and scored on a double by Barnes. An outfield fly by Rowland then scored Berning for the second run of the inning and Oshawa added two more in the eighth as Plunkett weakened steadily. Johnny Kitchen opened the eighth with his third single of the game, Mellis walked, Napolitano sacrificed and an outfield fly by Morales scored Kitchen. A walk to Rogers (his third free ticket) and another outfield fly by Berning scored Mellis with the last run of the game.

Dick Berning and Johnny Kitchen with three apiece were the big hitters for the winners with Barnes and Rowland next in line for honors.

UEW Gets Soccer Tilt Over Picton Gunners

UEW soccer club defeated Picton Gunners of the Bay of Quinte League 4-0 here in an exhibition Saturday. In fast play, the locals held off a determined drive early by the Gunners and finally A. Smith broke away to go in close and score. It was even for a time and the blue and whites were lucky to increase their lead. Strong picked up a loose ball and ran half the length of the field to beat the goalie, as the visitors clamored for an offside decision.

It was tight again and fast in the second half, Picton almost counting early. UEW struck back to tally twice more, once on a nice passing play with Strong finishing from close in. The last goal was a pretty one with Robertson and Holroyd working in a neat passing play before putting A. Smith in the clear, and he made no mistake. The UE players were: Jones, Allen, Mundy, Cotton, Craig, Davis, Holroyd, Robertson, Strong, A. Smith, G. Smith, and alternates Titsheli and Ward.

Back in working togs again for another 50-week run, but rested up enough to warble:

Arrived home oke but very broke,
Got busy as a beaver:
Drew two weeks' pay and so today
We're full of joie de vivre.

One is bound to pick up the odd foreign phrase on a vacation tour extending from Buffalo to Algonquin Park, eh? A bit tough to get back in harness and, as soon as we get a hundred grand saved up, we're taking three weeks off. But let's start clearing the desk.

A card on hand from Walter Dinesen, postmarked Rungsted Kept, Denmark. Says: "Over in Denmark with aunt and visiting my old stamping grounds. Soccer is having a holiday for the present here. Tennis, swimming and boating galore. The countryside is very pretty now. Cars here are not plentiful, but talk about bicycles! Well, it is a small country with good roads." Walter pitched minor and intermediate ball locally for years, as well as going in for football, soccer and hockey. More recently, he confined his sports activities to coaching minor baseball in the north end.

Looking At The Lasses

Bill Bennett advises that girls' softball playoffs resume at seven tonight in the Bowl d'Ashburnham, weather being right. Marines and Westclox are at it in best-of-five, the Clockers leading the series two games to one. If they drop the first one this eve, hese teams tangle in the nightcap. If Westclox wins the opener, Woollens play Marines a nightcap exhibish. Winner of the Westcox-Marines series goes against Belleville in intermediate PWSU playdowns here at eight p.m. Wednesday. Loser of the local series plays the Cobourg-Ashby survivors, Ashby's having two wins to date. Woollens will trek into PWSU junior playdowns, and Cobourg has an intermediate "AA" bye. There are three trophies up for local winners.

That hot semi-final series in the men's loop should make for a huge crowd at the Bowl on the morrow when Revoy's and Orphans mix in the third and fourth frays of their best-of-five semi-final sawoffs. Revoy's won the first 14-6 but Orphans took the next one 16-9, and it may well be settled Tuesday ere 11 bells. Winner goes against UEW for the city championship. OASA bulletin No. 18 says the local senior "B" team must play at Oshawa on Sept. 5 and back here three days later. But the local intermediate "A" representative must play in the Motor City on Aug. 23 and here Aug. 25. Their zone final starts Sept. 1 at Belleville or Kingston. So, time is flitting.

Winding Up OLA Spool

OLA senior "A" schedule winds up here tomorrow night at 8.45 in Miller Bowl, Brampton Excelsiors tackling the Petes. Since there are no other senior "A" groups in Eastern Canada, the CLA has ruled that the team finishing atop the OLA schedule will be known as OLA champs, and the other contending clubs in that group will battle it out in an Eastern Canada series to see which team goes west after the Mann Cup and the Dominion title. After tomorrow, the Petes await the sixth club as the second and fifth teams clash in one bracket, and the third and fourth meet in another. Friday night games saw Mimico edge the locals 13-10, Hamilton take Toronto 15-7 and St. Kitts nose out Fergus 13-12. Harry Wipper will see action Tuesday after getting some fancy needlework done on his noggin.

* * * * * * *

Lots of Viaduct Baseball League action o'er the week-end, and another game coming up here tomorrow eve at 8.30 in Riverside Park, Kingsways vs. the Petes. Latter can clinch first place with a win in this one. The Petes fell before Oshawa 9-1 on Saturday in the Motor City as Mike Mellis threw a five-hitter, and they were shaded in Toronto on Sunday 4-1 by Staffords. Their game with Croftons was halted owing to the Sunday time limit. In other jousts, Staffs downed Kingsways. Lots of crowding in now of postponements as the schedule draws toward a finish. A couple of more games and the Whitehill crew will be set for play-offs. No definite arrangements made as yet on the money series.

Whitby Gets 5-1 Win Over Legionnaires

COBOURG, Aug. 13 — Whitby Merchants earned a 5-1 win over the Cobourg Legionnaires here Saturday in a Lakeshore League intermediate baseball game.

The visitors scored twice in the first and wrapped it up with three runs in the sixth, sparked by a double by Kellar.

Until the big sixth, the Legionnaires were threatening and had men on base in each frame. They gathered nine hits off Kellar, three of them by Sonny Beckstead, one a double, and two each by Ross Zealand and Sleep Dawe.

Zealand's long triple was the hardest smash of the contest but it came after two were out and Kellar quickly applied the brakes, forcing the next man to ground out.

McDonald and Neal led the winners with two hits each.

2 French Players Make Clean Sweep

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (CP). — Two French Davis Cup tennis players made a clean sweep of four exhibition matches here with Toronto players during the week-end and were extended in only one set.

Beau Summers, 44-year-old Toronto veteran lost to Paul Remy 9-7, 6-4 Saturday. Earlier, Jean Claude Molinari defeated Don Fontana 6-3, 6-3. In doubles competition Remy and Molinari defeated Fontana and Bruce Logie 6-4, 7-5 Saturday, and Jim Duff and Austin McPherson 7-5, 6-4 Sunday.

The French pair played against each other in an exhibition Sunday with Remy winning 6-2, 7-5. They will play in the Quebec championships beginning today.

East City Wins PMBA Title Over Northend

Beating Tal's Northenders 8-6 on Saturday Welch's East City squad captured the bantam championship of the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association. They shoved over two runs in the fourth, four in the fifth and the winning pair in the seventh of a fine game. The losers counted one in the third, fourth and seventh, with three in the sixth. East City had 10 hits to seven for the other side, but booted four against Northenders' two. McIlmoyle fanned eight as Brown whiffed five, each twirler issuing half a dozen walks. McIlmoyle led the victors at bat with three singles, McClennan and Brady each having two for the losers. Teams:

East City: Garvey, 2b; Towns, 3b; Ayotte, cf; Guerin, c; McDougall, lf; Byrnes, rf; McIlmoyle, p; Baptie, 1b; Kane, ss.

Northenders: Dubay, 2b; McIlwain, 3b; Board, c; Feeley, cf; Brady, 1b; Brown, p; McClennan, ss; Loescher, lf; Atkinson, rf.

Bell Takes Trophy In The Civic Loop

Bell Telephone won the Bert Austin Trophy on Friday by winding up the Civic Softball League schedule in top place, half a game up on Foresters. Utilities defeated PLC to eliminate the latter from a round-robin playoff series which starts tonight with Salvation Army, Grant and Loucks, and Utilities in the hunt. In case of a tie, total runs will be the deciding factor. Bell plays Police on Tuesday on grounds to be decided. Tonight, it's S. Army vs. Grant and Loucks at Armour Field, and Tuesday there has Grant and Loucks playing Utilities. On Wednesday there, Utilities will meet S. Army. The standing:

	W	L	T	Pts
Bell	11	3	0	22
Foresters	10	3	1	21
Busmen	8	6	0	16
Police	7	6	1	15
S. Army	5	9	0	10
G. & L.	5	9	0	10
Utilities	5	9	0	10

Port Hope Whips Newcastle Team 7-2

PORT HOPE, Aug. 13 — A three-run double by Gene Porter and a two-run homer by Mac-Potts gave the Port Hope Pelicans a 7 to 2 victory over Newcastle here Saturday. The win gave Port Hope the best of three Durham County Rural Baseball League semi-final series in straight games.

Both blows came in the third inning with two out. Ken Ashton was the winning hurler, giving up seven scattered hits striking out one and walking three. For the losers George Sellers pitched a six hitter struck out five and walked none. Doug Walton and Jim Creamer collected a pair of safeties for losers.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The main event at the Bowling Club for this coming week, is the ladies' open tournament on Friday, Aug. 17, at 1.30 p.m. It's trebles.

There will be no tournament for the men this coming Friday night—the greens will be occupied with the ladies' open tournament.

Several of our bowlers are going up to the Hillcrest Lawn Bowling Club, Toronto, this Saturday. It's a return visit; Joe Adams is in charge of the arrangements

Later on in this month we have two outstanding tournaments. On Saturday, Aug. 25, there is the provincial championship games for singles, doubles and rinks. This is the first time these games have been played here and no doubt will attract much attention.

On Wednesday, Aug. 29 (all day) the Black Memorial Trophy for open mixed doubles, will be competed for. The tournament needs no introduction—it is well and favorably known all over the province and is now recognized as one of the leading tournaments of its kind.

Tonight we continue with the regular schedule games.

Today's thought: It is the fish you bring home that counts.

Handy Theatre Bed

LONDON—(CP)Actor Markey Robinson of Belfast arrived in London but couldn't find a place to stay and other actors offered him the bed used in their paly at the Ambassador Theatre. So Robinso slept on stage in an empty theatre.

Perc McCracken Fans 25 In Local Game

Riverside Park was the scene of a grand show Saturday night sponsored by the local B'Nai B'Rith organization, as Toronto Levy's defeated Peterborough All-Stars, 2-0, in a softball match under the arcs. The proceeds go to Turner Park fund.

Perc McCracken, star underhand wizard of the Beaches Fastball League, twirled for the Toronto boys and gave an artistic exhibition of near-perfect hurling. McCracken fanned the first nine men who faced him and 25 in all. Only one man reached first and he on an error.

Charlie Justice went the route for Ken Guilfyle's All-Stars, struck out six and gave up but four safeties, a good enough chore to win any ordinary game.

But two costly infield errors at first and third enabled Levy's to tally two unearned runs in the fourth and fifth and give the Queen City boys an edge in the summary. It was a close, hard-fought game nevertheless, and the large crowd thrilled as the two dazzling mound artists put on a lovely show.

Levy's—Mandrake rf, Krycia ss, Syrek lf, Dunkley 2b, Kosenchenko 3b, Gresko 1b, McCullough cf, Polloffski c, McCracken p.

All Stars—Legrow lf, Robson H. Crowe 2b, Thomson 2b, Spring c, Justice p, Dalton ss, Pagett ss, Mackness cf, Wade cf, Sullivan 1b, Castle 1b, White rf, Conlin rf, Wyatt 3b, Thompson 3b.

Yanks Out Of 1st Place Tie As A's Sweep Twin Bill, Indians Trip Chicago 7-1

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's Indians stood alone atop the American League today, enjoying a 1½-game lead over New York Yankees—and all along the circuit they were whispering "poetic justice." That's not what Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees believes, though. "We were the victims of rotten luck," he said, "nothing more."

Stengel was referring to Sunday's second-game 7-4 loss to the Athletics in Philadelphia. The A's also won the opener 9-5 to sweep the doubleheader. The double loss, coupled with Cleveland's 7-1 triumph over Chicago White Sox, snapped the Yankees-Indians first-place tie.

Stengel had a point too. His Yankees led 9-7 following a five-run rally in the top of the eighth when play was halted and the score reverted back to the seventh inning. Pennsylvania has a 7 p.m. Sunday curfew law. Play must end at that hour. Since the Athletics did not bat in their half of the eighth, the Yankees' five runs were wiped off the records. That made the A's the winners 7-4.

The New Yorkers' plight brought to mind a game played between the Yankees and Chicago in New York July 27. The Yankees led 3-1 as the White Sox went to bat in the top of the ninth. Chicago tallied three times to go ahead 4-3. But rain intervened and after an hour's wait the umpires called the game.

The score reverted to the end of the eighth. That made the Yankees the winners 3-1.

Poetic justice? Perhaps.

Identical Scores

Boston's third-place Red Sox took two from Washington by the identical 6-2 margins. Hoot Evers hit a bases loaded single in the ninth to break a tie and give Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over St. Louis Browns.

Don Newcombe pitched Brooklyn to a 7-2 victory over Boston Braves but the Dodgers' first-place lead in the National was reduced to 12½ games as the runner-up New York Giants swept a twin bill from Philadelphia Phils 3-2 and 2-1.

St. Louis Cardinals overcame a 3-0 Cincinnati lead to win 4-3 and Pittsburgh and Chicago swapped shutouts. Murry Dickson hurled the Pirates to a 1-0 triumph over Joe Hatten in the opener. It was Dickson's 16th victory. The Cubs retaliated when Paul Minner blanked Pittsburgh 6-0 in the nightcap.

16th Victory

Mike Garcia chalked up his 16th victory for the Indians, who raked four White Sox pitchers for 14 hits including home runs by Larry Doby, Bobby Avila and Ray Boone. Dale Mitchell got three Cleveland hits to stretch his consecutive hitting streak through 20 games.

Ray Scarborough and Will Wight, principals in the Red Sox-White Sox winter trade, teamed up for the first time this season to give Boston a double win. Each permitted eight hits. Scarborough won his ninth and Wight his fifth. The Red Sox trailed Cleveland by five games.

Roy Campanella helped Brooklyn's Newcombe register his 16th triumph, blasting a pair of homers to drive in five runs. They were homers Nos. 23 and 24 for the sturdy catcher.

Monte Irvin and Bobby Thomson drove in all New York's runs in the Giants' double win over the Phils. Irvin homered with two on in the first game to offset a 2-0 deficit. Thomson doubled in two runs in the nightcap after Philadelphia had taken a 1-0 lead. Sal Maglie won his 16th in the opener.

Herm Wehmeier walked Bob Scheffing with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to give the Cards their win over Cincinnati.

Arlene Dahl Carries Out Many Activities

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (AP)—When Arlene Dahl announced she wanted to end her MGM contract some time ago, most film observers thought she was out of her pretty, red head.

She passed up $1,250 a week and the security of a studio at a time when quite a few actors are living on breakfast food and cherished hopes. So I consulted her for an explanation.

It was partly due to her recent marriage to Lex Barker, the Ape Man of the Tarzan series, she declared.

"It's risky enough for an actress to marry an actor," she explained. "I think many such marriages are wrecked because of conflicting schedules, with one party away on location while the other is at home, and vice versa. Those long absences are murder; a person can change completely in six months.

"I feel it is up to the wife to manage her life so she can be with her husband as much of the time as possible. As a free-lancer, I could arrange my schedule so I'm making a picture when Lex is."

Three Stinkers

Arlene's other reasons for leaving the studio stemmed from its refusal to loan her to play Roxanne in "Cyrano De Bergerac."

"They told me they would compensate for it with a big role at MGM," she recalled. "But it never came. Instead, they put me in three stinkers ('No Questions Asked,' 'Watch The Birdie,' 'Inside Straight.') so I got mad."

One other reason for her departure was the variety of her outside activities. She has got almost as many enterprises as Bing Crosby's relatives.

She produces a thrice-weekly beauty column, which runs in about 30 papers. She is bringing out a line of negligees and matching sets, which she designed herself. She is also going to market cosmetics under her name.

Exile Disagrees On UN Purpose

GENEVA PARK, Aug. 13 (CP)—A Romanian exile disagreed with the opinion of a Canadian delegate to the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs held here during the weekend—that the main function of the United Nations in a two-power world should be as a forum.

Roaul Bossy, former career diplomat for Romania, resigned his post as ambassador at Born when the Communists occupied his native land.

He said he found himself unable to agree with the opinion of Peter Stursberg, CBC correendd at the UN.

Mr. Stursberg, speaking on the conference issue, the position of the UN in a two-power world, said the main function of the UN should be to act as a forum. He contended its role was not that of an enforcement agency for collective security.

Mr. Bossy felt that as a forum the UN would serve no purpose, since there was need for common principles for a discussion. He felt it would only continue as a sounding board for Russian propaganda.

Spirit Is Subject Of Lesson Sermon

"Spirit" was the subject of the lesson sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday.

The golden text was "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." (Zechariah 4:6).

Selections from the Bible included the following from John 4:24, "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," included the following, "Spirit. Divine substance; Mind; divine Principle; all that is good; God; that only which is perfect, everlasting, omnipresent, omnipotent, infinite."

Four More Bodies Found In Wreckage

SIMMESPORT La. Aug. 13 (AP)—Four more bodies were found Saturday in the crumpled wreckage left by a troop-passenger train collision Friday bringing the total dead to 13.

Salvage crews found the four charred bodies in a passenger car of the Southern Belle.

State police said more bodies might still be in the smashed cars.

Meanwhile, plans were made for an official investigation into the cause of the crash.

More Glamor?

VANCOUVER. — (CP) — British Columbia's junior farm clubs will be known as 4-H clubs in future. The change was made because club officials felt that the 4-H name had a little more "glamor" than the official title of Canadian Boys and Girls Club.

Three Counts Face Auto Driver

Child Knocked Down, Hurt By Car In Hit-Run Crash

Three charges were laid in police court today against Wilfred Davies 40 of 222 King George St., the result of an accident Saturday night in which he is alleged to have knocked down and injured a three-year-old child and driven on without stopping.

Jackie Eggleton, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eggleton, 763 Brown St., was struck by the car as he played by the side of the road in front of his own home. A passing motorist took the boy to the Peterborough Clinic and later he was transferred to Civic hospital. His injuries were a bad cut over the right eye and two cuts on the right arm.

Condition Good

His condition today is fairly good.

Today in police court Davies, who is crippled in one leg, heard three charges read to him: driving a car while his ability was impaired by alcohol; failing to remain at the scene of an accident, and dangerous driving.

He gave no election or plea and received a week's adjournment so he could get a lawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Succee and Earl Launcey, all of RR 3, Lang, told police they were driving west on Brown St. when they saw Davies' car hit the youngster and continue on. They followed the car, obtained the licence number, and then went back to pick up the injured boy and take him to the clinic.

Dr. Robert Pow then took young Jackie to hospital.

Police checked on the licence number and later arrested Davies. They found the right front headlight of his car broken and reported that he had been drinking.

Sgt. Leo Murphy and Constable Grant Gillespie investigated.

ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENT

TORONTO, Aug. 13 —(CP)— F. A. Mager, president, Saturday announced appointment of Angus Gordon as executive secretary of the National Home Builders Association. MOH Lists 'Do And Don't' Precautions For Polio; Warns People Not To Panic

Some do's and don'ts as precautions against polio were suggested today by Dr. R. A. Kelly, city medical officer for health.

DO:

wash hands before eating and always after going to toilet;
keep flies and insects away from food;
keep garbage covered;
watch for symptoms of sickness;
put sick person to bed at once, away from others, and call your doctor;
remember that half of all polio victims get well without any crippling.

DON'T:

get overtired by playing or working too hard;
get chilled;
have nose or throat operations;
have hypodermic injections for immunzation against diseases;
take children to places where there is polio.

The symtoms of polio are listed in another story on this page.

Ask Goodfellow To Open Fair

Everything is set for Peterborough's Exhibition next week except the formal detail of the official opening.

And for that role directors were today, so it was reported, depending on their Northumberland neighbor, Hon. Wm. A. Goodfellow, Ontario's Minister of Welfare, himself a farmer at Codrington.

Clare G. Collins, chairman of publicity, said it was expected that definite word would be in hand by tomorrow.

President Norm McConkey had thought of inviting a prominent New York State man, presumably as a gesture of strengthening the spirit of hands across the border, but that fell through.

In the meantime it was discovered that Premier L. M. Frost is going to the Ottawa Exhibition next week. Federal Minister of Agriculture J. G. Gardiner had another engagement, and he is not available.

ELDON JOHNSTON, Lakefield, formerly of Toronto, was made a life member of the Canadian Bandmasters association at the annual convention in Midland. He is a former bandmaster of the Evangel Temple band which has won recognition in competitions in Ontario.

Obituary

FREDERICK W. R. GILMOUR

There died very suddenly on Saturday at his summer home near Toronto Frederick Wellington Richard Gilmour, 69, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Gilmour and grandson of Richard Gilmour, pioneer settler of Cavan township.

Mr. Gilmour had been in comparatively good health and was having a most enjoyable holiday when he collapsed and died. Born in Cavan township he farmed for a number of years and then for more than 20 years was employed with the Canadian National Railway in Peterborough. Four years ago he went to Toronto to reside and has been employed by the Steele Briggs Company.

He resided at 117 McRobert St., Toronto.

There survive his sorrowing widow, formerly Milda Wheatley, one daughter, Mrs. Orme Henry (Violet) of Toronto, two sisters, Norman Gilmour and Mrs. John S. Donley, of Peterborough, Mrs. Allan Thompson of Toronto and John Gilmour of Regina.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 3:00 p.m. at the Roy Miller Funeral Home, 619 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto with the Rev. R. B. March of Prospect United Church officiating. Burial will be in Toronto.

Amendment Not Intended As Loophole

Court Upholds Crown, Convicts Man Of Drunken Driving

Potential drunk drivers were given a warning today that the new amendment, covering borderline drunk drivers, was not going to be an easy way out for Peterborough county drivers.

Today in police court Douglas Stenner, 23, of 496 Park St., was sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, when convicted on the drunk driving count.

Stenner pleaded not guilty. Defence Counsel Ralph Standish suggested that the offence might more properly come under the new section that makes it illegal for a car driver to be "impaired" by alcohol.

The minimum on this lesser charge is $50 and costs, compared with seven days on the drunk driving charge.

Not a 'Slider'

Mr. Bradshaw countered that the new section was not intended as a "slider" to let drunk drivers off lightly. Magistrate Gee upheld this view and found Stenner guilty as charged.

Evidence indicated that Stenner had two pints of beer and two shots of gin before he started to drive some friends home shortly after 3 a.m. July 28. He was observed at that time by Provincial Constables Roy Feeley and J. G. Healey as he manoeuvred his car at the Charlotte-Rink St. intersection.

Constable Feeley claimed Stenner backed his car so that the rear wheels touched the east curb of Park St. and the car stalled there. He went over to investigate, found the accused drunk, and asked Constable Healey to call the city police.

After city constables Claire McGillen and Douglas Farthing arrived Stenner was ordered out of his car and told to get in the police cruiser. Both the city and provincial police said that Stenner's speech was thick, he staggered, and once clutched at the front fender of the cruiser to keep his balance.

All Agreed

All said he was drunk.

The two city police had to put him forcibly into the cruiser. They said he used abusive language and after being locked up, kicked the jail bars till 6 a.m.

Stenner admitted he had been drinking, but said he was tired, worried about family matters, and became nervous when he thought the police were going to lock him up.

His wife and Ronald Bales, a New Toronto friend who was a passenger in his car, both said Stenner was definitely not drunk.

A second charge of illegally having a bottle of beer in his car was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.

Sweden Grants Refuge To 12 Navy Mutineers

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 13 — (AP) —Sweden today granted political refuge to 12 Polish navy mutineers who overpowered their officers and directed their minesweeper, The Hadregfariscon, to the Swedish port of Ystad, Aug. 2.

The Swedish government Saturday rejected a request of the Communist government of Poland to arrest the 12 men, a step which would have been perliminary to extraditing them.

City Marksman Given Spot On International Rifle Team

For the fifth time in 20 years of competition David Clement, Chemong Road, over the weekend placed on the Canadian team for the Lord Dewar International match. The Canadians placed third in the small bore competition at the three-day meet at Connaught Ranges, Ottawa, sponsored by the Canadian Rifle Association and the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen. Mr. Clement shot a score of 399-26X.

In the British Consols competition Mr. Clement placed first with a grand aggregate total of 1967-100X in the marksmen class. He also placed first in the Sportsmens match with 199-24X.

Second Place

Second place fell to Mr. Clement three times. In the east-west team small bore shooting Mr. Clement scored a 397-26X, the same score entered in the Canadian-United States team competition, also for a second. In the 50-yard metric single entry class Mr. Clement scored 396-24X.

Mr. Clement also placed third in the players' any sights competition and fourth in the 100-yard metric single class with 196-8X.

Seventh place was won twice, in the 50-yard single with 193-10X and in the 100-yard single 197-10X.

In the small bore sharpshooters' class, W. G. Box, of Port Hope, has placed fourth with a 199-11X and third with a 1957-98X in the aggregate total.

W. H. Meldrum, also of Port Hope, placed high with three firsts with scores of 196-15X, 199-8X and 788-32X, and with a second score of 198-10X.

Fog Delays Liner Reaching New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)— The 83,673-ton liner Queen Elizabeth, delayed 18½ hours by fog, began discharging her 2,122 passengers at 8 a.m. (EDT) today. She started a rush to keep her scheduled sailing after midnight.

The world's largest liner was forced to anchor off Ambrose Lightship Sunday. Food, laundry and mail must be taken aboard and the Cunard Line may establish a turn-around speed record if the vessel sails on schedule.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

FRACTURES ANKLE

Clarence McIvor, 16, RR 1, Fraserville, fell from a ladder Saturday and fractured his ankle. He was treated at Civic hospital as an outpatient.

INJURED IN FALL

Two-year-old William Lee, RR 6, Peterborough, fell on some glass and was treated in hospital for forehead cuts Sunday night. He was discharged after treatment.

CUT BY MILK BOTTLE

David Richmond, 5, Omemee, received deep lacerations on his right leg above the knee Sunday when a milk bottle fell. He was treated as an outpatient at Civic hospital.

TOURIST VISITORS

A total of 86 people stopped at the Junior Chamber of Commerce booth this past weekend and made 106 inquries. Saturday, 54 people called with 68 inquiries and Sunday 32 people made 38 inquiries.

FIRST KAWARTHA TRIP

Dr. Pincus Sodie and Dr. Morris J. Shapiro of Rochester were weekend guests of Dr. Louis Zacks and Mrs. Zacks at Chemong Lake. It was their first trip into the Kawarthas district, and their delighted impression of it was heightened by the accomplishment of Dr. Pincus in hooking two pickerel. The Rochester doctors arrived on Friday and were returning home today.

SWIM CHEMONG

Four public school swimmers, aged about nine, swam Chemong lake Sunday afternoon from Cedar Bay to the west shore. The two girls, Roselyn Moldaver and Carol Ann Levine, were pretty tired at the finish, but the boys, Joel Moldaver and Gary Levine, appeared quite fresh after the long trip through the water. All have taken lessons in the YW and YMCA pools.

Four New Polio Cases Sent To Hospital On Weekend; Three Sick In One Family

Weekend Cases Bring District Total To 14 With Two Suspects; Seven Adults, Seven Children Are Stricken

The total number of poliomyelitis cases reported in Peterborough and district during the last two weeks has now risen to 14. Four new cases were reported by hospital officials today. Three of the four new cases are a Toronto family, father, mother and son, who had been staying in the district for the past week. The other case is a Peterborough youngster, a 4-year-old girl. The girl was rushed by ambulance to the Sick Children's hospital, Toronto, Sunday night.

In addition there is one suspect case in the hospital under observation. Four other suspect cases were discharged during the weekend.

Of the fourteen cases reported, four have been women, three men and seven children.

Most In 17 Years

Official figures released today by the department of health show that already Peterborough has had seven more cases this year than any other year for the past 17. The city's worst year during this period was in 1936, when there was a total of seven cases. The total number of cases since 1934 until this year was 32.

There have only been two deaths in that period until this year. To date this year there have been two deaths. The first was Alvin Snowden, 25-year-old optical worker, who died the morning of August 6. Mrs. William Miller, 25, died Saturday in Riverdale Isolation hospital, Toronto, after giving birth to her child Thursday. The child died early Friday morning.

Don't Panic

"The main thing is not to panic," Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, said today. "Peterborough has been fortunate in the past and this is our year for it. For example in the worst polio year in the province—1937—we only had six cases in the city."

For precautionary measures against this disease, Dr. Kelly enumerated normal rules of health such as cleanliness, plenty of rest, keeping flies and insects away from food.

He stressed precautions should be taken to keep from getting overtired by hard work, play, exercise or travel. Some other rules to follow are not to get chilled; don't have any nose or throat operations; and hypodermic injections for immunization are not recommended.

Symptoms

Some of the signs to watch for are headache, fever, sort throat, upset stomach, sore muscles, stiff neck or back and extreme tiredness. If these symptoms arise, the person should be put to bed away from others and a doctor called immediately.

"It is not at all necessary to take children out of camp or playgrounds where there is good health supervision," Dr. Kelly said.

He also explained that quarantine regulations as stated by the Public Health Act of Ontario are being followed. These state that there must be isolation of diagnosed cases of polio for seven days and household contacts for seven days except the breadwinner, provided contact with disease is broken by change of residence.

One half of all polio cases get well without crippling, he commented.

If cases are treated in polio centres, which are situated in Windsor, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Kingston and Ottawa, all expenses are paid by the provincial government.

Three Norwood Men Fined In Chicken Theft

Three Norwood men paid fines today in police court today, the aftermath of stealing chickens from Harold Tealls, a Dummer township farmer.

Rollie Buck, 36, and Richard Golloher, 22, pleaded guilty to stealing six chickens, valued at less than $25, from Tealls' barn on August 9. They said liquor had been a contributing factor.

In addition they must pay the farmer $6 each as restitution.

Walter Golloher, Richard's brother, pleaded not guilty to being in possession of the stolen fowl. He said he thought Richard had bought them.

Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, described his story as "pretty thin" and fined him $25 and costs.

Hiding In Closet

OPP Constable Tom Fitzpatrick first picked up Richard Golloher and Buck Sunday and then went to Walter's place. He found Walter "hiding in a closet" with three of the chickens cut up in a cooking pot and the other three plucked but not yet cooking.

"In Lindsay I generally jail chicken thieves," said Magistrate Gee, who described the thefts as "contemptible."

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, said all three were first offenders and he thought a small fine, plus restitution, would be sufficient.

BIG PICKEREL

A Toronto man, Elmer Small, landed a 6¼-pound pickerel Saturday afternoon off the Church of St. Peter's on the Rock, in Stony Lake. As bait he used a flatfish.

Capt. William Peryer

Named Head Of Bandmasters' Association

One of the higest honors bestowed on a bandmaster in Canada is to elect him president of the Canadian Bandmasters Association. Sunday, a former bandmaster in Peterborough for 40 years, Capt. William H. Peryer, was elected president of the Canadian association at the annual convention in Midland.

In 1909 Mr. Peryer came to the city from Cleveland, Ohio, to assume leadership of the Salvation Army band. In 1914 he was bandmaster of the Salvation Army band which toured Britain and when war broke out became bandmaster of the 59th Battalion band.

Upon his return to Peterborough he was bandmaster of the Great War Veterans' band. Other bands included since then the 4th Machine Gun Battalion, the Peterborough Rangers, the Prince of Wales Rangers and the Peterborough Citizens' band.

He retired in January, 1949.

At the same convention a newcomer to Peterborough, Eldon Johnston, formerly of Toronto and now of Lakefield, was made a life member of the association, the youngest bandmaster to be so honored.

Mr. Johnston is a director of the Canadian association as well as assistant editor of the association's magazine.

In Toronto both as a bandmaster and as a musician Mr. Johnston has won recognition. For 10 years he was bandmaster of the Evangel Temple band which won silver and bronze medals at the international band festival at Waterloo and was placed second in band competitions twice at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Mr. Johnston has played in the 48th Highlanders as well as other band groups.

Belmont Friends HonorNewlyweds

HAVELOCK, Aug. 13 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skaling (nee Laura Menzies) whose marriage took place recently in Kingston, NS, were the guests of honor at a delightful surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Menzies in Belmont township.

The rooms were attractively decorated with pink and white bells and streamers from which hung confetti filled balloons and which were punctured by Loretta Menzies, niece of the bride and Gordon Rigby.

The bride and groom were the recipients of a unique gift, a bouquet of money. A bouquet of asters, dahlias, and phlox was made very valuable when bills were attached to the stems of the flowers. The bouquet was presented by Mr. George Rigby, Jr., and Mr. Ralph Menzies, brother of the bride. The evening was spent in playing crokinole and other games. Lunch was served by Mrs. Menzies assisted by Mrs. G. Rigby, Jr., Miss Ina Garron, Miss Alfreda Jenkins, Mrs. Theodore McArthur, and Mrs. Austin Wilde.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Orval Bolton and daughter Marion of Burleigh Falls; Mr. and Mrs. C. Jenkins, Miss Alfreda Jenkins, Earl and Glenn Jenkins, Mrs. Cora Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McArthur, Lorraine and Sandy McArthur, Mr. Ralph Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, daughters Joan, Bonnie and Wendy; Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wilde, daughters Eleanor and Evelyn and son Allan; Mr. and Mrs. George McGowan, son Jack and daughter Jean; Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McMillan and son Bobby; Mrs. Thomas Menzies, Miss Birdie Menzies, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Thompson, Mrs. T. Thompson, Mrs. Fletcher Wildman and son Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Petherick, sons Carl, Kenneth and Teddy and daughter Della; Miss Ethel Menzies, Mr. Donald Pollock, Mr. and Mrs. John Menzies, Mr. and Mrs. George Rigby, Jr., and sons Gordon and Clarence.

Centenary WA Aids Parsonage

ROSENEATH, Aug. 11 (ENS).—The observation of the Sabbath Day was the subject of the devotional period presented by the president, Mrs. Silas Sherwin, at the August meeting of Centenary WA held in the church, with the president presiding and Mrs. Arnold Elder as organist.

The treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin reported receipts from a baking sale $62.85, making a balance on hand of $171.00.

It was decided to pay $92.80 as the Centenary share toward the new porch, recently completed on the United church parsonage, Roseneath.

Plans were made for another home baking sale to be held on September 1, in the township hall, Roseneath.

Quilt tops and linings were donated by the members.

Mrs. Walton Lean was in charge of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Ernest Burrison, Mrs. Bruce Arthur, Miss Joyce Arthur, Emma Sherwin and Linda Arthur. A quiz on birds was won by Mrs. Silas Sherwin and a contest was won by Mrs. Arnold Elder's group.

The meeting closed with prayer. Lunch was provided by Miss Emma Sherwin.

Royal Wedding In Hanover On September 4

HANOVER, Germany, Aug. 13 (Reuters)—Citizens of this lower Saxon capital are preparing for a grand old-style royal wedding, Sept. 4.

Queen Frederica of Greece, a member of Britain's Royal family, probably the Duchess of Kent, and other members of present and past ruling houses are expected to attend the marriage of Prince Ernst August of Hanover, 37, to lovely young Princess Ortrud of Schleswig-Holstein-Gluecksburg.

Prince Ernst is a great-grandson of the last King of Hanover, George V, and brother of Queen Frederica.

This weekend the Royal colors of the Hanoverian House, the Guelfs, flew here for the first time in public since Sept. 25, 1866, when King George renounced his throne and his kingdom became a province of victorious Prussia.

Hanoverians have never forgotten their Royal House, closely connected with Britain's Royal family. Already thousands are streaming into the rooms of "the wedding committee" to sign congratulation lists.

One wall in the organization committee rooms is covered with an old Union Jack with Hanover's coat of arms, a souvenior of the time when Britain and Hanover were linked by personal union or, as people say here, "When our Kings (the first four Georges) ruled Britain, too."

'A' for Apple 'Q' for Quick, Spicy Desserts

Summer apples were grandmother's favorites for enticing desserts. But don't think green apple pies and cobblers are the extent of their abilities. You can make delicious desserts with all the liveliness and zip of summer apples in minutes, and better yet, in a cool kitchen.

If it's a hot day and effort is something you're fresh out of, this one's for you:

Spice summer applesauce with cinnamon. Serve in sauce dishes with a generous ball of vanilla ice cream in the centre. Sprinkle with cinnamon.

Another lazy one: Combine sweetened summer applesauce with crushed pineapple, and add bits of chopped preserved ginger. Freeze until firm.

Or a ten-minute top-of-the-stove number:

Applesauce Tapioca

2 cups summer applesauce; 2 tablespoons quick tapioca; 2/3 cup brown sugar; ¼ cup raisins.

Stir ingredients together in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, and cook, stirring for 10 minutes over medium heat. Sprinkle with a little cinnamon and nutmeg and stir. Serve warm or cold with cream.

Perhaps this spicy quick little pudding will fill the bill some day when you have the oven on anyway:

Snappy Apple-Ginger Pudding:

1 cup crushed ginger snaps or cookies; 2 cups summer applesauce; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Layer cookie crumbs and applesauce in custard cups, finishing with crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake at 350 deg. until tops are toasted. Serve warm with cream.

Potted Apples

Peel and quarter enough summer apples to fill your beanpot. Boil each apple quarter in brown sugar and place in the pot. Add about ¼ cup water, cover tightly and bake for several hours in a slow oven. erve with roast pork, or as a dessert with cream.

BACK IN STYLE and in stock, thank goodness, is the good little black dress, always a wardrobe pal. Black silk crepe is used for a slender dress given interest by a fan-pleated peplum that flares out over the hips. Pleated taffeta, caught with a black velvet ribbon, swirls at the side and holds out the crepe peplum. Black velvet Peter Pan collar, and elbow-length sleeves.

THE FIRST SIGN of early fall hats is seen in simple shapes of rich jewel-tone velvet in ruby red, sapphire blue, and amber brown. There's little trimming, but beautiful veils, many beautifully embroidered, add a glamor touch.

THE ENGAGEMENT is announced of Miss Barbara Marie Deyell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Deyell, to Mr. Warren Thomas Marshall, son of Mrs. Marshall and the late F. C. Marshall, all of Peterborough. Their wedding will take place the latter part of August.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

There Is Code For Raising Your Children Successfully

DEAR MARY MOORE: Your column gets my undivided attention before any other news. I do enjoy it so much, and have improved my cooking greatly by following your recipes. I also enjoy the little bits you print about your boy and girl and from it I take that you have done a good job of bringing them up. I wish you could print a sort of program or code for bringing up children properly, but I guess that is impossible as no two children are alike.—Renee.

(Letter to be continued in Saturday's column.)

In replying to this part of this letter I am abandoning what little reserve I do erect—especially regarding my offspring—and am going to quote one of the most famous nuclear physicists living today. During an interview with a reporter from a well-known magazine which was using his picture for the cover, he was asked "What is your theory about training your four boys?"

His answer impressed me. "We believe that they can be loved into doing anything."

I want to add my philosophy to that. I think children can be loved into doing anything that you think is good—but that love means loving them enough to discipline yourself — not just enough to spoil them.

Love isn't indulgence. Love grows and is kept strong by good-natured discipline.

Since another reader has written me "tell us more about Marianne." I do it now gladly.

As you know she is a playground supervisor for the summer months. Last night when I looked out the front door for the fifth time to see if she was in sight at 7 p.m. (she is due at 6:15) I found four little boys hiding behind the wall of our front porch. In a stage whisper they said to me "Supe'll be here in a minute—don't tell her where we are." Sure enough, "Supe" rounded the corner just then with a coterie of three little girls —two holding her hands, the third her briefcase. When she reached the steps the four hiders jumped out at her and she showed the proper amount of surprise, and patted their little heads. They ran off shouting "See you tomorrow Supe."

They know inherently that she loves them. Children cant be fooled.

This correspondence friendship I have with you has its disadvantages. For instance I would dearly love to have invited you to the most enthusiastic of all pet shows ever staged—last Friday afternoon.

I was a judge. The newspaper photographer was pressed into service too—also to award the prizes. He took it all in his stride.

There was a beautiful white and liver-spotted St. Bernard. For contrast we had an orange and green striped snail.

We had every type of mutt dog, and some beautiful cats and kittens.

We needed Solomon to choose the winners, but the children showed remarkably good sportsmanship. Through it all Supe was stopping dog fights, soothing apprehensive cat owners and carrying a wildly waving 5-inch turtle gingerly by the shell which belonged to a four-year-old boy who was afraid of his own pet.

Pardon me. No room for recipes.

Fashion Offering Double Silhouette For College Wear

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Almost every college girl wants to achieve, this autumn, a casual yet well-groomed look. She'll find help in the new clothes designed for campus wear. In them, there are two distinct silhouettes: the one full-skirted, the other built around the over-blouse top and the straight skirt.

The sweater look is here again, this time in shaped-and-trimmed casual types, many with a turtle neck. The twin sweater plan is back in the form of styled cardigans to pair with sleeveless or halter tops.

The very full, new skirts are worn with short-cropped jackets that have bulk. But where the new over-blouse appears, and it's seen often, it is worn with a straight skirt to set off the fullness. The over-blouse is worn boxy or belted but either way, it looks nothing like the old shirttail of past popularity.

Gray flannels are back in the classroom, of course, and they're joined by yarn-dye brown. Black corduroy and monotone tweeds, as well as poodle-cloth novelties, are part of campus life.

Stoles, bigger than ever this autumn, go to college. An ensemble made up of skirt, sweater and stole has brown-and-rust checked skirt and a stole in rayon-and-wool. Sweater is heather tan, short-sleeved and slip-on. This Lampl-designed trio is budget-priced.

There are many simple, uncluttered wool dresses for the college girl and Lampl does one in black and sparks it with kelly. Sleeves are short, skirt is straight. There are four tiny rhinestone buttons to twinkle at the V-neckline.

A gun-club check acetate-and-rayon suit, again budget-priced, is given a bloused and belted jacket by this same designer. The jacket buttons from a small wing collar to the hemline; skirt lines are straight for contrast.

NEW STYLING has brought renewed interest in garter belts, especially among slim young things who, as a rule, disdain every thought of any such garment. Nylon lace front panel and garters entirely covered with ruffled ribbons done in white and blue, makes a pretty enough little number.

BIG PROMOTIONS are already under way for back-to-college clothes, which, together with the accessories, are smarter and more interesting than ever. A campus delight should be a handbag of blue calf, in a long cylinder shape, with a turtleneck top of red wool-knit.

FEMININE CURVES have come back to the campus. The boyish look has vanished. Co-ordinated separates left) are brown-and-rust checked skirt and stole worn with short-sleeved slip-on sweater in heather tan. Worsted jersey dress (centre) has simple, uncluttered lines. Suit (right) in gun club check has bloused, belted jacket and straight skirt. Checks are red-and-black.

Mary B. Shannon Marries Bernard Doyle

MARMORA, Aug. 13 (ENS)—Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, decorated with gladioli, dahlias and phlox, was the setting for a pretty wedding Saturday of Mary Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shannon, and Bernard Walter Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, all of Marmora township. The ceremony was performed and the nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. J. A. O'Neill. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Joseph Murray and Mrs. Hugh Brady sang "Mother at Thy feet is Kneeling," Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

Given in marriage by her brother, Clarence Shannon, the bride was in a gown of white satin fashioned on princess lines with long sleeves ending in points over the wrists, the skirt with hand ruffles edged with lace at the hips. Her shoulder length veil of silk net and lace was held in place by a hand-beaded tiara and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Joan Shannon, maid of honor, and Miss Lucy Shannon, bridesmaid, were both sisters of the bride. They were identically dressed in gowns of white nylon with shoulder ruffles and wide sashes with bow at back. They wore tiaras of white nylon and their bouquests were of yellow roses.

Patrick Shannon, brother of the bride, was groomsman, and the ushers were Donald Shannon, Jr., and William Doyle.

A wedding breakfast was served in the Sacred Heart hall to the immediate relatives, the caterers being Catholic Women's League members. Later a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where her mother received, wearing a gown of grey crepe, black velevet hat and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore taupe crepe, navy hat and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle left on a trip to Niagara Falls and New York State, the bride travelling in a pink crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. They will live in Marmora.

Guests were present from Rochester, NY, Toronto, Peterborough, Belleville, Read, Lindsay and Campbellford.

Couple Honored 10th Anniversary

BENSFORT, Aug. 13 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. William Lackey celebrated on Sunday their tenth wedding anniversary. On Saturday evening they were pleasantly surprised by guests including Mr. and Mrs. Ewart King and family, Miss Clara King, Mrs. Jeff Morton of Plainville; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Westington, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Westington, and William. A pleasant social evening was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gay of Ottawa were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood. Other callers included Mr. and Mrs. C. Emberson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emberson of Peterborough.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"And now, if the guard will give us his keys, we will complete the act!"

DOROTHY DIX

Parents In Middle Age Must Consider Their Own Needs

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My daughter, in another state, has an incurably afflicted child. Her husband has a very fine job, and their entire financial situation is much better than ours. Yet she claims that we should help them bear the expenses incurred in the care of their sick child. If they really needed the money, or if every cent we had could heal the little one, I would most gladly give it, but our circumstances are extremely modest while she is quite well-off. I feel that we should save what few dollars we have against a possible illness, or lay-off, of my husband. My daughter deeply resents my attitude, and almost completely ignores me — never sending a gift, or card or ever inviting us to her house. Am I right in witholding aid from her?

RUTH.

Dorothy Dix

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your daughter's character, judging from the details of your letter which space precludes publishing in its entirety, is essentially a selfish one.

Would She Help You?

If you or her father needed help in time of sickness or unemployment, it is very doubtful if it would be forthcoming from her. Since her own financial position is adequate for the care of her child, there is certainly no necessity for you to give financial assistance.

Better save what you have. Handing it over will earn you no thanks, and assuredly no return in kind should you be in want.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Is it asking too much to want my husband-to-be to know about the little social graces? I am engaged to a good man who has a few rough edges which he apparently has no desire to smooth off, believing a knowledge of such etiquette unnecessary. After several years of subtle aggression, he now helps me off a streetcar, precedes we down a theatre aisle or to a dining table when there isn't an attendant present, and remembers to come to his feet when a lady first enters a room. I am trying to have him observe other gestures which he considers superfluous, He has been quite good natured about following my suggestions but he does a thing correctly once then lapses into his former forgetfulness. How can I go about asking him to be more observant of such rules?

NANCY.

ANSWER: You are handling a delicate matter in an extremely tactful and wise manner and I can only suggest that you continue in the same way. It may take a while but your fiance's desire to please will soon overcome his reluctance to observe the social amenities. You are wise indeed to make the changes you deem necessary in him before marriage, rather than after. This little educational program is much easier now than it would be later.

Rules of etiquette have come into being after all, simply because they are the considerate way of doing things—and usually the simplest. After following these rules for a time, your fiance will see the reason for them, if he is intelligent, and will make them part of his way of living.

Man is a proud creature, and easily hurt. Changes in him must be made very carefully, but female wisdom can work wonders. Carry on your program subtly, delicately, and I think you are assured of ultimate success.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Last year I was a freshman in a university, and met a very nice young man who is training for the mission field. During the time I spent at school we became very good friends. By the end of the term I couldn't help wanting him to think of our relationship as more than a friendly one. He is so reserved that it is impossible for me to make any advances whatever. How can I make him realize how I feel?

E.L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think you're rushing things a little, E.L. This young man is embarking on a very serious and vital career and probably isn't thinking of romance at the moment. Since you have known him a year at most, and are still young, you have time to continue the friendship on its present basis and let events take their course. A gentle prod, of course, would not be amiss, but avoid making your feelings too apparent until the young man evinces the same symptoms.

Shower For Bride

MARMORA, Aug. 13 (ENS)—A miscellaneous shower was held in Deloro hall on Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. George M. Dillon (nee Margaret Anne Wiley). The evening was spent in dancing with refreshments being served. The newlyweds received a number of useful gifts.

Ex-Roosevelt Secretary Stephen Early Dies In US

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP).—Stephen T. Early, who served as press secretary to Franklin D. Roosevelt all the 12 years of the New Deal, died Saturday of a heart attack at the age of 61.

President Truman said Early gave the best years of his life to the public service. In recent years Early had been vice-president of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co. In the days before the First World War, Early was one of a quartette of Associated Press men who covered the state-war-navy beat. The others were the late Edwin M. Hood, Kirke L. Simpson, now retired, and Hjalmar Baukhage, radio commentator.

Met Roosevelt

It was then that Early became acquainted with Roosevelt, who was assistant secretary of the navy.

In the First World War, Early became machine gunner and was a captain when the war ended.

Later, after he had rejoined The Associated Press, Early scored a notable beat on the death of President Harding at San Francisco.

He went to the White House in 1933 and it fell to him to announce the bank closings of the early Roosevelt days, various big New Deal projects, the attack on Pearl Harbor, Winston Churchill's visit to America in 1941 and Roosevelt's death.

He stayed on for a while at President Truman's request, to smooth the way for Truman.

Later, in 1949, Truman drafted him for temporary duty as deputy defense secretary.

Early was born Aug. 27, 1889, at Crozet, Va.

Find TNT Cache Area Roped Off

MORGAN, N. J., Aug. 13 — (AP) A small area of this community was roped off today awaiting arrival of army demolition experts to remove a chache of TNT found at the scene of the 1918 munitions plant disaster.

Seven of the eight boxes of the explosive were uncovered by a bulldozer Saturday in a vacant lot. Police said there may be more underneath the visible ones.

The cache was on the site where the T. A. Gillespie Shell Loading plant exploded Oct. 4, 1918. The exact death toll never was determined, but the figure was set at between 60 and 90. Property damage was set at $21,000,000.

Asks Divorce Politician Killed By Wife

ORLEANS, France, Aug. 13 — (AP).—A promising young French politician who only 24 hours earlier won a post in the new French cabinet was shot to death by his wife Sunday after he told her he wanted a divorce.

She was formally charged with murder Sunday night.

He was Pierre Chevallier, 42, who was named secretary of state for technical education, youth and sports in the cabinet of Premier Rene Pleven. Police said his wife, Yvonne, confessed to firing five shots from a revolver that killed him.

Chevallier was mayor of war-devastated Orleans and a hero of the French resistance movement during the Second World War. In private life he was a physician. She was a former midwife.

On Bad Terms

Friends said the couple had been on bad terms, and that she rarely accompanied him on his frequent trips to Paris made necessary because he was a deputy in the National Assembly.

Chevallier had been in Paris for the last week as the cabinet crisis neared its end. She telephoned him several times Saturday and reproached him for failing to come home.

Early Sunday moroning he left Paris in an official ministry car. At 9 a.m. the car pulled up outside his home here. He told the chauffeur to wait while he went inside to change his clothes.

A quarrel ensued. Chavellier told his wife he wanted a divorce. She drew the revolver and fired five times.

20 Engineers Go To Britain To Begin Special Courses

When the Scythia and the Empress of Scotland sail from Quebec on September 5 and 7 they will each have on board about a score of young Canadian engineers of outstanding promise, on their way to the U.K. for a 2-year course of advanced study and specialised experience. Several of the men will be taking their wives and one or two children will also be included in the party.

These engineers are the first holders of Athlone Fellowships. They will be heading for a variety of destinations all over the U.K., each of them to undertake a programme designed to provide for his particular requirements and interests. Some will be at universities or research establishments, some at leading industrial concerns, while others will divide their time between the two.

Before they disperse and get their noses to the grindstone, the Athlone Fellows will foregather in London to get acquainted with each other and with the authorities who will supervise their work and welfare. They will also have an opportunity of seeing a little of the Festival of Britain and the sights of London.

After Former Governor- General

The Fellowships were named after the Earl of Athlone who was Governor-General of Canada from 1935-45. Up to 38 Fellowships will be awarded every year. The aim is to provide a period of training and experience in Britain which will not only enhance the graduates' qualifications but will equip them with a knowledge of the products, standards and the potentialities of Britain's engineering industry. Emphasis is to be on industrial training and research but further academic training will not be ruled out. Although candidates are mainly chosen from among promising students in their final year, a number of places are reserved each year for older graduates who are already serving in industry, age being normally limited to 27 years.

Return passage to the U.K. is paid as well as the cost of university and college tuition and other fees. Fellows also receive a maintenance allowance of approximately $19 a week.

The only condition attached is the understanding that at the end of two years the Fellows will come back to Canada bringing with them a knowledge of British life and the engineering industry in the U.K.

The 38 1951 Athlone Fellows are graduates of universities in all parts of Canada. Of the Ontario schools, four are from Queen's and 10 from the University of Toronto.

Ancona Inhabitants Flee Homes In Panic

ROME, Aug. 13 (AP)—Earthquakes again shook Central and Southern Italy Sunday night and sent inhabitants of the port city of Ancona scurrying in panic from their homes.

Fearful inhabitants rushed for open, public squares. There were no reports of injuries or damage.

Quakes were also reported from Florence, Modena and Leghorn at about the same time but no damage was reported.

Stage Star Dies

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Arthur Margetson, 54, star of the Lond and New York stages, died here today. He went on the stage when he was 20. His shows included "Life With Father" in New York in 1944 in which he played the father.

Australia Plans To Use UK Rifle

BRISBANE, Australia, Aug. 13 —(Reuters)— The new British .280-calibre rifle— subject of recent Atlantic Pact Standarization talks— will be used by the Australian army, Army Minister Josiah Francis announced today.

Francis told trainees at a camp near here that the Australian government was co-operating with Britain in the devolopment of the rifle.

The United States and Canada, who are seeking to standarize Atlantic Pact weapons, have approved a .300-calibre rifle.

The American, British, Canadian and French Defence Ministers met in Washington early this month to try and end the "battle of the rifles." They failed to make any decision.

Defence Minister Emanuel Shinwell of Britain said later Britain will go ahead with "pre-production" plans for the new rifle. The British government feels that the .280 is the most suitable weapon to meet its requirements, he said.

Bus Line President J. Hollinger Dies

MIDLAND, Aug. 13 (CP) — John Hollinger, 69, president of Hollinger Bus Lines and deputy-reeve of East York township died here Sunday night. He had suffered a stroke on his birthday Aug. 2.

Mr. Hollinger had been a member of East York's Council for more than 10 years.

He is survived by his widow; three daughters, Mrs. John MacRory of Toronto, Mrs. Ford Dixon of Sudbury, and Mrs. James Vipond of Toronto; and one son, John B. Hollinger of Toronto.

Navy Officer Suspended

BATH, England, Aug. 13 — (Reuters)— A senior British admiralty armament supply officer, Malcolm M. McGrath, who joined the Communist party last month, said today he has been suspended from duty.

McGrath added that he is awaiting re-posting to "an innocuous position."

"I joined the Communist party feeling that this was the only party with any constructive policy for peace and found that my work in the admiralty, supplying arms for use against Chinese and Koreans was incompatible with my views," he stated.

Drive-In Service

BOSTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — A Drive-in Theatre Sunday drew a congregation of 300 as the Rev. Dr. Ernest Lyman Mills inaugurated a Sunday worship series. The parishioners heard the sermon over the car speakers which normally carry the dialogue and music of the movies.

Ninety Descendants Attend Family Reunion

BANCROFT, Aug. 13 (ENS)— Approximately 90 descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Rutledge, pioneer settlers of Monteagle Township, attended the third annual family reunion held in Bancroft Canadian Legion hall.

Robert Jenkins of Bancroft acted as master of ceremonies, and brief appropriate speeches were made by Charles McKibbon, Dalton Dorrell and Emerson McKibbon. The family gathering, at which all the members of the immediate family were present, took the form of noon and evening meals and visits to friends and relatives.

The guest speaker, the Rev. Thos. Wallace, a member of the family for 40 years, spoke briefly, touching the early history of the Rutledge family in the Bancroft area. He also led the gathering in singing several songs.

Present were the following: Mr. and Mrs. D. Rutledge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rutledge and family, Mrs. A. Coe and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. McNally (Margaret), Colborne; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wright (Isabel) and Pearl and Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. D. Dorrell and family and Mr. J. Marlome, Blackstock; Mr. and Mrs. W. PEAR CHERRY FANTASY Refreshing, festive Jell-O desserts like this take only minutes to prepare! And their tempting flavor like freshly-picked fruits, lingers — to the last delicious spoonful!

1 package Cherry Jell-O
2 cups hot water
½ cup sliced, canned pears
1 cup canned, pitted cherries

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water — or use mixture of hot water and syrup from the fruits. Arrange pear slices in a fancy mould and pour in Jell-O, being careful not to disarrange pears. Add cherries; chill. Garnish with whipped cream, sprinkled with nuts. 6 servings. Just as delicious with Raspberry or Strawberry Jell-O. Keep all 7 Jell-O Jelly Powders on the pantry shelf.

5 Tangy, Inviting Treats to budget your time and money!

PEACH BAVARIAN CREAM

Dissolve 1 package Lemon or Orange Jell-O in 1 cup hot water. (Both are made with pure fruit flavor from real fruit). Add 1 cup peach juice. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in ½ cup whipping cream, whipped only until thick and shiny. Add 1 cup crushed, sweetened, canned peaches and 2 to 3 drops almond extract. Chill. Garnish with peach slices. 6 servings.

SURPRISE MAPLE JELL-O

Dissolve 1 package Lemon Jell-O (its flavor is pure fruit from real lemons) in 1 cup hot water. Jell-O dissolves in water that's hot, not boiling—retains more flavor. Add 1 cup maple syrup. When slightly thickened fold in ½ cup chopped walnuts. Pile in sherbet glasses. Chill. Serve with whipped cream. 4 servings.

APPLE LIME FLUFF

So tangy — so tempting — because the flavor of Lime Jell-O is pure fruit from real limes. Prepare Lime Jell-O; when slightly thickened place in bowl of ice water, whip frothy. Add 1 cup thick, strained applesauce. Pour into serving glasses. Chill. Quick, thrifty —good with cream or chilled custard sauce. 8 servings.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT SALAD

The flavor of Lemon Jell-O is pure fruit from real lemons—delicious secret behind the tempting tang of this sparkling fruit salad! Dissolve 1 package Lemon Jell-O in 1⅔ cups hot water; add ½ tsp. vinegar, 2 tbsps. lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in sections of one orange, ½ tsp. grated lemon rind, 1 tsp. grated orange rind, 1 tbsp. diced pimiento, ⅔ cup diced avocado or pear. Chill in individual moulds. 4 to 6 servings.

Marsdens Visit Christian Island

ROSENEATH, Aug. 13—(ENS)—The members of the Indian Reserve on Christian Island, in Georgian Bay, entertained guests from Alderville reserve when they visited the Island during the weekend.

Robert Marsden Sr., 77, left Alderville approximately 50 years ago and had his membership transferred from the Indian Reserve at Alderville to the Christian Island Reserve.

In those 50 years Mr. Marsden has taken an active interest in the welfare and progress of his people there. He had the honor of being Chief of the Reserve, bandmaster, Sunday school superintendent. He is still the owner and operator of the only store on the island, assisted by his son, Mr. Percy Marsden. He is also postmaster and choir leader and his son is organist of the church.

Last week he extended an invitation to his relatives in Alderville to visit him. Nineteen accepted the invitation, going by car on Thursday to Cedar Point, there signalling by spotlight from the shore to the island. They were met by the government cabin cruiser and taken across the five miles of water.

Thursday evening the people of the island held a reception and dance in the community hall.

On Friday the cabin cruiser was again at their disposal and they were taken on a cruise of Georgian Bay.

A family get-together was held at the home of Mr. Marsden. Included at this party were: Ex-chief Norman and Mrs. Marsden, Alderville; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Marsden, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Marsden and son, Darrell of Akron, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith (Jane Marsden) and daughters, Carole and Roberta, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Verne Marsden, Marilyn and Glenn, Miss Elgie Marsden, Mrs. Ernest Crowe, Mr. Alvin Hagaar and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crowe, Alderville; Mr. Robert Marsden St., Mr. Percy Marsden, Misses Della, Eleanor, Berniece, Effie and Joyce Marsden, Christian Island.

The people of Alderville returning home on Saturday spoke of the progress that had been made on the Island, of their saw mill, cutting lumber for their new homes and the new hospital that is being built. The pupils of the school are now being taught English, where only a few years ago the Chippewa language was taught. The population of the island is approximately 350 persons.

Ecuador Charges Peru With Violence

QUITO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Ecuador today repeated her claim to disputed territory on the Peruvian border and declared alleged "use of violence" by Peru would not deter her from this goal.

A foreign office communique said Sunday night Ecuador protested "before the Americas" against acts of aggression already consummated by Peru and new threats of aggression.

The Ecuadorean government formally has charged that Peruvian troops along the frontiers between the two countries launched a series of attacks on two of Ecuador's outposts last week.

(Peru has denied the charges, asserting that drunken Ecuadorean troops had touched off the clashes by firing on Peruvian outposts in the Chinchipe area).

Four Golfers Lead Play For City Honors

Competition for the city golf championship opened Sunday at the Kawartha Club and will be concluded next weekend at the Peterborough Club, low gross for 18 holes each declaring the winner.

Les Reid, winner last year, is tied now with Stan Payne with 77, while J. Inglis and Jack Condon lead the Kawartha Club with 78 each. The Kawartha Club scores:

Seymour East WI Plans Joint Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13 — (ENS) — The regular monthly meeting of the Seymour East Women's Institute was held in the Institute hall at Menie with an attendance of 28. In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. A. Hume, the first vice-president, Mrs. Locke presided.

An invitation is to be sent to the Wellman's and Rylstone Institutes, to visit the Seymour East group on Friday evening, Aug. 17.

Mrs. Bruce Twigg, convener for citizen and education presided for the following program: Instrumental numbers, Ruth Gibson; reading, Mrs. George Craighead; instrumental numbers, Bernice Hagerman.

Mrs. Ruth Thompson of Campbellford gave an address on Education, in which she outlined the new trends in education and how it effects your child and mine.

Mrs. B. Twigg conducted a contest in which members took part.

The Mary Stewart Collect was read in unison, after which the roll call was answered. At the close of the meeting, the ladies enjoyed a social period.

Election Sept. 1

WELLINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Nationalist Party will make its bid for re-election in New Zealand Sept. 1 on a platform pledging tax reductions, higher social-security benefits and a cut in the cost of living. This was announced today by Prime Minister Sidney Holland, head of the party that in November, 1949, turned out the Labor government which had ruled for 14 years.

Greeting the Arab official is the Duke of Gloucester (left). The Emir Feisal spent more than an hour with Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison discussing political, strategic and economic problems.

Berlin Church Facing Problem In Old Treaty

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN—(AP)—An old treaty with Germany has popped up to plague the Roman Catholic Church in Berlin. Prelates now are pondering the problem and the final decision wil probably be made by the Vatican itself.

The question is: To whom shall the church in Berlin swear loyalty in temporal things?

This goes back to the Prussian concordat of 1929 and the treaty reached with Hitler in 1933. Under its terms, the Bishop of Berlin was permitted to make his own appointments and was generally sovereign in matter of faith and morals. In exchange, he swore loyalty to the "Reich" on political questions which did not run counter to Catholic principles.

The death of Count Konrad Cardinal Von Preysing, Bishop of Berlin, last December, and the new appointment of Bishop Wilhelm Weskamm as his successor has raised the issue.

Assumes Responsibility

In order to fully take on his duties in both East and West Berlin and parts of East Germany, Bishop Weskamm must formally assume responsibility for the properties involved.

Under the old concordat, this requires him to swear a loyalty oath on temporal questions. What the church has not yet figured out is: To whom shall he swear it? Communist East Germany or Democratic West Germany?

Even though the Reich is a thing of the past and there are two Germanys now, church circles regard the old concordat as a binding document. It represents the sorts of terms the church consistently tries to obtain—sovereignty in faith and morals and respect for government on other questions.

Signed By Pope

Cardinal Pacelli, who signed the concordat 18 years ago when he was Papal Nunico to Germany, now is Pope Pius XII. No one knows better than he the importance and intent of the German treaty.

On the other hand, His Holiness has resisted on many occasions in recent years any agreement with Communist governments that would hamstring the church.

The Vatican's most recent refusal to bargain was a flat rejection of Marshal Tito's offer to release Archbishop Stepinac if he would leave Yugoslavia. Stepinac is serving 18 years on charges of collaborating with the Nazis. The Vatican maintained that the Archbishop would want to stay with his people and that it had never recognized the justice of his trial and sentence.

The Berlin Bishopric is one of the more delicate assignments in Roman Catholicism in these times. Some 200,000 Catholics living under Soviet occupation and Communist government are included in the Berlin diocese.

Cathedral In East Berlin

The cathedral, official seat of the diocese, stands in the Soviet sector of Berlin. Other church properties are maintained in the East zone states of Brandenburg and Mecklenburg.

The late cardinal lived in West Berlin and his private palace has also now become the home of the new bishop.

Despite the living arrangements, the Roman Catholics have soft-pedalled their West Berlin associations, thereby avoiding the kind of argument the powerful Protestant church experienced with the Eastern Communists. The Protestants were sharply assailed from the East for directing church affairs from West Berlin.

Obituary

GERALD HUBERT YOUNG

Gerald Hubert (Gerry) Young, 38, of 434 Mark St., died Sunday in hospital after an illness of three months. He was the son of the late Francis Gerald Young and Ida Ellen Kearney.

Born in Peterborough, he lived a lifetime here. He attended St. Peter's Cathedral, and was educated at St. Peter's elementary and high schools. Recently he was a stock clerk with Kesco Electric, and before that worked at the Outboard Marine Co. for three years.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Florence M. Bristow, one son, Francis Gerald and one stepdaughter, Mary Elizabeth Bristow. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Thomas McKenna (Dorothy), Miss Rita Young, and one brother, Raymond, all of Peterborough.

Requiem mass will be said on Wednesday at 9 a.m. in St. Peter's Cathedral and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Young's Point.

Mrs. W. J. Puffer

NORWOOD, Aug. 13 (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. William John Puffer was held Friday afternoon from the McConnell-Warner funeral home with service at the United Church at 2 p.m. The Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood Presbyterian Church officiated.

During the service Mrs. Charles Black and Mrs. Russell Gardner sang "I Come To The Garden Alone." Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mrs. Puffer died Wednesday at her cottage, Round Lake, after a lingering illness. Pallbearers were H. P. Kempt, Ralph and Cecil Cuthbertson, Rod Webb, Armar Weir, Daniel Rooney.

Friends and relatives were present from Toronto, Hamilton, Lindsay, Peterborough, Havelock, Stony Lake and Norwood.

Havelock Man Principal Of Red Lake School

HAVELOCK, Aug. 13—(ENS)—L. Hamel Cooke, BSc, B Paed, Havelock, went to Red Lake in 1949 to open a high school in that community where there was at that time a grade B continuation school of 39 students. Mr. Cooke organized a high school which now has 84 students and the following results show that he has established a record to be proud of.

With only two assistants, Mr. Cooke has done the full work of five grades. This year he has taught six upper school subjects and there have been no failures in any of them or in the other two subjects taken by another teacher. One student is going to the Royal Military College in September and another to Manitoba University.

A new school with accommodation for 150 students is about to be built. In these two years enough money was made by a commencement exercises to buy the school a $300 piano. Mr. Cooke has also obtained a gift from the local MP of a $250 Encyclopaedia Britannica and from other sources a gold plated challenge shield, two curling trophies of the largest size and about 60 for field day and curling bonspiels. He was notified in June that the Red Lake Branch of the Canadian Legion will give scholarships every year of $60 and $40 to the two best upper school students. Red Lake high school is the farthest north of any school in Ontario, being just as far north as the southern tip of James Bay.

60 Railmen Held In Court Martial

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 13 (AP)—The arrest of 80 railwaymen in Cordoba Province on charges of plotting to sabotage train service was disclosed Sunday.

Sixty of the railwaymen will be courtmartialled under President Juan Peron's decree militarizing the railroads and all their personnel. The other 20 will be tried under a law for the security of the state.

Other railwaymen as well as politicians and students, were arrested during the weekend. Fifteen Socialists and former Conservative Congressman Eduardo Diaz Colodero were arrested Friday night.

Hundreds of high school students at La Plata were released by police after a brief detention when they demonstrated against a recent manifesto by their teachers supporting Peron and his wife, Eva, for President and Vice-President in the Nov. 11 elections.

The Cordoba railwaymen were chargde with plotting to disrupt services n iconnection with their colleagues in Buenos Aires Province who failed to report for work Sept. 1.

Ferry Strike Strands New York Commuters

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP) — "Sick" crew members of Staten Island ferries decided today to return to work, promising relief for the milling thousands of commuters stranded at the waterside on their way to work.

The union said the crew members, who had reported sick in a demand for more pay, would be back on their jobs by noon. The committee set noon Friday as a deadline for the city to meet its pay demands.

Only two of the line's six ferries were in service to handle an estimated 38,000 commuters on the famed run known as the world's best five-cent boat trip.

The two ferries, carrying from 2,000 to 3,000 passengers each on the half-hour run to the sky-scrapered battery, could handle about 9,000 commuters an hour.

Cavan Township To Ban Deer Hunting

MILLBROOK, Aug. 13.—(ENS)—Council of Cavan intends to restrict the shooting of deer within its municipal boundaries.

Municipal clerk P. I. Bentley was instructed at the council meeting last Thursday to prepare a bylaw setting out this prohibition.

The less the use of guns is permitted in the township, the safer for everybody. That is the general and also the official sentiment. Forty or fifty miles north of Cavan, where hunting brings a fall invasion of men with guns, the circumstances probably warrant the casual conditions that prevail. Cavan rarely sees deer, anyway, except an odd one that strays in from the north.

Traffic has greatly increased in the township in recent years, and deer hunters with cars can shift around so fast these days that the hazard of gunfire is greater than ever.

Safety of the Cavan people is the main purpose in authorizing this bylaw.

The clerk introduced a bylaw to have the voters lists prepared alphabetically in polling subdivisions. It was given three readings.

Boundary Road

Cavan agreement with North Monaghan regarding the improvement and costs of the boundary road was held up for further amendment. The two municipalities have been considering this proposal for some years. Monaghan recently gave its assent to the terms, but Cavan has instructed its clerk to return the agreement to Monaghan council "requesting suggested changes."

Reeve Olan reported that the council met in committee with Hope council on the Hope boundary to changing road. It was agreed to leave the matter of cutting down the hill in abeyance for the present, awaiting developments on highway contract. There was a mutual agreement re having the brush cut on both sides of the road on boundary.

A deputation composed of George Hooton, Neil Millen, W. Turner and Mr. Carew requested the council to improve the 13th line and "make it passable." A mot oibn'mcamoHW-cmfwypppuo motion by Councillors Bradburn and McKnight appointed the reeve, deupty and road superintndent to meet District Engineer E. Marston and carry out any action suggested by him.

Reeve Delbert Olan and the clerk were appointed delegates to the Ontario Municipal Convention at Niagara Falls Sept. 17-19. The following accounts were passed for payment:

Docon Telephones Ltd., rental and toll	$ 3.95
Treas.: roads payroll and voucher No. 7	1,910.12

Suspends Divorce

CUERNAVACA, Mexico, Aug. 13 (AP)—Dime store heiress Barbara Hutton must remain a princess—at least until Aug. 27. Judge Alfredo Giullen Saturday suspended her divorce from Lithuanian Prince Igor Troubetskoy until that date. The court will grant a hearing at that time to test whether the decree violates the Mexican constitution because Miss Hutton lived in Mexico only a month. Troubetskoy, the heiress' fourth husband, is fighting the divorce on the ground that she never establish residence in Mexico.

Royals Crush Springfield In Twin Bill

By The Associated Press.

Montreal Royals, breezing along 14 games ahead of the field, probably would be even farther ahead in the International League pennant race if George (Shot Gun) Shuba had been available all season.

Shuba, out for a spell with a leg injury, is smashing the ball at a terrific pace lately. In his last six games he has belted six home runs to increase his output to 17.

Shuba led the Royals to a doubleheader triumph over Springfield Cubs Sunday. The Royal outfielder drove home four runs on a pair of homers and two singles in the 10-2 opening-game triumph and scored a single and double in the 6-0 second game victory.

Chris Van Cuyk limited the Cubs to give hits and fanned eight to post his ninth victory against one defeat in the opener. Tom Lasorda blanked the Cubs on three hits in the nightcap. The Cubs have dropped 20 straight to the Royals in Montreal in the last two seasons.

Take Doubleheader

The runner-up Rochester Red Wings took a twin bill from Syracuse Chiefs 6-5 and 4-3 to sweep a six-game series. Eighth-inning homers by Lou Ortiz and Jay Van Noy decided the opener. Johnny Blatnik drove home two runs on three singles to lead the Wings to victory in the second game.

Howie Moss belted a two-run homer in the eighth inning to spark Baltimore Orioles to a 6-5 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs. Les Fleming and rookie Charley White homered for the Leafs.

Buffalo Bisons and Ottawa Giants split a doubleheader. The Giants took the opener 14-6, scoring nine runs after two were out in the eighth inning. Dutch Mele's three-run pinch-hit double was the big blow. Moe Savransky turned back the Giants 5-1 on five hits in the second game.

Have Tarpaulin CRU Prepared For Bad Weather

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (CP).—The Canadian Rugby Union stands ready to battle the weather for any future Grey Cup game.

The CRU, mindful of the outcry over the sorry condition of the Varsity Stadium after a snow and rain storm on the eve of last year's east-west football final, has taken the steps to ward off future criticism on that score.

It has ordered a tarpaulin costing $11,500 to cover the field and it hopes now that this action and the plan they are working on to improve the sale of its 30-per-cent share of Grey Cup tickets will result in kinder words in the future.

The CRU, maligned from one end of the country to the other over these two matters, announced after a closed executive meeting Saturday that a three-man committee of its top members has been appointed to go into the ticket problem and that the tarpaulin would be used "exclusively" for the Grey Cup game.

Must Pay Rental

Later T. H. C. Alison, past president of the CRU and acting secretary since the death of Percy Robinson, clarified the announcement about the tarpaulin. He said the senior leagues—the Big Four western Canada, Intercollegiate and Ontario Union—would be able to obtain use of the tarpaulin providing they were willing to pay a rental fee and any other expenses.

The committee named to iron out the past ticket difficulties will meet in Toronto Oct. 12 and also arrange final details of the Grey Cup game Nov. 24. The committee said it will aim at finding some method, although they realize it is a "near hopeless" task, to prevent persons who have not supported football during the entire season from getting Grey Cup tickets.

The committee expressed dissatisfaction with the mail-order policy which the CRU adopted last year to sell its share of tickets.

Besides the CRU the leagues whose teams competed in the east-west final each got 30 per cent of the tickets. The other 10 per cent went to the league whose team lost out in the eastern Canada final.

The committee—composed of president Myer Insky of Montreal, first vice-president Arthur U. Chipman of Winnipeg and Alison—indicated it will not change the amount of tickets allocated to these three leagues.

This group also hopes to meet with Bert Bell, commission of the National Football League in the United States, in an attempt to improve relations between American and Canadian club owners. Relations between the owners have become strained over the raiding of US clubs for crowd-drawing imports.

Insky was authorized to invite Bell to attend the Oct. 12 meeting to work out a satisfactory arrangement to stop the present feud.

Paper Blades

LONDON — (CP) — A patent issued here is expected to save perhaps 80 per cent of steel used in razor blades. The patent is for a blade consisting merely of a steel cutting edge glued between two pieces of stiff paper.

Marlene Stewart 17, Captures Golf Crown In Thrilling Match

By W. R. WHEATLEY.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., (AP)—A sturdy little Ontario girl who marches defiantly about the course with arms semi-akimbo and a dead-pan face, is Canada's newest ladies' open golf champion.

Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old youngster from Fonthill, Ont., upset pre-tournament calculations Saturday with a thrilling one-up victory over Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn.

Grace, twice winner of the title, was the last of six American girls left in the championship. Her gallant bid in the last few holes of the 36-hole medal-play final fell short.

Little Marlene, who won the Canadian ladies' close title a week ago, withstood the 23-year-old Connecticut girl's withering onslaught in the final nine like a real champion.

Marlene was tense and keyed up. She twisted and squirmed and kicked one leg over the other in a demonstrative effort to get her putts down. But in her play there was no sign of nervousness or jitters.

Thinks She's Lucky

When it was all over she said: "I was lucky to win. Worried? Sure I was, when Grace sank that eagle at the 33rd. And me with a birdie."

Marlene's 10-foot putt on the 35th green, matching Grace's birdie three, was a masterpiece of accuracy and calmness. It meant a halved hole, and Marlene was still one up.

At the 422-yard par-five 36th both girls took three to get on the green. Marlene was 15 feet from the cup and Grace 10. Marlene putted up confidently—the ball stopped less than a foot away.

Grace had her big chance to send the match to extra holes. Her putt was dead on the line. The gallery of more than 1,000 groaned in sympathy when the ball stopped an inch from the cup. When Marlene sank her ball and tossed her hands into the air, the crowd let out a great yell.

Marlene is the first Canadian girl to hold the open championship since the war. Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles, last year's winner, did not defend her title. Miss Lenczyk was champion in 1947 and 1948.

First Double Since '33

Marlene's feat in winning both the close and open championships marked the first double since Ada MacKenzie of Toronto carried off both titles back in 1933.

Marlene had the overwhelming support of the gallery, and her mother was on hand to see the youngster's sensational achievement. Mrs. Stewart kept far away from Marlene throughout the final, popping up now and again from behind the fairway trees and mingling at times unrecognized into the gallery.

Bob Smith, the pro at Miss Lenczyk's Indian Hill Club in Connecticut, was on hand for the final. He said Grace's tendency to pull her drives at times proved disastrous. But at the same time he paid tribute to Marlene as "a great little tournament player you have here, a girl who reminds me of Patty Berg in the States."

Sensational chipping, once for an eagle, gave Marlene three holes and helped materially in her victory.

HER SECOND national golfing championship in seven days fell to 17-year-old Marlene Stewart, of Lookout Point, Ont., on Saturday. She defeated former US national champion Grace Lenczyk, of Connecticut, one-up. Saturday, she won the Canadian Ladies' Open, and a week before, the Canadian Ladies' Close Title.

US Davis Cuppers End Canadian Hopes

MONTREAL, Aug. 13 (CP).—The United States Davis Cuppers Sunday put the finishing touches on their straight-set victory over Canada as tennis aces Art Larsen and Budge Patty zipped past the outclassed Canadians.

The American's complete conquest of the North American zone final tie followed the same familiar pattern that saw Japan and Mexico vanquished.

Larsen, the US national champ, ridiculed reports that he was off his game when he dumped Montreal's little Henri Rochon, 6-2 6-1, 6-3 in the best singles match of the three-day competition.

Patty, who was called off the bench as a substitute for Dick Savitt, brushed past Vancouver's Lorne Main 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 in the nightcap match before 2,500 fans at the Mount Royal Club.

London Flier Wins Zone Semi-Finals

TORONTO, Aug. 13 — (CP) — Maurice Margaree, representing London, Ont., airport Sunday won the central zone semi-finals of the Webster air trophy trials at nearby Malton airport. Runner-up was Ruth Cripps, representing Leaven Brothers Air Services of Toronto.

Magaree earned 2,288 points of a possible 3,000 and was closely followed by Miss Cripps with 2,257. The tests involved normal manoeuvres and navigation.

Finals for the trophy, considered the highest award for Canadian amateur flyers, will be held in Kingston, Sept. 6 and 7.

Hogan Wins Golf Title

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP). — Little Ben Hogan, the man who dodged a rendezvous with death two years ago, today celebrated his 39th birthday with a $12,500 present as "world" golf tourney champion and recognition as the game's greatest stretch-drive player.

Hogan Sunday virtually duplicated his heroic victory finish in the United States open as he erased a five-stroke deficit on the final round to win by three taps at 15-under-par 273 in the $50,000 "world" at Tam O'Shanter.

Ben's six-under-par 66 demoralized his good fairways friend, Jimmy Demaret—the stout 54-hole leader—who floundered to a closing 74 for second-place 276 and a $7,500 prize.

Deadlocked for third at 277 were Pete Cooper and the top finisher among 10 foreign delegates, South Africa's Bobby Locke who each pocketed $2,750.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The Shamrock V nosed its way into the harbor at New London, Conn., 21 years ago today for what proved to be Sir Thomas Lipton's last challenge for the America's Cup, famous yatching trophy. In that series the American yatch Enterprise won four straight, and Sir Thomas died the following year. Later British challengers were the Endeavour, beaten in 1934, and the Endeavour II, beaten in 1937.

Mimico Whips St. Kitts 17-12, In Second Spot

By The Canadian Press.

The final drive for play-off spots is on in the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association race. None of the teams has more than three games to play.

Nobody can catch Peterborough Petes. With only one game to go they have 44 points, eight ahead of second place Mimico Mountaineers who have three more to play, and 10 ahead of Hamilton, in third place with two games still on schedule.

St. Catharines have 30 points, three games to play and are in fourth spot, 10 ahead of Brampton who also have three more games before they finish. Fergus is sixth with 16 points and one game to go while Toronto rests in last place with 14 points and three more games to play.

In Second Place

Saturday night Mimico Mounties moved into undisputed possession of second place via a 17-12 win over St. Catharines Athletics. The loss practically ended the Athletics' chances of getting past fourth place in the final standings.

Mounties were sparked by their brilliant juvenile graduate, Ken Lytle, who scored five goals and assisted on two. Another graduate from the Mimick minor ranks, Harold Knox, scored three times. Denny Peterson, Scoop Hayes, Ken Dixon, and Buddy Stocks got two each while Don McPheil scored once.

Ted Howe was the Athletics' high man netting four goals. Teammate Bill Nelson got three.

Get Firm Grip

In their Saturday night tussle Brampton Excelsiors got a firm grip on fifth place when they defeated the Thistles 12-5 in a game that, at times, threatened to turn into a wrestling match. Four major penalties were awarded and Thistles' Johnny Lumley got a game penalty for continued fighting in the final quarter.

Don Beatty, 200-pound rookie sharp-shooter fired five goals for the Excelsiors as the Brampton team took an early lead and held it. Gordie Steele netted three for Brampton and Clarke Lyons scored two. Singles went to Ralph Gowland and Al Garbutt.

Harry Kazarian got two for Fergus while Don Campbell, Johnny Lumley and Russ Black each got one.

Marylbone Cricketers Too Strong For T & D

TORONTO, Aug. 13—(CP)—Britain's touring Marylebone Cricket Club defeated a Toronto and district eleven by 188 runs Saturday. The MCC scored 291 for eight wickets declared to Toronto's 93.

The veteran R. W. V. Robins, captain of the visitors, ran up an effortless century, scoring 116. His innings included one six and 14 fours.

B. Christen was the outstanding Toronto bowler, capturing six wickets, five of them cleanbowled, for 87 runs.

Toronto fielded strongly before the lunch interval but fell off during the afternoon, following the illness of captain Alf Pope and an injury to Trevor Thom's hand. Pope was forced to retire and did not take his turn at bat.

The Toronto innings opened promisingly with three of the first four men to bat reaching double figures, topped by W. Wight's 30. G. Mann, with 11 not out, also batted well.

Tiger-Cats Jolt Argos 17-11 In Buffalo Tilt

BUFFALO, Aug. 13 (AP). — Football-hungry Buffalo got its first look at the Canadian brand Sunday. Their reactions prompted promoters of the venture to make plans for a return engagement.

A crowd of 18,146 fans flocked to Civic Stadium to see Hamilton Tiger-Cats jolt the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts 17-11 in a pre-season exhibition game, the first ever to be played under purely Canadian rules on United States soil.

After the game, a spokesman for Buffalo Enterprises said he would try to line up Hamilton and Montreal Alouettes for another pre-season tilt and added that the Buffalo group will make a bid for a franchise in the Interprovincial Football Union—Canada's elite eastern circuit.

Hartness had convincing arguments. His 18,000 crowd for a warmup game exceeded the average attendance at league games in three of the four interprovincial cities. And he estimated that only 8,000 of the total was made up of border-crossing Canadians.

Liked Canadian Game

The Buffalo fans, who haven't seen big-time football since the professional Buffalo Bills called it a day at the end of the 1949 season, appeared to like the speedy pace of the Canadian game.

They watched an alert Hamilton team capitalize on Argonaut errors to run up three touchdowns in the first half Argos rallied after the break, but Tiger-Cats' defences held at the crucial moments.

Veteran end Vince Mazza and newcomers Joe Shinn and Hal Waggoner went over for Hamilton's majors. Shinn, a speedy outside from Miami University, caught five passes for a total gain of 85 yards.

Al Tabor converted one of the touchdowns and kicked a single for the winners.

Rod Smylie and Billy Bass crossed the line for Argos with Joe Krol converting Smylie's try.

Knobby Wirkowski, Argo quarterback from Miami University, was a standout with his bullet passing and tricky ball-handling. His chief rival for the job, Al Dekdebrun, had trouble getting untracked and third-stringer Nick Volpe was benched after making two fumbles that paved the way for Hamilton touchdowns.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The United States Golf Association's executive committee Sunday approved a revised, universal code of golf rules, including elimination of the stymie.

The US body failed to go along with only one regulation in the code drafted last spring by representatives from the United States, Britain, Canada and Australia.

That was the provision for use of the smaller British ball.

The USGA agreed only that the British ball can be used in the US for international competition, such as the Ryder, Walker and Curtis cup matches.

Other rule changes deal mostly with penalty strokes. These were made uniform in that stroke and distance would be charged for all out-of-bounds, lost balls and unplayable lies.

The rules now go to the membership of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, the governing body of British golf, for a vote in September.

At Waterbury, Conn., Mary McNabb, 17-year-old from Tuskegee Institute, established herself on Sunday as the country's fastest woman sprinter by winning the 50 and 100-metre dashes in the United States AAU senior women's track and field championships.

Her time for the 50 was :06.6. She won the 100 in :12.2.

Driver Lou Fageol manhandled the speedboat Slo-Mo-Shun IV to two world speed records on Lake Washington at Seattle Sunday but was whipped by the Slo-Mo-Shun V, driven by Ted Jones, for the Seafair Trophy. Both boats are owned by Stan Sayers of Seattle.

Fageol logged 112.530 miles an hour in the second lap of the second heat and averaged 111.742 for the heat's two laps. The IV thus wiped out two records formerly held by Miss Pepsi of Detroit. These were 107.654 for a lap of five nautical miles and 107.394 for a 10-mile heat in competition.

A brisk cold wind and heavy seas Sunday forced postponement of a mass international swimming race across the English Channel.

Twenty swimmers—13 men and seven women—from 10 countries were due to wade in from the French side early this morning. Among them was Winnie Frances Leuszler of Toronto.

The organizers, the London newspaper Daily Mail, claim they will wait all week if necessary until the weather is right.

At Westbury, NY, Dr. Stanton won his first race of the season Saturday night taking the Denver free-for-all race at Roosevelt raceway in 2:02 2-5.

The 10-year-old gelding, owned and driven by Will (Lindy) Fraser of Forest, Ont., had previously been to the post 10 times without victory.

McIntosh Wins Senior Title

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP).—Russ McIntosh of Bobcaygeon, won the senior men's title at the Ontario open water ski championships held here on Saturday and Sunday.

Six thousand spectators were on hand for the events, although the permanent population of this Lake Huron community 20 miles west of Owen Sound is less than 2,000.

McIntosh ran up a total of 1,400 points by winning the slalom and trick skiing event and placing second in the jumping. He nosed out Charles Blackwell of Owen Sound, 1950 Canadian senior men's champion who had 1,300 points.

Blackwell won the jumping and placed second in the other two events.

Joan Weale of Toronto won the senior women's championship with 1,105 points, edging out Mrs. Norma Gordon of Bobcaygeon, who finished with 1,064.

The junior men's championship, went to Bruce Poole of Bobcaygeon, with 1,400 points.

Lea Marie Rawls of Birmingham, Ala., won the junior women's world's championship with 1,400 points, defeating Carol Ann Duthie of Toronto, who had 1,300.

Car Accidents, Drownings Take 21 Lives At Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With the holiday season still in full swing and hot weather sending thousands of persons in search of coolness at beaches and resorts, 21 fatalities were reported in Eastern Canada during the weekend. A Canadian Press compilation today listed 11 traffic deaths, eight drownings, one fatal and one accidental shooting.

Quebec reported 12 violent Ontario four, Nova Scotia three deaths, all in the Montreal area, and New Brunswick two.

In the Montreal district, Joseph Massie, 1, and Daniel Camerie, 2, were crushed by truck wheels, and Jacques St. Pierre, 6, was struck down by a bus. Fernand Chenier, of Cornwall, Ont., suffered fatal injuries when his father's automobile crashed into a Montreal truck. Albert Lefebvre died of injuries suffered when struck by a car and cyclist Edouard Duplaise, 29, lost his life after a car knocked him from his bike.

Victims of Montreal area drownings were Gordon E. Findlay, 55, and an unidentified companion, who fell overboard from a yacht; Andre Durand, 11, and Leo Beausejour, 15, in separate swimming mishaps; and Mrs. Elo Hutu and Joseph Lapointe, 43, who fell into the St. Lawrence River at separate points.

Collision Death

A car and jeep collision near Port Arthur killed Ulf T. Nystrom, 22, recent immigrant from Sweden, and Amil Frakas, 33, Port Arthur truck driver.

John McPherson, 30, was charged with manslaughter in Toronto after a car killed John Joosten, 8, who came to Canada from Holland with his parents a few weeks ago.

Near Fort Erie, Ont., Donald Dudley, 54-year-old lawyer from Buffalo, NY, collapsed and toppled into Lake Erie from a cabin cruiser. His body was recovered 10 minutes later.

A seaman off the Norwegian freighter Botne was drowned while swimming at Bridgewater, NS. His name was not announced pending notification of relatives.

Guy Coldwell, 58, of Hantsport, NS, was killed at Avonport, NS, when his bicycle collided with a truck.

Cattle buyer Clayton C. Mullen, 43, was accidentally shot at Yarmouth, NS, while trying to kill a cow he couldn't corral.

A truck's plunge over a 250-foot precipice at Edmonston, NB, killed driver Harry Pelletier, 16.

Bryden McInnis, 22, of Napan Bay, NB, was crushed at Minto, NB, when a steel power transformer tower toppled.

Three Disappear From Carnival

SUTTON, Aug. 13—(CP)—The carnival circuit has three fewer hangers-on as of Saturday night.

One—Paul Morand, alias Camille Maraway, alias Paul White, alias George Moran—is in jail at Brapton, charged with theft of a $1,000 public address system.

The other two—Chief Joseph Nelson and Sgt. Edward Boehnert, of the Port Credit police force—have spent most of the last two months travelling around with the show, looking for Morand-Maraway-White-Moran.

The policemen joined the carnival when the PA system vanished from a sound truck at the Credit Valley Lions Club carnival last June. They recovered the booty at a small town in Quebec and got a good description of their man. In plain clothes, they stuck with the show during a swing through Northern Ontario.

They finally spotted their suspect at this town on the south shore of Lake Simcoe. He denied his identity but the officers said a scar on his thumb gave him away.

Nine-Man Party Lands On Ice Cap

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 13—(CP)—A nine-man party of the United States Air Rescue Service was camped on the Greenland Ice Cap today after making the first successful landing of a triphibious aircraft there this weekend.

The plane, first of its kind in history, is a Grumman SA-16 amphimian modified by a skid under the keel and small skis under the wink floats for snow and ice landings.

Typhoid Epidemic

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (Reuters)—A typhoid epidemic has broken out at a youth camp in East Berlin containing several thousand boys and girls here for the Communist World Youth Peace Festival, it was disclosed Sunday. A group of 90 has been taken to hospital under suspicion of having typhoid, an East Berlin health official told West Berlin police. He added that the camp had been quaranteened.

Elected President

STURGEON FALLS, Ont., Aug. 13—(CP)—Edward Lawrence was elected president of the Nipissing riding CCF Federation at the annual meeting here Sunday. Others elected: 1st vice-president, L. H. Thomas; 2nd vice-president, David Shea; secretary, H. E. Gallagher; treasurer, J. B. Tierney; auditors, A. McLean, C. McLaren, and B. Kyle.

Detroit Speedup Row Said Settled

DETROIT, Aug. 13—(AP)—The thorny "speedup" dispute that has hampered operations at the Hudson Motor Company for 45 days and made 10,000 workers idle was reported settled Saturday night.

Details of the agreement reached between officials of Hudson and the United Auto Workers (CIO) were not revealed pending ratification by union members at a meeting being arranged for today.

The dispute began late in June when Hudson sent home the 10,000 workers each day, charging certain assembly operations were being omitted. The union claimed the company was putting a speedup into effect.

Mere Youth Wins Fiddling Crown

SHELBURNE, Aug. 13—(CP)—A stripling of 33, Mel Lavigne, of Wingham and Midland, won the old-time fiddling championship of Ontario Saturday with a rousing rendition of the Great Eastern Reel.

Lavigne, a radio performer at Wingham, received a $200 cash prize along with his title.

Wilfred Mitchell, 41-year-old London bus driver, was second, and Lorne Donaldson, 47-year-old farmer from the Orton district, was third.

Among the runners-up were Charles Dyer, 82, of Fergus, and Tom Sanders, 83, of Guelph. But Martin McHardy, the 21-year-old Scotsman who settled at Mono Road two weeks ago, made the finals too.

Power Cruiser Sinks Two People Drowned

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13 (CP)—Two persons were drowned today when an 18-foot power cruiser suddenly filled with water and sank.

Dead are Mrs. Lillian C. O'Neill, 52, of Hillside, B.C., and a 24-year-old youth, whose name was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin living in Newfoundland.

Four other occupants of the boat were able to swim to shore.

The boat sank in 150 feet of water opposite Hillside in Howe Sound, 30 miles northwest of here.

To Open Centre

MONTREAL, Aug. 13—(CP)—McGill University's new $2,500,000 physical sciences centre will be formally opened at the fall convocation, Oct. 6, Dr. W. H. Hatcher, general director of the centre, announced Saturday. It will handle 700 students taking lectures and 500 more doing laboratory work.

Demand Release

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Senator Harry P. Cain (Rep., Wash.) FOOD SHORTAGE—These emaciated Korean children are evidence of the shortage of food behind the battle lines. About 350,000 North and South Koreans were evacuated from the battle area by UN troops and their arrival farther south soon exhausted the rice supplies. Although Korea normally exports rice in quantity, the staple had to be imported for the evacuees. Supplies are one-half to three-quarters of normal rations. These children squat on the bare floor of an emergency "orphanage" in Seoul Province. If they are lucky their rice is supplemented with "Kimchi"—a traditional Korean pickled salad.

Troops Destroy Rice Crops While Many Koreans Starve

By BILL BOSS

Suwon, Korea, Aug. 13. (CP)—There isn't enough rice in South Korea for everybody. There hasn't been for months.

And to a South Korean population already under a meagre ration, the United Nations army has just added more than 120,000 North Koreans whom it pulled from their homesteads north of the 38th Parallel.

Ninety per cent of the refugees were malnutrition cases.

They were considered a danger to military operations in the area.

Says Jack Purves of Cranbrook, BC, Canadian Red Cross worker, who now is welfare officer for the United Nations Civil Assistance Command team in Seoul province:

"We just never get enough rice for them.

"In our one province alone we are 54,000 metric tons short of our allocations for the last five months.

Just Do Without

"There's been a general tightening of belts—and a good many thousands who've just had to do without."

Yet with the shortage confronting the province now, and extreme misery looming for the country next winter, the troops carrying out the evacuations at the front have been actually burning rice.

The Korean refugee is the easiest in the world to handle. His family packs its essentials—a few blankets, rice and some cooking utensils—and goes its way. No great kitchens are needed usually, no food lines. The family draws its rice and cooks its meals itself.

But in the case of the unfortunate North Koreans, the troops jammed them into trucks, 80 and 85 at a time, forced them to leave their bundles behind—then burned the abandoned gear.

Rice which the families could have carried with them, rice the troops' own battalions could have used for their Korean porters and left that much more for UNCAC, went up in smoke.

Korean rice is famous throughout the Orient. Its production was South Korea's major industry. Its annual exportable surplus used to be in great demand.

Inferior Quality

When it gave out UNCAC had to import rice, which the Koreans pronounced of inferior quality.

Soon that polished rice gave out. The next supplies were unhulled and unpolished rice—and barley.

Rice loses half its food value in the husking operation, barley a quarter.

But polished or unhulled, the Koreans were given the same ration of three hops a day. A hop when cooked boils up to the size of a fist.

That meant that the family drawing unhulled rice was getting only half as much as it did before, and if it drew barley, only three-quarters.

"Even so," said Purves, "the refugee who found himself a shelter in a village generally could pound and hull his own rice and prepare his meal—though less of it—in the traditional way.

"But the transient refugee in the rice line, weak, hungry, suffering from dysentery—he has nothing to hull it with and is too weak to do it if he had. So he boils the rice as it comes into a mash, does what he can with it and eats something like the food we give horses back home."

Further, transportation has been a bottleneck. Deliveries are irregular, desides being inadequate.

DeMille Has 70th Birthday Doesn't Plan Slowdown

By JACK QUIGG

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (AP)—Mr. Hollywood was 70 years old Sunday, but bustling Cecil Blount DeMille has no intention of slowing down.

As he has for 37 years, "C. B." plans to keep on showing Hollywood how to spend millions to make more millions.

"I would like to start on page one of American history and go right down to the latest dispatch from Korea," he says.

Of his 69 major pictures, only two have lost money.

His films have earned—up to December, 1949 — $562,000,000, and have been seen by 3,214,000,000 persons.

From 1915, when he produced his first spectacle film, "Carmen," he has been movieland's acknowledged master of the epic.

Colourful Things

Many years ago he expressed belief the average fan "wants to see wealth, things colourful, interesting and exotic."

DeMille is the descendant of Dutch immigrants who settled in the United States in 1658.

C. B.'s first stage experience was as an actor. Later he turned to writing.

He wasn't enthusiastic when a friend brought him together with Samuel Goldwyn, a glove salesman, and Jesse L. Lasky, a cornet player, to discuss entering the infant motion picture industry. He soon warmed to the idea and the trio formed the Jesse L. Lasky Play Company, capitalized at $20,000.

The firm acquired rights to the play "The Squaw Man" and sent Cecil west to film it. His destination was Flagstaff, Ariz., but is was raining when the train arrived and DeMille rode to the end of the line—Los Angeles.

Rented Barn

In a suburb called Hollywood he rented half a barn in a lemon grove and went to work. "The Squaw Man" cost $15,450 and earned $225,000.

"I took to shooting every scene twice," he said. "I'd sneak one negative home and put it in the attic".

"Because the trust (a group of major studios which was trying to force independents out of business) decided our full-length picture was dangerous, we were sabotaged in every possible manner. When the film was done, less than half the footage was usable."

But the trust didn't know about the second takes. DeMille spirited them out of his house and went to Philadelphia. He cut and edited it while riding east.

In 1914, his second year in Hollywood, DeMille produced and directed 13 pictures. The Lasky company expanded, combined with the Adolph Zukor company and moved to the present site of Paramount studio.

He did as much as anyone to create the impression that Hollywood is a fabulous place full of fabulous people.

Well-Known Preacher C. H. Huestis Dies

EDMONTON, Aug. 13—(CP)—The Rev. C. H. Huestis, 88, widely known Methodist preacher who held charges in Nova Scotia, Bermuda and Alberta, died in hospital Saturday.

Dr. Huestis, for 10 years prior to 1937 stationed at Toronto as executive secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, has been living in Edmonton since his retirement from the ministry 13 years ago.

Dr. Huestis was a columnist for the Toronto Daily Star at the time and was the author of several books including "Relativity; A New View of the Universe."

Born at Jacksonville, NB, he was a graduate of Mount Allison University at Sackville, NB.

Surviving besides his widow are two sons, Ralph, a professor at the University of Oregon, and Eric, Alberta's Director of Forestry; and one daughter, Mrs. G. Heath MacDonald, Edmonton.

Railway Hand To Stand Trial

SAULT STE. MARIE, Aug. 13 (CP)—Wasyl Krawiec, 22-year-old railway section hand, was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the fatal stabbing of a fellow employee, after a day-long preliminary hearing that ended at midnight Saturday.

Krawiec is charged in the death of Jonnas Norkus, 25, whose body was found July 21 at the remote Algoma Central Railway section point of Agawa, 110 miles north of here.

Four interpreters were required to translate testimony of witnesses who spoke Ukranian, Lithuanian, German and French.

Witnesses said the two men quarelled at a party on the night of July 20, at which Krawiec had been drinking heavily.

Melevoje Bozic, a former Yugoslav lawyer who came to Canada three months ago as a railway worker, said he saw Norkuss throw Krawiec bodily out of the house. When Krawiec tried to get back inside, Norkus struck him in the face.

"I finally saw Norkus come out of the back door holding onto his chest with both hands. He reeled and fell backwards, sprawling on the back steps and died a few moments later.

The witness said he saw Krawiec with blood on his face, hands and chest.

Take No Action

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The 27-country International Raw Materials Conference announced Sunday it will take no immediate action to allocate kraft pulp and dissolving pulp, used in the manufacture of paper. A 14-country committee is considering whether to allocate newsprint among Western countries.

Yugoslavia Opens Doors For Tourists' Dollars

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia, Aug. 13—(AP)—Yugoslavia has flung open its doors to visitors from the West to build up goodwill and bring is some spending money.

Marshal Josip Broz Tito's proud and independent Communist government desperately needs both to safeguard its freedom from the Russian-led cominform.

Yugoslavia has much to offer in return. From the emerald hues of its snow-capped mountains in northern Slovenia, to the cobalt blues of the sunny Adriatic, there's hardly a land the world over that can match its sheer natural beaut.

Hard-pressed for money and material to rebuild after the Second World War, Yugoslavia has just begun to capitalize upon the assets endowed by nature and history.

It has been tough going. Travelling in Yugoslavia is no picnic. The roads are gutted, rutted and dusty, and crowded with wandering sheep and geese.

The mountain roads would make a goat gasp. In Montenegro they tell the legend of how God, in creating the earth, girdled the globe with a sackful of pebbles. Here and there he would drop a pebble or two for a hill or a mountain.

The sack split over Montenegro.

Conditions Improving

The post-war regime has done much to improve travel conditions.

To woo Western tourist trade, the government has spruced up such famous Adriatic resorts as Dubronvik, Split and Abbazia, and winter sports rendezous such as Planica.

It has begun to pay off. Milan Apih, general director of tourism, estimates between 15,000 and 20,000 foreigners will visit Yugoslavia this year, compared with 2,000 last year.

"We want to make them welcome," Apih said. "We have flung our doors wide open for those who come for a holiday, for those who come to study the country's social and political problems. They have free access to all information."

"In return we ask nothing more than understanding of our problems."

Tito and his aides price that "understanding" as high as—perhaps higher than—the dollars lured here by scenic beauty.

CHIEF PIT-O-TO-KON—Viscount Alexander became the first white man to be accepted into the Blood Indian tribe through the transfer-of-headdress ceremony when he was named Honorary Chief Pit-O-To-Kon—Chief Eagle Head—at Standoff, Alta. Left to right are Head Chief Shot-Both-Sides, with stick, Minor Chief Percy Creighton, Chief Eagle Head, Archdeacon S. H. Middleton, and Minor Chief John Cotton. The Governor-General's sons, Brian, 12, and Shane, 16, became honorary braves Charging Back and Hold Standing. More than 2,000 Blackfeet and a similar number of white visitors witnessed the ceremony.

Bomber Hits Apt. Building

SEATTLE, Aug. 14. (AP)—A four-engined air force bomber plowed into an apartment house here Monday, killing the crew of six and at least five residents of the structure. A raging fire which reduced the wreckage and most of the three-storey building to a charred mess of rubble may have killed others. Hours after the blaze, firemen played streams of water on the smoldering heap, attempting to cool it enough to permit further search. The bodies of the 11 known dead were recovered by nightfall. More may be found today. What caused the big B-50 bomber to crash is not known. Witnesses said all its four motors appeared to be working perfectly after taking off from Boeing field. But at about 700 feet it started losing altitude rapidly and turned into a sharp right bank.

Expert observers theorized that the pilot heroically banked his stricken ship toward the Rainier Valley wall to spare hundreds of workers in factories below. It is believed he was trying to crash-land on the sparsely populated bank, only open spot for blocks around.

A leading edge of the plane grazed a wall of a brewery building and crashed into a concrete bulkhead behind it. The plane's nose struck a line of automobiles parked in front of the apartment house and the huge craft flipped over as it ripped into the Lester apartments.

12 Injured

Only about one-third the 64 persons normally resident in the building were home. Twelve were burned severely or injured in the impact, at least five others died.

Three of the crew aboard the plane were Boeing Airplane Company test personnel. The others were air force men.

Nearly 4,000 gallons of gasoline and oil in the aircraft's tanks caught fire almost immediately after the impact, searing some persons and hindering rescue work. Water poured on the flaming mass served in part to spread the flames as gasoline ran through the structure on the surface of the water.

It was nearly five hours after the crash at 2.18 p.m., PDT (5.18 EDT) before the blaze was under control.

Meanwhile, firemen and police tunnelled steadily into the debris, removing the scorched bodies one at a time until 11 were accounted for, including the six crew members.

The apartment house records were destroyed, but Kengo Kadoyama, the manager, said he thought most of the residents had been accounted for.

Expect Russian Walkout At Japanese Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. (AP)—American officials expect Russian delegates to walk out of the 50-country Japanese peace conference after staging a spectacular propaganda show to emphasize Moscow's opposition. These officials expressed confidence to a report that Russia's denunciations would not succeed in blocking the signing of a peace treaty by an overwhelming majority of other countries. The United States is ready to sign without Russia, if necessary, said these officials who may not be quoted by name.

State Secretary Dean Acheson, they hinted, may have a trick or two up his sleeve to curb the anticipated Russian propaganda filibuster.

Moscow's delegates, headed by acting Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, have promised to show up in San Francisco Sept. 4 for the conference.

Ably Supported

Assisting him will be three other of Russia's more-noted conference orators — Alexander S. Panyushkin, ambassador to the United States; Georgi N. Zarubin, ambassador to London; and S. A. Golunski, Russian foreign office legal chief and former judge at the Tokyo war crimes trials.

Department officials look for Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland, the only Russian satellites invited, to follow Moscow's lead shortly and announce they will attend the conference.

Plan Checkmates

An American plan for thwarting Russia's design at San Francisco is reported to call for:

Cabinet Studies New UK Offer

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 14 (AP)—W. Averell Harriman called on Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi today to appeal for continued moderation in the critical British-Iranian oil talks.

While President Truman's special envoy met Iran's ruler, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh called the cabinet into special session to discuss the latest British offer to settle the oil nationalizaion dispute.

Neither the British negotiators nor the Iranians would disclose the specific details of the offer, presented Monday night by Richard Stokes, chief of the British negotiating team.

But informed sources said Mossadegh's first reaction was coolness towards the British proposal for joint operation of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's well and refineries, which Iran nationalized last spring.

Stokes did reveal that Britain had offered a guarantee against any interference in Iranian affairs.

It is believed Harriman appealed to the Shah to use his influence to keep the talks from breaking down over whether British oil experts should continue to operate the installations under the new Iranian National Oil Company.

Britain has renewed her offer to turn over all assets of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian company to the Mossadegh government.

9,500 At GM Return To Jobs

OSHAWA, Aug. 14 (CP). — Some 9,500 employees of the General Motors of Canada plant here went back to work Monday after their two-week holiday. Two hundred temporary employees did not return to work.

Company officials said the employment picture, as far as Canada is concerned, is better than at this time last year. In the company's Windsor plant, all employees have returned to work.

The Ford Motor Company of Canada resumed production on Monday at Windsor after a holiday period. Eight hundred hourly rated employees were laid off and the company gave several reasons for the layoff, one of them being reduced production occasioned by sales drop.

5 Cars In Collision Three In Hospital

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 14—(CP)—Two Toronto men and a child were taken to hospital here early today after a five-car collision on Queen Elizabeth highway near Niagara Falls.

Hospital authorities identified the injured persons as Charles Reed; his son, Fred, and Arthur Hunt. Nature of their injuries was not disclosed.

The accident occurred during a heavy rain-storm on Sand Plant hill, seven miles from Niagara Falls. The victims were brought here as Niagara Falls hospital was unable to accommodate them.

Business Booming

80,000 Immigrants Arrive In First 6 Months Of 1951

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP)—More immigrants have come to Canada during the first six months of 1951 than entered this country during the whole of last year, the immigration department announced today.

Almost 80,000 immigrants arrived during the first six months, compared with last year's 12-month total of 74,000.

With a spectacular climb in the number of British settlers, immigration in the six-month period rolled to 79,785—more than double the 37,286 in the six-month period of 1950.

Britain contributed 14,130—110 per cent greater than the 6,738 in the same period a year ago. English immigrants totalled 8,604, double last year's 4,354; Irish, 1,153, compared with 721; Scottish, 4,100, almost triple last year's 1,550, and Welsh, 273, compared with 113.

Immigrants from northern Europe swelled to 27,427, almost tripling last year's 9,751. A total of 2,272 came from France, quadrupling last year's 502.

The Netherlands placed 11,297 in Canada, more than double last year's 5,306. Immigrants from West Germany totalled more than 8,000, a big gain from last year's 2,000.

Races other than those from northern Europe totalled 34,540, about double the 17,553 in the six months of 1950.

Even United States immigration was higher. The six-month total came to 3,688, up from 3,244.

Communist countries made their contributions, too. Russians entering Canada totalled 686, up from last year's 287; Czechoslovakians, 1,642, triple last year's 552; Romanians, 410, compared with 173; Yugoslavians, 1,589, compared with 466.

Of the total 79,785, adult males totalled 37,473; adult females, 22,183; children under 18 years, 20,130.

The breakdown by provinces: Ontario, 45,082; Quebec, 15,024; Alberta, 6,430; British Columbia, 5,649; Manitoba, 3,700; Saskatchewan, 1,953; Nova Scotia, 891; New Brunswick, 639; Prince Edward Island, 114; Newfoundland, 113 and Yukon and the Northwest Territories, 10.

Truce Talks Snagged On Air Might

Report Reds Trying To Play Down Effect of Bombing

MUNSAN, Korea, Aug. 14.—(AP) — Kaesong armistice talks snagged today on an argument over the importance of Allied air and naval supremacy.

If cease-fire negotiations break down, the United Nations ground commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, said his troops are ready to "clobber" the Reds.

In Tokyo, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN supreme commander, said the Reds have been steadily building up and are in a materially-better position to attack than they were when truce talks started July 10.

Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army, commented:

"The military feels we would like to have the opportunity to meet the Communists if they attack. It would be a real clobber.

"I don't know of a better way to get it over faster.

"The enemy is hurting. He is in bad shape. He needs peace."

Van Fleet's opinion of the ability of the Eighth Army to meet a Red onslaught coincided with views expressed by Ridgway, when the top Allied commander told about the Red build-up.

Won't Move Back

Ridgway said the UN position was not inflexible, but that his troops must have a defensible position during a truce approximately along their present battle line. He said the UN won't go back to the 38th Parallel, where the Reds want to set up a buffer zone.

At Kaesong, just before negotiators adjourned until Wednesday, North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, top Red envoy, wound up Tuesday's two-hour-and-40-minute session by announcing the Red demand for a truce on the old political boundary line is unshakeable.

It was the demilitarized zone deadlock which generated the argument at Kaesong over UN air and navy might.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, head of the UN delegation, told the Reds that Allied planes and warships "are prosecuting a war behind your front lines which is not duplicated behind our lines."

A UN spokesman said this was a reply to a one-hour-and-13-minute attack by Gen. Nam attempting to "discredit the independent effectiveness of air and naval power which the UN command would relinquish in an armistice."

In one breath the North Koreans said they weren't doing much good and in the next he said the Reds would run UN troops out of Korea, except for Allied planes and warships.

Deepest Cave Being Searched

OLORON, France, Aug. 14 — (AP)—Two explorers today went 400 feet farther down into the deepest cave ever explored, seeking new traces of a prehistoric civilization that once flourished in southwestern France.

The explorers, members of a Franco-Belgian team, reached 1,505 feet below the surface, deeper by far than modern man has previously descended in a natural cave.

The Pyrenees area of France already has yielded several traces of prehistoric man, including a series of cave paintings found at Lescaux, a few miles north of the cave now being explored.

Blind Conference

HALIFAX, Aug. 14 (CP). — The Canadian Council of the Blind yesterday opened its seventh annual convention here with panel discussion on publicity, education, recreation, hobbies and credit unions. Mayor Gordon S. Kinley officially welcomed the delegates to the city.

No Chills There!

DALLAS, Aug. 14. (AP)—About 1,500 Dallas telephone operators who quit work today because of the heat began straggling back a few hours later. But the heat was on in Texas again. The weather bureau said a high temperature of 105 was expectable in Dallas before sundown. The maximum on Monday was 104.

Want US Break With Czechs Till Oatis Freed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—(AP)—The House of Representatives today unanimously advocated immediate severance of United States commercial relations with Czechoslovakia until William N. Oatis is freed from a Prague jail.

The Chamber passed and sent to the Senate a resolution expressing the sense of Congress that such action should be taken.

Deleted from the resolution was an earlier provision advocating eventual severence of diplomatic ties with Czechoslovakia if Oatis isn't freed in 90 days.

Representative O. K. Armstrong (Rep. Mo.) who sponsored the proposal aimed at breaking off both commercial and diplomatic relations, told reporters he had to modify it because "I couldn't get support for the entire proposal."

May Jeopardize Oatis

Some members, Armstrong said, feared that the original proposal might further jeopardize Oatis and other Americans still in Czechoslovakia.

Oatis, an Associated Press correspondent, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment recently on an espionage charge.

The resolution refers to the "sham trial and unjust conviction" of Oatis and urges the United States government to "take all possible action to bring about his release."

Armstrong, urging the House Monday to "get tough" with the Czechs, said the newspaperman will die "within a few weeks" unless released.

A copy of the resolution would be sent to the Czech government and to the United Nations after Senate action.

The resolution is not binding. It merely expresses the sense of Congress, and the "profound indignation" of Congress over the Oatis case.

Red Soldiers Probing Lines

US 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 14 (CP)—Red front-line troops, which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said have been materially strengthened during truce negotiations, felt out Allied positions in central and eastern Korea with small probing attacks, Eighth Army announced today.

All were repulsed.

Powerful UN air and naval forces—belittled by Reds at cease-fire talks—smashed at Red reinforcement lines to check the buildup.

Warships led by the US cruiser Toledo shelled bridges and railways as much as 230 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Farther south, three destroyers sank nine sampans trying to sneak Red supplies along water routes near Wonsan, east coast port now in its 180th day of seige.

Say Inmates Seize Hostages

Report Trouble Began In Death Row, Fear It Will Spread

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 14. (AP)—The Utah State Prison at Point-of-the-Mountain sent a "plea for help" today in what the state highway patrol said is "another riot."

The highway patrol said cars had been dispatched to the prison, 15 miles south of here.

The Salt Lake county sheriff's office also dispatched all available officers. The dispatcher said he understood "some guards had been captured by the prisoners."

Inmates rebelled at the new, multi-million dollar prison May 20 and held control for several hours.

Details on the present riot were not immediately available.

Report Guards Seized

Police Chief L. C. Crowther of Salt Lake City said he had a report that prisoners seized three hostages, including two guards. The cause of the trouble was not immediately known.

A prison source, declining to be quoted, said trouble broke out in the cellblock where the half-dozen death row convicts are kept.

This source said the disturbance was limited to the one block but that there was a possibility it might spread.

Peace Festival Seen Failure

BERLIN, Aug. 14. (AP) — The Western Allies today sized up the World Youth Festival in Berlin as a near disaster for Communism in Germany.

Official observers are planning to report back to their governments at the end of the Festival this week the following conclusions:

1. East German Communist youth were exposed to West Berlin in such numbers they may flood their home areas with pro-Western feeling.

2. Many delegates from the satellite nations, restricted to the Soviet sector of Berlin, were impressed by the fact that the cause of Communism has been stopped cold on the Iron Curtain border and isn't pushing westward.

3. Lack of enthusiasm among the German youth has cast a sharp reflection on party indoctrination work and the men responsible for it.

Hundreds of thousands of East German youth discovered the food, entertainment and the general welcome in the West were far better than in East Berlin.

Festival Ends Sept. 30

LONDON, Aug. 14 (Reuters)—The Festival of Britain Exhibition in London will close Sept. 30, it was announced today. There had been some discussion about keeping the $25,000,000 show open for another year and perhaps longer. But an announcement by the acting prime minister, Herbert Morrison, said the decision to close had been confirmed.

Playing With Gasoline Two Youngsters Die From Explosion Burns

Lit Fire In Shed With Gas From Can Boys Enveloped In Flames, Pair Live Only Short Time After Accident

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 14. (CP)—Two boys are dead as a result of a gasoline explosion Monday in an unused shed at Aylmer. Robert Harvey, 8, terribly burned in the blast, died in Memorial hospital here today, a few hours after the death of David Wright, 7. The lads are believed to have lighted a fire in a shed in which gasoline was stored for a school bus operated by Robert Harvey's father.

Police believe the two boys lit a fire in the shed with gasoline from a can—and then set the can too close to the blaze. The gasoline exploded and sprayed over the two.

Run From Shed

Lawrence Harvey, Robert's grandfather, said the youngsters ran screaming from the shed right after the explosion. The Harvey boy raced for his home, 20 feet from the shed, and the Wright boy collapsed.

Harvey picked up the Wright boy—his body was wrapped in flames—and carried him to the Harvey home where the fire was extinguished with a blanket.

The Wright boy was burned all over the body while the Harvey boy was burned about the face, arms and legs.

Have Police Escort For Sarah Churchill

BURLINGTON, Aug. 14 (CP). —Actress Sarah Churchill will have a police escort today for part of her trip from Niagara Falls to Burlington for the Miss Canada pageant.

Miss Churchill, daughter of Winston Churchill, is appearing in Gramercy Ghost with Richard Waring at the Niagara Falls Summer Theatre.

With Waring, she will rehearse this afternoon, then leave for Burlington.

Police chief Howard Nickling will meet the party at Burlington and escort them through the heavily-travelled area in time for the judge's dinner.

Tanker Freed On River Shoal

ALEXANDRIA BAY, NY, Aug 14 — (AP)—A 243-foot Canadian gasoline tanker was pulled free today about 24 hours after it ran on a rocky St. Lawrence River shoal.

A tug hauled the A. C. Dodge into deep water after part of her 200,000-gallon cargo of gasoline had been transferred to another fuel carrier.

There was no report immediately on the vessel's condition.

The Dodge went on the rocks off Schooner Island opposite this northern New York village. Gasoline leaked from her cargo tanks and spread over the river's surface of hundreds of yards.

The coast guard had warned shipping to give the stranded tanker a wide berth.

The Dodge, operated by the British-American Line of Toronto, was bound from Montreal to Clarkson, Ont. Her 19-member crew remained aboard.

Steel Squeeze To Be Worse In Few Months

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP)— The squeeze on steel likely will get rough within the next few months.

Kenneth Harris, harried steel administrator, says in an interview that the United States is planning to take action to clamp down on exports of "free market" steel.

This will virtually close the door to sources of supply for many Canadian manufacturers of non-essential goods.

Mr. Harris said Canada is getting "fairly good" supplies of steel from the United States, but most of it is earmarked for defence. There's some left over for civilian production, but allocations are made on the basis of "urgency."

Mr. Harris said the American action to place 100-per-cent control over US steel production, probably starting Oct. 1, is a development of the US Controlled Materials Plan.

Started in July

This plan, covering strategic metals, went into operation in July to give defence projects top priority over supplies. As a partner to Western defence, Canada got a CMA steel quota, on a quarterly basis.

But the plan did not immediately cover all the US steel production. And Canadian manufacturers who could not qualify for permits as producers of essential goods, could still bid for that part of US steel production that was not controlled.

That won't be possible after Oct. 1. The US "free market" in steel will virtually disappear. Canadian manufacturers or other steel users affected will likely try for suppiles in Europe or Japan or they may try Ottawa.

Wm. R. Hearst Publisher Dies

BEVERLY, HILLS, Calif., Aug. 14 — (AP) — Published William Randolph Hearst died today at 9:50 a.m. PEDT.

Death came only a day after the builder of a newspaper empire sank into a coma.

He had been ill for many years, but still kept an active interest in his many newspapers.

Hearst, who was 88, was attended at the death bed by his family.

Present were his sons ,William Randolph Hearst, Jr., George, John, David and Randolph Hearst.

Also present were Martin F. Huberth, chairman of the board of the Hearst Corporation, and Richard E. Berlin, president of the corporation.

Bad Weather Delays Channel Swim Again

CAP GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 14 (Reuters).—The international cross-channel swimming race from Cap Gris Nez to Dover, England, today was again postponed for 24 hours following a conference of weather experts.

The swimmers, 13 men and seven women from 10 countries, received the decision with glum faces. Among them was Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuszler of Toronto.

All were keyed for a start early Wednesday and had been practicing hard. This was the third postponement forced by weather.

"We are hoping for better reports Wednesday," said Jeffery Truby, chief organizer for the sponsors of the contest, the London Daily Mail.

May Never Be The Same Again

Pact Parley Has Cabinet Trio In Dither

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 —(CP)—Three Canadian Cabinet ministers may never be the same again after next month's Ottawa meeting of the Council of the Atlantic Pact Nations.

That may, of course, prove to be a pessimistic view. Given another four or five weeks to prepare, the planners may find it possible to reconcile the well-being of the three—Pearson of external, Claxton of defence, Abbott of finance—with the requirements of protocol and the ebb and flow of social activity.

At this stage, it's hard to tell exactly what sacrifices will be demanded of the three ministers who will represent Canada. The basic aim of the planners confronted with the biggest international gathering Ottawa has known in years is to insure (a) that the Big Three don't have to give up their own beds because of the shortage of accommodation and (b) that they don't have to be in more than four places at any one time.

Many Problems

At this moment, theirs is one of a number of problems which should be clearer by the end of the week when more facts and figures are available. Another:

One Pact power wired Monday for what amounted to three-quarters of the suites at the Chateau Laurier, also a dozen or so cars, numerous offices and rooms for three cabinet ministers and dozens of advisers. It is being asked to trim its sails.

The horizon is bristling with other problems but consider that of the three ministers. It is customary, for example, for cabinet members to meet opposite foreign numbers on arrival. Since up to 33 foreign cabinet ministers will be coming by various methods at various times, there are headaches involved.

Portioned Out Piecemeal?

Should the Messrs. Pearson, Claxton and Abbott be portioned out piecemeal or should they spend hours rushing back and forth in a group to the airport and station?

Again, it would not be surprising if many of the embassies of the 11 other powers decide they must entertain their ministers and that they must, of course, have the three Canadians along. Spelling one another off as official greeters would solve this one, too, but the hope is that social functions can be kept to a minimum.

UK Election Predicted After February

LONDON, Aug. 14 (CP).—Before parliament adjourned earlier this month for the summer recess political observers insisted that an autumn general election was almost a certainty. Now they are speculating the date may be deferred until some time between February and June next year.

Several factors have influenced this change of mind, but mainly a statement by J. Chuter Ede, leader of the House of Commons, that parliament will definitely meet again to prorogue before dissolution.

"But don't take that as a prophesy," he told members. He added it was the intention of the government to reconvene the House Oct. 16 and to ask the King to open a new session, the third of the present session, Oct. 23.

Taking No Chances

The opposition accepted the statement with undisguised scepticism and the Conservatives, at least, are gearing their election machinery for any eventuality.

The Tories are convinced the Labor party hierarchy has been quietly laying the groundwork for an early appeal to the country by offering pre-election "sops" and encouraging whispering campaigns.

In support of this view they point to recent measures introduced by the government to tighten price controls, increase certain rationed commodities, such as meat, lifting of the ban on industrial strikes and the proposed three-year "freeze" of investment dividends.

Procedure Reversed Boat Firm Moves To US

Located in Lindsay for the past seven years, the Henry Boat Works was moved Monday to Marion, Ohio, where it will operate under new management. Recently the small company was purchased by Charles Plumley, construction firm owner in Marion.

The equipment, loaded on two trailer transports, left Monday for Marion. There Mr. Plumley hopes to develop production to the extent where Canadian sales will require the establishment of a Canadian branch.

Samuel Botting and Bryce Hussey, two company employees, and Mr. Henry will assist the new company in Marion for a short time.

The boat work began seven years ago in Lindsay St. at the edge of the Scugog River. Lately the plant has been employing 11 men on full-time.

The new owner has been a regular summer visitor to Sturgeon Lake.

Believe 4,500 Held In Korea

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14 — (AP)—Unofficial estimates indicated today that, of the 10,624 Americans officially listed as missing in action in Korea, as many as 4,500 probably are being held in Communist prison camps.

This figure comes from Allied military sources which cannot be named but which are in as good a position as anyone on the Allied side to know the score.

The prisoners are said to be confined near Kanggye, deep inside North Korea about 20 miles from the Manchurian frontier.

The number of American and other United Nations prisoners never has been announced by the Reds. Allied sources estimate the total number at about 10,000.

Norwood Man Rode "Right To City Jail"

Neil MacLennan, 57, of RR 1, Norwood, today pleaded guilty to driving a car along Peterborough St. in Norwood while drunk. He was senetnced to seven days in jail by Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay.

He was also fined $10 and costs or 10 days on a charge of driving without a licence. The car was registered in his name but was being reclaimed by a finance company.

"You were just having a last ride, eh," mused Magistrate Gee, "well that ride took you right to Peterborough jail."

Spellman Opens 3 Colleges To Fired Cadets

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman Tuesday offered 90 accused West Point cadets a haven in any of three Roman Catholic men's colleges.

"To err is human, to forgive is divine," the cardinal said in a statement.

He referred to the pending ouster of the 90 cadets, accused of academic cheating in the greatest scandal in West Point's 150 years.

The three colleges open to the cadets are Fordham University and Manhattan College in New York, and Iona College at New Rochelle, N.Y.

Of the three, only Fordham has any rank in collegiate football. Cardinal Spellman made no mention of athletics. But many of the accused cadets were members of Army's grid team.

Fordham has 10,000 students, Manhattan, 2,500 and Iona 1,300 students.

Lions' Share Of Thanks Go To City Council

City council received from the Lions Club Monday night a letter of appreciation for its co-operation in the successful completion and financing of the Club's community swimming pool at Riverside Park.

J. D. Anderson, chairman of the swimming pool committee of the club, acknowledged receipt of $5,000 from the Ontario government which was endorsed by City Treasurer A. S. Couper and forwarded to the club.

With this grant, Mr. Anderson wrote, the outstanding deficit on the entire $65,000 project was now reduced to $4,000, "and we are hoping to clear that off from the proceeds of our carnival."

"We feel mighty proud that such a $65,000 project is being completely paid for in slightly more than two years, and we sincerely thank you (Mayor Swanston) and the city council for the full co-operation extended to us during the construction and completion of our project."

Mr. Anderson promised for the Lions that they would continue to render service to the city and the citizens for many years to come.

Death Ends Vacation For Cleveland Man, 53

Death suddenly ended the vacation of a Cleveland party of four men almost upon arrival at Stony Lake Monday afternoon.

While removing travelling bags, fishing gear and other personal effects from the automobile, Joseph F. Walton, 53, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, suffered a heart attack late in the afternoon and died this morning at St. Joseph's hospital. He was accompanied by his two sons and the Rev. D. A. Mazonic, also of Cleveland Heights. They had motored to Stony Lake for a fishing trip and holiday.

Mr. Walton was an accountant. His body is being returned to Cleveland from the Anglesey funeral home on the 6:10 p.m. CPR train this evening. The funeral will be Friday morning from the funeral home of Flynn and Froelk, Cleveland.

Abusive Words

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, who attended the session, said Nam's speech was sprinkled with such words as "irresponsible," "belligerent," "abusive," and "intolerable."

Nuckols said Joy, in a one-hour-and-six-minute reply, emphasized air and naval power in an effort to convince the Reds of the reasonableness of the UN proposals for a demilitarized zone along approximately the

Two Muskies Caught

Two muskies, one 39 inches long and weighing 14 pounds and the other 33 inches long and weighing 11 pounds were caught by American tourists near Buckhorn recently.

Frank P. Volgsladt, Erie, Pennsylvania, caught his fish (14 pounds) in Upper Buckhorn Lake and Mr. Holmes, also of Erie, Pennsylvania, made his catch in Lower Buckhorn lake.

Both visitors are guests at Buckhorn Lodge and this is their first trip to Canada.

Obituary

FREDERICK W. GILMOUR

There died very suddenly on Saturday at his summer home Ferndale Park near Toronto Frederick Wellington Gilmour, 69, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Gilmour and grandson of Richard Gilmour, pioneer settler of Cavan township.

Mr. Gilmour had been in comparatively good health and was having a most enjoyable holiday when he collapsed and died. Born in Cavan township he farmed for a number of years and then for more than 20 years was employed with the Canadian National Railway in Peterborough. Four years ago he went to Toronto to reside and has been employed by the Steele Briggs Seed Company.

He resided at 117 McRobert St., Toronto.

There survive his sorrowing widow, formerly Hilda Wheatley, one daughter, Mrs. Ormie Henry (Violet) Toronto; two sisters and two brothers, Norman Gilmour and Mrs. John S. Donley of Peterborough, Mrs. Allan Thompson of Toronto and Jack Gilmour of Calgary.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 3.00 p.m. at the Roy Miller Funeral Home, 1695 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto with the Rev. R. B. March of Prospect United Church officiating. Burial in Prospect Cemetery.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Aug. 16 — (CP)— The American dollar today opened at 5 9/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Monday's close. That is, it took $1.05 9/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95-9/16, also unchanged.

Premier Frost's Mother-in-Law Dies At Lindsay

Margaret Ann Carew, 86, of Lindsay, mother-in-law of Premier Leslie M. Frost died Sunday.

She was born in Verulam township, the former Margaret Ann Kelly, daughter of the late Francis Kelly and Margaret Ann Junkin and was one of the first white children born in the township.

Mrs. Carew was a member of the Presbyterian Church and later the United Church, the WMS and WA and was an active worker in connection with the Ross Memorial hospital—honorary president of the women's auxiliary. She was also active in the Daughters of the Empire and the Lindsay Fair.

She leaves one son, Arthur W. Carew, Lindsay; four daughters, Mrs. Earl Sootheran, Chapleau; Mrs. Stanley P. Beall (Annie); Mrs. Leslie M. Frost (Gertrude); Mrs. Cecil C. Frost (Roberta) all of Lindsay; two sisters and two brothers.

Her husband, John Carew, lumberman and former MPP for South Victoria, died in 1927. She was also predeceased by two sons, Col. Frank J. Carew and Charles Carew.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be in Riverdale cemetery.

Council Approves $5,348 Tender

Eastwood Construction Company's tender of $5,348.20 for extra work at the city hall for accommodation of the provincial laboratory was recommended by the architects, Marani and Morris, was accepted by the council last night. It was proposed by the property committee as reported by the chairman, Ald. Hugh Waddell.

A cognate clause in the report was: "That Dr. C. B. Waite, director of the provincial laboratory, be authorized to make the necessary arrangements with the Ontario Department of Health to buy the necessary equipment for the new laboratory at the city hall, and that payment be made by the Provincial Department of Health, and the amount involved in such purchases be deducted from the annual subsidy made by the provincial department to the city toward the operation of the laboratory."

Present premises of the provincial laboratory are on the top floor of the city hall building, reached by the stairs leading from the street level to the council chamber.

When the new city hall was being mooted there was some suggestion that the laboratory might find a place at Civic Hospital. Eventually the decision went to the city hall quarters, but it was one of the last details considered by the council and architects, and for that reason it appears now as an extra. The space had formerly been given the Board of Education for its storage of supplies.

Operator Paying City $150 Monthly For Lot

A. Ray Brown is paying the city $150 a month beginning Sept. 1 for rental of the Charlotte St. parking area, as recommended to the council Monday night by its property committee.

Approximate area of this lot is 200 ft. by 325 ft. The city is to instal two additional lights on the property for night parking, to grade and oil the surface.

The operator of the lot is to be responsible for erecting a fence or barrier along the street frontages, and to be responsible for removing snow.

The recommendation was in the committee report read by Ald. Hugh Waddell.

Polio Victim Buried St. Peter's Cemetery

The funeral service of Mrs. William Miller, 25, 207 Stewart St., who died in Riverdale Isolation hospital Saturday, was held in St. Peter's Cathedral Monday. Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler.

Mrs. Miller was Peterborough's second polio fatality this year. She died after giving birth to her child. The child lived only a few hours and died in Hospital for Sick Children. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery.

Gold Producers Still Dominate Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP). — Gold producers today continued to dominate early afternoon stock market trading. Announcement that Canada would seek a better deal for the gold industry at the September meeting of the International Monetary Fund heralded active buying.

Industrials and western oils remained trendless while base metals slipped a little lower.

Manufacturing companies formed the strongest industrial section. Utilities, constructions and retail stores were mixed. Papers, foods, liquors, refining oils and banks weakened while agricultures and steels slipped moderately lower. Western oils were mixed.

Base metals weakened. Coast copper led a few issues against the trend with an advance of 50 cents. Also ahead were Callinan Flin Flon, International Nickel, Osisko, Quebec Labrador, Silanco and Quebec Manitou. Among those lower were Anaconda Lead, Consplidated Smelters, Normetal, Silver Miller, Silver Standard, Steep Rock and United Asbestos.

Senior golds were higher and secondary issues showed a wide list of advances.

MEAT AND CAR ROASTED

In spite of the rising cost-of-living, flames licked at two expensive items in Lindsay over the weekend. Firemen were called to a house fire but found only some grease burning. After the short blaze the roast of beef was no longer a roast of beef but a small black object. In the other weekend fire a booster hose applied for five minutes doused a car blaze. The cost-of-living for both owners will be even higher than usual.

Vagrant Jailed

Michael Aylward, 43, no fixed address, was today sentenced to 10 days in jail on a charge of vagrancy. Aylward was found wandering around by the police and was arrested early today.

He said he had recently come from Newfoundland and was looking for work in Peterborough. Finding none here, he hoped to continue on down to the Niagara peninsula.

"You can go after you finish the 10 days," said Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay.

Gerald Turner, RR 8, Peterborough, was fined $50 and costs after pleading guilty to driving on the River Road last Saturday while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Charles Joseph Fagan

Requiem mass for Charles Joseph Fagan, 71, of Lindsay, who died Friday in a Peterborough hospital, was said at 9 a.m. Monday by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan at Sacred Heart Church.

Pallbearers were Oscar Hallihan, Orville Kenneally, Thomas O'Brien, Patrick Garvey, Albert Dorris and Robert Dale. Graveside prayers were said at St. Peter's Cemetery by Father Sullivan, assisted by the Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley of Lindsay.

Present in the sanctuary during the mass were the Rt. Rev. J. J. O'Brien, Msgr. McAuley and the Rev. F. M. Grant.

Ask That CPR Be Ordered To Repair Plaza

Oddments of municipal business at the council meeting Monday night.

In the property committee report: Board of works is authorized to lay "necessary new sidewalks" around the city hall block at Murray St.

That the public library board be informed the council has other plans than use as children's library for the former Turner house at Water and McDonnel Streets.

In the finance committee report read by Ald. T. D. Miller, chairman, the Ontario Department of Health is asked to make a contribution for the accommodation in the new city hall that is being provided for its provincial labratory.

Chief Constable John Thompson is instructed not to issue parking tickets after 1 p.m. on Wednesday half holidays.

Board of Works report by Ald. J. E. Gillespie includes a clause directing City Clerk Outram to inform the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada that the Canadian Pacific Railway have been neglecting repairs and maintenance of the plaza north of the station.

CPR informed the Railway Board that its budget for the year did not provide for repairing that roadway, which is actually an extension of Wolfe St., between Aylmer and George Sts.

Their undertaking to include it in the finances for next year "are merely a repetition of similar promises by the company for some years. These promises have not been fulfilled." Council asks Board of Transport to have CPR carry out its obligation as required in the board's original order to the railway.

Frost Praises Investigation Of Race Fixing

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP)—Premier Frost Monday complimented the Ontario Racing Commission for what he termed its thorough and effective investiagtions into race "fixing."

"Recent events have shown how right the appointment of the commission was," said the premier.

The commission was created by the Ontario legislature at its 1950 session. Previously, racing in the province had been under the jurisdiction of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association which lacked the commission's power to compel witnesses to testify under oath.

The commission's investigations in the last two weeks so far have resulted in the life suspension of 6 jockeys of whom two nave been arrested on criminal charges, in the indefinite suspension of two others and in $100 fines for six for failing to report bribe offers promptly.

Two trainers have been suspended—one for life—and three persons have been arrested while attempting to cash tickets on fixed races.

Monday night W. E. MacDonald counsel for the commission, said the commission had the names of many of those who had "practised fraud and deceit on the public... the past 10 years." The rest would eventually be discovered, names and offences would be disclosed to the public and criminal action taken where warranted.

Uses Motor Scooter To Cover Golf Course

DECATUR, Ill., Aug. 14 (AP)—Carl Becker has changed golf from a walking to a riding game.

He has converted a motor scooter into a vehicle that carries a threesome and its clubs across the fairways at a clip of 35 miles an hour.

Becker refused to give up the game with advancing years—he doesn't give his age—although his legs aren't as spry as they were once.

"You have to improvise as you get older, and the scooter is giving me some added years of golf," he said.

Vote On Beer, Campbellford Approved On Mayor's Ballot

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 14. (ENS)—Sweepstake tickets and a brewer's warehouse occupied a major portion of the regular meeting of the Campbellford council Monday evening, with heated discussions on both. A petition asking for a vote on the establishment of a warehouse in the town was presented to council by the town clerk, which after being checked was found to have an insufficient number of names for the 25 per cent required to have a vote. The council may, however, cause a vote if it so desires, and if it believes the question to be in the best interest of the citizens of the town, and this came up for much discussion.

The last voters' list of the town of Campbellford was compiled in 1948, and this was the list that was used in checking the names on the petition. The list contains 2,290 names, and 25 per cent of this would be 573. The petition contained 660 names but 185 were struck off because while the majority of those persons would have a vote at the present time, they did not have a vote on the 1948 voters' list. This left the petition with only 475 names, which was 98 short of the required number.

Mayor J. E. Ayrhart took the stand that even though the petition did not carry the required number of names, a by-law should be drawn up authorizing the vote due to the fact that he firmly believed the petition was a true indication of what the people wanted. He was upheld in this matter by a number of councillors and some also agreed with him.

Reeve Lock said that whoever took up the petition should have seen to it that the required number of names were on it, so that the matter would not have to be decided by council.

Councillor Rutherford said that in view of the fact this was a democratic country and upheld free enterprise, he did not think council had any right to deny the people ot the town a vote on the question, even though the petition was lacking in names. There was much discussion on the subject and a polled vote was taken to decide whether or not a by-law should be drawn up authorizing the plebiscite. The vote resulted in a tie, and Mayor J. E. Ayrhart was called upon to cast the deciding vote. His "yea" gave a five to four majority and the motion was carried.

The result of the vote was: For, Councillors Maybee, MacMillan, Kingston and Rutherford. Against, Reeve Ralph J. Locke, Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason and Councillors Nicholas and Free. The town solicitor will now be instructed to prepare the by-law necessary for the citizens of the town to vote on whether they want or do not want a brewer's warehouse or a liquor store or both.

Minority Rights In Schools Urged Respected

GENEVA PARK, Ont. Aug. 14—(CP)—Prof. John Seeley said Monday that if there must be religious instruction in Ontario schools the rights of minorities should be recognized.

Prof. Seeley, with the University of Toronto's department of psychiatry, told a panel discussion at the Canadian Institute for Public Affairs conference here that no one religion should be favored in the schools.

He criticized recommendations of the Hope Royal Commission on education that the separate school system be abandoned after elementary levels.

The commission's majority report was supported by Mrs. A. J. Marshall, a member of the commission, while Prof. Seeley and J. F. MacDonald, professor emeritus of English at University College, Toronto, sided with the minority report.

Prof. MacDonald criticized the commissioners for mentioning "practically nothing of the influence of sport, which I found in my youth to be most salutary."

He also was critical of the recommended two hours' religious training a week in the schools.

Returns To Cobourg Police Remember Fine

COBOURG, Aug. 14—(ENS)—Douglas Keddy of Cramahe township, who owes a fine to the police court, and who has been in Sudbury for the past two months, was picked up by provincial police during the weekend. Keddy told the court that he came down to see his girl friend and was hitchhiking along the highway near Cobourg when provincial police in a cruiser stopped him and took him into custody. Keddy informed the magistrate that he was now employed at steady work and intended to take steps within the next few days to pay the money.

Death To Unite Sister Kenny With Man She Couldn't Marry

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 14 — (CP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, 65, who is suffering from an incurable illness, said today that death will unite her with the man she was never able to marry because of her lifelong devotion to the treatment of infantile paralysis victims.

Sister Kenny, whose methods of treatment have spread around the world, disclosed Monday that she is "incurably ill" and has "little time left for this world."

She said today her complaint is not cancer—it is a disease from which she has suffered for two years, often with pain.

Sister Kenny said today she is treating herself for the disease.

She said that through her self-treatment she has regained better use of her legs and hands than she had when she came back to Australia last February after 10 years in the United States.

She faces death cheerfully because "the man who waited 40 years for me is dead now, but I know he is still waiting." She identified him only as "Dan," an English army captain whom she met when a young woman.

"I often urged him to marry someone else, but he wouldn't... Our feelings for each other didn't alter, but there was always my work.

"When he died five years ago he was still waiting for me, and he still is today."

Despite her illness Sister Kenny plans to attend the international poliomyelitis conference at Copnehagen, Denmark, in September Later she will visit New York and London.

"I'M IN THE PINK I tell you. I ain't ready for this joint yet," Gerry Sarracini as the recently-killed prizefighter Joe Pendleton has just told Other-World Messenger Ron Bailey (LEFT) and the celestial arranger Mr. Jordan, played by Bill Needles (RIGHT). Joe then picks up his saxaphone to console himself. The play "Heaven Can Wait" is the Summer Theatre presentation at Queen Mary auditorium this week.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Overflow House Titillated By "Heaven Can Wait"

Audiences will like this week's Summer Theatre offering "Heaven Can Wait" very much. The overflow house which greeted its opening last night was enchanted and titillated. The play is not one to move strong men to noble action or heroic tears; it is full of laughter and sentiment, signifying nothing. But it is first rate entertainment. Warmly, humanly played, as it was last night, it is heart throbs and comedy jabs at the solar plexus. Incidentally, the comedy is more in the situations than in the lines, and that is the kind of comedy which strikes home.

Movie audiences will be familiar with the Mr. Jordan theme, put on the screen with Robert Montgomery as Mr. Jordon. Mr. J. is handsomely played by Bill Needles with precisely the right poise and timbre of voice — midway between other-wordly sanctity and earthly amiability as befits an interlocutor between heaven and earth.

His Death A Mistake

Mr. Jordon comes into the scene to clear up the mess on earth and the afterworld which results from the death 50 years before his time of a budding prize-fighter champion Joe Pendleton. His death has been a mistake, unfortunately compounded by the prize-fighter's manager who has had his body cremated. So Joe lives on as an incorporeal spirit for whom Mr. Jordon & Co. are trying to find a suitable body. The flesh and bone of Millionaire Farnsworth are first tried out, and therein lies the tale of the play. The reasoning and theology are dubious, but the play situation is sure-fire (in a celestial rather than hellish mode).

Gerry Sarracini is, with Bill Needles, the principal figure in the comedy. He is Joe Pendleton, the resuscitated prize-fighter, and wins the heart through his cultivated stage naturalism and diffidence as a fighter rube of kindly soul who can barley read.

Others in the play are Barry Knibbs as the escort (by the way; go early enough not to miss the well-staged and sounded prologue in which he figures: 8:20 is the curtain opening); Ron Bailey is the befuddled Messenger of the gods — the quiet development of this actor in the last three years is impressive; Peter Mews is the secretary of Millionaire Farnsworth in love with Mrs. F.; Lane Drury replaces Pat Atkinson in the role of Mrs. Ames, the superior domestic; the accomplished and personable Ann Murray is the millionaire's murder - plotting wife; Kate Reid is the loving daughter of the man whom the millionaire has wronged and whom Joe, subsidizing for millionaire Farnsworth, would right and also love.

Frank Perry as Max Levene, the boxer-manager, never misses a trick or quip; he is excellent in this supporting role, and really supports — which is a difficult and usually unrewarding stage task. The audience last night loved every minute of him. Jean Robb plays Susie and Inspector Williams was convincingly Irish in Michael Sadlier. Cal Whitehead appears adequately in the last act as boxer-trainer Lefty.

Gerry Sarracini

I want to say a special word about Gerry Sarracini. This week is his last appearance of the season in Peterborough. Because of the strained ligaments in his back (mentioned in a news story in Saturday's Examiner) he is not playing in next week's "Born Yesterday". After a fortnight's rest under medical care he will fly to Bermuda to join the stage company there in which Mr. Sadlier has had an organizing hand.

I know nothing of Mr. Sarracini's radio personality. On stage I have seen him for three consecutive summers in Peterborough. He has developed amazingly—amazingly to those who do not know the study and care he has devoted to his parts. I predict that with the same assiduity to his profession that he has exerted in the last three years, he will become a premier Canadian stage personality, overcoming 'type' casting — a casting for which he is physically and vocally apt in this week's major role as Joe Pendleton. Consider the last three Summer Theatre plays in which he has had a leading part: as the Yank in "The Hasty Heart", as the Man in "The Man who Come To Dinner", and now as Joe in "Heaven Can Wait". These major parts require a facility, versatility and competence which he has achieved.

By the way, make your stroll short between Acts 1 and 2, if you take one at all. After Act 2 (because of change of scenery) is the time to take a breather.

There were a couple of lapses in the production not a compliment to the first-night audience. The staging (apart from the Prologue) was not remarkable.

Editorial Page Of Weekly Losing Prestige

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14 (CP). — The editorial page in weekly newspapers is losing prestige through lack of more local writing, delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association were told today.

This opinion was expressed in reports of the editorial committee and by judges of the CWNA's annual "better newspapers competition."

"It seems that an editorial page completely filled with editorial material every week is too big a job for the average weekly. Editors famous in Canadian weekly newspaperdom apparently are so rushed with other affairs—probably of the counting-house—that they used canned material.

"There seems to be a growing tendency to clip editorials. In the crush of rising costs editors are loath to trade prestige for cash and the editorial page suffers."

Said the editorial committee:

"To many canned editorials, too much straight reproduction of other papers' editorials, too little attention to developing local columns of comment, not enough effort expended in making the editorial page really attracitve... lead the committee to believe there is much work to be done before Canadian weeklies are doing the job they should be in giving leadership to public opinion in their communities . . ."

The membership committee reported that enrolment in the CWNA since last July 31 increased to 544 from 538.

Managing Director W. E. McCartney said the association's annual operating deficit totalled $3,011 at the end of 1950. He recommended approval of a new scale of membership fees—ranging from $25 for papers under 500 circulation to $75 for papers with more than 3,000 circulation — which would help wipe out the deficit.

He said that "by far the majority" of weekly newspapers benefited from the recent change in postage rates.

About 400 delegates are attending the association's 32nd annual convention, which opened today and ends Friday. President Lang Sands of Mission City, BC, is presiding.

ERNIE FOUND, familiar to household shoppers in Peterborough for the past 23 years, left the city today for St. Catharines where he has accepted a position with Buehler's. Mr. Found resigned his position as supervisor with Braund's Home Food Markets with whom he had been associated the past 13 years. For 10 years previous he was with E. F. Mason Stores.

See Russians Anxious To Curb Jap Sovereignty

LONDON, Aug. 14—(Reuters)—Russia's decision to attend the Japanese peace treaty conference at San Francisco next month was seen today in many quarters as an effort to prevent Japan from recovering her sovereignty and a strong position on the Far East.

On the whole, reaction was cautious. But the general feeing was that the Russians would try to obstruct completion of the treaty, and use the conference for their own propaganda purposes.

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia barked "good" when told of the Russian decision, but did not amplify his comment. In Tokyo, stock market prices sagged gloomily.

Won't Be Smooth

The unofficial feeling in London was that the signing of the draft treaty could not be expected to take place smoothly.

The influential Tokyo daily Asahi Shimbun said Japanese diplomats expect the United States to press ahead with its treaty plans, but they feel the conference will be prolonged beyond its scheduled four days.

These sources suggested Russia would introduce a separate peace treaty draft which might encourage some Asian signatories to break away from the western bloc.

So far Moscow radio has not amplified the Soviet decision to attend the conference, but it broadcast newspaper articles saying that a Japanese peace treaty would be invalid unless it carried the signatures of Russia, Communist China and North Korea.

Fight Inflation Nash Pledges

WELLINGTON, NZ, Aug. 14 — (Reuters) — Labor party leader Walter Nash today opened his campaign for next month's general election with a promise to undertake special measures to combat inflation and re-establish currency and credit control.

Announcing his party's platform, Nash said consumer subsidies on many essential goods would be reimposed. He said effective price control would be maintained but taxation concessions would be provided on profits used by companies to maintain extended production.

Nash said the Labor party would continue the policy of developing a balanced defence force and work in close co-operation with Britain and the Commonwealth.

He also pledged support to the United Nations and promised New Zealand aid for world economic development.

Prime Minister Sydney Holland opened the National Party's campaign Monday by promising sweeping tax concessions and reductions in the cost of living.

Poliomyelitis In Peterborough

During the last two weeks there has been a total of fourteen reported cases of poliomyelitis in Peterborough and district. Seven adults and seven children have been stricken; two adults, each aged 25 years, have died. This is the highest incidence of the disease since the city has had a Department of Health to keep records of it. Polio is endemic throughout the province and it is not epidemic in Peterborough, although it must be admitted that so far this season the city and district have had more than their share of it.

* * *

There is no need to panic. Even considering the height it is today, other afflictions hit harder every year: tuberculosis, for instance. There are other contagious or infectious diseases of greater incidence every year which can be crippling, although death from them in this district is rare: measles, for instance, which often has serious after-effect. Each year in this city some 20 people die from pneumonia, which is listed as a communicable disease.

* * *

Polio is especially alarming because, first, it sometimes causes permanent paralysis (hence its colloquial name 'infantile paralysis'); and secondly because people do not know how to avoid contagion or infection. It is somewhat reassuring that half of the victims of polio get well and suffer no crippling from it. Fear gnaws the hearts of parents particularly because they do not know how to protect their children against it. Peterborough's medical Officer of Health has suggested precautions, and these have been published in the Examiner. But in spite of the best precautions and no matter how clean the homes and careful the occupants, the disease does strike, mysteriously, almost at random. The truth is that medical science does not know how polio is acquired and how communicated. There is no known way of getting immunity from it. Science has mastered smallpox, diphtheria and other communicable diseases which were once dreaded killers. It has yet to beat poliomyelitis.

Young Men's Military Opportunity

When war ended and the new peacetime Canadian army was being established, men were preferred for the ranks who had completed a High School education. To get into commissioned ranks was a far-off prospect, to be reached by a man after long training and demonstrated superior ability. That is changed. The educational qualifications for enlistment as a private are low, and a young man who has passed his Junior Matriculation can apply for training as an officer immediately upon enlistment.

This is an unusual opportunity. If he is single, physically fit, between the ages of 18 and 25, and has junior matriculation, the candidate accepted will become an officer cadet immediately, be sent to Camp Borden on Second Lieutenant's pay, and after three courses totalling 28 weeks, will be commissioned as an officer. A commission so gained is not permanent; it covers the period he chooses to serve between three and five years. But the officer with a Short Service commission may apply at the end of this service for a permanent commission.

The Canadian army needs men in the ranks; but it also has as great a need for good junior officer material, who would be the cadre on which, if mobilization were necessary, the expanded army would be formed. This method of commissioning recalls the Short Service commissions in the R.A.F. offered Commonwealth young men before the last war broke out. Young R.A.F. officers from Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Canada formed the backbone of the air crews who fought and won the Battle of Britain in 1940. More than half the combat pilots of that noble band were Short Service commissioned officers.

Pleven For France

At long last France has a Cabinet. The First Minister is M. Rene Pleven. He is the last in a series of ten Prime Ministers-elect chosen by President Auriol since the last Government resigned in June, and the first to succeed not only in securing approval from the National Assembly but in also forming a Cabinet acceptable enough to rival parties not to be overthrown on a first ballot. As one observer has said, the crisis seems to have exhausted itself, and "better imperfect government than no government at all" seems to have been the slogan which has made M. Pleven and his Cabinet acceptable.

The new Prime Minister leans heavily to the Right, although he has an unimpeachable political record, and joined the Free French in 1940. He belongs to a small party of his own and has succeeded in forming a coalition government by making concession to all the opposing groups of the Centre and Right whose support he needs. He has assured French workers of higher real wages, more houses, cheaper living. He has promised the farmers better prices for their wheat and silk. He has told businessmen that easier credits will be available to help production and investment. He has told Parliament that France will meet its rearmament commitments under the Atlantic Pact, but at the same time he will not delay or diminish the investment in heavy industry, as provided in the Monnet plan to enable France to increase production and modernize its economy. He has also promised a balanced budget. With this array of compromises and promises behind him, foreign observers may be pardoned for believing that his government has small hope of a long life.

It is necessary at this time for France to have a Government. Inflation, major international decisions and German rearmament all require Governmental action. They need more than that: they need a strong French Government, which M. Pleven may be unable to provide. He has strong, experienced key men in his cabinet, however, who will again as before give good leadership: vice-premier and minister of defence George Bidault; Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and Minister of State Henri Queuille.

Mistaken Ears

The Sarnia Observer finds that English accents are uncommon here and says that, unlike other Commonwealth countries, Canada has "veered completely away from the Motherland" in its ways of speech. It puts this down to the influence of United States' speech. The Observer is wrong-headed. Canadian speech resembles American because they both come, in part, from the same source: seventeenth century English.

Canadian and American accents are more conservatively the accents of their fathers (and great-great-great-grandfathers) than the accent of modern "received Southern English." It is the English who have veered away from the mother tongue, not the Americans and Canadians. Shakespeare spoke with an accent more like ours than a present-day educated London club man's. He said, as we do, extraordinary in six syllables, not in three. The syllabic collapse on modern English tongues from ex-tra-or-din-ary to ex-trod-nry is a refinement or debasement which Canadians and Americans have avoided. Likewise the softening of 'a' is a relatively new English trick. Ours is more nearly the tongue of Shakespeare and Milton than is that of modern Oxford, Cheltenham and Mayfair.

Actually, Canadian speech has been moulded less by Englishmen than by Scots and Irishmen. Keen ears find the accent and intonation of Ontario (Toronto excepted) Irish rather than English in derivation. We except Toronto, because Toronto speech has suffered from American influences—American usage and accent sharpened in the last century by its immigrants from Europe. For instance, Toronto people are guilty of saying "ceow" for "cow." (It is hard to mimic their accent in print, but if you hold your nose and whine, you will get the effect.)

The Sarnia Observer must have a faulty ear. It says: "Bostonians speak what is almost an Oxford accent." That is balderdash. For the sake of the validity of most of its opinions, it is well that that newspaper is an Observer and not a Listener.

"Complacency" About War

An Administration member of the American House of Representatives, piloting a $56 billion appropriation bill through the House, warned Wednesday against "complacency". This Democratic military expert, Representative George Mahon, seems to have a limited notion of what complacency is. He cautioned the House and all Americans about being complacent regarding the present Korean war, which has cost that country an estimated five billion dollars in its first year. His theme was that Americans must not let down and become indifferent to the war because armistice talks are being held. We can agree with this point of view. But how shocking was the complacency which the Representative revealed about future, bigger wars.

Mr. Mahon talked without batting an eyelash of "a minimum hope that our difficulties with Russia can and will be resolved short of war . . . We are not so blind that we fail to realize that an all-out shooting war might last for a decade and might very well destroy much of civilization as we know it on this planet." What sort of human nature is it that can feel that a people are complacent if they do not provide $56 billions for war, and calmly say that there is only a "minimum hope" of averting a war which "might very well destroy much of civilization as we know it on this planet"? The thought of such a war gives us bigger shudders than the thought of not providing $56 billion to prepare for it.

A Visit To Russia

By GEOFFREY SPYER

(Ed. Note:- The author of this article is an architectural student at the Architectural Association in London, who recently travelled to the Soviet Union as a member of a delegation from the National Union of Students.)

ON our arrival at Leningrad we were met by a large crowd of people representing the local students and the Komsomol (league of Communist Youth) who greeted us with speeches and bouquets. This festive atmosphere continued throughout our stay. Wherever we went in the Soviet Union we were met with the same warm reception and almost overpowering hospitality—overpowering because vast meals we were called upon to eat at the most irregular hours were something of an ordeal; and the custom of draining one's glass at each of many toasts was altogether beyond the comparatively abstemious students from Great Britain.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE banquets also reduced the time left for what were to us more important things. Travelling by air, we toasted our way through Leningrad, Moscow, Tiflis, Sukhum, Zaporozhe, Kiev, and back again to Moscow—all in three weeks. During all that time we had practically no time to ourselves to wander round at will; and most of our impressions of Moscow and the other cities were gained through the windows of buses and cars carrying us along the main streets.

✧ ✧ ✧

OUR actual programme suffered from something of the same sterility. During the sea-voyage to Leningrad we drew up a list of things we wanted to do and see. When we discussed this tentative programme with the Russian chairman of the anti-Fascist Committee, we were told that certain things—for example, a visit to the new Moscow University building or to a corrective labour camp could not be arranged. Many other items were conceded only after considerable pressure on our part and very much towards the end of our visit.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE, curiously enough, included the meetings with Soviet students, which we felt to be the most important part of our tour—indeed, its whole justification. We had one large party with the students at Moscow University Club. After that, the general tendency was to confront us with important personalities and officials who answered (or did not answer) the questions we would much rather have put in informal conversations with our opposite numbers among the students. Even when we did meet these, we were limited to short, formal exchanges of compliments and political questions. On top of all this we had to spend a great deal of time touring faculties and institutes of Higher Education in which none of us was specially qualified to make comparisons and informed judgements.

I was there as an architectural student; and most of my time was spent looking at anything but architecture and meeting everyone but students of architecture. Nevertheless, it was possible to obtain some vivid impressions of Moscow as a city.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT impresses first of all by its vastness, its great, wide streets, too wide for easy traffic control; its huge open places, great expanses of asphalt upon which no pedestrian dare voyage; its monumental new buildings with their acres of debased classical ornament and altogether its vast emptiness. We saw only the main boulevards and all too little of the endless and intricate network of small lanes and courts which fill the space between them. But, in its public face, Moscow appears to have nothing to do with the people who live and work in it. Nowhere is there a feeling of intimacy or of scale in keeping with human beings; and it is this cold monumentality which gives the impression of vast emptiness.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE great buildings have been thrown up with the fervour, but not the skill, of the Mediaeval masons. Yet the great buildings and projects are not as one might expect in a Socialist state, the homes of the people, but the offices of government, the libraries, museums and the underground railway stations. The rector of Moscow Medical Institute had a phrase for this: "Communism in the midst of Socialism", he called it. And the Traffic Controller of the Metro pointed out that since everyone uses the Metro it must possess richness, splendour and grandeur to express the power of the people. In order to achieve this design in a way acceptable to the people, the architects have seen fit to strike a standard somewhat lower and more vulgar than that of popular restaurants in Britain. Beneath its marble veneer, the Metro is quite decidedly shoddy in its construction: and the same goes for all the new buildings we saw in Moscow, Georgia and the Ukraine.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE pseudo-classical style and debased ornamentation are the Soviet architects' response to the call for "Socialist Realism" in all the arts. In practice, Social Realism stands for reaction away from all modern trends and foreign influence which might fall under the dire ban of "cosmopolitanism". It covers the photographic style in painting and sculpture, the popular, derivative character of the musics, the predominance of Stalin and Lenin as subjects for adoration in all the arts, and the presentation of strong, uncomplicated Soviet heroes and heroines leading lives of improbable priggishness in literature.

The basic idea behind this movement is understandable: it is to bring the arts to the masses and at the same time at all costs introverted self-questioning must be eliminated—not on moral grounds but because five-year plans cannot be carried out by sceptics.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN practice what results far too often are monstrosities like Alexandrov's Cantata to Stalin for full choir and orchestra which earned the composer a Stalin prize and, in a singularly Victorian manner, plumbs the depths of musical vulgarity. This work was performed at every public and student's concert we attended during the tour. It did not, I am convinced, accord at all with the genuine and profound artistic feeling of the Russian people which will one day once more find its natural expression.

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE

Hotel Detection

(LONDON TIMES)

NEARLY every one has had the experience of meeting some familiar figure in unusual costume or surroundings and of failing at first to identify him. How difficult it is to place the postman or the milkman when we meet him in mufti on the heath, how nearly impossible to recognize the lady from the library when we see her at the fun fair, far from her back-ground of books.

Some men never forget a face, they boast, but nearly all forget at some time the person to whom the face belongs—as Henry James is said to have done, one day in the street at Rye, when he saw a lady whom he knew that he knew, but could not for the life of him identify. She stopped him and began a conversation. "I've had the rest of it," she said, "made into rissoles." The unknown was his cook.

The difficulty takes on a new and fascinating form at holiday times. Every one we meet has fled from his context of home and office. All are so to speak, in mufti. We are not tortured by the notion; but cannot help wondering, if we have the faintest spark of interest in our fellows or the smallest pleasure in amateur detection, who they are, and where they come from, and what they do all day when not preoccupied with the serious business of getting sunburnt.

Formal introduction, and small talk in the lounge of the hotel, will soon solve the simplest of these mysteries, but often days elapse, and sometimes a couple of weeks, before the dark stranger who swims so very well divulges what his job is.

Some men, alas, are all to ready to tell us all about themselves. The difficulty is, not to start, but to stop them. They plunge precipitately into their particular "shop" and continue to splash happily about in it so long as an audience of any size or sort remains.

It is not these we would know better, but the obviously pleasant, rather self-contained little family at the corner table, the man who goes walking by himself all day, the shy young person who is reading Chesterdon, the fierce old lady who, when they asked her to play bridge, simply snorted. It is no doubt vulgar to feel curious about them, but if they will be so significantly silent, so promisingly reticent, so modest and mysterious, they must not complain if they arouse in us a friendly desire to know them better. We mean it as a compliment. "I do not remember what we talked about, but I know that we talked for three-quarters of an hour. At the end of it . . . he asked me (not having heard my name) what was my profession."

The writer is Mr. Somerset Maugham, and the man who asked him what his job was, at a dinner party, was Thomas Hardy. Mr. Maughan described it as a compliment, and so it was.

Some Strange Ideas About Economy

(CALGARY HERALD)

THIS spring the federal government made a big fuss about economy. Government staffs were to be cut to the bone. The nation was girding itself for defence and peacetime fat must go. Then, for reasons unaccountable to most people, the government decided the department with the most fat was the post office. The result was that essential men were laid off right and left in the postal services, but in few other departments.

In Calgary, for instance, the post office laid off 23 men so that twice-a-day mail delivery could be abolished—according to the edicts from Ottawa. During the past week, the Calgary post office has decided to hire 20 more men—"to give faster home delivery." The sum total of Ottawa's economy measures, so far as the Calgary branch of the postal service is concerned then, is the loss of three men.

But in the process of this shuffle the government and the people it represents, lost a great deal more. A public service in Canada has been severely curtailed. This has caused inconvenience to the public and hardship to the postal employees. And this has resulted in bad feeling between the government and the postal employees which cannot but decrease the eficiency of the work done. If inefficiency is an economy, then we have indeed a lot to learn about economics.

For back in March when the department decided to institute once-a-day delivery in residential areas, it announced that most of the 1,200 "surplus" postmen across Canada would be absorbed into the government. Now if that occurred, if most of the 23 carriers "fired" in Calgary were absorbed in some other work by the government, the 20 new workers being hired in the near future will represent that much additional cost to the taxpayers. Perhaps it was in anticipation of such postal mathematics that the estimates for the post office department went up by more than $7,700,000 this year.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel; fill thine horn with oil, and go, I will send thee to Jesse the Beth-lehemite: for I have provided me a king among his sons. . . . And Samuel did that which the Lord spake, and came to Beth-lehem. And the elders of the town trembled at his coming, and said, Comest thou peaceably? And he said, Peaceably: I am come to sacrifice unto the Lord: sanctify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice. And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the Lord's anointed is before him.

But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. . . . Again, Jesse made seven of his sons to pass before Samuel. And Samuel said unto Jesse, The Lord hath not chosen these.

And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children? And he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and, behold, he keepeth the sheep. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Send and fetch him: for we will not sit down till he come hither. And he sent, and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look to. And the Lord said, Arise, anoint him: for this is he. Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren: and the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward. (1 Sam. 16: 1, 4-7, 10-13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King. . . . For the Lord taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation. (Ps. 149: 2, 4.)

Tom-Foolishness

(Montreal Star)

A note in The Manchester Guardian about the great Reuters centennial banquet in London urges us, not for the first time, to remark that somebody in the British bureaucracy ought to get his head read.

In framing the menu for the dinner, somebody at Reuters got the bright idea that each of its affiliates abroad might provide some typical food from its country to add international variety to the meal. The suggestion was enthusiastically accepted. India sent mangoes to go with the ice cream. New Zealand sent Toheroa soup (made from a crayfish delicacy in those parts). The Australians wanted to send a thousand saddles of lamb. Down came the bureaucratic axe! This was contrary to regulations.

Britain is, we know, short of meat, and a good many people abroad send food parcels to friends which often include meat of one kind or another. This is, according to the book of rules, quite all right. But, when the friends of Reuters in Australia, want to send Reuters a mouthful of good solid meat, Whitehall takes fright. Of all the tom-fool regulations this is one of the tom-foolishest.

The fact is, of course, that the Labour government has decided that, if it makes a mistake, everybody must suffer, and no exceptions are to be allowed. You take it, and like it.

THE WAR OF WITS

Russ Farmers Fail To Reach Ambitious Goals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) —The United States Agriculture Department said today the best information it has indicates that Russian agriculture has not yet attained the ambitious production goals set by Soviet rulers.

In a survey of Russian agriculture, the department said it appears that the total area planted to crops last year was 363,000,000 acres compared with a government goal of 392,000,000 acres.

In fact, it said, last year's acreage fell a little short of 1938, when plantings totalled about 378,000,000 acres. US plantings have been running upward of 350,000,000 acres.

Below Goals

Livestock numbers at the start of 1951 were also below the official Soviet goals, the department said.

"While reliable statistical data has been scanty," the survey said, "indications are that the post-war recovery of Russian agriculture has been at a considerably-slower pace than was contemplated in the ambitious goals of the Soviet reconstruction program."

The survey gave an outline of the collectivization of agriculture and of a series of "five-year" plans for boosting output.

If department estimates are fairly accurate, Russia is far behind the United States in the number of meat animals. The department estimates Russia had 57,000,000 head of cattle and 21,000,000 head of hogs at the start of this year. The United States had 84,000,000 head of cattle and 65,000,000 head of hogs.

Russia led in sheep, however, with 99,000,000 head compared with 31,000,000 in the US.

They are refugees who escaped from East Prussia, Silesia and other German territory under Soviet domination, gathered at a mass meeting in Waldbuhne open-air theatre in the British sector of Berlin.

Loses Death Race

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP) — Police Constable Ronald Anderson raced death in his cruiser Monday and lost. His five-year-old daughter was the victim. Anderson—who won a citation for heroism for rescues during the Noronic fire—Sept. 17, 1949, when 119 lives were lost—took his child to hospital after his wife phoned him that the girl was choking.

Gift Without Strings

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) —The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved a no-strings $400,000,000 military and economic aid program for Franco Spain Monday and rejected a subcommittee's criticism of the Spanish dictatorship. The subcommittee had recommended the aid program on the condition the Spanish government "promote the freedoms cherished by the Spanish peoples."

Return To Work

REGINA, Aug. 14 (CP) — Assiniboia teachers who resigned in June because of a dispute with the school trustees have indicated they will return to work, it was learned Monday. The Assiniboia school board has reinstated U. L. Hoover as principal of the high school. It was his dismissal that prompted the other teachers to resign.

Remembrance Service At Fallis Cemetery

BETHANY, Aug. 14 (ENS). — The annual Remembrance Day service was held at Fallis cemetery, south of Bethany on Sunday with many former residents attending, bringing their floral tributes of respect to those who rest in this historic cemetery, which is connected with Manvers United church.

The Rev. J. O. Johnston of Toronto spoke on "Memorials," paying tribute to the pioneers who had settled this portion of Manvers township. J. Bull of Lindsay, a member of the Salvation Army Band spoke briefly. A. H. Monk of Bethany led the opening exercises and on behalf of the gathering thanked the committee in charge of arrangements: Fenton Fallis, Norman Fallis, Earl Argue and Norman Porter. The song service was led by Harry Preston and the Lindsay Salvation Army Band provided music throughout the afternoon.

Get Week's Leave After Three Months

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 — (CP) — Personnel of Canada's 27th Brigade are to be given seven days' leave after three months' service, the Army said Monday.

Recruiting for the brigade, slated to go to Europe, began last May so that some early enlistees already will be due for leave.

The present army leave system calls for seven days' leave after six months' service.

Change In Fee

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14 (CP) — The Winnipeg Tribune Monday in a front-page story quotes a high government official as saying the federal government is considering abolition of the radio licence fee. He said the $2.50 fee then would be replaced by a $5 or $10-fee imposed on television sets. "I can't tell you when this will come to be," he said, "but it's on the books."

Delayed By Shortage

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 14 (AP)— The Swedish Wood Pulp Journal expressed regret Monday that its August issue had been delayed for two weeks—by the paper shortage. The Journal is published by the Association of Swedish Wood Pulp Producers, whose idustries are among the world's leaders in production of the basic material of paper.

Awarded Scholarships

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 — (CP) — Simone Leblanc, of West Pubnico, NS, has been awarded the $1,000 annual national scolarship of the Catholic Women's League, it was announced Monday night. Miss Leblanc, an honors graduate this year from St. Joseph University at St. Joseph, NB, will take post-graduate study in social service at the University of Montreal.

Farmers Ask Aid

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (CP)— Farmers of Vancouver Island and the Fraser Valley on the lower mainland, facing a $10,000,000 crop loss due to two-months' drought, have petitioned the federal government for immediate aid. They asked for an order-in-council authorizing free freight on hay for coast livestock growers. The petition was sent to Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Regimentation Danger

ITHACA, N.Y., Aug. 14 (AP)— The World Assembly of Youth opened its first plenary session Monday with a warning from State Secretary Dean Acheson that regimentation could lead only backward. Acheson spoke over a telephone circuit from Washington to about 500 young people from 64 non-Communist countries. They are delegates and observers to the first general meeting being held on the Cornell University campus.

Found Guilty Gets Hard Labor For Life

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Aug. 14. — (Reuters)— George Cecil Horry, the "bridegroom of death," was sentenced to hard labor for life today for murdering his wife Mary the day after their wedding nine years ago.

Police have searched unsuccessfully for Mary's body ever since and to the end of the trial Horry, 44, maintained he was innocent. He told the court after sentence today: "She went to America and to the best of my knowledge she is still there."

But Supreme Court Judge Adams had asked the jury in his summing up: "Is it in the realm of possibility that a woman would leave behind so much of her wardrobe as has been produced in court?"

Found No Body

Monday, Horry's defence lawyer said he could not find any jury in the British Empire which had convicted a person of murder in the absence of a body, except where direct evidence—such as a confession— showed the victim was dead.

The Judge declared that if the jury were convinced that Mary was dead and were equally certain that Horry killed her, then they were entitled to act on that view.

The prosecutor said Horry swept Mary off her feet and "having no money of his own got her to marry him so he could obtain her money and then destroy her."

One witness testified during the week-long trial that Horry withdrew money from a bank account just before the wedding.

SHANNON BELL — Quarterdeck of the British cruiser Superb was crowded as Vice-Admiral Sir Richard Symonds-Taylor, handed the famous Shannon Bell to Canadian Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy. The bell bears the scars of the engagement in which the Shannon captured the heavily-armed American ship Chesapeake in 1813. The ceremony took place in Halifax Harbor.

Havelock Pipe Band Asked To Play For Prince And Princess At Trenton

HAVELOCK, Aug. 14—(ENS) —The Havelock Pipe Band has been engaged by Major Couch of Trenton to play there on the occasion of the visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on October 5.

Mayor Couch was at Wellington on Sunday where the Havelock Pipe Band played for a church parade and gave a band concert in the evening. His worship immediately engaged them to take part in the festivities at Trenton for the Royal visit.

The new kilts worn by the band are made of King George VI tartan.

Halifax Shows Biggest Jump In Living Costs

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 — (CP) — Cost-of-living indexes for eight major cities showed increases ranging from 1.8 to 2.8 per cent between July 1 and July 3, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Monday.

The sharpest increase was in Halifax, where the index rose from 171.5 to 176.3. Higher food prices in all cities accounted for most of the changes, and Halifax showed the largest food increase.

The index uses the living costs of August, 1939, as the base of 100.

The following table shows the indexes for the eight cities, showing changes in retail prices and services. It does not indicate whether it costs more to live in one city than another.

	July 3 1950	June 1 1951	July 3 1951
Halifax	158.5	171.5	176.3
St. John, NB	164.0	171.5	176.3
Montreal	171.6	190.4	195.3
Toronto	164.2	179.9	183.5
Winnipeg	161.9	177.4	181.8

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

If it rains tonight, it might be a break for several local clubs. Unfortunately for fans (and for gate receipts), three parks here are booked for important games tonight, and folks can't be in three places at once. Girls' and men's softball playoffs go at the East City Bowl, Marines and Westclox lasses' settling their senior city title (and the right to meet Belleville here tomorrow at eight p.m.) in a seven o'clock clash. Revoy's and Orphans have a men's semi-final about 8.30. At Riverside, Kingsways tackle the Petes at 8.30 and the Whitehill crew could clinch top spot in the Viaduct Baseball League with a victory. Brampton Excelsiors wind up the OLA senior schedule here at 8.45 in Miller Bowl with the Timbermen, who have made certain of first place. So, you pay your money and take your choice.

Current issue of People Today says the Soviets, in entering a team for the '52 Olympics in Helsinki, are trying to build and mass-produce winning athletes to show up the capitalistic countries. Quite likely. A fat government subsidy and an all-union committee handpicks and trains prospects and sends 'em to special schools whose function it is to pick out winners—or else. Winners receive high honors while losers are ordered back to work in disgrace. The mag doesn't figure the USSR male athletes will show too much, but thinks maybe the women will win in the shot put, javelin and discus throws. They are reported to be big, husky and durable. Ugh.

Ye Trundlers Get Ready

Bill Flint advises that an open meeting will be held by the Major Bowling League on Aug. 28, two weeks from tonight. All entries must be in the hands of the secretary by Aug. 27, with last year's teams given first chance. New teams welcome, if there's room. 'Tis hoped to open the loop season on Sept. 4 and bowl each Tuesday after that until spring once again comes to the countryside. Mail entries to Wm. Flint, 47 Park St., south. Seems to us that the trundling season here commences earlier each year and runs longer, but then a lot of fellows and girls like to crash those maples on the several alleys operating in Peter's borough.

See where 39-year-old Charlie Gehringer succeeds Billy Evans, who is 67, as general manager of the Detroit Tigers in the American League. Charlie saw service with Toronto Leafs ere stepping up to star for the Tigers during the 30s. A .300 lefthand hitter, he was one of the finest second-sackers ever to grace a diamond in the majors. We've seen him play often. Smooth as velvet, Gehringer made everything —including double plays—looks easy as he helped the Cochrane crowd to several pennants. Tigers aren't going so well this season, so the veteran Evans (former sports scribe and big league umpire) gets the axe. You have to produce winners to stay up there.

Girls' Series Sewed Up

The Outboard femmes extended city softball finals to the limit last night by squeezing out a 6-5 win o'er Westclox at the Bowl, the second game being washed out in the fourth. It'll be run off tonight. This series is not only to declare a senior girls' city championship team but to put the winner into provincial intermediate "A" playdowns 'gainst Belleville here Wednesday, as mentioned above. While Westclox got a couple of more hits last eve, Eleanor Whittaker was sparing with safeties in the clutches and the Marines earned the close verdict. The Clockers played their usual fine brand of ball, but their one miscue proved costly. A right nifty playoff tussle.

Coach Leo Deadey had more than two dozen huskies working out in Morrow Park last evening as the big-shouldered boys of the grid game start crowding their way onto the sports scene. A number of last year's Orfuns on deck again, some newcomers and several of the better ex-PCVS senior stars. Other promising prospects have yet to be heard from, but the squad will drill five nights a week there from now on. Deadey doesn't fool at these workouts, claiming that he wants his players in top form when the schedule opens and not working themselves into shape during the campaign. The former senior ace knows his football thoroughly, having played under some of the best coaches in the country.

Marines Tie Up Girls' Final With Westclox

Outboard Marines nudged out a 6-5 Girls' Softball League win over Westclox at the Bowl last night to tie up the senior city finals at two games each. The other part of the twin bill was rained out, so these teams will settle the issue tonight at seven in the Bowl (before the men's playoff) if the weather is right. The winner has to meet Belleville girls at eight tomorrow evening here in PWSU intermediate "A" Playdowns, return game or games being in Belleville on Saturday.

Last night's number was a fine one, with but one error throughout and the hitting and fielding pretty much on a par. E. Whittaker was in good mound form for the winners while M. Armstrong went the route for the other side. Westclox one miscue let in three runs. A. LaPointe led Marines at bat with a homer, triple and single in four. M. Hawthorne had a homer and two singles for Westclox, M. Owen three singles, and J. McIntyre a four-bagger. The latter and J. Hart shone defensively. Teams:

Westclox: M. Batley lf, J. McIntyre 1b, M. Hawthorne c, A. Anderson lf, J. Snape 2b, M. Selkirk rf, M. Owen 2b, M. Armstrong p, B. Rumble.

Marines: M. Behan ss, J. Hart cf, M. Gillen c, E. Whittaker p, A. LaPointe 2b, V. Page 1b, M. Connelly rf, E. Mantle lf, B. McMahon 3b.

Hastings Signal Bell Said To Be Nuisance

HASTINGS, Aug. 14 (ENS)—The Hastings village council at its monthly meeting authorized the clerk to complain to the Department of Transport and the Department of Highways about the continual ringing of the signal bell when a train is on the siding at the Bridge St. crossing. He was told to ask for the installation of a different system.

The clerk was authorized to purchase three signs "No Parking Here to Corner". The council voted $10 to the Salvation Army.

Fastball League

Following are the Industrial Fastball League postponed games to be played:

Aug. 14—McGinness at Mt. Pleasant.

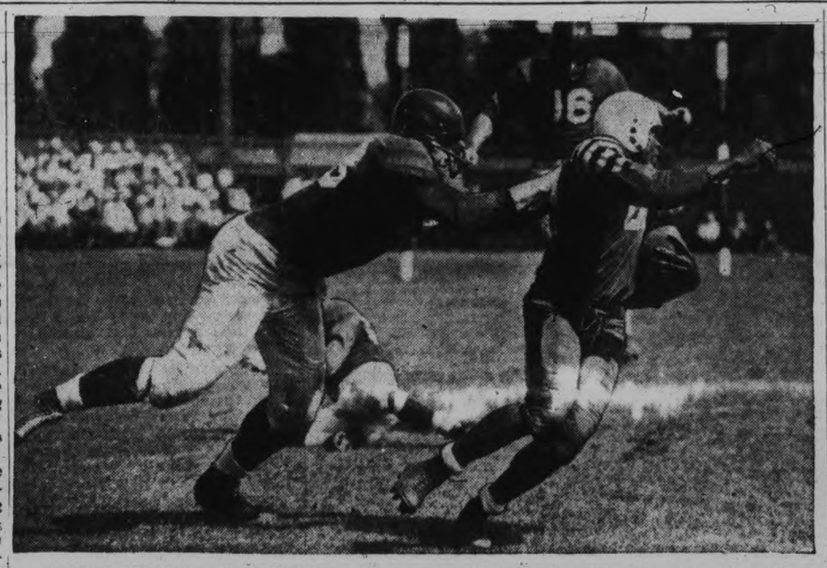
Aug. 15—Mutuals at Mt. Pleasant, Norwood vs. McGinness at Quaker.

Aug. 16—Norwood vs. Rays at Brinton, Quakers vs. McGinness at Quaker.

Aug. 20—Quakers at Norwood, Rays vs. McGinness at Quaker.

Aug. 21—Norwood vs. McGinness at Brinton.

Playoffs will start as soon as these games have been completed.



INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL — New oYrk Giants of the National League had too much power for Ottawa Rough Riders when the tteams played an exhibition game in Ottawa, the visitors winning, 41-18. The game was played half under Canadian rules, half American-style. Steve Hatfield, formerly with the Giants but now with Ottawa, is shown being stopped on his way to the Giants goal line.

Mimico Wallops St. Kitts

By The Canadian Press.

The second-place Mimico Mountaineers Monday night walloped St. Catharines Athletics 20-7 while third-place Hamilton Tigers defeated Toronto West Yorks 9-3 in their Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association contests.

At Mimico, St. Catharines was only in the game for time enough to score two fast goals in the opening period. Then the Mounties came back with four goals in the first session and went on to a 11-3 lead at half-time.

Kenny Lytle paced Mimico with five goals and two assists and Ken Dixon, Denny Peterson and Ted Downer each scored three goals apiece. Don McPhail leader in the league scoring race, netted three more markers last night.

Bill Bradshaw with three goals and Tony D'Amico with two were high scorers for St. Catharines.

The Tigers and Toronto had a slow time of it with Jack Doherty, Merv McKenzie and Tommy Love scoring two for Hamilton while Blaine McDonald, George Masters and Davidson added singles.

Bruce Webster got two and Jim McNulty one for Toronto.

Out At The Kawartha

With the holiday period and the Kawartha Lakes tournament behind, it is now possible to get ahead with the scheduled club competitions.

In the Kawartha Cup play, G. Myles is in final position awaiting the winner of the D. Bath-W. Durant match.

Play in the McRae Cup competition has come along well and we note that N. G. McKenzie is in the finals, marking time until Leo Ackford and Hugh Siddall battle it out and the winner moves up.

The mixed doubles is in its final stages with the teams of Audrey Allan and B. Barnett and Ruth McKee and Errol Hanbidge eagerly awaiting the winners of matches yet to be played.

The club championship competition play has narrowed right down to four of the club's top golfers. In the semi-finals, Errol Hanbidge, last year's champion will play D. Vitarelli, while last year's runner-up, Mel Akers will play Jack Raine.

Three games have yet to be played in the President's Cup to bring it up to date, while in the men's two-ball—lagging, is the word for it. Anyway these lads are causing the match committee considerable concern, and when last seen the committee were dusting off the guillotine. Seems that they are committed to maintain the even tenor of our way.

JU-JITSU — Dodger Catcher Roy Campanella looks as if he's about to flip First Baseman Gil Hodges into the boxes at Ebbets Field. Actually, the two were going after Bill Rigney's pop foul which dropped in front of them during the series with the Giants.

Rays Victorious

Raybestos defeated Norwood 7-1 in a fastball fray last evening at Brinton Field. Nicholls and his mates held Norwood to their lone run in the first frame only one man reaching third the rest of the route and two getting to second. Rays shoved two across in second heat, adding two in the fifth and clinching the contest with three runs in the sixth of a good game. Teams:

Norwood: Spencer c, Wilford cf, B. Garden ss, Payne p, W. Garden 1b, Martin 2b, Evans lf, Audas 3b, Cuthbertson rf, Kelly rf.

Rays: L. Maudsley cf, Halliday 2b, Pryde rf, Crary 3b, E. Maudsley 1b, Batley ss, Giles lf, Greenlaw c, Nicholls p.

Grant & Loucks Win

Grant & Loucks beat Salvation Army 9-5 last evening in their Civic Softball League clash, counting five runs in a big seventh inning—including homers by Chenier and Goodfellow—after getting two each in the second and fourth. The losers got all their runs in the sixth stanza of a tidy tussle. Teams:

Salvation Army: C. Braund 2b, Jones 3b, Routley ss, Robertson cf, Parsons p, Ede lf, R. Braund c, Slaughter 1b, G. Braund rf.

Grant & Loucks: Chenier 3b, Treen ss, Goodfellow 1b, Smith c, Harrison 2b, Conroy p, Hancock rf, Harris cf, Little lf.

Kawartha Club Wins Two In Tennis Loop

The Kawartha Tennis Club defeated Port Hope 5-2 and Cobourg 5-2 in weekend matches to conclude their Kawartha Tennis League schedule in first place. They had 50 points out of 70 in 10 matches which is just over 71 per cent. A few matches remain among other teams and then playoffs will commence.

Kawartha wins at Port Hope were: Ladies' singles, Rose Fletcher over Doris Jennings; men's singles, John Fletcher over Geo. Sneyd; first men's doubles, Ron Lye and Don Lamont over J. Pillsworth and Mel Berry; second, Peter Thompson and John Faguy over Bob Tosh and Ray Hutchings; second mixed, Agnes Bubik and John Faguy over Mary Douglas and Gord Colborne; Port Hope's Adele Armstrong and Peter Lewis beat Maurice Charlton and Willard Elmsley in the first mixed, while Doris Sneyd and Helen Brown, of Port Hope, took the ladies' doubles over Betty Lamont and Joan Lye.

Kawartha wins at home over Cobourg were: Ladies' singles, Maurice Charlton over Phyllis Jones; Willard Elsmley over John Collins in men's singles; first mixed doubles, Rose Fletcher and John Faguy over Jane Pirie and Jim Oakman; second, Agnes Bubik and John Fletcher over Doris Quigley and I. Quigley; ladies' doubles, Joan Lye and Marg Adamson over Maureen Cockhill and Marion Houston. In the first men's doubles, Cobourg's Gord Robinson and Paul Leonard won from Ron Lyne and Forrest Rankine; and in the second, Jack Jamieson and Keith Anderson of Cobourg downed Peter Thompson and Alf Hardwick.

Following the play here, the clubs enjoyed a fine clubhouse luncheon arranged by the Kawartha team's social convener, Mrs. Maurice Charlton.

Elgin Silk Wins For Local Owner

TORONTO, Aug. 14 — (CP)— The harness racing season resumed in Toronto Monday after an eight-day layoff and Dolly Todd, owned by R. Landers of Orangeville and driven by Bill Harvey, won the featured trotting race of the afternoon.

She was beaten a short head by Flora Lee—another Orangeville horse—in the first heat and then came back to win the final dash from Peter B. Harvester, Flora Lee and four other rivals.

Elgin Silk, owned and driven by Jimmy McIntyre of Peterborough, won the fourth race, a mile trot. Second choice in the wagering, Elgin Silk paid $7.30 for a $2 ticket.

The longest price of the day was the place bet on John Storm. He paid $52.95 for a $2 ticket.

This week's racing will be featured on Friday by the $3,000 Maple Leaf Cup for trotters. An extra race—a betless feature—will be run this afternoon before the opening of the regular program. This is the Goodwill Cup for trotters.

MINOSO LEADS AL

Orestes Minoso of Chicago, continued to lead American League hitters last week.

The White Sox outfielder batted at a .342 clip through games of Sunday to lead Ferris Fain of Philadelphia by eight points.

Rochester Crushes Bisons 11-4 In Seventh Straight Triumph

By The Associated Press.

It appears that Rochester Red Wings, Buffalo Bisons, Syracuse Chiefs and Toronto Maple Leafs will battle right down to the wire for the three remaining International League playoff berths.

Montreal Royals are out in front by 13 games but only six games separate the fourth-place Syracuse Chiefs from the runner-up Red Wings today. The third-place Bisons are three games back of the Wings while the fifth-place Leafs are four games behind the Chiefs.

Rochester chalked up its seventh straight triumph Monday night, beating the Bisons 11-4. Bob Habenicht limited Buffalo to six hits. The Wings pounded Buffalo ace Rudy Minarcin and three relief pitchers for 11 hits.

Turn Back Orioles

The Chiefs snapped a six-game losing streak as lefty Bill Miller turned back the Baltimore Orioles 2-1. Howie Moss accounted for the only Oriole run with a homer in the second inning. The Chiefs scored both of their runs in the last of the second on two walks, a fielder's choice and Ben Zientara's infield single and an error.

Springfield's tail-end Cubs defeated Montreal 3-1. The victory ended a 20-game losing streak in the Royals' park for the Cubs. Vern Fear, with help from Tony Jacobs, gained credit for the victory. Carmen Mauro homered for the first Cub run in the opening inning. Nels Burbrink and Ed McDade drove home the others in the sixth.

Toronto played an exhibition game with the parent St. Louis Browns and beat the American League tail-enders 3-0. Frank Barnes and Irv Medlinger blanked the Brownies on four hits. Johnny Ostrowski and Charley Grant socked homers for the Leafs.

Cleveland's Pennant Hopes Even Brighter As Tribe Edges Detroit 2-1

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's onrushing Indians continue to whiz by all opposition as the "Lopez Limited" speeds steadily toward its destination—Pennantville. No wonder the Indians, led by Manager Al Lopez, are talking pennant today. The Tribe won again Monday night, defeating Detroit 2-1. The victory increased their first-place margin over New York Yankees to 2½ games as Philadelphia shellacked the Yanks for the third straight time, 16-8.

It stretched the Tribe's winning streak to 11 straight, only two short of the club's all-time record of 13 accomplished in 1942.

It marked the 19th triumph for Bob Feller, who celebrated a "night" in his honor by limiting the Tigers to seven hits.

It was the eighth consecutive complete job by a Cleveland hurler and it was the 12th straight game the Indians held their opposition to four runs or less.

Homer Does It

A homer by Al Rosen—his 20th—proved the difference Monday night. It came in the fourth inning and snapped a scoreless duel between Feller and Marlin Stuart. A Detroit error, Feller's bloop single, a sacrifice and Bob Avila's fly gave Cleveland an unearned run in the fifth. Singles by Jerry Priddy and Dick Kryhoski and George Kell's forceout produced the Tigers' run in the eighth.

Philadelphia raked four New York chukkers for 18 hits—its season high—and scored in all but the first and eighth innings. Catcher Joe Tipton got four hits and drove in three runs. Elmer Valo also made four hits and drove in two. Morrie Martin won his seventh game.

A three-run homer by Gil Hodges in the eighth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 7-6 victory over Boston Braves and left their 12½ game first place margin intact. The runner-up New York Giants won their third straight from Philadelphia Phils 5-2.

Sweep Twin Bill

Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 2-0, and 7-1, while Chicago Cubs upset St. Louis Cardinals 6-3.

Hodges' homer was his 33rd of the season and the 100th of his big league career. Carl Erskine was credited with his 13th victory.

Whitey Lockman cracked a three-run homer in the first inning off Bubba Church and that was all Larry Jansen needed to record his 15th triumph for the Giants.

The Cubs blasted Dick Bokelman for five runs in the second inning to ruin the rookie's first big league start. Ransom Jackson collected three hits and scored twice. Stan Musial's 200th big-league homer went to waste for the Cards.

Howie Fox blanked the Bucs on five hits in the opener and helped his cause with a homer. Ewell Blackwell had a one-hitter until the ninth of the nightcap. It was Blackie's 12th triumph.

Boston, Washington, St. Louis and Chicago in the American League were not scheduled.

Tried To Kill Hitler Men Earn Rank Of Martyrs

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (AP)—The men who tried to kill Hitler in 1944 and failed with their bomb plot have earned the rank of martyrs. The West Berlin City Government has decided to immortalize them.

Artists have been invited to submit sketches for a memorial to be erected inside Plotetzensee prison, where the anti-Nazi plotters were tortured and executed after drumhead trial.

Ploetzensee now is a prison for ordinary criminals. In Hitler's time it was used for political enemies of the Third Reich. Men who entered seldom left alive. Names of plotters are to be inscribed on its base.

The place of honor will go to the four top men of the movement which reached its climax July 20, 1944, in the bomb attempt on Hitler's life at his eastern military headquarters in Rastenburg.

They are Col.-Gen. Ludwick Beck, a suicide after the plot failed; Field Marshal Edwin von Witzieben, tried and hanged; Count Claus von Stauffenberg, the man who planted the bomb and who was shot the same day he was caught; and Karl Goerdeler, former mayor of Leipzig, hanged later in prison.

Others Paid Too

Scores of lesser personalities were beheaded or hanged in Ploetenzee and the bodies destroyed or buried in nameless graves.

Other top men in the plot were Col.-Gen. Fritz Oster and Admiral Wilhelm Carnaris, head of the secret service, who were held in Flossenburg concentration camp until mid-spring, 1945, when they were hanged.

Himmler's Gestapo is believed to have slain hundreds of suspects in the roundup that followed the explosion.

Two West Germans who played opposite roles in the plot now hold prominent positions. Dr. Josef Mueller, minister of justice in Bavaria, was jailed in Berlin for complicity because of his close ties with Canaris. He occupied the cell between Carnaris and Oster at Flossenburg but was liberated by American troops in 1945.

The other is former Maj-Gen. Ernst Otto Remer, credited with marshalling the police action which prevented the putsch leaders from taking over Berlin. Remer is leader of the Socialist Reichpartei which imitates the Nazis and has grown to threatening proportions.

Musical Trend Sneaks Up On Film Director

By ROB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14 (AP)—Howard Philbrick, who ordinarily can spot a movie trend a mile away, got caught with his cycles down last week.

Philbrick is the chief of Central Casting, the outfit which supplies extra players for Hollywood studios. He can tell what kinds of pictures are being made by scanning the order lists for extra talent.

"But I got caught out on a limb," admitted Philbrick. "I guess I should have seen the trend to musicals a month ago. But it sneaked up on me and I found we were too low on dancers.

"And so I did something that was a complete reversal of our usual policy. For years, we have done everything we can to discourage people from seeking to enter extra work. But this time I issued publicity that we needed young dancers. I'm beginning to regret it now because we have been flooded with applicants.

"Actually, we don't need too many dancers, except when there is a musical cycle such as we're in now. But the kind of dancers we need are rather specialized. They have to be that rare combination—girls who are good looking and shapely, plus better than average dancers."

Unpromising Outlook

Aside from beautiful, talented dancers, the employment outlook for extras is not promising, Philbrick indicated. At one time Central Casting had as many as 20,000 persons on its rolls. Now the list numbers 3,500. It would seem that those who are left could expect steady work, but it doesn't work out that way.

"Ten years ago, we averaged from 1,000 to 1,200 extra jobs a day," Philbrick said. "Today the average is 400."

Some extras can earn as much as $4,000 a year. These are mostly dress extras, the grande dames and elegant males who decorate night club scenes, etc.

But others earn as little as $300 annually. The average is about $1,400.

RAF Again Defends Malta Beats Off "Enemy" Planes

VALETTA, Malta., Aug. 14 — (Reuters)— This island fortress was adjudged still alive and kicking Monday after RAF jet fighters had beaten off US planes in the biggest Atlantic pact manoeuvres so far staged in the Mediterranean.

Malta, which lived through the real thing in the Second World War, is the target of planes, carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines of the British Mediterranean Fleet and the US Sixth Fleet. French and Italian units are also taking part in the four-day games which started Monday.

After Monday's action, umpires decided the jets, naval fighters and dive-bombers had not yet accomplished their mission of wiping out airfields in Malta and around Cotania and Augusta, Sicily.

This was the to be the first step in an attempt by American naval units to force a passage for a convoy of "invasion troops" from the Eastern Mediterranean through the narrows between Sicily and Tunisia. But the RAF Vampires beat off every raid and claimed many theoretical victims among the American planes.

Two US Banshee jets and a British Vampire collided in mid-air during the exercise a few miles southeast of here. Two pilots were saved. One is missing.

2 Planes Collide

HUDSWELL, England, Aug. 14 (AP)—Two RAF planes collided in flight Monday, killing eight men and seriously injuring another. The planes, a Wellington bomber carrying a crew of seven and a two-seater Martinette, crashed high over Hudswell and Downholme hurtling to the ground simultaneously. They had been on a routine training flight.

Relieve HAY FEVER

Hay Fever needn't plague you with its sneezing and wheezing, its blowing and gasping, its itching irritation of eyes and ears. Get relief with Templeton's RAZ-MAH as did Mrs. Wesley Branston, Dunnville, Ont. Since childhood, she suffered from Hay Fever. The older she got, the more she suffered. Then her druggist recommended RAZ-MAH.

"The very first night I took RAZ-MAH," Mrs. Branston writes, "I slept comfortably. When I awoke, my eyes and nose were dry. I haven't been troubled since!"

Don't suffer a day longer than you have to. For quick, safe relief from Hay Fever, take RAZ-MAH. Used by thousands. 65c, $1.35 at druggists 8-62

Recalls 45 Years Of SA Work In Institutions

More than 45 years' work in Canadian penal institutions was reported in retrospect at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

The guest speaker was Lt. Col. Wallace Bunton, prison secretary for Canada for the Salvation Army with headquarters in Toronto. Col. Bunton is also well known for his work with the Salvation Army in Peterborough for a period several years ago.

"What we are looking for today are the citizens of tomorrow," Col. Bunton said. "Where we look for these future citizens is in the home — the only place where the foundation for good character can be built."

Worst Influences

The speaker explained poor home environment as the cause in the majority of cases for youngsters turning into criminals. He named crime books and mazazines and radio broadcasts allowed in the home as the worst possible influence.

"Parents must realize their responsibility to teach their children right and wrong and make them want to gow up as valuable citizens. Parents should get to know who their children's chums are and make them welcome in the home. They must also set an example by setting aside a time for worship — it doesn't matter where."

The speaker explained that 45 years ago the serious criminal offenders usually fell into the 25-40 age group. Today they are between 16 and 25.

Jails Full of Brains

"All of our penal institutions—jails, penitentiaries and reformatories — are filled up with brains and ability and everything this country needs. Each prisoner is costing the country $2.42 a day. If character had been built properly in these prisoners' homes, not only would the people of this country be saved an almost unbelieveable amount of money, but the country would also profit by what they could give as good citizens.

Col. Bunton said the main work of the Salvation Army in these institutions is to make a promise of a better day to come for the prisoners, and make this promise come true.

"We want to make them feel that someone cares," he concluded.

The speaker was introduced by E. L. Sackville and thanked by Harold Deeth.

The following guests and guest Rotarians were present: Lee J. Conn, Kingfisher, Oklahoma; Louis Ekin and J. S. McFeeters, McKeesport, Pennsylvania; R. B. Atwell, Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania; C. H. Schougheny, Rochester, Pennsylvania; Sam Miller, Midland, Pennsylvania; Harold Jobbitt, Bradford, Pennsylvania; Judge Walter Little, North Bay; Charles R. Conn, Toronto; Ken Madill, Windsor; E. D. Answer to Previous Puzzle

Strikers Will Move Dynamite At Price

TIMMINS, Aug. 14 — (CP) — Striking Hollinger Gold Mines employees will be asked by their union to remove 22 tons of explosives stored underground if the company will insure each man on the job for $50,000 and pay him $25 a day.

The offer from the union, United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), came to light when a letter from V. G. Emard, chairman of its strategy committee, to W. Tover, chief mine inspector for Ontario, was made public Monday.

The 900 cases of blasting powder and fuses were ordered removed by W. B. Weir, a provincial mine inspector, who said they would become dangerous if left for long in the dampness underground.

Explains Regulations

EDMONTON, Aug. 14 (CP) — Brig. W. J. Lawson of Ottawa, judge advocate-general of the Canadian army, arrived Monday on a tour of Canadian cities explaining the armed forces' new King's Regulations which come into effect Sept. 1.

37 Drowned

BOLZANO, Italy, Aug. 14 — (Reuters)—Thirty-seven persons were drowned Monday night when a bus crashed into a small lake in the Venosta Valley near the Swiss border. Late reports said that only one person, a woman, was saved.

Guelph Appoints New Health Officer

GUELPH, Aug. 14 (CP)—City council Monday night gave final approval to appointment of Dr. G. Q. Sutherland, of Fergus, as medical officer of health for Guelph at a salary of $6,000 a year.

Dr. Sutherland has been MOH for Wellington County Health Unit since June, 1948. He succeeds Dr. L. M. Stuart, who was part-time MOH until nine months ago when he left for Korea to serve with the United Nations.

Denies Assault

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP)—It just wasn't possible, William Titanic Monday told Magistrate H. R. Polson, for him to have bitten Bernard Codeau, as Codeau claimed. "My teeth had been kicked out and were lying on the road," said Titanic, appearing as the complainant in an assault case. Titanic said he was assaulted after he asked three men to stop making so much noise outside his home.

BRITISH DELEGATE — Sir Gladwyn Jebb, chief British delegate to the United Nations, arrives at Uplands Airport, near Ottawa, for a weekend visit with Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, British High Commissioner in Canada.

Dinghy Meet Under Way Wednesday

50 Entries From US, Canada For 4-Day Regatta

The largest dinghy regatta on the North American continent will begin Wednesday morning on Clear lake where the Canadian Dinghy Association will hold its annual four-day meet on Clear lake.

Already 50 entries have been filled by Canadian and American dinghy crews which will use the South Beach hotel as their operating and accommodation base.

Fresh water sailors from coast to coast in both countries will try their skills on the choppy waters of Clear lake. Regatta officials hoped at first to have entries from England and Bermuda but the currency problem has made the trip impractical.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday there will be races at 10:45 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. over the triangular course midway up the lake. These races are the international 14-foot one-design class, the Canadian open and 12-foot dinghies.

These classes will continue sailing for the following two days until elimination produces winners.

On Saturday and the final day will be the open 14-foot class for the Viscount Alexander Trophy.

From the Kawarthas will be Jim Collins, Karl Duffus, Sue Slater, Derry Smith, Ted Welch, Fred Brooks-Hill, Jack Matthews, Jack Belleghem, Fred Huycke, Paul Killoran, Michael Allen, Doug Reid, George Cooke and J. H. Ryder.

Others who have entered are from Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Gananoque, Vancouver and New Haven, Conn.

This is the fourth CDA regatta which features the international dinghy championships. Average at the various meets has been 50 craft, the first in 1948 in Ottawa and then in Montreal and Toronto. The Kawartha meet is expected to set a record for entries.

The hosts, the Stony Lake Yacht Club, have arranged entertainment for each evening—buffet luncheons, weiner roast, corn roast, and a presentation banquet at the hotel Saturday night.

IS THAT WATER COLD! . . . shout the members of the dinghy crew when they hike to balance the craft when a gust of wind heels it to "loo'ard". Action such as this will be seen at the Canadian Dinghy Association's four-day meet beginning on Wednesday morning on Clear Lake. Dinghy crews have been entered from Canada and the United States. — (Examiner Staff Photo)

Car Snaps Pole, Driver Injured

Paul Zak, 27, a farmhand from Keene village, received a stomach injury early Monday night when his car ran off the Old Keene road, snapped a telephone pole, and rolled over.

The accident occurred six miles south of Highway 7.

Zak told OPP Constable Jack McKendry that he was driving south on the Old Keene road and was forced off the paved surface by a northbound truck. The car left the road and travelled 37 feet along the right shoulder before snapping the telephone poll and rolling over.

The injured man was treated by Dr. Wilson Ford of Keene. A passenger, James D. Trotter, Keene, was uninjured.

WANT TRAFFIC LIGHTS

A largely signed petition from the neighborhood asking for stop-and-go lights at McDonnel and Park Streets was referred by the council last night to the special traffic committee.

RCAF Recruiting Starts Today In Peterboro'

Recruiting for both men and women is taking place today and Wednesday in the Peterborough Armouries.

Recruiting officer S/L J. A. King from the recruiting unit, Toronto, will be at the armouries both afternoons and will present information about the RCAF and will discuss openings in all branches including opportunities for women.

Age requirements for enlistment in ground crew is 17-40 and a minimum education of Grade 8. Women must have a minimum education of Grade 10 and be between the ages of 18 and 29. Aircrew applicants must have obtained their junior matriculation and be between the ages of 18 and 25.

Family Make Five Reasons Not To Drink

Magistrate Gee Warns City Man; Levies $50 Fine, $22 Costs

A family of five children add up to five good reasons why a man shouldn't drink too much, Roy Maxwell, 38, of 651 Frank St., was told today by Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay.

Maxwell was convicted of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and fined the minimum of $50 plus $22 costs. He was in an accident on the Springville hill, Highway 28, on the night of July 29.

A second charge of careless driving was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.

Maxwell, through his solicitor Trevor E. Clarke, pleaded not guilty. He said he had consumed not more than six pints of beer earlier that day and his driving was not at all affected by alcohol.

Charles Peters, Bowmanville, said he was driving his car south on the Port Hope highway about 10:30 p.m. when he saw an oncoming car travelling south down the left side of the highway.

Cut To Left

Peters said he cut to the left to pass Maxwell on the wrong side. Maxwell also swung back to his own side of the highway and they collided there. Both vehicles received about $200 damage and one of Maxwell's five children, who were passengers in the car, received minor injuries.

Miss Mabel Gillen, a passenger in a car driven by Bruce Fraser, both of Peterborough, said she noticed the Maxwell car weaving as it went north on Highway 28. This was confirmed by Fraser who said he was unable to pass because of the weaving. Later they found that he had been involved in an accident.

OPP Constable Roy Feeley said that Maxwell "staggered, talked foolishly, and smelled strongly of alcohol." The accused was also driving without shoes.

Maxwell's wife and Cecil McMahon, a Millbrook friend, both testified that he wasn't drunk.

Magistrate Gee however found him guilty and told him that his children were five good reasons why he shouldn't drink too much.

Lucky, Says Angler Of 9½-Pound Pickerel

"Just lucky," commented G. E. Douglas, Lakefield Park, when he displayed a 9½-pound pickerel in the Examiner office today.

The 30-inch fish was caught Monday night at the Otonabee narrows below Lake Katchewanooka at Lakefield. The catch was made with a red and yellow fly and spinner.

Mr. Douglas said that this was the biggest pickerel he had ever caught. The next biggest was a 7½-pound fish caught at the same place two years ago.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

GLADIOLUS SHOW

The Peterborough and District Gladiolus society's annual glad show started today at the market hall. It will be over Wednesday night. Judging started at 2 p.m. and will be concluded tonight.

TWO SUSPECTS

Two polio suspects were admitted to Civic Hospital since Monday morning. At press time, the tests for one of the cases were negative and they had not been completed for the other case.

APPLY FOR OVAL

G. B. Goulding, coach of PCVS football team requested in a letter to the council last night use of Nicholls Oval for practices and games from Aug. 27 to Nov. 17. It was referred to the parks committee.

LUCKY CATCH

Joseph Ewing, Jr., Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, made a lucky catch when he pulled out a 45-inch muskie weighing 21 pounds in Lower Buckhorn lake. Mr. Ewing is vacationing at Buckhorn Lodge with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ewing.

STREET BLOCKADE

A CNR engine squatted across two-thirds of Charlotte St. at 7.20 Monday evening. It was still there at 7.30, and possibly longer. The engine was head of a freight train that extended down Bethune, right in the centre of Peterborough, down almost to Sherbrooke St.

JULY FIRE REPORT

July fire loss was $582 on buildings and $261 on contents. Chief George Smith reported to the council 31 alarms during the month, of which 27 were telephoned. James J. Deck, 25, has been taken on the strength of the department as a probationary fireman.

BUS TAKES LONG TURN

Paint strip barriers at Simcoe and George Streets this morning forced an Ashburnham-bound bus to make the long turn-trip out Simcoe to Aylmer and back on Hunter, because the shortened space at the intersection prevented the bus from making the turn into George St. "Could be done during the night," said the driver. "Yesterday they were down at Charlotte St."

EASY PICKING

Parking meters have collected for the city treasury $116,230.23 since they went into operation May 12, 1947. July collection was $3,404.16 as compared with $2,929.61 in July last year. The new parking lot meters took in $167.76 from July 21 to the end of the month. Meters counted to the end of July this year $17,102.34 as compared with $15,354.44 for seven months last year.

APPRECIATED WELCOME

Acknowledging a letter of welcome from Mayor Swanston, Mrs. Patricia Tuck, Paterson St., replied in part: "We have been in your city one month, and feel you are justified in saying Peterborough is a city of friendship, for up to now we have met with hospitality from everyone." His Worship said its sentiment was typical of many letters, and he hoped citizens would sustain that spirit of friendliness.

City Hall May Be Finished By October 1 As Work Schedule Exceeded

Await HEPC Approval of Electrical Plans, Delivery of Light Fixtures; Painting of New Building Half Completed

Completion of the new city hall by Oct. 1 is an expectation developing from early hopes as reported to the council Monday night by W. F. Orr, clerk of the works, in a summary to the end of July. "The schedule set towards completion has been maintained and exceeded," Mr. Orr wrote. Work has yet to be finished on the terrazzo and bronze map in the lobby floor, marble columns and stairways. Panelling in the council chamber awaits arrival of materials from the manufacturers, and similar delay applies to the completion of the tower above the clock face.

Exterior and interior painting is about 50 per cent completed. Electric work is being held up for approval of the transformer room layout by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Lighting cannot be installed until fixtures have been delivered. There are some other pending details, but these are aspects of progress mentioned by Mr. Orr.

Entrance Lettering

Identification of the building as a city hall should be placed in bronze or stainless steel lettering over the entrance, Ald. A. B. Burrows suggested, providing an answer to enquiries of visitors. He also said that something should be done "to make the most of our war memorial" in Confederation Square.

The identity of the sculptor should be prominently shown because it was an outstanding work of art.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie asked whether something could be done to make easily legible the names that are memorialized on the monument.

"I think Hurrell Dodds went into that two or three years ago when he was a member of the council," said Mayor Swanston. "It was desired then that the lettering should be made permanently visible."

The proposal of Ald. Burrows is to be referred to the architects as an immediate response to the proposals.

Correspondence from the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital, and the architects of the buildings, W. & W. R. L. Blackwell and Craig, referred to the council a bill for $2,194.26 from Robertson Construction and Engineering Co. for bricks imported from the United States for the nurses' residence.

That item reverts to cirmustances arising out of the fire of the Cooksville brickworks which interrupted delivery of the supply of bricks ordered by the contractors. Letters of reference dated back to Aug., 1949.

Rather than delay construction of the nurses' residence, Robertson Construction and Engineering Co., according to recollection, proposed that they obtain across the border the type and remaining quantity of bricks they required.

The contractor's statement was: 8,297 extra bricks at $65.04 amounting to $539.64.

Labor cost at $66.87 per thousand, $554.87.

Extra cost of $7,703 US brick over the original Canadian brick at $12.54 per thousand (the difference between $65.04 and $52.50) amounting to $1,099.80. Total of bill, $2,194.26.

The correspondence was referred to the finance committee. It intimated that the arrangement with the contractor was made directly by the council.

Blinded By Lights Driver Crashes Rear Of Truck

A Downer's Corners couple sustained cuts and bruises late Monday night when their 1928-model car crashed into the rear of a stake-body truck on Water St.

Cecil Larabie, 25, driver of the car, said he was going south on Water St. but did not see the truck parked on the west side of the road because he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming United States' car.

The collision broke one board and cracked three others in the parked truck which was jolted ahead 10 feet. But the old car was almost wrecked. The windshield and windows were broken, the right rear door crumpled and the body twisted.

Three-Stitch Cut

Larabie received a cut requiring three stitches over the right eye and another cut requiring a single stitch over the left. His wife, Pauline, 21, had 11 stitches put in a cut on her right arm, and she also received a bruise over her left eye.

Their 22-month-old baby, Paul, was lying on the back seat of the car and was uninjured in the collision.

At the time of the accident it was raining heavily and police report that the road was slippery from rain and from sap that had trickled from nearby Maple trees.

Constables Claire McGillen and Sherman Keliele investigated.

Defends Constable

Campbellford Mayor Denounces Anti-Gambling Laws

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 14 — (ENS)—"It is a hypocrite law that permits betting at racetracks and yet forbids sweepstakes," said J. E. Ayrhart, Mayor of Campbellford, when he addressed the town council meeting here on Monday night.

Mr. Ayrhart spoke warmly in defence of Fred Cargin, Campbellford's night police officer who was recently fined for selling sweepstake tickets and was under criticism by some council members. "I am not afraid to admit that I buy sweepstake tickets myself when I get the chance," said the mayor, "and I know a lot of you do, too. I can't see it as a crime nor can I see it as a crime to sell them.

"The law against sweepstakes is discriminatory. People who live near racetracks get a chance to get some money down on the horses, but the great majority who live in rural areas without racetracks are denied a fling at fortune through the medium of sweepstakes.

"What we need is tolerance. The province of Quebec can give us many a lesson in tolerance. I agree with Premier Duplessis that sweepstakes should be legalized and even operated by the state for the benefit of hospitals. I was gratified to find, at a recent meeting of the Association of Mayors and Reeves, that a growing number of town leaders feel the same way.

Tolerant Province

"I have learned a lot about Quebec over the past years since I spend most of my time there in mining development. Our neighboring province has a tolerant attitude throughout its day by day life. Quebec's liquor laws, for instance, have a freedom from blue law restrictions that preserves personal dignity and thus leads to moderation. I have seen far more drunkenness in the dry towns of Ontario than along Montreal's night club strip. I have seen household grocery orders in Quebec including one or perhaps two bottles of beer as against one or two cases in Ontario.

"Quebec has always had a sane attitude, too, on Sunday sport. Quebec looks upon Sunday as a day of rest and relaxation as well as a day of worship. Quebec is a province of church-goers, and yet Sunday sports, movies, and night clubs are well patronized. Certainly none of these attractions seems to have had any noticeable deterrent effect upon Quebec's church attendance.

"I have also been much impressed by Quebec's tolerance of racial and religious minorities. Their customs and beliefs are thoroughly respected and there is no interference, a model for the rest of Canada."

A great deal of discussion took place regarding a recommendation brought in by the police committee regarding action to be taken regarding a local police officer who was recently charged with selling sweepstake tickets.

Proper Procedure

Chairman of the committee, F. M. Rutherford, said his committee had considered the quesiton and presented a report to council in which the committee thought the proper procedure would be to ask for the resignation of the officer. Most of the council members, however, thought that the selling of sweepstake tickets by a police officer, while it was a serious offence, did not in itself warrant his dismissal if his chracter and duties were otherwise good.

Mayor Ayrhart supported the theory that it is no more legal for anyone to purchase a sweepstake ticket than it is to sell them.

The police committee also stated that it was not on the grounds of the sweepstake ticket episode alone that they wanted the resignation of the policeman. They claimed there were numerous occasions where the officer was not on duty when he was supposed to be, and that there were cases where he neglected his duty.

No Substantiation

Mayor Ayrhart said so far there had been no substantiating evidence to show that the officer had been found neglectful of his duty, and that the man in question should be brought before the council and given a chance to defend himself. "I certainnly wouldn't convict a man on gossip or hearsay," he said. Councillor Rutherford, chairman of the police committee, said that there was no harmony between the two officers of the force, and that co-operation was poor. He had been in touch with the Attorney-General, and said the town would be setting a precedent if they did not fire the man.

Councillor Kingston said there were instances reported showing the man was not on duty when he should have been, but that he would not want to discharge him over the sweepstake tickets. Councillor MacMillan said he believed the man should be brought before council and given a chance to answer the accusations made against him, and made a motion to that effect. This was carried, and the officer will be asked to appear at the next regular meeting of the council on Sept. 10. Councillor Maybee also claimed the man should be given a chance, and that he should not be condemned until the gossip concerning him was proven before the council.

Councillor Rutherford denied laying the charges regarding the sweepstake tickets against the officer, and said he did not know who did.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serving Hot Savoury Snacks When Cookies, Cakes Out

Renee's need for something hot and tasty for guests who do not like cookies or cakes will appeal to a big section of our readers.

She says she has "overdone" the biscuits supreme, wonderful and popular as they are ,and wants a variation.

Before I go on with the rolled cheese sandwiches Renee is after, I want to give you Lemon Scones which is a Sunday High Tea favorite in this house.

✧ ✧ ✧

LEMON SCONES

Four tablespoons butter or margarine or shortening, 1 teaspoon, well-packed, lemon rind, 2 eggs, 1/3 cup table cream, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ to 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Sift together the sifted flour, baking powder, salt and 2 tablespoons sugar. Cut the shortening into them or work it in with the finger tips. Add the 1 teaspoon lemon rind. Reserve about 1 tablespoon of egg white to brush over finished scones, and beat in the eggs with the cream, until mixture is a soft dough. Do not overbeat. Turn out on floured board and knead — giving the dough 25 turns and kneadings. Pat or roll out to one-half inch thickness and cut out in triangles 3 inches wide at base and about 4½ inches long. Place on ungreased baking sheet, brush tops with the reserved egg white, then sprinkle with mixture of the 3 tablespoons sugar and ½ to 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 12 minutes or until golden. Serve hot with butter and cheese or comb honey or wild strawberry jam.

✧ ✧ ✧

TOASTED CHEESE ROLLS

Soften about one-quarter pound processed cheese by cutting it into a bowl and standing bowl over steaming water. To this add one-half package of nippy "Old English" dark orange cream cheese, and about 2 tablespoons each soft butter and table cream. Have ready crustless slices of very fresh white bread. Spread slices sparingly with the cheese mixture. Roll them up cornerwise. Place them, with the overlapping corner down, on broiler pan. Just before serving time place under very hot broiler and let them toast to give them a golden crust, that's all. This is enough to warm the cheese to the centre.

NOTE: A little mustard and pepper are good additions to the cheese mixture if you want it zippy.

✧ ✧ ✧

TOASTED ORANGE SANDWICHES

Spread orange marmalade on hot buttered toast, sprinkle with grated old cheese and place in a moderate oven until the cheese melts. Serve hot.

TOASTED WALNUT SANDWICHES

To one-half cup of cottage cheese or white cream cheese add 2 tablespoons salad oil or butter, 1 tablespoon vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 6 tablespoons finely chopped walnuts. Mix all but walnuts together. Spread on whole wheat or Graham bread, and sprinkle each slice with nuts. Put together in pairs, and cut off crusts. Cut sandwiches into strips and toast. Pile log-fashion on a sandwich plate.

Toasted walnuts fingers are delicious with a luncheon salad.

IT'S NYLON — Smooth and chic, this nylon boucle cardigan can be buttoned to the throat with its white pearl buttons or thrown lightly over a dress on cool summer evenings. It won't shrink and comes in lovely shades of aqua, coral, gray, beige and blue.

Fashion Flashes

REALLY NEW is the two-piece robe, an idea with plenty of appeal. Briefly, the two-piecer has a separate, tuck-in shirt top and a floor-length wraparound skirt —the top functioning as a bed jacket, too. Done in a velvety cotton flannel—in rich shades, such as deep violet and orange gold—by a designer who does country clothes so well.

✧ ✧ ✧

A RADICAL CHANGE in the neckline marks the very newest suits being developed for Fall. After the collarless, horseshoe and oval neckline, now we are to have the portrait or standaway neckline. The cut shows a neckline that stands away at the shoulders, is open to all sides and is finished with a little cuff, rail or flange.

✧ ✧ ✧

TWO TONES, especially in grey, is a plot much beloved by suit designers. A particularly handsome affair is a suit of grey worsted, dark grey for the body of the jacket and for cap over-sleeves—giving a double effect—with light grey for sleeves and skirt. Lining is a tiny red and white checked taffeta, with matching hankie tucked in the jacket pocket.

✧ ✧ ✧

MORE APPEAL is evident in the new mouton coats than in many a year, making this budget fur a good buy. The most famous fur designer in Paris has done a mouton coat in a very flared model with sloping shoulders and voluminous push-up sleeves. It is lined in ombred taffeta, and has a matching taffeta ascot that pulls through slits under the collar and may be draped in many ways.

The Home that's HERS FOR KEEPS!

"I dropped in on Jack Macy's widow today — in the home they were both so proud of. Thanks to life insurance, it's hers now for keeps . . . paid up . . . the way Jack intended.

"What a blessing it can prove to be — Mortgage Cancellation insurance. It costs so little but if, like Jack, a man dies suddenly, his mortgage is cancelled . . . finished with! No crippling payments for the widow to make out of her slender resources.

"On the other hand, if he lives he can use the cash values to clear the mortgage early. Or he can pay it off in the usual way and use the insurance to increase his retirement income. There couldn't be a sounder plan for any home owner".

Coeds Refuse To Look Like Film Queens

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Aug. 14—(AP)—The anual big push is on, to make real-life college girls look like they do in the movies.

Each year about this time tons of newsprint, rivers of printer's ink and millions of words are poured forth on what the well-dressed girl will wear to college.

Fashion magazine staffs predict that this year's college girl will look neat and sweet, clad in plaid, piquant in pique or cute in corduroy.

Department stores open their college shops with displays of what their buyers think college girls should wear, against a background of pennants, footballs and class-room impedimenta.

Wasted Effort

All this effort on the part of magazine staffs and ad writers likely will be a study in futility.

For what Betty probably will wear this year is just what she's been wearing on campus for many years — blue jeans, preferably patched, a frayed shirt or old sweat shirt discarded by father or brother, bulky socks and moccasins.

This is provided, of course, that Betty goes to a women's college. The co-ed institutions often live up to the ad-writers' dreams, as girls dress for a male audience, in class or out.

This at least should put an end once and for all to that perennial question—do women dress for men or for other women?

It's only when there's a man in sight that Betty Coed can be coaxed to live up to the ideals of the fashion magazines.

Woman Patient Tough Test In Cold Cures

LONDON — (CP)—Scientists seeking the elusive cure for a common cold have run into an expected snag. They have discovered a human "guinea pig", a woman who can't even be given the sniffles, let alone an experimental cough or cold.

The test-tube patient is Mrs. Kathleen Chaffey, 45-year-old housewife of London's suburban Eltham. Doctors attached to the research unit at Salisbury in Wiltshire, where colds are artifically induced, are puzzled by the woman's strange resistance to germ inoculations.

She goes there for 10 days every three months to be infected but while other volunteers sit around all choked up, with eyes streaming to the accompanient of a sniffling chorus. Mrs. Chaffey just relaxes and offers unappreciated sympathy.

"When I had been to the United three times without catching a cold I suggested to the doctors that I was just wasting their time," she said. "However, they asked me to keep going, apparently under the impression they can learn something from me."

A former nurse, Mrs. Chaffey hasn't succeeded in passing on the secret of immunity to her husband. He catches cold at the least provocation and suffers from chronic hay fever as well."

Designer Scorns Hiding Legs' Hems To Stay Put

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13 (AP) — A top California fashion authority today turned thumbs down to Paris' decree of hems down.

The word from Paris is longer skirts, especially since Christian Dior came out endorsing the trend. That makes it official in Paris.

But G. Peter Rosenfeld, president of the California Fashion Creators, said his association will resist the trend.

"American women have the most beautiful legs in the world. Why hide them?" asked Rosenfeld.

In an interview, a Rosenfeld associate told how his wife bought a dress from a Paris designer only to find she couldn't sit down in it. When she returned it, she was told that the dress was not made to sit down with.

"That tells the whole story," commented Rosenfeld.

Cooper-Simpson

HAVELOCK, Aug. 14 (ENS).—A wedding of wide interest in this district was solemnized in Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 4, of Ella Jean Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson, to Jack Cooper, son of Mrs. L. Cooper of Chippawa and the late Mr. Cooper.

Pastel-shaded gladioli decorated the home of the bride's parents, 15 Epworth Circle, for the double ring ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. R. Collin Todd.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Valencienne lace over duchess satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, a fitted bodice and a flared ballerina length skirt. She wore an imported veil of illusion and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and gypsophilia.

Matron of honor, Mrs. N. Clarke, wore frosted blue sheer and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and gypsophilia.

Attending her aunt as flower girl, little Marlene Simpson wore daffodil yellow satin over nylon lace petticoat. She carried a nosegay of blue carnations and yellow gladioli.

Mr. Ross Simpson, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Miss Clarisse Petrie played the wedding music.

Seventy guests attended the reception. The bride's mother received in a gown of blue sheer with lace trim and the groom's mother was attired in navy sheer. Both wore corsages of red roses.

The bride travelled in a dress of aqua shade with navy topcoat and maize accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

After a wedding trip to the New England States and the Maritime Provinces they will live at 15 Epworth Circle, Niagara Falls.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Davidson (formerly Edith Baxter, sister of Mrs. Jack Bannon of Havelock) of Simcoe, Mrs. Donald Anderson and daughter Carolyn, Mrs. William McMillan, Mrs. A. Keating, Mr. R. Keating and Miss Joyce Danzey of Havelock.

Mrs. Fred Simpson, the bride's mother, was formerly Violet Newton of Havelock and is a niece of Mr. Fred McMillan of Belmont Township.

DOROTHY DIX

Childish Trait To Foment Quarrels Within A Family

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Some time ago my married sister had a misunderstanding with my mother that began with a small quarrel and has grown into heartaches for everyone. My sister has two lovely daughters, whom my mother has never seen. Mother is nearly 55 and has always had people do as she wants; she does not liked to be crossed. She is a kind, generous person as long as people do things her way. Father is the silent type, so whatever mother says goes.

Dorothy Dix

My sister lives in the same town as we do, and I love her very much, but mother says if I visit her I am a disloyal daughter. I am even forbidden to go to parties or small gatherings which my sister may attend. I am not afraid of my mother but if I don't do as she says there is always an argument. Am I wrong in loving my sister and my mother both, and trying to make mother understand that I can love both?

P. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your letter belies your own words. You say you're not afraid of your mother—you're scared stiff of her and so, apparently, is everyone else within sound of her voice except your sister. If your mother can deny her own child because of a silly quarrel, what is she going to do to your own life if you ever decide to set out on your own?

Don't Be Cowed

I don't like to countenance filial disorbedience but if your mother is going to win her own way in the matter of you seeing your sister, you will definitely estalbish the pattern of a cowed daughter. You don't state your age, and that of course has a bearing on the case. If you are under age, you have no choice but to go your mother's way, but if you have reached your majority, you'd better show a little independence before it's too late.

Every time I blast away at dominating mothers—or mothers-in-law—I get letters from perfectly normal mothers who accuse me of bias against all maternal parents. Nothing could be further from the truth, which is that I hold the entire estate of motherhood including mothers-in-law in such high esteem that I am riled to white heat by women who descrate the title by rending families asunder instead of abiding by their God-given right of molding them together. Certainly no mother worthy of the name would estrange herself from a daughter and grandchildren over a silly quarrel—or even over a more serious one. She'd do everything she could to mend the rift and maintain a united family.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am planning to be married in September. My fiance has only two week's vacation for our honeymoon, and he intends to use a week of it to make an extended trip in August with a friend through Alabama and Florida, including a three-day cruise to Havana. He claims he is tired and would like to rest and fish on this trip. It is beyond me to understand a desire for rest of this kind on the part of a man who is supposed to be madly in love. What is your reaction?

A. C.

ANSWER: To quote Hamlet, "There are more things in Heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamed of in our philosophy!" But the sight of a man who would rather fish than go on a honeymoon is something new. I suppose any piscators among my readers will rise up in ams against me, but it is still a revolutionary idea.

Perhaps this is your betrothed's idea of a "last fling," a final adieu to carefree youth; the swan song of a bachelor. Whatever the reason, you have no choice but to let him go and get it out of his system. I hope you're sure of his devotion otherwise.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband works nights and I work days so I only have a short time with him. On his days off he goes out and stays until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. I try to make everything as nice as possible for him at home. We are buying a car together and he lets anyone take it out, day or night, without my permission. I don't think this is right when I have worked so hard to help pay for the car.

DIANE R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Is it absolutely necessary for you to continue working? On the present schedule your husband really has on home-life and probably goes out simply for companionship. If your chief purpose in holding a job is to acquire a car, you would be better off letting the car go and spending more time at home. Even though you keep the place clean and comfortable, a home with no one in it can be very lonely for a man and the situation as it exists is bound to make you two drift further apart.

Wouldn't Bar Reds From UN

TORONTO, Aug. 14—(CP)—Sir Gladwyn Jebb said Monday he did not think it would be wise to exclude Communist states from the United Nations.

Developments tending to make the UN an anti-Communist organization "are not in fact tending to contribute to the strength of the resistance to Communism," the head of Britain's delegation to the UN told a joint luncheon of the Canadian and Empire Clubs.

"It has become clear over the past year," said Sir Gladwyn, "that there are a number of countries, including a large part of the world's population, who are very reluctant to take sides at this particular time in the general conflict of ideas between the Soviet bloc and the democratic world.

"It may be that they are waiting to see whether what Stalin calls 'peaceful co-operation' between Communist and non-Communist states is or is not a real possibility."

One Man Wounded In Latest List

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP).—The army today issued its 44th casualty list of the Korean war, reporting one man wounded,

He was Pte. Lyle Orval Duval, whose next-of-kin is his mother, Mrs. Stella Duval of Hanbury, Ont.

This brought Korean casualties to 58 dead, 152 wounded and 17 injured in battle accidents for a total of 227.

HE'S ON THE BOLL—It was tough going, but disc jockey Ed ("Boll Weevil") Keane, of Harlingeo, Tex., made good on his radio claim that "anyone can pick a bale of cotton in a week." Challenged by veteran cotton men to do it, Keane sweated through six day of torture to pick 1540 pounds of cotton, enough for a 542-pound bale. His reward: $1600 in cash and prizes and the title, "World's highest paid cotton picker."

Coldsprings Choir Presents Song Service

COLDSPRINGS, Aug. 14 (ENS) An impressive choral service was much enjoyed in St. Paul's United Church Sunday morning, when the choir presented a song service. They were assisted by Mrs. Dowsley, of Gananoque.

Anthems sung were "My Voice Shalt Thou Hear" and "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord." A quintette composed of Misses Sheila and Helen Ritchie, Lorene Timlin, Dorothea Bowman and Paul McIntosh, sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and a "Spiritual." Solos were sung by Mrs. Dowsley, Mrs. Paul Harris and Paul McIntosh, and a duet, "Living for Jesus," by Mrs. C. Timlin and Lorene Timlin.

R. D. P. Davidson gave a short address, as the Rev. P. C. Brown is on vacation.

Thomas Marriott Buried At Grafton

ROSENEATH, Aug. 14—(ENS) —The funeral for Thomas Marriott of Fenella was held at St. George's Anglican Church, Grafton on Friday afternoon. Rev. T. A. Nind, rector of the church, conducted the service.

Mr. Marriott's death occurred on Wednessday following a brief ilness, at the home of his son, Mr. Bruce Marriott, Fenella.

The deceased was in his 79th year and had resided for a number of years in the Fenella community where he was highly respected, a good neighbor and a true friend.

His wife predeceased him five years ago. He is survived by one daughter, Nancy, Mrs. Luke Aird, Grafton; two sons, Bruce of Fenella and George of Bancroft and 17 grandchildren.

Interment was in St. George's cemetery adjoining the church at Grafton.

Bell Official Dies

ORILLIA, Aug. 14 (CP) — Robert Burrows, 81, who before retirement in 1938 was assistant vice-president of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, died here Saturday. He joined the firm at the age of 17 and served with Bell more than 50 years. Born in Hamilton, he started with the company as night operator in St. Catharines in 1887.

Great Bush Pilot Quits Matt Berry To Try Oil

EDMONTON, Aug. 14. (CP)—Matt Berry, who quit Ontario farming to become one of the North's great bush pilots, Monday quit aviation to hunt oil and build houses. The 59-year-old pioneer of uncharted airways announced he has sold his two northern airlines to Associated Airways of Edmonton so he can give all his time to some promising oil lands and a contracting firm.

The sale involved seven aircraft and two air bases. It ends a 34-year saga of air thrills for one of the flying adventurers who helped open Canada's last frontier.

Berry started flying in 1917 in the old Royal Flying Corps. After the war the lean six-footer from March, Ont., tried to be a farmer but it was no go. In 1927 he went back to flying, ferrying supplies and prospectors to northland mining camps. From then on he was uncomfortable outside a plane's cockpit. "It was strictly flying by the seat of your pants," Matt said.

Like Own Backyard

The wild expanse of forest, lakes, muskeg, tundra and ice between Edmonton and the Arctic Ocean became as familiar as his backyard.

He said he never got lost but he was forced down several times by bad weather. Always he worked his way out. He was injured only once—when his aircraft nosed over on a take-off. He suffered a broken back but was on the job again within five months.

In the winter of 1934, Matt was grounded by a damaged ski on a lonely Arctic bay. For two weeks no one heard from him. Then signals were picked up and he was rescued. He had made himself a radio from parts of his aircraft engine to save his life.

In 1936, he won the McKee Trans-Canada Trophy as the Canadian who did most during the year for aviation.

Two Rescues

That was the year he performed his two most spectacular rescues.

Acting on what he called a hunch, he located Flt. Lt. Sheldon Coleman and Aircraftman Joseph Fortey of the RCAF after they had been lost 30 days in the Barren Islands of the Northwest Territories.

Later he made the farthest-north flight to that time to rescue Roman Catholic Bishop Peter Falaize and five others threatened with starvation at Hornaday River Mission, 1,750 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Late in 1937, Berry quit active flying to work as manager of Northern Transportation Co. During the Second World War, he was second-in-command of No. 7 Air Observers' School at Portage la Prairie, Man.

In 1943 he built an air base at Yellowknife, NWT, and started Yellowknife Airways. In 1946 he organized Territories Air Service, based at Fort Smith, NWT.

Will Expose Jockeys' Fraud

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP)—The Ontario Racing Commission will expose all those responsible for "deceit and fraud practised on the public by jockeys and owners in the last 10 years," W. E. MacDonald, commission counsel, said Monday night.

In an interview following Monday's closed session of the commission, investigating Canada's worst racing scandal, Mr. MacDonald said the commission will take criminal action where warranted.

Mr. MacDonald described the principal person involved as a well-known Toronto man with a long criminal record who used his wife and associates as dupes. He did not name the man.

The commission counsel said conditions had been worse before the present commission was appointed. Its predecessor, the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association, lacked the commission's power to summon witnesses and compel them to testify under oath.

The commission Monday began its third week of hearings into the "fixing" of races at Toronto and Fort Erie tracks.

US Relaxes Embargo On Hong Kong Goods

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14 (CP).—The Chronicle said today that the United States—at the request of the British Government—has relaxed its embargo on goods shipments to Hong Kong.

The newspaper said these shipments of thin steel plate, useable as tinplate substitute, had already left from here for the British crown colony.

Some 150 tons of the metal, sold at $100 to $150 a ton, were in the first shipment, the paper said.

The decision to relax the seven-month-old goods ban was reached, the paper said, after a study of the "reliability" of Hong Kong consignee.

The newspaper said Hong Kong officials assured this country none of the metal would slip into Red China.

Forest Resources Being Surveyed

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP)—The "greatest aerial survey in the world" is how the Ontario Lands Department describes its airborne inventory of the province's forest resources.

Some 6,400 square miles of forests in the Kenora-Patricia areas were photographed in May, June and July by the Forest Department's aerial survey section. This brings near completion the program which was started in 1946.

Although stock-taking of Ontario's forest wealth is the main reason for the survey, it is also contributing to other phases of the province's development, F. W. Beatty, Ontario Surveyor-General says. As an instance of this he describes the use of aerial photographs in plotting the proposed course of the Trans-Canada Highway through Northern Ontario.

Scrap Iron Shortage

OWEN SOUND, Ont (CP)—Local factories are again advertising for scrap metal. Almost 60 per cent of the present supply is hauled to town by district farmers but the town has to supply the rest.

Need More Money Not Manpower

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Europe's major defence problem is money, not manpower, the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee said today in support of a $7,848,750,000 foreign-aid program.

In a formal report to the House, the committee quoted Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, head of western Europe defence armies, as saying that "men were being called up and trained faster than equipment was arriving."

"Manpower is not the bottleneck in developing European defence," the committee said. "The limiting factors are equipment and money . . . General Eisenhower was emphatic on this point."

What's needed, the committee emphasized, is American financial help until the free nations of the world are in a position to pay for their own defences.

The program approved by the committee calls for $651,250,000 less than the $8,500,000,000 asked by President Truman.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

James J. Jeffries, who rose from being Jim Corbett's sparring partner to the world heavyweight boxing title, defended the title against Corbett by outpointing the former champion in 10 rounds at San Francisco, 48 years ago today. Jeffries was knocked out by Jack Johnson in 1910 when Jeffries tried a comeback after five years in retirement.

Leafs Humble St. Louis 3-0

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP). — Frank (Buster) Barnes pitched four-hit shut-out ball Monday night when Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League defeated their league cousins, St. Louis Browns of the American League 3-0, before 5,354 fans.

The Leafs, who have a working agreement with the Browns, tagged the ageless Satchel Paige for the loss. It was Barnes' first victory with the Leafs.

Johnny Ostrowski and Les Fleming smashed home runs off reliefer Fred Sanford who took over from Paige in the third inning. But the game was already lost earlier when Les Fleming hingled in the first score.

Call Up Niles Jordan To Bolster Pitchers

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14 — (AP).—In an effort to strengthen a pitching staff weakened by the spiking of Russ Meyer, the Philadelphia Phillies have called up Niles Jordan, 21-year-old left-handed pitcher currently leading the Class B Interstate League.

Jordan has 21 wins while losing five for the Wilmington Blue Rocks.

To make room for Jordan, due to report to the Phils at Boston today, the Phils optioned right-hander Bob Miller to Wilmington. Miller, used chiefly in relief roles this season, has won two, lost one. Last year he had an 11-6 mark as the Phils won the National League pennant.

100 Teachers Placed In US On Exchange

WSHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—More than 100 Canadian, British and French exchange school teachers arrived today for a week's stay before scattering to teaching jobs throughout the United States.

They will be presented to President Truman at the White House Thursday.

They will trade jobs with American teachers for a year.

Canadian teachers include:

Margaret M. Scarfe, Elmwood School, Winnipeg; Margaret Kerr, Simcoe School, Oshawa, Ont.; Evelyn M. McLaurin, Kitsilano Junior-Senior High School, Vancouver; Wilma W. Laing, Haultain School, Saskatoon; Mildred A. Clark, Benson School, Regina, and Grace ollefson, Albert School, Saskatoon.

Man Robbed Of $50 Left Lying In Lane

BRANTFORD, Aug. 14 (CP)—Found in a downtown laneway early today suffering from head injuries, Harvey Johns, RR 4, Aylmer, was admitted to hospital.

Police said he had been robbed of approximately $50.

A truck driver who drove into the lane at 1:45 am called police when he found Johns lying behind his truck, apparently injured. Traffic Officer James Davison and Constable R. Lucas investigated and stated that Johns appeared to have been hit on the head "and rolled" of his money.

His condition was described this morning as satisfactory.

Broadcast Of News Prohibited Unless By Government Authority

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP).—T. J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, charges that Canada "is one of the nations which absolutely prohibits the broadcast of news, except such types of news as may be approved in advance by a governmental authority. . ."

This is not done directly by legislation, he says, but by regulations issued by the CBC.

He made the statement in a letter replying to an invitation from the External Affairs Department to comment on the United Nations draft convention on freedom of information. The CAB represents most of Canada's private radio stations.

To support his charge, Mr. Allard quoted section 13 (1) of the CBC's regulations, as follows:

"13. (1) Stations shall not transmit in the form of newscasts, new commentaries, or in any manner, any news or information of any kind published in any newspaper or obtained, collected, collated or co-ordinated by any newspaper or association of newspapers or any news agency or service except the following:

"(A) Such news bulletins, free from sponsorship, as are released by the corporation for the express use of broadcasting stations, broadcasts of which shall be subject to such conditions as the corporation may prescribe.

"(B) Local and sports news under written arrangements to be made by each station individually with its local newspapers or collected through its own employees. Copies of all such written arrangements shall be filed with the corporation immediately upon completion thereof.

"(C) News from sources other than those provided for in clauses (a) and (b) hereof with the prior permission in writing from the corporation and subject to such conditions as the corporation may specify."

While this condition prevailed, Mr. Allard wrote, the CAB felt that Canada "would scarcely seem to be in a very strong position to urge upon others an enlightened and progressive policy on freedom of information."

A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, said last night he had no comment on Mr. Allard's letter.

Mr. Allard suggested Canadian delegates to the forthcoming UN conference on freedom of information might be "embarrassed if asked about this situation by representatives of other nations." The government should give broadcasting the same rights of freedom of expression as exist for the spoken and written word.

Annual Westclox Picnic Held Saturday

The annual Westclox picnic, sponsored by the Social and Athletic Committee, was held Saturday at Nicholls Oval. Taking advantage of the ideal warm sunny afternoon, a large number were on hand to enjoy the day.

During the evening an amateur program was held. Mrs. E. Foster was at the piano for the contest, which was won by Shirley Milburn in the adults' class and by Peggy Gilbert in the children's class. Special entertainment was given by Master Jim Clark of Detroit, playing the accordion; George Bennett sang two numbers and Clayton Shaw played the guitar. By popular request, Vic Coleman, MC, sang two numbers.

The afternoon challenge ball game was won by the 2nd floor over the 4th floor. Harry Baptie, personnel manager, awarded the trophies to the ball teams.

Poor Pedestrians

MONTREAL (CP)—A reporter claimed that of 50 cars he watched making a right turn at a downtown intersection, only two paused to give pedestrians the right of way. One carried a New York licence, the other an Ontario one.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Music makers stormed Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Monday night and music lovers held their ears.

The Dodgers called it "music depreciation night." Some of the cultured called it blasphemy.

Twenty-five hundred fans got in free to the Dodgers-Boston Braves baseball game for bringing a musical instrument.

They deafened the 25,000 paying customers with the wildest tootling and hammering ever to rend the peace of Flatbush.

Even Mayor Vincent R. Impelliteri joined in the discord, puffing on a harmonica from a home-plate box seat.

Musical instruments of every variety showed up. There were drums and trombones galore, glockenspiels and mandolins, bugles, zithers and a washboard.

Walter (Babe) Pratt, former coach of New Westminster Royals of the Pacific Coast League, will be sought as playing coach of the new Glace Bay entry in the Maritime Major Hockey League, it was announced following an executive meeting Monday night.

Pratt, one time National Hockey League player with Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers, has been one of the most colorful performers in the West Coast League. He was dropped by New Westminster.

Winnipeg Scottish Monday night won the right to represent Manitoba in the Dominion soccer championships for the second straight year when they whipped Luxton Royals 5-1 in the deciding game of a best-of-three series.

They move on to meet Saskatoon Legion in a best-of-three round opening here Saturday night.

Frank Piscatelli of Vancouver, caught an 82-pound Tyee salmon on a 20-pound test nylon line, with an eight-ounce rod and a Lucky Louie plug.

Local fishermen believe it is the largest Tyee ever taken on regulation sports tackle.

It has a girth of 37 inches and is four feet, two inches long.

A 60-year-old British racing veteran arrived in New York on Monday by plane en route to Utah for an attempt to break nine international and 20 United States speed records for light stock automobiles.

Lt.-Col. A. T. Goldie Gardner reputedly already holds 22 international records. He will attempt to attain a speed of 140 miles an hour for a full hour from a standing start.

Gardner will make his speed-record-breaking effort next Monday on a 13-mile circular track on the Bonneville salt flats, Wendover, Utah.

With seven weeks to go, St. Louis' Stan Musial has opened up a 19-point lead on the Phils' Richie Ashburn in the National League batting race.

Musial's average through Sunday was .388. Ashburn tumbled eight points during the week to 349, only five points ahead of Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson at .344.

Cut Two Canadians Off Riders' Roster

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders football club have cut two Canadians — Pete Karpuk and George Hall—from their roster, it was announced today.

Karpuk, a speedy backfielder, has been with the team for three years. Hall, a 220-pound lineman, has also played with the club for several seasons.

The two players cannot play for another club without a release from Riders, who would ask for cash or a player deal before signing a release.

RHLI Marksman Wins Connaught Test

CONNAUGHT RANGES, South March, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP)—A 38-year-old Royal Hamilton Light Infantry marksman Monday beat out 12 other veteran riflemen to win the Connaught match at the opening day of the 83rd annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot.

S.Sgt. G. B. Kay, three times a member of the Canadian Bisley team, had to work hard for his win. He fired 16 bulls-eyes from 500 yards before he bested Maj. Desmond Burke of Toronto and Ottawa, a former King's prize winner.

Thirteen riflemen finished the match with possible 50's but in the shoot-off Kay and Burke went out in front.

The pair matched bulls-eyes for 15 shots before Maj. Burke dropped to an inner on his 16th try.

Ideal Conditions

Conditions were ideal for shooting and only a light southeast breeze swept across these ranges, 14 miles west of Ottawa.

Close competition featured the three major events.

Besides the Connaught, 13 possibles were posted in the Tilton event from 300 yards and five in the Tyro match from 200 yards. The Connaught and Tilton count towards the grand aggregate, while the Tyro is for shooters not ranking in the first 150 in the grand aggregate during the last 10 years.

Others finishing in a tie in the Connaught event included:

Sgt. G. A. Coles, Summerside, PEI; Sgt. M. T. Davies, Fort William; FO. T. W. Gregory, Ottawa and Moncton, NB; Lt.-Col. S. Johnson, Calgary; Cpl. Raymond MacDonald, Southport, PEI; Maj. G. A. MacDonald, Charlottetown, and Pte. D. Savage, Calgary.

10 Players Advance To Third Round

QUEBEC, Aug. 14 (CP).—Ten players including defending champion Brendan Macken of Montreal Monday advanced to the third round of the men's singles in opening day's play of the Quebec tennis championships. Seven entrants in the ladies singles swept through two rounds to reach the quarter-finals.

Macken and Tony Vincent of Elmhurst, NY, top-seeded non-Canadian, were the only two leading players to reach the third round in the men's singles.

Two Torontonians, Beau Summers and Don Fontana, swept through the second round easily.

Others to reach the third round were Don Hodges of Regina; George Robinson and Jack Spencer, both of Montreal; Albert Stitt of Boston and two Quebecers, Jean Marois and Jacques Giguere.

Lorne Main of Vancouver and Henri Rochon of Montreal, members of Canada's Davis Cup team with Macken, won their first-round matches as did France's Paul Remy and Jean Molinari.

Civic Softball Loop

Following the Civic Softball League game at Armour Field last night, the draw for the Foresters Club was held by Dennis Traynor, league president. G. Dewar, of Bridgenorth, with No. 279, won the merchandise certificate at A. B. Collis or Bond's; Mrs. H. Clarke, 195 O'Carroll Drive, with No. 222, won the view-master, rear view mirror, installed by McWilliams; the Kent cleaning voucher went to No. 909, held by A. D. Leckie, 422 Edison Ave.; and the oil change by Elliott and Brown was won by B. E. Dewar, 75 Parkhill Rd., with No. 285.

Manager Art Reynolds, of the Foresters, thanked those who had helped in this draw to encourage amateur softball in the Civic League.

Lost Left Arm As Private, Back As Chaplain

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—Perseverance and courage. That's the story of the Army's newest chaplain, 32-year-old Captain Colin Nickerson, MC, Second World War amputee, veteran infantry officer and former minister of St. James United church of Great Village, NS.
and clergyman. ➤➤

During the course of the past 11 years the mild-spoken, quiet-mannered padre has been successively a university student, steel worker, infantry private, officer

Now he has been appointed to the Royal Canadian Army Chaplain Corps and posted to Camp Petawawa, Ont., as Protestant Chaplain.

In Italy Capt. Nickerson was wounded in action three times while serving as a mortar platoon officer with the Princess Louise Fusiliers. During the attack on the Hitler Line he was wounded twice and won the Military Cross for gallantry. Later, in September, 1944, in the Gothic Line assault, he was once again wounded, this time so severely that amputation of his left arm was necessary.

Studied for Ministry

It was after his discharge from the Army in 1945 that he began studying for the ministry. In June, 1947, he was ordained and became pastor of the Great Village church.

Born in Ottawa, Capt. Nickerson was educated at 11 different schools in Canada, the United States and England. His father, the Rev. J. S. Nickerson, is a clergyman in East Angus, Que.

Upon graduation from Mount Allison University (1940) where he was a member of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps, he applied for enlistment in the Army at Saint John, NB, and also at Sydney, NS. On each occasion he was rejected on medical grounds. Disappointed, he obtained a job with the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation in Sydney where he spent a year working as a pattern shop assistant.

But when the year was up, he made a third attempt to get into the Army. This time he was successful.

Once in the Army, Capt. Nickerson did not remain a private very long. After serving a few months at the depot in Halifax, he was posted to Brockville, Ont., for officer training and in the spring of 1942 graduated as a second lieutenant.

Got Second 'Pip'

Qualifying for his second "pip" at Camp Aldershot, NS, in the autumn of the same year, he proceeded overseas as an officer of the Princess Louise Fusiliers. A year later, he was on his way to Italy with the unit as second-in-command of the mortar platoon.

He returned to Halifax on the hospital ship Lady Nelson at Christmas, 1944, and became a patient in Cogswell Street Hospital.

Upon his release from the hospital in 1945, he obtained his discharge from the service and married Miss Jean Burgoyne of Mahone Bay, NS. Then followed his studies for the ministry and ordainment. Prior to his recent appointment to the Army he had been minister at St. James United church for a year.

The Nickerson's have three children, Jimmie 5, Janie 2, and one-year-old Johnnie.

SEWING CHAPLAIN'S BADGES on her husband's Army uniform is Mrs. Colin Nickerson, who works while her husband and son Jimmie, 8, watch. Nickerson, a captain in army during World War Two, lost an arm fighting in Italy with the Princess Louise Fusiliers. During the attack on the Hitler Line in Italy, he was wounded twice and won the Military Cross for gallantry. Prior to his appointment as a chaplain, he had been minister at St. James United church in Great Village, Nova Scotia.

Bride-to-Be Honored By Camborne Friends

COLDSPRINGS, Aug. 14 (ENS)—Miss Mary Lacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lacey, a popular bride-to-be, whose marriage to Ronald Warner, of Hastings, will take place in Camborne United Church on Aug. 25, was honored by her friends Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hesson, Cobourg, when they presented her with a miscellaneous shower.

There were many lovely gifts received by the bride, including a walnut magazine rack from the Coldsprings Girls' Ball Team of which she was a member. An address was read by Mrs. Everett Jamieson and the presentation of the rack made by Mrs. Jack Gordon.

Miss Lacey, in a few well-chosen words, thanked her friends for the gifts and good wishes.

Mrs. Hessin's home was tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers, bells and flowers. During the evening bingo and contests were played after which the hostess served lunch, assisted by Mesdames E. Jamieson, A. Jamieson, B. Wright and Miss E. Jamieson.

Those in attendance were Mrs. K. Staples, Mrs. Allan Bowman, Mrs. W. Moore, Mrs. Edwin Lacey, Mrs. Arnold Hare, Mrs. Gordon Warner, Mrs. D. Moore, Mrs. M Lacey, Mrs. Bert Wright, Mrs. Max Dickinson, Mrs. Hessin, Mrs. J. Gordon, Mrs. C. Timlin, Mrs. G. Lacey, Mrs. Arthur Jamieson, Mrs. R. Willis, Mrs. E. Jamieson, and Misses Winnie Tones, Edna Jamieson, Elva, Eva and Jean Willis, Mary Jibb, Helen Walker, Dorothea Bowman, Elizabeth Warner, and Lorene Timlin.

Wm. F. Kenny Dies

EAST STROUDSBURG, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—William F. Kenny, 83, retired New York contractor and a part owner of New York Giants, died Monday in hospital here. Kenny was vacationing at his summer estate in the nearby Pocono Mountains where he became ill several weeks ago.

To Finish Sentences

SINGAPORE, Aug. 14 (Reuters)—More than 230 top Japanese war criminals sailed from here today to serve out the rest of their sentences in Japan. The prisoners, including generals and admirals, sailed in the British ship Tairea. They are the last of the Japanese convicted of war crimes committed in North Borneo, Singapore, Malaya, Sumatra, Thailand and Burma.

Starling Shoot Held In Cobourg

COBOURG, Aug. 14—(ENS)—War broke out Monday night in the Chapel St. district against the starlings. Around 200 of some several thousand starlings bit the dust and while the mortality rate was low, it is estimated that the morale of most of the survivors was badly shaken. In response to an appeal from householders plagued by the noise and stench of the birds, Mayor Jack Burnett authorized the police to purchase a considerable quantity of shells, at the expense of the town, and these were handed out to a group of shotgun experts, including acting chief H. Pearse and Constable Homer Seale. They blasted away for over an hour and the attack will be repeated later on in the week. How effective the barrage was will not be known until roosting time rolls around again.

Playing Host

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14 (AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is playing host to Anthony Eden, deputy leader of Britain's Conservative party. Eden is touring the United States, talking with political leaders. He is to be guest of honor tonight at a dinner given by California Institute of Technology.

To Make Speech

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur will make a speech in public auditorium Sept. 6, a citizens' committee announced Monday night.

Police Hold Man Shoplifting Counts

COBOURG, Aug. 14—(ENS)—Bill Murphy, no fixed abode, was found guilty on two shoplifting charges Monday and remanded in custody for one week. Murphy was drunk during the weekend and made the rounds of the business section with a card which said he was deaf and dumb and appealed for help. Business wasn't bad but Murphy lifted a bottle of finger-nail polish remover, which he thought was shaving lotion and also a pair of trousers.

When police locked him up in the cells he broke into very voluble comment on the way he had been treated, in spite of the deaf and dumb cards he carried.

Dies At Wheel

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14 (AP)—Herbert Bringold was ordered by a policeman to pull over to the curb. The officer, H. M. Goldstein, said he saw Bringold go through a red light Monday. He asked for the driver's licence and Bringold produced it, held it out, then slumped over dead.

To Play In Edinburgh

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 —(AP)—The New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra embarked on the Cunard Liner Queen Elizabeth Monday night for its first visit to Europe since 1930. The orchestra, 105 members strong, will play Aug. 21 and Aug. 13 at the festival celebration in Edinburgh. Bruno Walter and Dimitri Mitropoulos will direct.

School Staff Changes Bring 8 To Bancroft

BANCROFT, Aug. 14 (ENS)—Many changes in the teaching and administration staffs of the local schools have taken place since the end of June, bringing to town eight people who will replace personnel who have transferred to other centres.

A. W. Smith of Ottawa, a recently-appointed public school inspector, will replace Donald W. Simpson who has been assigned to the newly-formed inspectorate of South Carleton and portions of northern Dundas and Stormont, with headquarters in Ottawa. Mr. Simpson replaced Hugh Loucks as inspector for North Hastings and the adjoining townships of Renfrew and Nipissing in 1948. During the past year Mr. Smith has been a member of the Ottawa public schools staff.

Bancroft public school has one new appointee, Miss Glenna Babcock, a graduate of this year's class of Peterborough Normal School. In the Bancroft-Faraday school area Robert W. Watson becomes principal of the new three-room school that should be opened in Paudash at the first of September. The assistants at this school will be Miss Lois Fraser and Morton Graham.

The following six new members will be coming to the staff of North Hastings High School: Catherine Gillespie of Hamilton, home economics; Louise Bonson of Kitchener, girls' PT and English; Jack Stuckley of Grand Valley, boys' PT, guidance and mathematics; Robert Colhoun of Willowdale, Latin, French, and art; George McKelvey of Toronto, commercial; Ernest Dixon of Kenmore, mathematics and social studies.

Discover Iron, Coal

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 14 (AP)—Discovery of huge iron and coal deposits on Mexico's Pacific coast was reported Monday. Governor Alejandro Gomez Maganda of Guerrero told reporters of iron deposits in the eastern part of his state, estimated at 80,000,000 tons, and coal in the western part. He said they would make it possible to build a steel mill on the coast near Acapulco.

Too Greedy

ELBERTON, Ga., Aug. 14 (AP)—A five-foot chicken snake swallowed one nest egg too many at Albert Dye's hen house. After crawling into a nest and downing one China egg, hte snake poked its head through a crack into the next nest and gulped down another. That pegged the reptile. The first egg kept it from going on through, the second from withdrawing.

Saves 12,001 Lives

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 14 —(AP)—A plane with one of its two engines in flames made a forced landing Monday, saving 12,001 lives. The pilot, Philip Roshong of New Albany, Ind., said he decided to bring the plane in rather than parachute. His passengers were 12,000 baby chicks.

Wasn't Being Left

CHELTENHAM, England, Aug. 14 (Reuters)—Three-year-old Iris Thomas fell out of a passenger train going through a nearby village Monday at 20 miles an hour. Her father pulled the emergency cord to stop the train, jumped out and ran back. Halfway he met his little girl—who had a badly-injured left hand—toddling along as fast as she could to catch up to the train.

To Stand Trial

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14 (AP)—Orville Rambo, who has no arms or legs, will stand trial Aug. 29 on charges of writing three bad cheques. Police said Rambo holds a pen between his chin and shoulder.

Evacuated Korean Civilians Treated Like Cattle By Many Army Officials

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Aug. 14. (CP)—The Canadian staff-sergeant had been almost complacent about the procedure of South Korean police in interrogating North Korean evacuees. He had said: "We turn them over to Korean police working with us. They have their own methods. We don't understand the workings of the Oriental mind. They do. Right now they're working in that little hut. We don't ask them to beat them. But if they do, we don't know anything about it."

Hong Teh-jong, a handsome North Korean lad, obviously had been given "the treatment." His cheeks, two hours earlier peach-colored, now were pale and drawn. His upper lip quivered.

The bespectacled, vixen-faced South Korean police sergeant who had "questioned" him said he was politically okay. There had been "difficulties" over how he had managed to elude service in the North Korean army.

The sergeant was asked to remove himself and Teh-jong was motioned to a hill-side and invited to sit down beside the visitor and an interpreter.

Disillusioned Man

Tears of disillusionment streamed down his face as his story tumbled out.

His village had been evacuated by Canadian troops that morning through what might be called "military necessity." And the three-roomed hut that had been "home" since he was born was empty, the four-acre farm his family owned and which he'd helped to till since first he walked was abandoned. His wife and child's whereabouts were unknown—no one had inquired whether he had a family.

Teh-jong—his name means "big bell"—was 20. He had been married to Chun Ki-sun—now 17—for four years and they had a little son one year old.

With six other members of the family they lived in the family dwelling, now owned by his elder brother, Hong Wŭn-jong, 31.

First Happiness

A week earlier, Teh-jong said through the interpreter, he had been happy for the first time in months.

United Nations tanks and infantry—from the Canadian 25th infantry brigade group—had appeared on the plains north of the Chorwon area. As they passed his village on a knoll about six miles north of Chorwon, Teh-jong turned toward the ailing Ki-sun and said:

"Now we can live. Now we can be free. Now we won't have to hide any more."

Almost a year ago he had been conscripted for service in the North Korean army. After four days' service he had escaped. A deserter, he made his way home from Wonsan.

He and his brothers dug a hole behind the house and there they had spent every night since.

The army order had gone out that all civilians were to be evacuated and notices posted that henceforth all persons seen in the area would be considered enemy and shot.

Group Divided

The women and children were piled into one corner of a little square—perhaps 60 of them, from little girls to grim-mouthed grandmothers, many with infants on their backs. The older men were with them.

The younger men were kept apart on another part of the square, hands above their heads and were "frisked" by the platoon commander.

Teh-jong cheerfully complied with every demand. He let them empty his pockets.

There was his linen wallet, his identity card, his bank-book, a book of Shaman prayers, a school-atlas map of Korea and, wrapped in an old military map probably once left on the battlefield, a notebook indicating his progress in learning English.

A division of the spoils came to a shame-faced halt when the officer asked the visitor "say, would you like a Communist bank book as a souvenir?" and was answered with "no thanks, it's probably all he has to establish some day what he owns."

Teh-jong belongings were restored to him and now-friendly Canadian troops plied him with biscuits and jam and chocolate bars.

Sent Down Line

Then he was sent down the line for "interrogation."

Despite his experience, he told the visitor, he would "go south" if he had to—if he could find his wife.

She wasn't in either of the two parties that had trudged across the paddy-fields back to the collecting point. And the staff-sergeant wasn't worried beyond letting him stay there and watch until sunset, by which time he'd have to leave.

She came back in an ambulance just as the conversation ended, a girl of 17 who looked every day of 35, weak and complaining of pains in back and legs.

They turned to one another, their only future, said a few quiet words, and then he sat down, not far from the ambulance, to wait for the next party to assemble for the walk to Chorwon.

From there they'd be trucked to somewhere south of Seoul, and then—no one knew or cared.

MacFadden Plans Jump In 10 Days

NEW YORK, Aug. 14—(AP)—Bernard MacFadden, 82-year-old physical culturist, plans to make a parachute jump over Niagara Falls "within the next 10 days," a spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman added that MacFadden plans to end his leap into the water below the falls.

MacFadden had planned to make the parachute leap over the falls Aug. 18, two days after his 83rd birthday. But that depends on the weather, the spokesman said, "which should be right within the next 10 days."

He said a special life-preserver water jacket has been ordered for MacFadden, under which he'll wear a suit of woollen underwear.

MacFadden returned here Sunday from Dansville, NY, where he operates a health resort.

MacFadden's office announced release of a telegram Monday from the Niagara Chamber of Commerce, saying that the Chamber will not sponsor the parachute leap but that MacFadden, as a licensed pilot, may undertake the stunt without opposition from the civic group.

2 Men Drown Near Border

SKOWHEGAN, Me., Aug. 14—(AP)—Drowning of two men here in the St. John River on the Canadian border was reported here Monday night.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Ward, of Jackman, said the bodies of Forest Warden Valerie Charette, 23, of Fort Kent, and Camille Lapointe, of St. Cyprien, Que., were recovered.

Ward said an overturned canoe was found not far from the bodies, which were a few feet from the Canadian side of the river's southwest branch about 110 miles northwest of here.

Medical examiner Harry S. Smith said the drownings were accidental.

Hydro To Investigate Wireless Telephone

TORONTO, Aug. 14—(CP)—A system of wireless telephone used in Northwestern Ontario will be investigated by the Ontario Hydro Commission to see if it can be adapted to rural areas, Premier Frost said Monday. The commission is responsible for furthering telephone communications in rural Ontario.

The Premier, back from a trip to Northwest Ontario, told a press conference that the system serves commercial customers such as mines, bush camps and stores. But calls may be made to users on regular telephone lines.

A start will be made this year on a road into Atikokan, 125 miles west of Port Arthur, Mr. Frost said. The town is adjacent to the Steep Rock iron workings. The road will join the Trans-Canada Highway to the north.

Germany Bans Bullying Storm Trooper

BONN, Germany, Aug. 14 (AP)—West Germany has outlawed the bullying storm trooper.

Wide measures against political extremists prohibit party uniforms, advocacy of armed force and possession of weapons without government authority.

The measures are directed at the Communist and new Nazi strong-arm squads who have made an alarming appearance recently.

The new Nazis had a force of jack-booted whiteshirts, called the Reichsfront in bold imitation of the storm troopers who clubbed and murdered to give Hitler power.

The Communists organized their youth movement, the Free German Youth, into militant squads and gave them blue shirts. These young toughs fought pitched battles in the street with German police.

Both organizations were banned as "unconstitutional" and now the German penal code gives police full power to prevent their rebirth.

New Regulations

The new regulations cover treason, betrayal of state secrets, industrial sabotage and political slander.

Communists and extreme rights fought the measure bitterly in parliament. They called it a "police law" designed to muzzle any opposition.

The maximum punishment in the "treason law," as it was christened, is life imprisonment; there is no capital punishment in the federal republic.

High treason was defined as attempts to change the constitutional order of the republic by force and bring it under foreign domination. An attack on the president or his constitutional rights also is regarded as treason.

The violation or disfiguring of national emblems of foreign nations and insult to their diplomats in Germany were made punishable if the national concerned asks for court action.

Norwegian Vessel Using Science To Chart Herring

OSLO, Norway (CP).—A scientific hunt for the elusive herring now being conducted by a Norwegian research vessel may have big effect on the world's fish catch.

The C. O. Sars, equipped with the latest in electronic depth and distance detectors, is plying the deep waters of the North Atlantic trying the chart accurately the movement of the big herring shoals.

Main object of the present search is to find out whether the bulk of the herring are heading for the fishing banks north of Iceland, or in the direction of the Antarctic island of Jan Mayen where they were found last year.

This is the third expedition in a year to be launched by the Norwegian Director of Fisheries to track down the herring. Last summer the crew of the Sars traced the herring way down south with help of the radar device known as "Asdic." Three large fishing vessels which followed their directions made good catches.

Further research discovered the general route taken by the herring in its search for food during the summer months. Last December the Sars again sailed to the cold waters off Iceland, and vast shoals of herring found in that area were followed to the Norwegian coast.

Fishing fleets lying in Norway's coastal waters are kept constantly informed of the progress of the survey and recently, for the first time in history, big catches were made more than 100 miles off shore.

Annual Movement

By these voyages Norway hopes to be able to locate the herring from May until the shoals return to Norwegian coastal waters in January. But no one has discovered what makes the herring take these annual migrations.

Zoologists of the 19th century believed the herring which came to Western Norway to spawn during winter months, spent the rest of the year in deep water off the Norwegian coast.

About 1870 however, the Norwegian expert, Georg Ossian Sars, proved the amount of plankton found at such depths was not enough to feed the herring and reasoned their home would have to be the large expanse known roughly as the Norwegian ocean.

Since Sars advanced this theory it has been the dream of marine zoologists to determine the home of the herring before and after the spawning season. Only within the last few years have instruments been produced which offer hope of finding the solution.

The echo depth sounder made possible the locating of herring at great depths, but was limited to shoals directly below the ship. Development of effective horizontal radar during the Second World War presented greater possibilities.

With this device it is possible to locate herring shoals some distance from the survey ship.

Britain Defies US Demand Continues Soviet Trading

Sub-Committee Suggested To Break Deadlock

MUNSAN, Korea, Aug. 15. (AP)—United Nations delegates suggested today that a sub-committee be set up to break through the formality of Korean truce negotiations and attempt to settle the buffer zone deadlock. Red delegates showed interest, a UN spokesman said. Simultaneously, UN command headquarters in Tokyo announced that the Allies, if necessary, will continue "destroying or driving out of Korea" the Red Chinese and Korean armies.

At Kaesong the chief UN delegate, Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, proposed a two-man committee—one from each side—seek an end to the deadlock in an air of informality.

He proposed the sub-committee "meet around rather than across the table." They would thus escape "the formality of utterances" which he said contributed to the three-week dispute over where to place a military dividing line across Korea that would separate opposing armies during an armistice.

Joy asked the Communists to reply Thursday. The negotiators meet next at 1 p.m. (11 p.m. EDT Wednesday).

Delegates More Cheerful

Both delegations appeared more cheerful than usual when they left the meeting place, a pool dispatch from Kaesong said. And Communist correspondents on the scene hinted the Reds might be willing to discuss a demarcation line based on the present battle front, as the allies demand.

Delegations have been stymied since July 27 over the location of the demarcation line. North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, heading the Red negotiators, Wednesday reiterated the Red demand it be along the 38th parallel. This is generally south of the battle line.

Joy made his sub-committee proposal near the close of the 25th Kaesong session. It was the 15th in which the negotiators had argued over the buffer zone.

He advanced the idea, the official UN communique said, after both sides "expressed their respective but divergent views on the effectiveness of naval and air operations on the present overall military situation."

Counter-Attack Drives UN Forces Back

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 15 (AP)—Communist troops, counter-attacking with mortar and machine-gun fire, drove United Nations forces off a hill on the eastern front in the only sizeable ground action reported in Korea today. Allied troops had fought for the hillcrest Tuesday night.

The hill is one of five near Kansong, objective of a three-day battle. The Reds hold two, the allies two. The fifth hill has been under artillery fire for 36 hours.

Elsewhere along the front patrols occasionally stirred up sharp, deadly fights.

The Fifth Air Force flew more than 350 combat sorties before 6 p.m. Wednesday. The strikes, like most of 925 flown Tuesday, were directed against Red transport and supplies.

Carrier Planes Help

Carrier planes joined land-based aircraft in hammering at highways and rail lines.

The US cruiser Toledo and the Dutch destroyer Van Galen steamed up the east coast and worked over targets at Chongjin, less than 100 miles south of Russian territory.

Get Final Draft Of Jap Treaty

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The United States and Britain make public today a third and final draft of a proposed "peace of reconciliation" with Japan which Russia has denounced.

Despite continuing Soviet objections, both governments anticipate at least 40 of 50 countries will sign it at a conference in San Francisco next month.

Once the treaty is ratified by a majority of the signers, it will formally end the war declared against the Japanese empire nearly 10 years ago.

Informed officials said the latest draft differs only slightly from a version circulated a month ago by Britain and the US as co-sponsors.

The only important change, they said, deals with Japan's obligation to pay reparations to countries it devastated during the war.

This feature was altered in deference to the Philippines, which had threatened to boycott the San Francisco meeting over demands for war damages.

As amended, the treaty notes Japan's obligation to pay such claims. But, instead of apparently ruling them out because of its poverty, it leaves the way open for future reparations in the event the Japanese make a financial comeback.

Princess Anne Has Her First Birthday

BALMORAL, Scotland, Aug. 15 (CP).—Britain's youngest princess today tried out her six teeth on a birthday cake with one candle.

Princess Anne, daughter of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, celebrated her birthday at Birkhall, the royal couple's summer residence. Telegrams from well-wishers poured in from many parts of the world.

Reports from Birkhall said Princess Charles, her brother who is almost three, bustled about opening up the birthday presents for his sister.

Princess Anne is third in line of succession to the throne, behind Princess Elizabeth and Prince Charles.

Canada Soon To Get New Aircraft Order

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (CP)—Canada soon may be getting another $4,000,000 aircraft order from the United States.

A defence production official disclosed today that the US fighting forces are enthused with Canada's Beaver aircraft, a small cabin transport plane, used mostly for bush hauls.

Previously, the US ordered about 109 of them from DeHaviland Aircraft Company in Toronto. The new order is expected to total a similar amount.

Rockefeller Jr. Weds Widow

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., 77-year-old multi-millionaire, and Mrs. Martha Baird Allen were married today in Providence, RI, it was announced today.

The bride, who is 56, was the widow of Arthur M. Allen, a prominent Providence lawyer and a classmate of Rockefeller's at Brown University. She is a former concert pianist.

Rockefeller's first wife, the former Abby Greene Aldrich to whom he was married 47 years, died in 1948. They had five sons and a daughter.

There had been no hint that Rockefeller who devotes his time to the many charities established by his father, was going to remarry. It was the bride's third marriage.

Give Go-Ahead Signal For Swimming Race

DOVER, England, Aug. 15 (Reuters)—After three postponements due to bad weather, officials today gave the "go-ahead" signal for the second international cross-channel swimming race from France to Britain.

The race will start from Cap Gris Nez at 7:30 a.m. (2:30 a.m. EDT) Thursday.

The decision to start, taken after a three-hour conference of weather experts, ended six days of suspense and anxiety for 20 swimmers, who have been waiting at Cap Gris Nez since Saturday for a change in the weather.

Ex-White House Aide Given Chance To Answer Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) said today former White House aide Lauchlin Currie will get a chance to reply to charges that he helped a Communist spy ring in the Second World War.

Currie, native of Dublin, NS, has denied them in the past.

McCarran heads the Senate internal security subcommittee which Tuesday heard Elizabeth Bentley renew her charges that Currie worked with the Communists when he was an assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Miss Bentley, self-styled former espionage worker, made the original accusations against Currie and repeated them to McCarran's group Tuesday.

The House of Representatives un-American activities committee first heard Miss Bentley's charges in 1948. Currie later went before this group and declared her statements were not true.

McCarran told a reporter Currie would be given an opportunity to appear before his group if he asks for it. The Senator said, however, that he still has a long list of witnesses he plans to call before rebuttal testimony can be given.

Currie has been serving as an adviser to the Colombian government. Subcommittee aides said they understood he still was there.

Miss Bentley named Currie and Harry Dexter White, former Under-secretary of the Treasury, as the two government officials most useful to a Red spy ring for which she worked in the Second World War.

Iran Rejects Britain's Oil Proposal

UK Refuses To Take No For Answer, Talks Still Continue

TEHRAN, Aug. 15. (AP) — Iran today rejected the latest British compromise offer to settle the oil dispute. But Britain refused to take "no" for an answer and the talks were continuing.

Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi told reporters the British offer does not conform with Iran's drastic nationalization law, under which Anglo-Iranian Oil Company properties were taken over.

The chief British negotiator, Richard Stokes, told a press conference he hoped an agreement might yet be reached.

Asked if he thought the 10-day-old talks would continue, Stokes replied: "Oh yes, I think I can convince them our offer is the best they can get from anybody."

Not Budging

But the Iranian government statement issued by Fatemi showed clearly that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and his cabinet are not budging from their nationalization plans to take over the properties of the British-controlled AIOC.

The Iranians still insist on two laws which strip AIOC of all profits from Iranian oil—75 per cent going directly to the Iranian government and 25 per cent impounded against possible compensation claims.

Stokes explained that under the British proposal, Britain would recognize nationalization and the authority of the National Iranian Oil Company by turning over AIOC assets in Iran subject to compensation arrangements.

AIOC would then set up a separate purchasing organization to buy Iranian oil and refinery products under a 25-year contract. This organization would distribute and sell Iranian oil throughout the world.

Under the plan, the sale organization would form a managing organization that would work under instructions of NIOC to oversee extraction, production, transportation, refining and loading of oil.

Stokes proposed Tuesday that the nationalized company's oil wells and refineries continue to be operated under the skilled hands of British management so

Head Hunters Get 90 Victims

GAUHATI, India, Aug. 15—(Reuters)—Troops are combing the rugged Indo-Burma frontier country for head-hunting Naga tribesmen who last week raided a village and took 90 heads.

The tribesmen burned a granary and looted homes before escaping with their trophies. Newspapers reported police and troops captured some of the raiders.

The Naga tribe numbers about 500,000 and occupies 20,000 square miles of wild and mountainous country. They wear ornaments made of human hair and are tattooed.

A HUGE TOWER OF SMOKE rises from the blazing wreckage of an 82-ton B-50 bomber after it crashed into a 51-unit apartment building in Seattle's south end industrial section. Fed by high-octane gasoline spread by the aircraft, flames soon left in charred ruins at least 20 of the apartments that housed 67 persons. Firemen battled the blaze for almost seven hours before reporting it "all but out." At least 11 were killed.

Prisoner In Death Row Kills Guard, Makes Escape

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. (AP)—A rapist and slayer awaiting electrocution beat a guard to death and escaped over the wall of the Cook County jail Tuesday night. Police, ordered to "shoot to kill," combed the city today for the fugitive, Harry Williams, 20-year-old negro sentenced to die Sept. 14 for murder. He is armed with the riot gun of the guard he killed. Warden Philip Scanlan and Sheriff John E. Babb issued the "shoot to kill" order. Babb personally offered a $1,000 reward for Williams' capture—dead or alive.

A short time after he escaped, Williams attempted to hold up a motorist about a mile from the jail. A policeman opened fire and Williams fled.

Later scores of police surrounded a rooming house on the south side when it was discovered Williams had been there at the home of his uncle, William Hawkins, in search of a pair of shoes. It was not known why he was barefooted.

Had To Flee Again

Hawkins said Williams couldn't find any shoes to fit him. Just then a squad car arrived and Williams fled.

"This man is so desperate he never will be taken alive," Scanlan said.

The warden said Raymond Jenko, 20, white, who also was sentenced to die for murder, was seized in Williams cell in the death row. He said Williams and Jenko were together in the escape plot, but that Jenko remained in the cell.

The jail break here was one of two prison disturbances in the United States Tuesday.

57,000 Pupils Greet Princess

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (CP). — Union Jacks for every one of Toronto's 57,000 schoolchildren will provide Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh with a red, white and blue welcome when they visit this city Oct. 5.

The Board of Education has recommended purchase of six-by-eight-inch flags at an estimated cost of $2,200.

The Royal couple will follow the traditional route of all distinguished visitors to Toronto—from Union Station up Bay Street to City Hall.

Decision to include City Hall on the tour means that the dirt-covered structure will get a face-lifting. City officials said recently they wouldn't bother to clean up the building unless the Princess and her husband were going to see it.

The school children will get an opportunity to welcome the visitors at a mass rally, location of which is still to be decided.

Toronto May Buy Wolfe Statue

TORONTO,, Aug. 15. (CP—A 10-foot-high bronze statue of General James Wolfe may be brought from New York to Toronto.

Board of Control will be asked to approve purchase of the statue for $5,000 from a former Canadian in New York who bought it recently when the building, in front of which it stood, was torn down.

If the city decides to buy it from John J. Cunningham, a Canadian now living in New York, it will be placed on Toronto's scenic University Avenue.

Wolfe won fame as a master tactician and also won Canada for the English when his troops successfully stormed the heights of the Plains of Abraham in Quebec in 1863. His feat in leading his men up a narrow path on the cliff-face at night surprised the French troops of General Montcalm. Both Montcalm and Wolfe died in the battle.

Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto remarked that to his knowledge the statue would be the only large single one of Wolfe in Canada.

"Quebec has a combined statue of Wolfe and Montcalm and I believe Chateau Frontenac (in Quebec) has a small statue of Wolfe," he said.

Labor's General Staff Said Facing Collapse

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (CP). — The New York Times says today that organized labor's general staff, an emergency partnership of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, face collapse.

The Times says in a Washington dispatch that AFL President William Green, in a meeting late last week in Montreal, has been authorized to dissolve the 14-member united labor policy committee.

The committee was formed last December by the two big labor groups and the International Association of Machinists and the Railway Labor Executives' Association. Its purpose was to deal with problems of defence mobilization and wage-price controls on a united basis.

The story says the AFL Council's decision will go before the annual AFL convention in San Francisco next month.

Need Vital Supplies From E. Europe Shawcross Reports

TRURO, Cornwall, England, Aug. 15. (AP)—Russia has reserved the right to tear up a new timber contract with Britain unless the USSR can use the proceeds to buy British rubber.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, president of the Board of Trade, said here today Britain agreed, because Eastern Europe is "the only available source of supply" for many of Britain's vital imports.

He conceded, in a speech prepared for a luncheon here, that the deal might lead to misunderstanding in the United States. But Shawcross said:

"America has not and does not need to have any significant trade with the Soviet. It means little or nothing to her to discontinue the import of furs, caviar and crab.

A Different Situation

"With us things are quite different. We obtain from the Soviet bloc essential foods and raw materials—and we believe that in these trade exchanges we get as good as we give, economically and strategically."

Under United States pressure, Britain cut off all rubber exports from her colonies to Communist China in April because rubber is an important war material.

Exports to Russia have continued, although Britain says it rations the Soviet Union to an amount considered normal for civilian use.

Under the wood contract recently signed, the USSR agrees to deliver $28,000,000 worth of timber to Britain, with the option of supplying another $14,000,000 worth. The period covered by the contract has not yet been disclosed.

The two countries have started talks on the purchase by Britain of nearly 1,000,000 tons of Soviet coarse grains.

Qualified sources said Britain also is starting talks for the purchase of nearly 1,000,000 tons of Soviet coarse grains—corn, barley and oats—by mid-1952. During the last year Russia has delivered 750,000 tons of coarse grains valued at about $42,000,000.

A Sad Blunder

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 15. (AP)—The blushing city commission which accidentally voted Birmingham dry last week, has made the town legally wet again. The commission had intended to outlaw only drinking of bay rum, paint remover, and other "skid row" substitutes for alcoholic bevarages. City lawyers discovered, several hours too late, that the resolution covered too much territory. A carefully drawn law which rectified the error was passed yesterday.

Song-Hungry Horse Pines For His Beautiful Blonde

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 15 — (AP)—There is a touch of sadness today around the barns at Playfair race track where in a stall lives Ernie H, the horse that loves a song.

He is pining for the beautiful blonde who sang to him and went away.

Ernie H is owned by Roy (Bing) Bennett and Clarence Wynia. It was Bennett who discovered the animal could be charmed by a tune. The horse has reached the respectable age of five without winning a race and he may have turned to chords for consolation.

At any rate, Bennett sang each morning as he worked around the barns and soon discovered that Ernie H moped if he failed to croon. On the day that Bennett showed up with laryngitis the horse refused to budge from the stall for his regular morning workout.

Into this impasse galloped Jack Pyle, the track publicity man. Pyle couldn't sing to Ernie H, but he knew somebody who could.

"I phoned Polly Baker, who's doing a turn at a Spokane club, and after she had hysterics she agreed to come down and sing to the horse," reports Pyle.

"That she did. Ernie H pointed his ears forward, trotted happily out of the stall and took his workout. I would like to say he went out there and burned up the track, but he's really not that much horse. Let's say he galloped gaily."

Next day Bennett had his voice again and all should have been back to normal in the Playfair barns. It is—nearly. Ernie H. takes his morning workouts without protest, but when Bennett sings he stamps his feet and shakes his head and snorts.

Will Spend Millions On Marmora Iron Development

TORONTO, Aug. 15. (CP)—A big iron ore deposit whose existence was known to pioneer settlers is soon to be developed at Marmora. Marmorton Company has started preliminary work of clearing timber and brush. Premier Frost said Tuesday that the iron-mining operation is expected to employ about 225 men and involve expenditures "running into the millions." The Marmorton Company is a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, a major United States company.

Iron was mined in the Marmora district as early as 1820 but, after the discovery of the rich Mesabi range in Minnesota, the Marmora deposits were passed over. Interest in them revived recently when steel-makers became aware of a growing North American ore shortage.

Other Ontario ore deposits are in the north, the Steep Rock mines at Atikokan and the Helen mine in the Michipicoten district. Up to now, there has been no producing iron ore mine close to the southern Ontario industrial area.

Joint Project

Surveys of the Marmora ore were a federal-provincial project, with the Federal government supplying plans and the province the technicians. Bethlehem Steel became interested in the findings of the 1949 survey and started diamond drilling in 1950. Thirty holes were put down.

Plans taking shape for developing the deposits call for an open-pit operation. A 150-foot capping of limestone must be removed to expose the ore, a two-year job. Then the ore, expected to average about 40 per cent iron, will be hoisted from the pit on an incline, crushed and ground, then treated by magnetic concentration. It is hoped the mine will produce 400,000 tons of concentrate a year.

Year-round Work

A concentrator will be constructed while the stripping operation is going on and will be ready to operate as soon as the first ore is mined.

It is expected that ore production will be limited to eight months of the year, but miners will be kept at work the year-round, doing stripping and waste removal in the four winter months.

Said Premier Frost:

"The presently indicated ore body makes certain that this operation can be carried on for 25 to 30 years and no doubt, as in all these cases, other ore bodies will be discovered."

It will be necessary to build ore docks on Lake Ontario. Their location has still to be decided.

2 Burwash Escapees Picked Up In Hamilton

HAMILTON, Aug. 15 (CP) — Clad in their prison garb, two escaped prisoners from Burwash Reformatory were picked up early today near McMaster University. Police found the pair asleep in a car reportedly stolen from Sudbury.

The pair Gerald Bakker of Vancouver and Arthur Nevan of Montreal, broke out of Burwash last Friday.

They are being held in Hamilton until prison officials arrive to escort them back to the reformatory.

They did not resist arest.

Reeve Reports Optimism Over Ore Plans

Premier Leslie Frost's prediction of "millions of dollars" being spent on iron ore development in the Marmora area have made residents of that district deeply optimistic Reeve Vincent Lynch told the Examiner today.

Examiner reports in the last eight months of the prospective iron developments in that vicinity were substantiated Tuesday by the Premier's statement.

Primarily work of clearing the 200 acres of the former Ross Rogers farm, a mile southeast of Marmora, appears to be nearly completed, Reeve Vincent Lynch informed the Examiner today.

"There is a deeper feeling of optimism today among the people of Marmora following the news that came out this morning in the statement of Premier Frost," Reeve Lynch said.

Expectations Growing

Expectations have been gradually built up since early last winter with the reports of the interest of Bethlehem Steel in Marmora properties, and hopes of the village have been deepening into confidence with the progressive indications of activities by one of the biggest steel corporations on the continent.

Premier Frost revealed that the Marmorton Company, subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, had begun clearing timber and brush from the former Rogers place.

"It has usually been the way that outsiders have been closer to developments here than most of our people," Reeve Lynch remarked to the Examiner today. "We have known what has been going on here, but we are so close to it that probably it needed the statement of Premier Frost to give us a stronger conviction of what is in prospect from the new company's operations. We know they have taken a lot of cores (samples) from the drilling that has been done since last year."

Marmora is happy about the progress of preparations, Reeve

Find Woman Living In Park

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15—(CP)—A tiny woman, bent with arthritis, is in the care of the Salvation Army after living in the bushes in Stanley Park since July 5.

Police, who would not disclose her name, picked up the scrupulously clean 64-year-old woman when they learned of her predicament and turned her over to the Army.

She told them that she took a blanket and moved to the park when she could no longer afford a home. She had a few dollars in her purse to buy food for a while longer. She said she came from Peterborough, Ont., in 1947.

Cool Wave Helps Sizzling Panhandle

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (AP). — A cool front kicked along by a 25-mile-an-hour wind began flushing the heat out of the Texas panhandle this morning.

The State's heat wave has been blamed for the deaths of 26 persons.

The weather report of "not so hot" was welcome news. During the month-long heat wave temperatures hit as high as 116, crops shriveled, cattle were herded off dry ranges for early marketing, and life was generally miserable.

After thundershowers brought brief respite to some sections during the weekend, the crop-killing temperatures soared again on Tuesday. College Station had 106 degrees, Fort Worth 105, Dallas 104.

Commit Brand For Trial On Driving Count

Robert Brand, 23, of 710 Water St., driver of the car that July 14 crashed into the CPR Havelock-Bobcaygeon mixed train, Tuesday afternoon was committed for trial on a charge of dangerous driving.

A second charge of careless driving was adjourned to January 2. Bail was set at $500.

Brand was the driver of the car that ran into the side of the train while travelling west along the Old Norwood Road, six miles east of Peterborough. The vehicle was knocked about 25 feet and spun around violently by the piston of the locomotive. The eight occupants were tossed in a semi-circle around the wreck.

Brand's 11-month-old nephew, Edward Theobald, was thrown some distance up the track and was killed almost instantly. Brand himself and six other passengers were injured and taken to hospital.

Fred Pollock of Havelock, train engineer, told the court that despite the fact he was keeping a lookout as the train approached the intersection he did not see the car until it was about 25 feet away.

"The auto hit the right cylinder of the engine," he said. "The driving rod struck it and turned it around."

View Obscured

Engineer Pollock said he could not see because of a mass of long sweet clover that obscured an oblique view of the road. Before reaching the intersection he said he blew the whistle and started the bell ringing.

OPP Constable T. H. Armstrong, one of the police who investigated, said the sweet clover was five feet high and obscured the car driver's view of all but what lay straight ahead.

"It must have been like going through a hayfield," commented Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay.

Constable Armstrong said he understood it was Douro township's responsibility to cut the weeds. He also volunteered the information that a strong sun, just setting on the horizon, was in the driver's eyes.

There was no suggestion of alcohol, the constable added.

W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, counsel for Brand, said there was no evidence at all of criminal neglect on his client's part. But Magistrate Gee said there was a prima facie case because of the evidence the train whistle had been sounded and the bell was ringing. And because of the seriousness of the accident he felt there were sufficient grounds for committal.

Court Acquits Woman Of Attempted Suicide

A charge of attempted suicide, laid against Mrs. Pearl Robins, housekeeper for Dr. Rodger Devlin, Indian River, was dismissed Tuesday by Magistrate E. R. Gee of Lindsay.

Mrs. Robins, who had been in ill health since December, was found unconscious on the kitchen floor by Dr. Devlin on August 5. Beside her was an empty bottle and four nembutal capsules. (Nembutal is a powerful sedative).

Dr. Devlin said he didn't think Mrs. Robins had attempted suicide. She had taken several drinks of liquor and this, together with a few capsules must have been too much for her.

Mrs. Robins often took the capsules to relieve her because of her ill health.

Golds Well Ahead On Weaker Market

TORONTO, Aug. 15 — (CP) — Golds stood well ahead of a moderately weaker market today in early afternoon trading.

Industrials eased slightly during the mid-session. Steels, retail stores and miscellaneous industrials were firm. Papers and banks were mixed while utilities refining oils and manufacturing companies weakened. Agricultures, foods and liquors slipped a little lower.

Base metals were mixed. Heavy trading in Callinan Flin Flon, East Sulivan, Fenimore and United Asbestos produced penny gains. Consolidated Smelters, Minda-Scotia, International Nickel, Quebec Labrador and Ankeno dipped.

Western oil gain and losses were about even.

Dome, Malartic, McIntyre, Teck Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves led senior golds higher. Secondary issues showed a wide list of penny gains.

Canadian Dollar

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (CP)—The American dollar today opened at 5 19/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, up 1/32 from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.05 19/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95 11/16, up 1/8 from Tuesday.

7 Days In Jail Drunk Driving

James Buchan, 44, of 294 Lake St. was convicted of drunk driving Tuesday afternoon and sentenced to seven days in jail. On a second charge of driving while his licence was suspended he was fined $25 and costs.

Buchan pleaded not guilty to the drunk charge but guilty to the minor charge.

Constable William Scott said he heard a bottle break on Frank St., near Monaghan Rd., shortly after 2 a.m. last Saturday night. He investigated and jumped on the running board of the Buchan car to stop it as it went by.

He stopped the car and noticed Buchan was "slumped over the wheel". The constable also testified that he smelled strongly of alcohol, staggered, and had to be helped out of the car.

Constable Scott found a broken whisky bottle close to where he heard the sound of glass breaking. Nobody else but Buchan and a passenger in his car were in sight.

Buchan denied he was drunk and said his condition was caused by over tiredness.

"You've been depositing money in the liquor store instead of the bank," observed Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay as he pronounced sentence.

the third riot in as many months in Utah's new multi-million dollar prison was put down without bloodshed.

Officials Released

Two prison officials who had been held as hostages under threat of death most of the day were released. All inmates were ordered confined to their cells.

The Utah uprising ended when Joseph W. Durler, state commissioner of public safety, conferred with riot leaders and said an investigation would be made of their grievances.

Officials said 22 men were in the cell block which the prisoners took over during the riot.

At Chicago, Jenko told police Williams obtained permission to leave his cell to go to the washroom and on his return jammed the lock of his cell with a sheet.

Williams had confessed murdering a negro woman, Mrs. Mary Scott, in a purse-snatching attempt. He also was identified in 10 rapes and five robberies.

Jenko was convicted of stabbing 16-year-old Patricia Schwartz to death in an attempted purse snatching in May, 1950. He originally had been sentenced to die in March, but his execution was postponed.

The Iranian law calls for ousting the Britons from any control of the installations, but keeping the British experts and technicians as employees of the Iranian National Oil Company.

There was no immediate indication that the rejection would cause a second breakdown in the talks. The negotiations broke down after only 20 minutes of the first meeting last June and were resumed only through the mediating efforts of President Truman's special envoy, W. Averell Harriman.

British and Iranian negotiators were to meet today to discuss the rejection.

Thieves Foiled In Try 'Caygeon Post Office

Early today thieves were foiled in an amateurish attempt to break into the post office at Bobcaygeon.

They attempted to pry open a rear window but the window was nailed shut from the inside. Rather than run the risk of breaking it the thieves gave up.

Marks, indicating that some sort of pry bar had been used, were found early today by the janitor of the building. Chief Constable R. C. Wood, of Bobcaygeon, is investigating.

Three Men Foiled In Breakin Try

Three would-be breakin artists were foiled in an attempt to get into a second story window of the Percival Furniture Co., 175 Hunter St., early today when the assistant manager Leo Rutter held them off with a club.

Rutter returned from the lacrosse game and went to bed shortly before midnight. About 12:15 a.m. he heard noises coming from the roof of the adjoining Grafton store, and he heard a voice say: "Here's an open window."

A few seconds later a face appeared at Rutter's open window. He jumped out of bed and seized a heavy hardwood stick with a nail in it and made a swipe at the man. He missed.

Men Seemed Bold

"Get out of there or I'll call the police," Rutter called. The men seemed bold and showed no intention of leaving in a hurry. Then the janitor of Percival's, who sleeps in a nearby bedroom, joined Rutter and the men left.

The assistant manager then phoned the police.

He told the Examiner early today that the police picked up three men and brought them around to the front of the store for him to identify them.

"I recognized them," said Rutter, "and the police took them away. They must have been looking for open skylights and windows."

At noon today the police had no record of the incident reported by Rutter.

Reeve Reports

Lynch said, and the statement on the authority of the Premier of Ontario has given the hopes and feelings of the village a great stimulus.

On Old Madoc Road

Part of the Ross Rogers property is on the old Madoc Road, easterly from Marmora.

Generations of Marmora people for nearly a century have dreamed of mining operations and wealth in their section of west Hastings, along the Peterborough boundary. Some of them in that time did more than dream. Scattered around the township are vestiges of operations that were more or less productive, mostly less.

Successive quests were mainly for gold. One of the most recent was that carried on by Col. C. H. Ackerman of Peterborough. Ventures Limited were active before the war at Cordova, northeast of Havelock, in Belmont township.

"I feel sure there was never any previous exploration for iron where the new company has bought property," Reeve Lynch said. "There is a heavy burden of limestone in that area, and I suppose that condition used to turn prospectors away from the Rogers place."

Gold and iron findings at Cordova and the old Blairton iron mine workings in Belmont afforded ample evidence of extentive deposits in that part of the Hastings-Peterborough district. Estimates of deficiency in quality as compared with the Lake Superior mines was a deterrent for a long time and there was also the difficulty of transport.

Old Route

Blairton ore was conveyed by railway from the west shore of Crowe lake to Trent Bridge, and then by boat and barge by way of the Trent river and Rice lake to Harwood. The heavy ore was there transferred to the south stretch of the Cobourg-Peterborough Railway. Lake boats carried it from Cobourg to one of the ports on the south shore of Lake Ontario, where once more it was loaded onto freight cars for delivery at Pittsburgh, according to news accounts of that time.

All that handling accumulated expense of operation, a heavy handicap against Blairton when richer deposits were discovered elsewhere.

That dramatic story of the Blairton workings, largely supported by the funds of British investors, has been told by The Examiner. The mining village was once a community of from 700 to 900 people, with homes and stores, church and school, and the handcraftsmen of those early days.

Ghost Town

Blairton has been a ghost town for many years, but the outlines of its streets remained with the site of its steam generating plant, its long piles of tailings from the mill, and so on.

The history of that forgotten mining settlement is still interesting to conjure. Some years ago, there was still a remnant of the old station in the village.

The circumstances of diminishing resources at long established iron mines have switched the interest of such a big corporation as Bethlehem Steel to the possibilities of the Marmora area.

In the present liveliness around Reeve Lynch's municipality, predictions of not so many years ago are materializing and may eventually be fulfilled.

Marmora is located on the Crowe River which empties into the Trent above Campbellford, giving scenic assets. It is also on the CNR from Picton and Trenton north all the way through Hastings county and beyond to Lake St. Peter.

Oak Heights WA Warkworth Guests

WARKWORTH, Aug. 15. (ENS) —Mrs. H. G. Lester was hostess Thursday at the parsonage of St. Paul's United church to the Women's Association of Oak Heights United church. There was an attendance of about 20 members and former members of the association who now live in Warkworth.

Later a meeting was held with the president Mrs. S. Lawrence, in charge. Mrs. A. P. Sayles conducted the devotional exercises, choosing as her topic "Faith, the Master Key to Life." Mrs. Archie Ferguson read the scripture lesson.

Mrs. S. Lawrence conducted the business meeting. The minutes of previous meeting were read by secretary Mrs. Alvin Pratt. Mrs. Archie Ferguson offered to entertain the WA for the next meeting, the date to be changed to the first Thursday of the month (Sept. 6) as the association has been invited to Dartford for the second Wednesday in September when Mrs. Toombes of Campbellford, a returned missionary from India, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Douglas Langford and Mrs. Jack Potter were conveners for the following program: piano solo, "Rock of Ages" by Miss Ferne Killingbeck; reading, "The Human Touch" by Mrs. Alvin Pratt; vocal solo, "In The Garden" by Miss Eleanor McMurdo, accompanied by Miss Ferne Killingbeck, pianist; reading. "Don't Tell," by Mrs. Archie Ferguson; piano solo, by Mrs. Clarence Ferguson; reading, "Our Minister's Sermon" by Mrs. Bruce Porter Bible quiz, by Mrs. D. Langford, won by Mrs. Lloyd Covert, a guest from Ottawa. The Rev. H. G. and Mrs. Lester both gave special words of welcome to the association members. Lunch was served by the hostess and lunch committee.

Court Dismisses Driving Charge

A charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol, laid by city police against Everett Sinclair, 26, of 509 Braidwood Ave., was dismissed Tuesday afternoon in police court.

On a second charge of illegal possession of liquor he was fined $25 and costs.

City police on the night of Aug. 4 tailed Sinclair from Rink St. to a Simcoe St. parking lot. There they said he left his motor running and the car jumped ahead and stalled as he got out to be questioned.

It was charged that his speech was thick and that he smelled strongly of liquor.

Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, said there was no indication that Sinclair's driving was impaired by drinking. He had gone up George St. at a lawful speed and parked in the lot in a proper manner.

When searched by police and jailed for the night he was "cooperative."

Another dismissal Tuesday afternoon was obtained by Ronald Wood, 17, of Aylmer St. He also was defended by Mr. Fair.

Wood was charged with failing to signal before starting a left turn on the Chemong road, near Bridgenorth. As a result there was a three-car collision. All three were damaged.

Wood claimed he was actually making a right-hand turn.

Magistrate Gee said there was an element of doubt and dismissed the charge.

Map Delivered Council Of New Numbering Homes

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 15. — (ENS)—The town of Campbellford has made final payment to the Municipal Service Company of Toronto, for the street numbering system the company installed some months ago. A cheque for $100 was forwarded when the plan was delivered a few days ago. This cheque was a holdback and provision was made earlier to forward the cheque when the map was received.

Oscar Mason, deputy reeve and chairman of the road and bridge committee, said in his report to the council on Monday night that Percy Gooding, weed inspector for the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham had informed him that Campbellford was ahead of most other towns in the district in the matter of weed control, and the town was to be commended for its clean-up campaign. Mr. Mason also reported that the town was the first this year to receive the hard top chips for the resurfacing of roads within the corporation, and that this job had now been completed.

Mayor Buys $1,000

Councillor W. A. Kingston, chairman of the finance committee reported there was still $6,700 of the $20,000 issue of hospital debentures to be disposed of. The water and light commission had subscribed for $10,000 of the debentures, and another $3,300 had been sold at the town clerk's office. He said a local stock broker was going to take up the job of disposing of the 4 per cent bonds at par, which would be an advantage to the town. Mayor J. E. Ayrhart said he would take at least $1,000 of the debentures, leaving $5,700 still to be sold.

A vote of thanks was extended to Ernest C. McKeel, who without charge, donated the printing of a detailed map of the town on the reverse side of all town stationery. The map shows all streets and lots and is letter-size, adding a note of distinction to all correspondence leaving the town offices.

A vote of thanks was also extended to Jack Meier, local sand and gravel dealer, who hauled 250 yards of fill to the grounds surrounding the cenotaph, without charge. The cenotaph has been undergoing improvement during the past few weeks. A quantity of loam and top-soil is still required before one section of the grounds can be sodded.
